TOWPATH TRACKS

NEWSLETTER OF THE WHITEWATER VALLEY RAILROAD OCTOBER 2016

September Trains

Labor Day weekend marked a break in the super-hot weather. It was pleasant in Metamora, and the town was full of cars and people when the Valley Flyer pulled in. A music festival was underway, with musicians on the Smelly Gourmet patio and across the canal at the Mineral House. It felt like old times with that many people in town. Let's hope it keeps up.

The next weekend saw "Colonel Teddy Roosevelt" return, riding the Valley Flyer. As "Colonel" he portrays Roosevelt AFTER his term as President. He and his Treasury Department aide both had a great time riding the locomotive out to Leonards for the run-around, and both turned out to be sons of railroaders.

Also on the that weekend, we ran the Metamora Local north to milepost 54 rather than south to MP 50. A midweek storm had dumped 5" of rain, and caused minor washouts on the shuttle track. It was expected to be back in service the following week, but passengers and crew both enjoyed riding the train north through the tunnel of trees, especially on the open transfer caboose.

Reminiscences

It's fun talking to passengers, especially on the Valley Flyer where there is time for a leisurely conversation. Labor Day weekend a passenger told us proudly that "she had run a train before she drove a car!" Her name was Susan Flodder, and she was the daughter and granddaughter of B&O engineers.

Susan remembered riding with her dad on the diesel in Indianapolis, and having a chance to actually run the engine. She also recalled how their dad had a private whistle signal, which he blew when passing their house to let mom know he was on the way home. Dad or granddad had run trains in Europe during World War II, and had handled a train of art treasures stolen by the Nazis.

The following weekend a passenger on the Metamora Local remembered that she had been in a Whitewater Valley derailment many years ago. She was in a school field trip. She recalled that the derailment had been "somewhere near the big bridge" and that they sang songs while they waited.

Questers' Help Recognized

A brass plaque has been installed in coach 8 recognizing the support of the Connersville Questers group. It reads "The 2015 interior restoration of the Erie Stillwell coach #2331 was made possible by contributions from Connersville's Josiah Wedgewood Chapter 4172 and a grant from Indiana State Questers."

A dozen women from the Connersville Chapter rode coach 8 to Metamora and back on September 10th.

Polar on the Way

The Polar Express is heading down the track toward us again. Ticket sales are "phenomenal" in the words of committee chairman John Sprinkle. By mid September sales were about two weeks ahead of last year, and one train was already sold out. This event is a major contributor to our economic viability, and we need it to succeed.

It seems like we just dismantled the North Pole Station, but it's time to put it up again! Gary Johnston will be in charge of construction this year, but will need lots of helpers.

In the Chef and Elf department, help has been offered by students in the Connersville Middle School Honors Council. WVRR Superintendent Mike Scott's daughter is advisor to the Council, whose members will be especially valuable on Fridays and Sundays, days when it seems hardest to get help.

Coach Work

Our coaches are being cycled through the repair shop, to make sure they are in good working order for the start of Polar Express. Bearings, journal pads, and brake shoes are checked, and parts replaced as necessary. Combine 9 has had the carburetor replaced on the gas generator. Coach 10 has had some generator work done, and new grabirons installed in each vestibule to help Santa as he progresses from car to car.

Coach 4 had repairs to the coupler hanger and mount on the south end. After an initial repair failed, it was redone with angle steel twice as heavy, providing a strong support for the coupler carrier.

Coach 5, the most recent one in the shop, will be followed by coach 7, with basic maintenance to be done on each.

Workers on various coach projects have included Mike Scott, Dave and Al Meyer, Tom Nitza, Rich Weller, Sarah Eason, Francis Parker and Howard McNally.

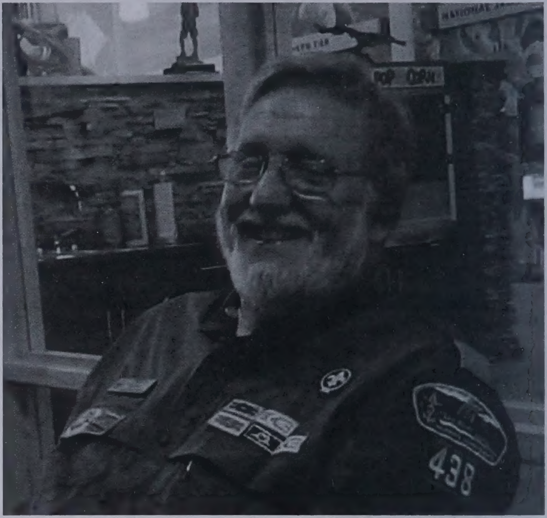
Members Train to Dinner

We will be running a special members' Twilight Limited Train to Dinner on Saturday, October 1, 2016, leaving Grand Central at 6:30 PM. If you would like to attend, make reservations with the office by calling 765-825-2054. Cost, for members only, will be $18 per adult meal and $10 per child. Menu selections will be the same as the regular Twilight Limited, and can be viewed at http://www.whitewatervalleyrr.org/excursions/train_to_dinner_menu.pdf.

Seating is limited due to capacity at the Laurel Hotel. Reservations will need to be made before the morning of Friday, Sept. 30. Payment may be in advance, but is due before departure on October 1.

Charlie McKay Passes

WVRR member Charlie McKay of Loveland, Ohio, passed away Friday, September 2, of an apparent heart attack while working in his shop. He was 68.



Charlie Mckay, in his favorite Scout Uniform.

Prior to an illness and caring for his late wife, Charlie was an active member of the WVRR. He served as brakeman and as a Santa during Polar Express. Always a Boy Scout, Charlie was also very involved with the WVRR's annual Boy Scout Merit Badge Weekend. He first came to the railroad as a scout leader while organizing that event.

Charlie was preceded in death by his wife Mary Anne. He is survived by his daughter Shannon and grandchildren Justin and Ashley Douglas. A memorial gathering was held Wednesday, September 14, at St. Gertrude in Madiera, Ohio.

Memorial donations in Charlie's memory may be made to the Boy Scouts of America – Dan Beard Council, 10078 Reading Road, Cincinnati, OH 45241.

Donated Tools

WV member Ken Davenport has donated a set of track tools, first aid kits, gloves and safety vests to help equip an additional vehicle for a gang going out to do minor track repairs. Thanks, Ken! Ken is the owner of DS-50, the Monon's first diesel switcher, now operational at the Indiana Transportation Museum. Ken is also said to have purchased a Monon caboose.

Tribute to Lucille “Momma Kay” McKay

January 21 2007 at 12:01 AM

Response to In memory of Lucille F. McKay

From the Purcellville Gazette dated Friday 19 Jan 2007.

Compiled by Naomi Laine

After over fifty years of caring for local children in her home, Lucille “Momma Kay” McKay died January 2, 2006, at the Godfrey House in Berryville. The following is a collection of memories from those who knew her—a tribute to one of the community’s most beloved women.

Beverly MacDonald Chaisson: “My best friend growing up was Diane McKay (now Geddings). Diane and I went to elementary school together. At least several times a week, I went over to Diane’s house, where there were always babies and kids around. These were Momma Kay’s children. Normally, children cry when parents leave them at the sitter’s. These children would cry when the parents would come to pick them up. Parents would call Momma Kay at all times of the day and night to get her opinion on whether to take their child to the doctor, or how to discipline or correct certain behaviors.”

Memories from Lisa Schnibbe: “I’m a school teacher in the county and also a neighbor of Bill McKay, so we’ve been close to the McKays for years.

Any teacher who left a child in Lucille McKay’s care didn’t have a worry during the workday. She was known for her homemade apple sauce, french fries, and coleslaw. She loved babies and would rock them all day long. There was never a thought about sending the kids to preschool—they learned to share and be kind to one another at her house.

She was even ready in the middle of the night when I left my son there to deliver his baby sister. Twenty-three years later, he was still visiting her: once a week at the Godfrey House, to eat lunch with her. She loved country ham, and at the end of her life that was something he would take her. I think one of the hardest parts of my day then was getting the kids back in the car- they never wanted to leave. I can remember just pushing my two-year-old into his car seat at the end of the day, kicking and screaming from not wanting to leave.” Pat Holden: “Momma Kay and Papa Charlie were true icons of a family that gave most of its life to helping the community.”

Ellen Rowley’s memories: “I remember on Halloween we’d go over to Momma Kay’s house and have pumpkin pie and Pepsi. I remember how my son learned numbers and colors with Skittles. I’m sure everyone thought their kid was the special one to her. And they were right. Her lunches for my son were often better than my dinners. I remember how she was always dressed immaculately, but she would still get down and play in the dirt with the kids.

She was a strong woman. She had a very close-knit family, but she always had time for gardening and taking walks and going to the playground. She cared, but she wasn’t a pushover. My son wasn’t always ready to leave. Life was good at Mommy Kay’s.

Momma Kay was one of the last old-fashioned grandmas. If kids didn’t feel well, she’d sit and hold them all day. My kids have three grandmothers from my marriage with my husband, but there’s no grandma like Mommy Kay. It was a blessing to have her come into our lives. She was incredible.”

Momma Kay took care of Sev Schnibbe from when he was only a few months old to his second grade year. These are his memories: “I remember picking strawberries. She would make strawberry preserves. She had a huge garden, and picking strawberries was always a big deal. I remember playing in the huge apple tree on the back of her property. She said the word ‘ornery’ a lot. Anyone who was stubborn, Momma Kay called them ornery.

I had been visiting her for the last few weeks of her life. We had lunch together every Wednesday. She didn’t really want to eat, so I would take her country ham sandwiches. She loved country ham, and I would try to get her to eat it. She would always tell me to eat it instead. Once I started to eat, she’d ask for a pinch now and then. My most recent memories are of just sitting with her, picking at lunch together.” u

In memory of Lucille F. McKay

January 4 2007 at 10:26 AM

Michael McKay

From The Winchester Star dated Thursday 4 Jan 2007.

She was the widow of Charles M. McKay. Lucille and Charles were long time attenders of our annual Virginia Robert McKay Family Reunion.

Charles and Lucille McKay

Lucille Fiddler "Mommy Kay" McKay, 82, of Berryville, died Tuesday, Jan. 2, 2007, in the Godfrey House, Berryville.

Mrs. McKay was born Nov. 8, 1924, in Clarke County, the daughter of Noble and Mary Fiddler. She took care of children in the Purcellville area for more than 50 years.

She was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Surviving are, two sons, Bill McKay of Round Hill and Gary McKay of Berryville; a daughter, Diana McKay Geddings of Roanoke; a sister, Mary Funkhouser of Winchester; eight grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

A funeral will be at 1 p.m. Saturday at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Purcellville. Burial will be in Hillsboro Cemetery.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at Hall Funeral Home, Purcellville.

Memorials may be made to the Godfrey House, 210 W. Main St., Berryville 22611.

According to the "Thomas Green Papers" he had an additional three children named: Hannah, Edith & Mary McKay. However, the Green Papers contain a few errors as explained in Dee Ann's McKay genealogy. The list of children here is based on James's will. Until further evidence is presented I will not include the three children mentioned above in this record.

xxxBeing the historian of the family, Hunter McKay gave an informal and highly enlightening talk on his experiences in connection with the compilation the McKay family genealogy, two volumes of which are now bound and soon will be made available to interested persons. Mr. McKay gave a resume of family, beginning with the Clan in Scotland in the year 1395, and tracing its growth and expansion on down to the present time. He noted that while times l customs change, the Scotch-Irishmen have changed but little, having retained the characteristics by which those races have become known, those ıracteristics which all jokes to the contrary, have so endeared the Scotchman to the world.

xxxThe Hon. John Rust, in his most interesting discussion of the family, stressed the human and more personal elements in the history of the McKay Clan- ; war cries and badges, its castles, coats of arms and plaids; its feuds and ambitions; its hatreds and its loves. Delving into the past, Mr. Rust, who is a npetent speaker and a student of family history, brought out facts and anecdotes of much interest to his listeners.

xxxHighly esteemed and powerful in the north of Ireland, the McKay Clan furnished many leaders. In 1689, James II appointed General Hugh McKay lajor-General of all the forces, whatever, within our ancient kingdom of Scotland," a position he held until his death in 1696 in the Battle of Steinkirk.

'ebmaster's note: I believe the writer meant to say 'Scotland' rather than 'Ireland'. Also, I've been informed that where it says 'James II' it should read as illiam 3rd'. MLM) xxxRobert McKay was the first of his name to settle in the Valley of Virginia, coming from Pennsylvania where the family were Quakers. Samuel rcheval's History of the Valley of Virginia states the year as 1732. The original Robert McKay house at Cedarville was built of walnut logs and stone, and elieved to be the oldest standing house west of the Blue Ridge mountains. From this pioneer Robert, are descended all of the Virginia McKays.

'ebmaster's note: The above two paragraphs represent examples of a theory I have as to how I believe Hugh Mackay ended up being listed as Robert ıckay Sr.'s father. Some historical sketches of our family are preceeded by a history of the Clan Mackay of Strathnaver. Hugh Mackay was a prominent ure in the history of the Clan and usually after the brief historical sketch, which ended with this Hugh, began a sketch of the history of our Robert Mackay nily. I believe that some researchers assumed because one followed the other that a connection must have existed between the two men although none has en stated in this article or others presented on this website. Also, I would like to point out two errors in the above paragraph. #1. The house being ntioned is actually the house of Robert Mackay Jr. Robert Mackay Sr. settled further south at 'Hay Bottom' which was located west of present day Front yal, Va. To my knowledge, Robert Sr.'s house is no longer standing. #2. Robert is not the ancestor of all Virginia McKays. There were a few other Mckay nilies that settled in Virginia other than our Robert Mackay family. Their connection, if any, to our Robert Mackay family is unknown at this time. MLM) xxxThat Robert McKay was a man of means and influence, has been widely attested to by many records. His partnership with Joist Hite proved a ofitable venture. The two men obtained an order of council for 100,000 acres of land north of North River and north of the forks of the Shenandoah, a grant ich Lord Fairfax later, was to claim for himself under the name of the Culpeper Grant, or "Northern Neck." The rest became the history of Virginia. Hite l McKay filed suit against Lord Fairfax and were awarded the court judgment.

xxxRobert McKay's fortunes prospered. His sons and his sons' sons fared well, and the countryside became dotted with McKay homes. There was the old ck place, "Chamblin," at the Double Toll Gate, and the Joseph Miller stone house. "Erin," the Jesse McKay house at Ninevah, and the house of Joshua Kay, known as the "Antrim Farm." The LeHew house, the Painter house at Cedarville, the Melton house. The Robert McKay house and many others.

xxxOf special interest to Luray is the fact that Enos McKay, a descendant of Robert, settled in Page County at Spring Farm late in the 1700's and until he d in 1830 owned large tracts of land in and around Luray.

xxxIt is meet and fitting, that the descendants gather to honor the memory of the pioneer Robert McKay, who was a man of integrity, vision, and foresight, eal builder of the Valley section of Virginia. It is well that the McKay descendants continue to honor their ancestors, by contributing their best and utmost vard the upbuilding of their country and nation, in wartime and in peacetime, by upholding all those standards of conduct and those ideals which must ve been in the heart and mind of Robert McKay as he stood high on some hillside, looking down upon his land and perhaps, saying to himself, as countless scendants must have echoed:

xxx"This is my own, my own loved xxxxxxxxland, xxxAcquired and tended by my hand.
xxxGrant I may pass on to my son xxxThat priceless heritage, work xxxxxxxxwell done!"

'ebmaster's note: (Regarding this last paragraph and the little quote about 'my own land' after it) Where do these writers come up with this stuff? haha memorable! MLM)

eates new program

At this time the mental health intensive outpatient program offers up to 12 hours per week of services to the client. It may not be necessary for clients to attend all 12 hours; the level of service needed can be evaluated at the time of intake or transfer. The length of time a person remains in such a program will vary according to need. Although the focus of the group time is determined by the needs of those attending the group, standard issues addressed include depression, anxiety, panic, grief, stress management, emotional and interpersonal effectiveness, self-care, increased self understanding, family dynamics and goal setting.

This type of service is generally covered by most insurance, including Medicare and Medicaid. Self-pay clients are also welcome and may be eligible for the sliding fee scale based on income.

Painting the town

Nashville wrestles with illegal graffiti as its public art effort simultaneously takes root — and brings tension.

By William Williams
wwilliams@nashvillecitypaper.com

Last week, a group of public officials and citizens gathered in North Nashville's Buena Vista neighborhood to unveil an artistically safe, sanctioned mural that suggests some interpretation of the loose term "community." On the same day, Metro Public Works employees were removing spray-painted squiggles — shapes that a 3-year-old could have created — from a segment of the Shelby Street Pedestrian Bridge.

The contrast is stark: During a recent and relatively brief time span that included the unveiling of the Buena Vista mural, the "Exploration and Discovery" outdoor art installation at Public Square and the addition of Vanderbilt baseball coach Tim Corbin's visage to the so-called "Wall of Fame" at 28th and West End avenues, a string of taggings hit downtown Nashville. None of it was artistic, none of it seemed to relate in terms of political or gang themes and motives. And much of it was done apparently by various unconnected sources.

From mid-May to mid-June, vandals tagged the State Capitol with "Get Out" and "RIP Tony Al," the Main Library with "Toney Stash Music," the pedestrian bridge and no fewer than 10 private businesses, including the sign for Tuck-Hinton Architects in SoBro and the Courtyard by Marriott in the Central Business Improvement District.

"We have incidents crop up form time to time, but never at this level," said Sgt. Tony Blackburn of Metro police's Central Precinct.

Bryan Deese, a local graphic designer and founder of Concrete magazine, does professional graffiti-themed mural work as a side business and monitors both sanctioned work and illegal tagging.

"It sounds like coincidentally there were random acts of graffiti" spanning a relatively brief time period and focused on downtown, said Deese, who has collaborated on, among others, the SoBro murals that feature Johnny Cash and Willie Nelson.

Deese, whose work was recently on display at Bonnaroo, said the general public must differentiate artistic and legal graffiti pop art and the motivation from which it stems, from acts of vandalism involving spray-painted scribble.

"The motivation for the actual act is a major defining thing," said Deese, who is featured with others in the Nashville chapter of the recently released History of American Graffiti, written by Roger Gastman.

Look at eye-catching public art such as Michael Cooper's Church Street Park mural or the Isaac Arvold, John Grider, Eric Inkala and Drew Peterson creation on the west wall of the Viridian parking garage, and you might wonder: Should Metro or even a private local entity provide a place for the public to enliven with spray paint?

Venice Beach, Calif., has its Venice Public Art Walls (though some critics contend its once-attractive form has deteriorated), while Scott Carpenter Park in Boulder, Colo., has met with some success.

But city-sponsored programs that sanction graffiti often fail. Examples include Louisville, Philadelphia and San Francisco.

Critics argue that free walls give graffiti vandals a safe haven for networking and send mixed messages about the art form's legality, appropriateness and artistic quality. As well, they often don't appeal to those who find joy in illegal acts for no monetary gain.

Metro's Blackburn said police arrested 28-year-old Jeffrey Erickson, who officials said admitted to tagging downtown businesses, last week.

"He rode around with officers and pointed out the [10] locations he sprayed," Blackburn said. "He said he was bored."

Blackburn said most people dabbling in illegal tagging range in age from 13 to 21. "It's unusual to have a 28-year-old tagging buildings in broad daylight," he said of Erickson.

But Deese, the artist, doesn't think the recent uptick in tagging is out of the ordinary.

"Nashville is probably similar to other similar-sized cities — not really more or less graffiti than, say, an Oklahoma City," he said.

Given that graffiti can often be removed quickly with a pressure washer and/or chemicals, local officials question the nee for a formal program. Chase Adams, director of administrati services for the Nashville Public Library — often a target of g fiti — was skeptical.

"My concern is that some of the graffiti artists might inclined to go to the [sanctioned] place to display the ar he said. "Some of this is tagging. Gang members will signs on buildings in their territory."

Russell Payne, vice president of operations for th Downtown Partnership, oversees the entity's Clea Unit. Like Adams, he's not ready to support a local would sanction the use of spray-paint art.

Frank and Judy McKay celebrate 40th wedding anniversary Aug. 14

Frank and Judy McKay celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Aug. 14.

Frank McKay and the former Judy Cross were married on Aug. 14, 1965 in the First United Methodist Church in Xenia, with the Rev. Conrad O'Diehmon officiating.

The couple have two children, Tim [Julie] McKay of Beavercreek, and Krista McKay of Westerville. They also have two grandchildren, Nicole Elizabeth and Madison Marie McKay of Beavercreek.

Frank worked at Wright-Patterson AFB for 25 years. He is now employed by Adtech, a contractor at Wright-Patterson.

Judy is a housewife. She was an aerobics instructor for several years at the YMCA.

During their 40 years of marriage, they were stationed in Germany while Frank was serving in the U.S. Army. While there, they took a trip to Austria, Italy and Switzerland. In later years, they made a trip to the country of Holland.

They are planning a trip to Niagara Falls and the eastern states of the United States.

In memory of Aurelia McKay "Kay" Mowbray

Aurelia and Perry Mowbray

(Published in the Richmond Times-Dispatch from 4/13/2007 - 4/14/2007.)

MOWBRAY Aurelia McKay "Kay" Mowbray died Wednesday, April 11, 2007 at age 91. She was the widow of Perry D. Mowbray who died October 6, 2003.

She is survived by son, Dr. Perry D. Mowbray Jr. and his wife, Barbara Davis Mowbray, of Marion, Va.; daughter, Elizabeth M. Usher and her husband, Cecil H. Usher of Vienna, Va.; granddaughter, Dr. Bethany McKay Usher and her husband, Dr. Jaimin D. Weets; great-granddaughters, Ciara McKay Weets and Braylee Erickson Weets, all of Canton, N.Y.

Mrs. Mowbray was a charter member of Reveille United Methodist Church, where she had been class president and teacher, member of the Altar Guild and active member of United Methodist Women. She was a graduate of the University of Virginia School of Nursing, Class of 1939, and a member of the Thomas Jefferson Society. She was a member of Ruth Chapter No. 8 OES for over 50 years and past president of the Forest Hill Stone House Association.

The family will receive friends at the Central chapel of Bennett Funeral Home, 3215 Cutshaw Avenue, from 6 to 8 p.m. on Friday, April 13. Graveside services will be held at 12 noon Saturday, April 14, in Forest Lawn Cemetery. If desired, memorial contributions may be made to the Hermitage Employees' Christmas Fund, 1600 Westwood Ave., Richmond, Va. 23227.
Published in the Richmond Times-Dispatch from 4/13/2007 - 4/14/2007.

In memory of Wilmer L. Landers
January 16 2008 at 9:30 AM

From The Winchester Star dated Wednesday 16 January 2008.

Wilmer L. Landers

Wilmer Leonidas "Bill" Landers, 78, formerly of Winchester, died Wednesday, Jan. 10, 2008, in Riverside Regional Hospital, Newport News.

Mr. Landers was born July 19,1929, in Lithia, the son of Thomas Bowyer and Madge Shark Landers Wilson. He retired in 1990 as a telegrapher from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, now CSX-Chessie System, after 45 years. He was a graduate of Miller School in Charlottesville.

He married Mabel McKay in 1953.

Surviving with his wife are three daughters, Anna Knighting Marquez of Bunker Hill, W.Va., Donna Dellinger of New Bern, N.C., and Sharon Landers of Yorktown; a sister, Donna Daarud of Clackamas, Ore.; eight grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

A daughter, Judy Landers-Dyke Bryson, and a brother, Thomas Landers, are deceased.

A memorial service will be at 3 p.m. Friday in Shenandoah Memorial Park Chapel with Deacon Jimmy Evans officiating.

Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Article from Clarke Times Courier

March 18 2004 at 9:01 AM

Michael McKay

Response to Well done Alex McKay!!

Here is an article from the Clarke Times Courier.

Alexandra McKay
Staff

Activities: Key Club, FFA, Clarke County High Band Color Guard, forensics team,

Parents: Bev and Stephanie

Alex McKay hopes one day to devote her career to public service as a Congressional staffer, and she has already proved her community-mindedness locally as an extraordinary volunteer.

"I've done a lot of volunteering," she said, quickly rattling off such experiences as helping the town celebrate its bicentennial during the 18th-century Market Days Festival, winning the Volunteer Award from the Virginia Main Street program, waitressing for fundraising dinners for the Barns of Rose Hill renovation project and at the Berryville Barns Festivals and Music in the Park evenings.

But wait, there's more. Alex has volunteered at Historic Long Branch, the Clarke County Easter Egg Hunt, the Hot Air Balloon Festival, the Christmas Gala, and with the Clarke County Fair's Art Department.

But it was her work last June as a page for U.S. Rep. Frank Wolf (R-10th) that began a love of politics and Washington. "I worked in D.C. for three weeks and stayed at the page residence with 77 other pages," she said. "It was a great experience."

Alex hopes to attend Randolph Macon College in Lynchburg because, she says, "one-third of women on the Fortune 500 list went to all girls schools." In visiting the campus, she fell in love with the small-college atmosphere. "The wisteria was in bloom!" she said. She plans to major in political science and then go on to law school.

"I want to become a White House press secretary or chief of staff."

But even with such high aspirations, Alex says, "I love Clarke County. I'm a farmer's daughter and the fifth generation to live in my house. I'll always consider this my home."

2 Tbs butter
(mix with fork)
1/2 cup. milk

Batter
1 1/2 cups. flour
2 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten

Sift dry ingredients & cut in shortening until the mixture is like coarse corn meal. Beat milk & egg together. Make well in dry ingredients and add mikl and egg. Stir until just mixed. Turn into well greased pan & sprinkle with topping. Bake in a 375 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm.

Garlic Grits
(From Margie Hopgood)

4 cups. of water
1 6oz. stick garlic cheese or cheese whiz
1 cup of grits
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. powdered garlic
2 eggs beaten, add enough milk to make one cup
1/4 lb. butter

Cook grits in water & salt, according to directions on box. Add the stick of cheese and butter. Let melt. Beat eggs & put into measuring cup, adding milk to make 1 cup. Add to the mixture & stir until well mixed. Pour into a buttered casserole & bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.
You can make this the day before & refrigerate. Let stand at room temperature for about an hour before baking. You can use sharp cheddar cheese & garlic or experiment with other variations!

Lemon Supreme Cake
(One of Ralph's favorites)

1 Box yellow cake mix (I use Betty Crocker super moist/light)
1 Box Instant Lemon pudding
4 eggs
3/4 cup oil
3/4 cup cold water

Put all ingredients in mixing bowl and mix with a fork. Then beat with a mixer at medium speed 4 minutes. Bake in 9 X 15 oblong pan at 350 for 30 minutes in a pan (not greased)

Icing
2 cups powdered sugar
Juice of 2 lemons and grated rind
2 Tbs. water

As soon as cake is taken from oven, prick well with fork and pour icing over hot cake 1 Tbs. at a time.

Marble Cake
(Laura & Robin's favorite cake)

1 cup shortening (I use Crisco)
3 1/2 cup cake flour
2 cups sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
4 eggs (I use extra large)
4 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 squares not sweetened chocolate, melted and cooled
4 Tbs. milk

Put shortening in mixing bowl with sugar and beat. Add well beaten eggs (very thick and lemon colored) and blend thoroughly. Mix dry ingredients in a bowl. Add 1/3 of dry ingredients alternately with 1/3 of milk, mixing after each addition. Add vanilla and blend. Spoon 1/2 of batter into greased & floured funnel pan, add chocolate and additional milk to rest of batter and drop by spoonfuls on top of white batter. Swirl

1 Tbs. minced garlic
2 cups chopped zucchini
1 can chopped green chilies
1 Tbs. chili powder
1 tsp. whole cumin seed
1 tsp. dried oregano leaves
No-oil Tortilla chips

Add all ingredients together in soup pot. Cover and bring to boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Serve each bowl with a handful of chips on top. Let stand until chips are soft and noodle-like. Serves eight

Patsy Shipp's family recipes

November 11 2000 at 9:51 PM

These were forwarded to me via e-mail as a word document.

The document was pretty long so I've divided it up into five posts containing 10 recipes per post.

Enjoy!!

These are some of Patsy Shipp's favorite recipes, some have been handed down from family members! Date 7/25/98 'Recipes'

Cinnamon-nut Cookies

(I made these cookies every year (50) since our marriage except in 1994)

4 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup butter, margarine or other
3 tsp. cinnamon
shortening (use at least half butter)
½ tsp nutmeg
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ tsp. grnd cloves
2 Tbs. milk
¼ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 cup, finely chopped walnuts

Measure dry ingredients into sifter and sift onto wax paper or bowl. In large bowl cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy, adding sugar gradually. Stir in milk. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add dry ingredients, stirring until well blended. Add chopped nuts. Cover bowl, chill dough several hours or overnight. When dough is well chilled, remove from refrigerator. Set oven at 350 degrees. On lightly floured board or pastry cloth, roll out small amount of dough at a time to 1/8 inch thickness. Cut with fancy cutters. Place on lightly greased cookie sheet. You can decorate the tops with a walnut half, if you want to. Bake 12 to 14 minutes, or until lightly brown. Remove from cookie sheet, cool and store in airtight container with waxed paper between layers. Makes about seven dozen cookies.

Shrimp & Cheese Casserole

1 lb. Shrimp (ready to eat)
2 cups milk
6 slices bread (regular not thin sliced) cut in pieces the size of quarters
½ tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
½ lb. Old English cheese -cut in small pieces
3 eggs, beaten
¼ cup melted margarine

Layer shrimp, bread, and cheese in greased casserole (three quart). You should have two layers. Pour melted margarine over mixture, and then mix remaining ingredients and pour over the mixture. Store covered in refrigerator over night. Cook uncovered for one hour in 350 degree oven. .

Mexican Bean Soup with Tortilla Noodles

(From Sister Petersen/Olney Ward)

2 cups FAT-Free broth
2 cans chick peas or black beans (both 16 oz. cans, drained)
2 cups water
2 cans kidney beans (both 16 oz. cans, drained)
3 Tbs. dried onion or fresh
2 cans 16 oz. tomatoes, undrained

1 package vanilla instant pudding
8 oz cream cheese
1 cup milk
1 8 oz Kool whip crushed pineapple, drained chopped nuts
coconut

Mix well and spread on cooled cake.

(From Aunt Mildred McKay)

2 large cans sauerkraut
¼ Tsp. dill seed
2 Tbs. brown sugar (dark)
1 large onion, chopped

Run cold over sauerkraut until all salt is drained off. Put in pan and add brown sugar, onion and dill seed. Cook on top of stove for 1 hour. Then put in baking pan and in 350 degree oven for two or three hours. Stir now and then. Add more sugar if you like. Use pumpernickel or rye bread. Toast on one side in oven. Putting toasted side down. On top put corn beef, sauerkraut and sprinkle with Thousand Island dressing and add a slice of Swiss cheese. Put under oven broiler long enough to melt cheese.

Dan's Meat Balls
(From Danny Hopgood)

1 lb. Ground beef
1 tsp Italian seasoning
1 lb. Sausage
½ tsp garlic powder
1 tsp. seasoned salt
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 tsp. seasoned pepper
¼ cup onion flakes
1 tsp. oregano
1 egg
½ tsp nutmeg

Mix ingredients in a bowl. Let stand a few minutes. Heat on medium heat 1 or 2 Tbs. of cooking oil in a frying pan. Form meat balls by rolling in the palms of your hands about 1 ½ inches in diameter. Place in the frying pay about ½ inches apart. Brown on all sides on medium heat (don't over cook). Drain meat balls on paper towels. After the meat balls are drained and cool, they can be served with the meal or placed in a plastic freezer bag in the freezer. You can then take out what you need and leave the rest frozen colored sugar. Bake in oven 8 to 10 minutes.(You can shape dough into rolls before putting in refrigerator and then slice and sprinkle with sugar and bake).

Sweet Dough Rolls
(From Paula Fern Barker)

2 cups. lukewarm sweet milk
1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 tsp. salt
2 cakes or packages dry yeast (dissolved in 1/2 C. 100 degree warm water.)
7 1/2 cups sifted flour

Put flour, salt, & sugar in large bowl or pan, cut in shortening, make well & add other ingredients. Let rise until you can punch finger into it & the indention stays open instead of closing. Punch dough down & let rise again the same way. Now knead dough thoroughly on floured board. Make into rolls & place in greased pans. Let rise & bake in 300 degree oven for 30 min. (uncooked rolls can be refrigerated for 2 or 3 days. Remove from refrigerator about 2 hours before putting into cook.) Always cover dough with towel while rising. Makes about 4 large round cake pans of rolls.

Turkey Spices
(From Brother Plowman/Olney Ward)

1 Tbs. pepper
1 Tbs. basil
1 Tbs. thyme
2 Tbs. salt
1/2 Tbs. garlic salt

Mix and spread over cleaned, washed, dried 12 - 14 lb. turkey after giblets have been removed. Place in plastic bag and put in aluminum throw away pan. Bake for approximately 6 hours in a 300 degree oven. Breast will collapse and meat will fall off the bones.

Seafood Pasta Salad

2 cups tri-color spiral pasta, cooked
1 cup cooked shrimp or 6 ½ oz tuna
1/3 cup green bell pepper, diced
¼ cup carrot, sliced
½ cup zucchini, sliced
½ cup white wine Worcestershire
1/3 cup mayonnaise
salt & pepper to taste

Combine pasta, fish, and vegetables. Add wine Worcestershire and mayonnaise and toss lightly

Fantastic Fruit Salad

1 #1 can fruit cocktail (well drained & save juice)
4 bananas, chopped
1 #1 can pineapple chunks (well drained & save juice)
1 4 oz can coconut
2 11 oz cans mandarin oranges (well drained & save juice)
1 cup pecans, chopped
1 apple, chopped

Sauce
1 cup fresh or frozen orange juice saved fruit juice
3 Tbs. cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1 egg, beaten
18 large marshmallows

Combine sugar & cornstarch until smooth. Add beaten egg. Mix until smooth, then add the saved fruit juices. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add marshmallow and stir until smooth. Cool and add to fruit salad. This sauce mixture is enough for two makings. Keeps well, refrigerated.

Response to Patsy Shipp's family recipes

Potatoes & Snow Pea Salad

3 lbs red potatoes cut into 1" pieces
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1/2 cup olive oil
1 Tbs. dried rosemary,
3 cloves of garlic chopped
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 lb. snow pea pods (stringed)
1/4 tsp. black pepper
1 pint cherry tomatoes

Heat oven to 400 degrees. In large bowl combine potatoes and 2 T oil and garlic. Place potato mixture in a single layer and bake 20 to 25 minutes until tender and golden. Heat 1/2" water and cook pea pods for 2 minutes, drain and rinse in cool water. In large bowl combine all ingredients except pea pods and add remaining 6 T oil, vinegar, rosemary, salt and pepper. Place pea pods on top and refrigerate. Gently mix pea pods into mixture just before serving. Serves 24

Twenty-four Hour Layered Salad

(From Irene Siska/Glenmont UM)

In a large deep bowl put the following layers:
1 package spinach
1/2 cup chopped red onion or scallions
1 cup celery, chopped
1 cup carrots, sliced
1 cup green peppers ,chopped
1 can water chestnuts
1 box frozen peas (place peas in boiling water for 30 seconds to 1 minute. Remove and drain)

Mix for topping:
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup plain yogurt
1 package Hidden Valley Ranchland Dressing
Pour over top layer (peas)

Sprinkle on top:
1 to 2 Tbs. sugar
4 chopped hard-boiled eggs
A layer of your favorite cheese (I use sharp cheddar)
1/2 lb. bacon fried crisp and crumbled

Seal with saran wrap and refrigerate for at least 24 hours.

Sand Tarts

(I have made these every year (50) since our marriage except for 1994)

1 cup butter
4 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1/2 tsp. baking soda
3 eggs
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tsp. Vanilla

In mixing bowl cream together softened butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in vanilla. Gradually add all dry ingredients, stirring until well blended.
Cover bowl; chill several hours or overnight in refrigerator. Turn on oven to 350 degrees. On lightly floured board, roll out small amount of dough to about 1/8 inch thickness. Cut out with cookie cutters and place on lightly greased cookie sheets. Sprinkle with cinnamon sugar or Heat oven to 400 degrees. Dry fish fillets with paper towels. Place each fillet in center of 12X18 inch piece of foil. Sprinkle each with thyme and onion tops; top with lime slices. Spoon vegetables next to each fish fillet. Top each with ½ tsp margarine. Bring foil up over fish and vegetable, sealing securely with double-fold seals on top and sides to form packets. Place on 1 large or 2 small cookie sheets. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork and vegetables are thoroughly heated.

Microwave directions: Same as above but place fillets in 12X8 inch microwave safe dish. Sprinkle with thyme and onion and top with lime slices. Spoon vegetable on top and around fish, top with butter and cover with microwave-safe plastic wrap. Microwave on HIGH for 12 to 16 min. or until fish flakes easily with fork and vegetables are thoroughly heated, rotating dish ½ turn halfway through cooking.

Chuck Wagon Beef Roast

1 (2 to 2 ½ lb eye of round beef roast
½ tsp cumin
¾ cup ketchup
½ tsp dried oregano leaves
¾ cup white wine or apple juice
¼ tsp grnd red pepper(cayenne)
1 Tbs. brown sugar

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Spray oven proof Dutch oven with nonstick cooking spray. Heat over medium-high heat until hot. Add roast; cook 4 to 6 minutes, turning frequently to brown evenly. In medium bowl, combine ketchup and remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour over roast; cover tightly. Bake at 325 degree oven for 2 ½ hours or until roast is tender. To serve, slice roast thinly; arrange on serving platter and spoon sauce over slices.

Our Family's Swiss Steak

1 ½ lb. Beef top round steak (1/2" thick) (cut into serving sized pieces)
¼ tsp salt
¼ tsp pepper
2 cups onions
¼ cup water
1 (4.5 oz) jar whole mushrooms, drained
2 Tbs. cornstarch
1 (10 ½ oz) condensed beef broth

Heat oven to 325 degrees. In large ovenproof skillet, Dutch oven or baking dish, combine all ingredients except water and cornstarch, mix well. Cover. Bake at 325 degrees for 2/12 to 3 hours or until beef is tender. In small bowl, combine water and cornstarch; stir into beef mixture. Bake an additional 15 minutes or until gravy has thickened.

Chicken Pot Pies

1 Tbs. margarine or butter
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
1/1/2 cups chopped onions
½ tsp. salt
1 lb. boneless skinless chicken breast, diced
1 (12 oz) can evaporated skimmed milk
2/1/2 cups red potatoes, cut into cubes
3 garlic cloves, minced
2 Tbs. cornstarch
½ cup chicken broth
3 tsp dried parsley flakes
1 (1 lb.) frozen mixed vegetables

In 4 quart Dutch oven, melt margarine over medium-high heat. Add onions, chicken, potatoes and garlic. Cook 12 to 15 min. or until chicken is no longer pink, stirring occasionally. Add broth, mixed vegetables, parsley, poultry seasoning and salt; mix well. Bring to boil, stirring frequently. In small bowl, combine milk and cornstarch; blend until smooth. Add to chicken mixture; cook and stir until bubbly and thickened. Remove from heat; cover to keep warm. Make pie crust. Spoon mixture into bowls and top with pie crust. Make steam vents in top of crust and bake in 450 degree oven for 35 min.

Zucchini Bread

1 egg & 2 egg whites
3 cups flour, unsifted
1 cup sugar
1 Tbs. cinnamon
8 oz. Tofu
1 ½ tsp. soda
2 cups shredded zucchini
1 ¼ tsp. salt
1 cup carrots, shredded
¼ tsp. baking powder

Beat eggs with sugar and tofu until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients until well blended. Bake in two loaf pans (spray with no fat cooking spray) at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until top springs back when touched.

Beef Sauce
(From Ken Ritchey)

1 qt water
1 8 oz can mushrooms
5 beef bouillon cubes
½ Tbs. kitchen bouquette
1/8 tsp pepper
3 to 4 Tbs. cornstarch
1 bay leaf
3 to 4 Tbs. cold water
1 to 2 dashes Tabasco sauce
¼ cup white cooking wine
1/8 tsp. thyme

Combine all ingredients except final water, wine and cornstarch and heat over high flame until boiling. Mix cornstarch and water to thicken boiling ingredients. Add wine and cook long enough to boil off alcohol.

¼ cup chopped onion
3 cups milk
¾ tsp. salt
2 (6 ½ oz) cans, drained, minced clams (reserve liquid)

Cook bacon until crisp. Remove and set aside. Add potatoes, celery, onion, salt thyme, pepper and reserved clam liquid to bacon drippings. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. In a quart jar with tightly fitting lid, combine flour and milk; shake until smooth. Gradually stir into vegetable mixture. Cook over medium heat for 15 minutes or until thickened, stirring frequently. Stir in clams, heat gently, stirring frequently. DO NOT BOIL. Crumble bacon; garnish each serving with bacon. Makes 4 (1 ½ cup) servings

Corn and Clam Chowder

2 slices bacon, cut up
¾ tsp dried thyme leaves
3 cup peeled, ½ inch cubes, potatoes
¼ tsp pepper
¾ cup chopped onions
1 (15 oz) can cream style corn
½ cup chopped celery
1 (11 oz) can whole kernel sweet corn, drained
2 cups skim milk
2 (6.5 oz) cans minced clams (reserve liquid)

In large saucepan or Dutch oven, cook bacon over medium heat until brown and crisp. Transfer bacon to paper towel to drain. Remove all but 1 TB pan drippings from saucepan. Add potatoes, onions and celery to drippings in saucepan; cook and stir 5 min. Add milk, reserved clam liquid, thyme and pepper, mix well. Reduce heat to medium-low; cover and simmer 15 to 20 min. or until vegetables are tender. Carefully transfer 2 cups hot mixture to blender and process until smooth. Return mixture to saucepan. Stir in cream style corn, whole kernel corn and clams. Return to boil. Reduce heat; simmer 4 to 6 min. or until thoroughly heated, stirring occasionally. Crumble reserved bacon on top after putting in bowls.

Pennsylvania Dutch Pie Crust

3 cups flour
5 Tbs. water
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
1 ¼ cups shortening
1 tsp. vinegar

Sift flour and salt; cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Beat water, egg and vinegar together; stir into flour mixture. Shape into ball. Chill. Turn out on floured board; roll to fit pie pan. Bake for 10 to 12 minutes in 425 degree oven or put fruit in unbaked pie shell. Yield; Pastry for two 2 crust pies.

SHRIMP TOAST

Ten servings (two toast each)

½ lb. uncooked shrimp, peeled, deveined and coarsely chopped ½ tsp. Sesame oil
¼ tsp. sugar
½ cup chopped green onions (5 med.)
Dash of white pepper
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2 egg whites
¼ cup water
1 baguette (8ozs.) cut into 3/8 inch
1 TBS cornstarch
½ tsp. salt

Baking these toasts on a rack allows the hot air in the oven to circulate around them, so they are crispy, without fat-laden deep frying!
Heat Oven to 425 degrees. Place wire rack on cookie sheet; spray rack with nonstick cooking spray. Mix all ingredients except bread. Spread about 1 TBS shrimp mixture on each bread slice. Place slices on rack on cookie sheet. Spray lightly with cooking spray. Bake about 15 minutes or until edges of bread are deep golden brown and crisp.

Cheddar Pepper Cornbread

1 cup all purpose flour
½ tsp cumin
3 egg whites
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup skim milk
½ cup chopped red bell pepper
3 tsp baking powder
¼ cup honey
½ tsp salt
¼ cup nonfat plain yogurt
14 oz. (1 cup) shredded Cheddar cheese

Heat oven to 450 degrees and spray 9" square pan with cooking spray. In large bowl, combine flour, cornmeal, baking powder, salt and cumin; mix well. In medium bowl, combine milk, honey, yogurt and egg whites; blend well. Stir in bell pepper and ½ cup of the cheese. Add milk mixture to dry ingredients; stir just until moistened (batter will be lumpy). Pour into spray-coated pan. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake at 425 degrees for 18 to 20 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 12 servings.

Fish Creole

1 lb. fish fillets
2 to 3 tsp. sugar
1 Tbs. margarine or butter
¼ tsp. dry oregano leaves
1/3 cup chopped onion
1/8 tsp. pepper
¼ cup chopped celery
1 (8 oz) can stewed tomatoes undrained, cut up
2 Tbs. finely chopped green bell pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Arrange fish fillets in ungreased 12X8" (2 quart) or 8" square baking dish. Melt margarine in medium skillet; cook and stir onion, celery and green pepper, until tender. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spoon mixture over fish. Bake for 15 to 20 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork. Makes 4 servings.

Oven-Fried Catfish Fillets

2 Tbs. lemon juice
1/8 tsp. garlic powder
2 Tbs. white wine of chicken broth
1/8 tsp. pepper
½ cup dried bread crumbs
2 tsp. oil
¼ tsp. salt
1 lb. catfish, mahi mahi or snapper fillets

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Spray 15X10" baking pan with cooking spray. In shallow dish, combine lemon juice and wine. In another shallow dish, combine bread crumbs, salt, garlic powder and pepper. Dip fillet in liquid; dip in crumbs to coat. Arrange coated fillets in pan and drizzle with oil. Bake for 8 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily with fork. Serve with light tartar Sauce. Makes 4 servings.

New England Clam Chowder

3 slices bacon
1/8 tsp. dried, crushed thyme leaves
1 cup diced, peeled potatoes
1/8 tsp. pepper
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup flour

1 small onion, cut into 2 X ¼” strips
1 TBS brown sauce
1 small zucchini, cut into ¼” slices
1 tsp. grated gingerroot
½ tsp. salt
1 TBS shredded coconut, toasted

Rub curry powder on chicken. Cut chicken into ¾” pieces. Let stand 10 minutes. Spray nonstick wok or 12” skillet with nonstick cooking spray; heat over medium-high heat until cooking spray starts to bubble. Add chicken; stir-fry 2 minutes. Move chicken to side of wok. Add oil to center of wok. Add onion, zucchini and bell pepper; stir-fry 2 minutes. Add coconut milk, bean sauce, gingerroot and salt; cook and stir until sauce coats vegetables and chicken and is heated through. Sprinkle with toasted coconut.

Chicken Lo Mein

½ lb. Skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
2 tsp. Cornstarch
½ lb. Snap pea pods, strings removes (2 cups)
1 tsp. Sugar
6 oz. baby-cut carrots, cut lengthwise into ¼” sticks (1 cup)
2 tsp. Water
1/3 cup fat-free chicken broth
½ package (9oz. Size) refrigerated linguine, cut into 2” pieces
1 TBS soy sauce
4 cloves garlic, finely chopped
2 tsp. Finely chopped gingerroot
toasted sesame seeds, if desired.

Cut chicken breast halves lengthwise into 2 inch pieces; cut pieces crosswise into ½ inch strips. Heat 2 quarts water to boiling in 3 quart saucepan. Add pea pods, carrots and linguine; heat to boiling. Boil 2 to 3 minutes or until linguine is just tender; drain. Mix cornstarch, sugar and water. Mix broth, soy sauce, garlic and gingerroot; stir in cornstarch mixture. Spray nonstick wok or 12” skillet with nonstick cooking spray; heat over medium-high heat until cooking spray starts to bubble. Add chicken; stir-fry about 2 minutes or until chicken is white. Stir broth mixture; stir into chicken mixture. Stir in pea pods, carrots and linguine. Cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Sprinkle with toasted sesame seeds, if desired.

MEXICAN BEAN SOUP WITH TORTILLA NOODLES

2 cups FAT-free broth
2 cans (16 oz) kidney beans, drained
2 cups water
1 can chopped green chilies
3 T dried onion or one fresh
1 T. chili powder
2 cans (16 oz.) tomatoes, undrained
1 t. whole cumin seed
2 cups chopped zucchini
1 t. dried oregano leaves
2 cans (16 oz) chick peas or black beans, drained
no-oil tortilla chips
1 T minced garlic

Add all ingredients together in soup pot. Cover and bring to boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Serve each bowl with a handful of chips on top. Let stand until chips are soft and noodle-like. Serves 8 2 GRAMS FAT. Some of my family like to serve the soup over rice instead of using the tortilla chips.

Patsy Shipp's family recipes (part 5)

Michael McKay

November 12 2000 at 2:26 PM

Response to Patsy Shipp's family recipes

SWEET AND SOUR BROCCOLI AND BABY CORN

1 lb. broccoli, cut into flowerets and 1 inch pieces (4 cups)
1 TBS lemon juice
1 TBS ketchup
1 tsp. cornstarch
1 tsp. finely chopped garlic
1 tsp. cold water
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1 TBS fat-free reduced chicken broth
¼ tsp. salt
1 TBS honey
1 cup canned baby corn, rinsed & drained

Cut any broccoli stems more than one inch wide lengthwise in half. Place broccoli in boiling water; heat to boiling. Boil one minute; drain. Immediately rinse with cold water; drain. Mix cornstarch and cold water. Heat broth, honey, lemon juice, ketchup, garlic, lemon peel and salt to boiling in nonstick wok or 12 inch skillet, stirring frequently. Stir in cornstarch mixture. Cook and stir about one minute or until thickened. Stir in red pepper. Add broccoli and corn; cook and stir about 30 seconds or until heated through.

QUICK BEEF TIPS AND VEGETABLES

½ lb. beef boneless sirloin tip steak
1 TBS water
1 package (16 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables with snap pea pods (not snow pea pods)
¼ cup stir-fry sauce with garlic & ginger
2 cups hot cooked rice

Trim fat from beef. Cut beef into ½ inch cubes. Spray nonstick wok or 12 inch skillet with not-stick cooking spray; heat over medium-high heat until cooking spray starts to bubble. Add beef; stir-fry about 2 minutes or until brown. Add vegetables and water; stir-fry 1 minute. Stir in stir-fry sauce until well mixed; reduce heat to medium . Cover and cook 5 to 7 minutes, stirring frequently, until vegetables are crisp-tender. Serve over rice. (I make my own sauce by mixing approximately ½ cup oyster sauce, 2 TBS soy sauce, 2 TBS cooking wine, sherry or lemon juice).

SPICY SHREDDED CHICKEN AND VEGETABLES

1/3 cup fat-free chicken broth
1 TBS brown bean sauce
½ lb. skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
2 tsp. sugar
2 tsp. chile puree with garlic
2 cups broccoli slaw or coleslaw mix
1 tsp. finely chopped gingerroot
½ medium red bell pepper, cut into 2 X ¼ inch pieces (1/2 cup)
4 cups hot cooked rice

Heat broth to boiling in 10 inch skillet. Add chicken; reduce heat to medium-low. Cover and cook about 8 minutes or until juice of chicken is no longer pink when centers of thickest pieces are cut. Remove chicken from broth; reserve broth. Cool chicken 5 minutes. Cut chicken into 2 inch pieces. Shred pieces with two knives or forks.

Spray nonstick wok or 12 inch skillet with nonstick cooking spray; heat over medium-high heat until cooking spray starts to bubble. Add broccoli slaw; stir-fry about 2 minutes until crisp-tender. Add bell pepper and chicken; stir-fry one minute. Stir bean sauce, sugar, chile puree and gingerroot into reserved broth. Pour into wok; stir-fry about 1 minute or until heated through. Serve over rice.

COCONUT CURRY CHICKEN

1 TBS curry powder
1 medium green bell pepper, cut into ¾" squares (1 cup)
¾ lb. skinless, boneless chicken breast halves
1 tsp. vegetable oil
1/3 cup reduced-fat (lite) coconut milk

In memory of Ruth Eleanor Sowers

November 11 2006 at 7:28 PM

Michael McKay

Paid obituary. Eleanor died on Sunday 29 October 2006. I apologise for the poor quality photograph. I hope to find a better copy later.

RUTH ELEANOR SOWERS

Ruth Eleanor Sowers, 78, of Front Royal died Sunday at The Southerlands.

A graveside service was held on Wednesday at 11:00 a.m. at Rockland Cemetery conducted by The Rev. Gary Heaton.

Miss Sowers was born November 1, 1927 in Success, daughter of Robert Lee and Beryl Meranda Manuel Sowers. She worked for the Naval Education and Training Center in the Anacostia section of Washington, DC. Her position was primarily in the financial area of the personnel office. When the activity moved to Pensacola, Florida, she also transferred and worked in the budget office. At that time her activity, Navy Training Manuals, combined with the Exam Center moved into Ellyson Field. When the Base at Ellyson closed, she moved to the Naval Base at Saufley Field. She worked there until she retired and then returned to Front Royal. She was a member of the Front Royal United Methodist Church and the Warren County Parkinson's Support Group. She was loved and respected by all her family and co-workers.

Surviving are two sisters, her twin sister Louise S. Johnson of Front Royal and sister Myra S. Wissinger of Harrisonburg, twelve nieces; and ten nephews. With her parents, she was preceded in death by seven sisters Virginia Sowers, Alice Grobauer, Mildred Cunningham, Julia Evenson, Kass Malmburg, Katherine Berry, and Jane Alleyne Sowers; and four brothers Henry Sowers, Robert "Bob" Sowers, Charles Sowers, and Edward "Ed" Sowers.

Pallbearers were Gary Bunch, Skip Wissinger, Gordon Wissinger, Tommy Sowers, Bruce Evenson, and Bruce Wines.

Honorary pallbearers were Shane Wines, Ryan Wines, Troy Bunch, Connie Good, Gary Good, Ann Broyhill, Rick Sowers, and Earl Sowers.

The family received friends on Tuesday 7:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at Maddox Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Front Royal United Methodist Church, 1 West Main St., Front Royal, VA, 22630 or to the Parkinson's Support Group c/o Lee Mangene, P.O. Box 523, Front Royal, VA, 22630.

The family would like to express their appreciation to the members of the Personal Care Unit at The Southlands. They all took such loving care of Miss Sowers whom they knew as "Miss Ellie", especially Kim, Tina, Esther, Rae, Jessie, Amanda J., Tiffany, Kathy, Crystal, Nyree, Brandi, Angie, and Amanda D.

The Last Will & Testament of Etta Double (Sowers) McKay

See Etta's family record.

I, Etta D. McKay, a legal resident of Front Royal, County of Warren, State of Virginia and of legal age, do hereby make and publish and declare this to be my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills by me at any time heretofore made.

1st I hereby authorize and direct that my Executor, hereinafter named, pay all my just debts and funeral expenses as soon after my decease as conveniently may be.

2nd I hereby give and bequeath the sum of $1,000 unto the Front Royal National Bank, Front Royal, Va. its successors and assigns as Trustees in Trust for the following purpose and no other that is to say:

a. Invest the same and after reserving sufficient of the income from the said $1,000 for the payement of necessary expenses for the handling of same, I direct my said Trustee to pay to the Trustees of the Rockland Cemetery, Warren County, Virginia, the net income for the upkeep of the McKay Cemetery Lot and markers first, and second, for the necessary work in and about the cemetery, payable annually or semi-annually.

b. In the exercise of the trust conferred upon my said Trustee, I fully authorize and empower it to manage, control and preserve the principal with full power to invest and reinvest, whether or not said investments are legal for trust funds in the State of Virginia and to keep the same invested, to sell the same, as I might do if present at the doing thereof, without liability on the part of any purchaser to see to the application of the purchase money. In case of the sale of securities or investments, I direct my said Trustee to reinvest the proceeds thereof in its discretion as deemed for the best interest of the trust fund and for the purpose for which it is created.

3rd I hereby give, desire and bequeath all the rest and residue of my estate of whatever kind and nature whether real or personal and wheresoever situated, now possessed or hereafter acquired, or to which I may be entitled, unto my children, share and share alike.

Lastly, I hereby nominate and appoint my beloved son, Aubrey L. McKay, to be the Executor of this my last will and testament and I authorize him to do all the things necessary and proper to carry this will into effect.

In testimony whereof, I have subscribed my name and affixed my seal this 26th day of December A.D. 1939.

Etta D. McKay (Seal)

Signed, sealed, published and declared by Etta McKay, the above named testatrix, as and for her last will and testament in the presence, at her request and in her presence and presence of each other, we have hereafter unto subscribed our names in attesting witnesses.

The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated

This is a brief history of The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated (also called The Bethel Memorial Association) which is a non-profit organisation devoted towards the restoration and continual care and promotion of historic Bethel Baptist Church.

Old Bethel Baptist Church, Clarke County, VA

Play

Bethel Baptist Church which is located South of Millwood, Clarke County, VA on Rt. 625 was organised in 1808. Among the families who worshipped here were many of the descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr., William Davis & William Kerfoot.

From the booklet 'The Bethel Register' we find mentioned the first entry of the Bethel Minute Book which reads, 'July 16, 1808. - William Davis, James Sowers, Elizabeth (Kerfoot) Sowers (ed. note: wife of James) and John Graves, having recieved letters of dismission from Buck Marsh Church, Do Covenant and Agree to unite together in a Church called Bethel.'

It is believed that Friends (Quakers) occupied the site that Bethel now stands on and built a log meeting house that the congregation used prior to building the brick meeting house we see today. For a list of some Friends meetings go to this page: Quaker Meetings in the Lower Shenandoah Valley and elsewhere.

Some information about the Sowers, Kerfoot & Davis families

Throughout Bethel's history many descendants of Jacob Sowers, William Davis & William Kerfoot played promenant roles in it's affairs.

Many descendants of these three individuals intermarried frequently with each other so much so that many people could claim descent from all three families. In many cases several times over.

The descendants of Jacob Sowers, William Davis & William Kerfoot also intermarried frequently with the descendants of Robert Mackay Sr. during the latter half of the nineteenth century and into the twentieth century. Because of this many of the people who attend our McKay reunions also have Sowers, Davis & Kerfoot ancestry, including myself (unknown if I have any Kerfoot ancestry) which is why Bethel has a strong historical connection to the Robert Mackay Clan.

Dee Ann Buck, who is a descendant of the Sowers and Kerfoot families, published a comprehensive genealogy of the descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr. and sold copies to members of the family during the 1991 McKay reunion. I don't believe there are any copies left. You can contact her at the above e-mail address linked to her name for information on books she has available and the cost for purchasing them.

I am interested in updating these family genealogies and have been gathering info. in regards to that. If you have further info. on these families that you can send me please send it to mike@robertmackayclan.com. I can tell you exactly the kind of genealogy info. I'm looking for.

On with the history of Bethel

Bethel Baptist Church grew as a church during the early part of the 1800s and had a pretty active membership. It's location helped make that possible. It was situated on the Great Wagon Road which passed through Clarke (formerly Frederick) County on to Stephens City (aka Newtown). The present building was started in 1828 and dedicated in 1830. Bethel's membership started to decline somewhat when the Millwood Pike was established and the centre of commerce in the region shifted towards Winchester. The Civil War and some other things helped contribute to further decline in membership as well until they closed their doors in 1930.

This left Bethel's future in jeopardy. The building was also in serious disrepair and the grounds were overgrown with vegetation.

In 1941 Beverly Brownley McKay organized The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated as a non profit organisation set up to restore the old Bethel building to it's original form and repair any damages to the structure and adjoining cemetery that time had brought on and to provide continual care and upkeep of the building and grounds.

Tragically, Mr. McKay died in 1965 from an auto accident and didn't get to witness physically the fruits of his labours. I believe he would be proud of what has been accomplished so far.

Today, Bethel enjoys a large gathering at it's annual events and has seen much of the work started by Mr. McKay finished. Even so, there is still much that needs to be done.

Most recently the interior has gotten a new paint job which was done to restore the inside to the original colours which were discovered by a team of specialists who went around testing the walls and found the hidden paint colours under the old green painted walls.

The next major step will be the repainting of the pews to match the walls. Also, much of the old wooden fence surrounding the grounds was removed. It is believed that originally there wasn't a fence.

It will be interesting to see what develops in the future as the efforts to restore the Bethel church building to it's original form continue. Let us hope that Beverly Brownley McKay is smiling on us from above as we continue the work that he began back in 1941.

The adjoining cemetery contains many graves of descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr., William Kerfoot & William Davis most of whom were originally buried there. A few graves were relocated from other cemeteries.

How to get to the Bethel meeting house and grounds

On U.S. 50 between the Shenandoah River and the U.S. 340 interchange at Waterloo turn onto State Route 622 (Red Gate Rd.). Follow 622 (Red Gate Rd.) for about a mile or so and turn left onto State Route 624 (Swift Shoals Rd.). Drive about a half mile or so and turn right onto Bethel Ln. Bethel Church is located on the top of the hill. The road encircles the building.

Aerial photo of Bethel Church and grounds

The Bethel Church building appears near the centre of this photograph with a dark roof. The 'Bethel Academy' is to the lower left corner. This was the old schoolhouse that adjoined Bethel Church. Use your 'back' button to return.

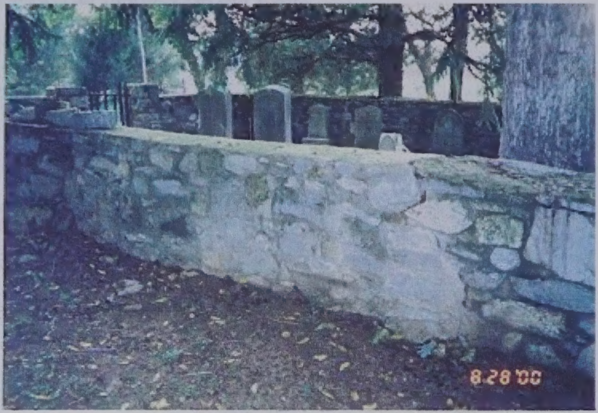
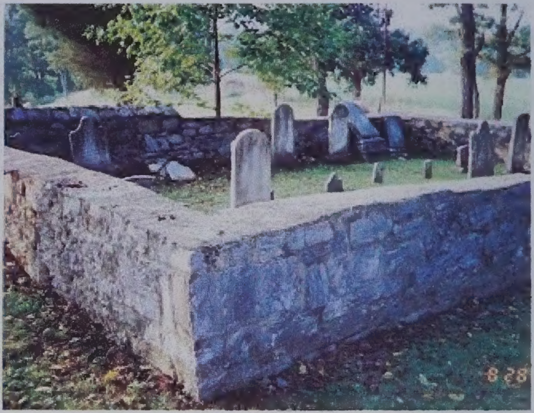
LIGHT AND SAFER THAN THE KNOWN WAY."



First walled Sowers/Kerfoot family plot.



Second walled Sowers/Kerfoot family plot.

These two plots contain some of the descendants of Jacob Sowers & William Kerfoot who were buried at Bethel. Some of these are children who I believe died as a result of typhoid fever.

Yes, we are fortunate to have had Cousin Hunter and others who started the work on the Robert Mackay Clan genealogy.

Also, we are lucky our people were Quakers. I have Hinshaw's six volume set as well as Hopewell Friends History. Lots of valuable data found there.

This also goes for my Steer Genealogy as well.

I'm also interested in Robert's origins as well. I'm assuming that he is descended of the Mackay Clan of Strathnaver but I do know that there was a group of Mackay who lived in Argyle which is claimed to be related to the Strathnaver group.

You referred to Midlothian which is closer to Edinburgh. Perhaps Robert's ancestors left the Strathnaver region and moved down there for some reason. The Scottish Quaker connection is pretty interesting.

Would like to know if you have records in 1682 the family of John Hampton, left Elphingston, East Lothian, Scotland for Freehold, Monmouth Co. NJ.

Need the names of the other Quaker family who left with him. I am looking for the birth place of Robert MacKay born c1685, believe in Freehold, NJ. But believe his father & other family members left that part of Scotland, with John Hampton.

You mentioned the name Leith, this family was also in Freehold, NJ and associated with a John MacKay in that same place. Writers of a Leeth/Leith Family history were never able to figure out where in Great Britain, their James Leith came from. Would be very interested in placing a James Leith & John MacKay in the same place in early Scotland.

I have also found members of the Hoge family in the same place as the above John Hampton, in Quaker Scottish records. They too lived in early Freehold NJ removed to Cecil Co. MD and then down into the Shenandoah Valley.

Also found members of the Brown family as members of early Scottish Quakers families. But that name is so common, no big deal. Still looking for the first wife of Robert MacKay, was a Ann Brown born c1685.

If you know anyone studied in early Quaker History of 1680's in that part of Scotland, I would be interested in his or her address.

Thank you for your help.

PRESIDENT MICHAEL L. MCKAY SENDS LETTER

It's almost time for our 58th reunion. This year our gathering will again be held at the Holiday Inn, 301 Foxcroft Ave., Martinsburg, WV 25401, on Sunday June 22, 2003 with dinner at 1:00 p.m. Please bring something of interest to share with the rest of us. Tables will be set up for display of photo albums, genealogy records, and other family related items. Plan to come early and stay later to meet and socialize and to view the items on display. Bring an item you would like to donate as a door prize. Please cut out the enclosed card or mail the one with my other letter by June 15, whether you are planning to attend or not...

We will be having a buffet style dinner featuring entrees of fried chicken & London broil and two side dishes of scalloped potatoes and a vegetable, potato salad, pasta salad, cole slaw, garden salad with two dressings, vegetable tray, fresh fruit, rolls and butter, desserts, coffee, tea (hot and cold).

I have just reduced the price from 16. The new price is $15. Children 12 and under are free this year.

There are two swimming pools and the fee is $3.00. Dressing should be done near the pool area. No swimwear in the motel. Lockers are provided, but bring your own lock. Parents should be present when children are using the pool.

The motel has a tennis court, sand volleyball court and weight facilities. Heatherfields Restaurant is located inside the motel.

Room rates are $72 plus tax. Phone (800) 862-6282 for reservations.

Please let me know of births, marriages, deaths so I can announce them at the reunion.

Please bring games or ideas to entertain our younger children.

The Robert McKay Clan Newsletter

This Newsletter serves the entire family of Robert Mackay Sr. and some related families. It includes coverage of the McKay-Sowers-Kerfoot reunion held annually in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and the Collett-McKay Picnic held annually in northwestern Clinton County, Ohio. It reports on events and happenings submitted by family members and also contains genealogical information and queries.

It also covers events surrounding historic Old Bethel Baptist Church in southern Clarke County, Virginia.

This Newsletter was originally founded by Wallace E. Shipp back in 1965. Wallace retired from editing the family Newsletter in 2003.

The Newsletter volunteer staff is now made up of three people listed below:

I'm guessing that this photo had to have been taken around 1912 because Corkey was born in Feb. 1911.
I also believe that the one above was likely taken around the same time.
This would make Nannie approximately 24 years old at the time.

Standing in front of him is definitely Ella (Heflybower) McKay (my great-great-grandmother). I have yet to identify the other persons in the photo.

I'll have to make the necessary changes in the page for Buck and Ella McKay's photos.

Kenly knew that escape was impossible, for Jackson he declared afterwards that in all his experience of warfare, he had never seen so gallant and effective charge of cavalry. The panic-stricken Federal infantry laid down their arms, their gunners were cut to pieces and Kenly himself was severely wounded and captured.

The Federals losses in the battle were 904 killed, wounded and captured. With the town, had been captured $300,000 worth of quartermaster and commissary stores. The victory at Front Royal opened Jackson's way to Winchester and the opportunity for complete destruction of Banks' Army.

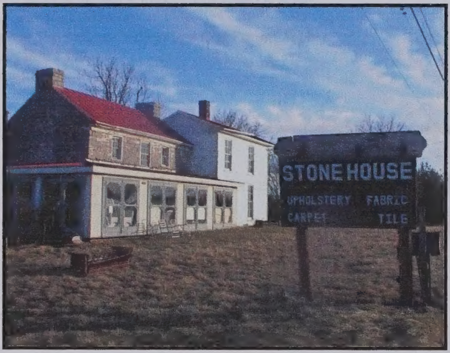
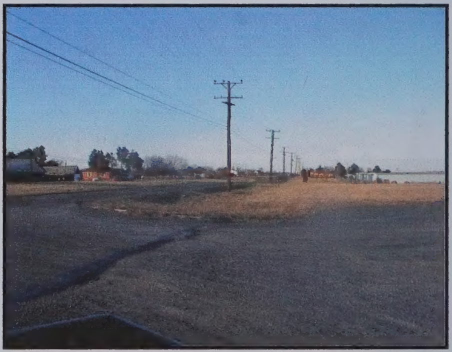
Directions to Fairview



Retracing your steps on route 626 and traveling right on Rogers Mill Road (Road 614). At Stop Sign on Rogers Mill Road turn left onto Route 55 returning east towards Front Royal.

At the Stop Light and intersection of Routes 55 and 340, turn left onto Route 340 heading towards Winchester (North). You will see the 7-11 immediately on your right (Mileage to the Stone House will be 3.7 miles) after entering Route 340. You will travel across the 2nd Bridge of the Shenandoah River (North Fork). If you look immediately to your left you will see Guard Hill Road and Bread and Breakfast on top of the hill. With an Exxon Station on the left and a parking lot on the right, you will proceed along Route 340 passing underneath Route 66. At this point you will see another gas station (Bullets) on the right side of the road. When you notice a sign indicating Dupont and Toray Plastics begin looking for the Stone House on the right. This will be the McKay House where Kenly's federal troops were defeated and surrendered.

A mile north of Cedarville, Kenly rallied his infantry for a final stand at "Fairview", Thomas McKay home. In vain Kenly tried to deploy his companies in the fields and orchard. The gray troops fell upon them before they could fix bayonets or form a front. Escape was impossible. This was the closing scene of the Battle of Front Royal and the end of Colonel Kenly's command.



As Jackson observed the vulnerable Blue column making its way north, the General seized Colonel Thomas S. Flournoy's 6th Virginia Cavalry and ordered it up the Winchester Turnpike in pursuit of the retreating enemy. The race was on to capture Kenly's command.

hot pursuit by the Maryland Confederates, who captured their flag. Miss McKay had witnessed the bloody struggle from her father's front porch. She saw the Federal flag carried off by the retreating enemy, and was agreeably surprised when, soon afterwards, it was brought back and given to her by a soldier of the Maryland Confederate regiment, with the request that she would keep it, and also his portfolio, which he took from his knapsack, until his return, or, should he not come back, would send his portfolio home to Maryland, and retain the flag, all of which Miss McKay agreed to do. He was accompanied by a comrade of the same command. Not many days afterward, and as Stonewall Jackson's army retreated up the Valley (to avoid being cut off by Fremont's and Shields' armies), the comrade of the soldier, who left the flag with Miss McKay, reappeared, and informed her that his companion.

- Who he said was his brother, had been killed, and that he had come to claim the portfolio, offering the custody of the flag to Miss McKay, in accordance with his brother's wish. The arrangement being concluded, the soldier took his departure, but as neither of the brothers gave his name, Miss McKay (the present Mrs. Rust) has not since learned anything further concerning the identity of the two soldiers. This particular flag was the regulation flag of the First Maryland Federal regiment, and had been presented to that command at the Relay House (B. & O. R. R.) near Baltimore, as coming from certain ladies of Baltimore. Prior to the combat described above, the State flag carried by the Federal regiment had been taken by the First Maryland Confederate regiment at Front Royal, and divided up piecemeal among the captors. The flag entrusted to Miss McKay's hands in 1862, was in June, 1880, presented to General Bradley T. Johnson, on the occasion of the unveiling of the statue of the Maryland Confederate Soldier in the Stonewall Cemetery at Winchester, Virginia, and is now kept by the Association of the Maryland Line (Confederates) as an invaluable trophy.
- A handsome picture of the flag has been presented to Mrs. Rust by the Association, having the following printed description attached: "This flag was presented to Miss Nannie A. McKay, May 23, 1862, by a soldier of the First Maryland regiment, C. S. A., who had captured it in the Front Royal fight, of which she was a witness. She sacredly kept it until June 5, 1880, when at the unveiling of the Maryland statue at Winchester, Virginia, she, through her husband, Captain J. R.. Rust, presented it to General Bradley T. Johnson, formerly Colonel of the First Maryland regiment, C S.A. This picture is presented to Mrs. Captain Rust by the Association of the Maryland Line as a testimonial of their respect and regard for her."
- The flag would probably still be resting in the custody of Mrs. Rust, but for its discovery by Captain Winfield Peters, of Baltimore, who was a private in the First Maryland Confederate regiment, and who made a personal appeal to the lady to present the flag to General Johnson, as the representative of the victorious regiment. Mrs. Rust, although loth to part with the treasured memento, at length consented, simply stipulating that she should receive a picture of it. The flag itself is made of silk, and was originally a fine piece of work, though now much tattered.
- Immediately after the conflict in Mr. McKay's yard on the evening of May 23d, 1862, an incident occurred which is worth relating. A field officer of a Pennsylvania regiment was found by Mrs. McKay, secreted in her cellar. She captured the gallant Yankee, and finding him in a state of trepidation, took from him his ivory-mounted pistols and turned him over to the cavalry, while he pleaded for his life, and even offered her money, if she would allow him to escape.
- Captain John R. Rust, the husband of Miss McKay, was a gallant soldier and officer in Ashby's cavalry, a relative of that splendid leader and one of his most trusted men.

- THE ASSOCIATION OF THE MARYLAND LINE,
  BALTIMORE, July 31st, 1884. Mrs. Captain JOHN R. RUST, Nineveh, Va.:
  MY DEAR MADAM,--The Association of the Maryland Line have directed me to present to you the accompanying photograph of the flag of the First Maryland Federal Regiment as a testimonial of their respect and regard.

  The original of this picture, so carefully preserved by you for so many years, will be kept among the records of the Maryland Line, and will bear testimony to our descendants of the fidelity of Virginia women to the cause we all loved so well.

- During the retreat toward Winchester of the portion of Bank's army driven from Front Royal by a detachment of Jackson's advancing forces, consisting principally of the First Maryland Infantry and Wheat's Louisiana Battalion, on May 23d, 1862, there occurred in front of the stone house of Mr. Joshua A. McKay, on the Winchester pike, about five miles north of Front Royal, a spirited combat between Confederates and Federals, which was witnessed by Miss Nannie A. McKay, and of which that young lady (now Mrs. John R. Rust), until recently possessed an interesting memorial in the shape of a captured Federal flag. The series of events that led to its capture, and its subsequent history, are of such interest as to merit record.

- Late in the evening of the 23d, after the brush at Front Royal, a squad of some twenty of the retreating Federal First Maryland regiment having rallied in McKay's yard, were captured by two men of the Rappahannock company of the Sixth Virginia Cavalry, named Haddox and Field, who, undaunted by the disparity of numbers, boldly charged the enemy and demanded their surrender. The guns of their prisoners had hardly been stacked, when a force of about one hundred Federals, with the regimental flag, came up from the left, while at the same time a Federal officer with more men came charging down the pike from the direction of Winchester, calling out: "Rally round the flag, boys!" Haddox seized one of the stacked guns and knocked the Federal officer from his horse, but was shot and killed a moment later by some of his prisoners, who seeing their opportunity, seized their muskets and opened fire.

- Field was also killed. Both he and Haddox, it is stated, were killed while endeavoring to make the enemy understand that they yielded to overwhelming numbers. The remainder of the Rappahannock company, led by the gallant Grimsley, having worsted four or five times their numbers at Judge Robert McKay's, a half mile distant, now appeared on the scene, accompanied by Captain Baxter's Rocking-ham company of the same regiment of cavalry, and a portion of the Confederate First Maryland Infantry. They found the Federals drawn up in a strong line extending across the McKay orchard. Grimsley and Baxter charged them twice, and for a while the fighting was very bitter. The Rappahannock company alone in these two charges lost nineteen in killed and wounded, including Captain Baxter killed. The Maryland Federals were, however, at length driven from the orchard in great confusion. They were followed in from the left, and Companies K and A on the right. The enemy was driven from his position, but soon reformed in an orchard on the right of the turnpike, where these companies again charged putting them into a complete route.

The force of the enemy consisted of two companies of cavalry, two pieces of artillery, one regiment of infantry (the First Maryland), and two companies of Pennsylvania Infantry.

When the charge was commenced their cavalry took to flight. The two pieces of artillery were abandoned and taken with nearly the entire infantry force taken prisoner. Southern Historical Society Papers (FIGHT AT FRONT ROYAL) Diary of John C. Donohoe, Hughesville, VA May 8, 1896.

Colonel Kenly says: "I still pushed on in an orderly, military manner, and had actually gained some four miles from the river when Major Vought rode up from the rear and informed me that he was closely pressed. . . The infantry in the field poured in a very close volley, which nearly destroyed the leading company, but it did not check the advance of the succeeding squadrons, which charged in the most spirited manner. Larger numbers of them, turning into the field, charged upon the men there, who continued fighting desperately until nearly all were captured, some five or six officers and about 100 men alone escaping. There was no surrender about it."

An amusing incident by Company K member, John C. Donohoe, witnessed Captain Baxter query two soldiers not connected with the company in front. The elder wore a dingy gray coat and an old military cap, pulled well forward, and rode a raw-bone sorrel horse, while on his right rode a youth who seemed to be more neatly dressed than the other. These disconnected riders did not ride fast enough for the ardent and impatient spirit of Baxter, who, in no very choice language, peremptorily commanded them to "get out of the way of his men. Younger rider motioned "This is General Jackson."

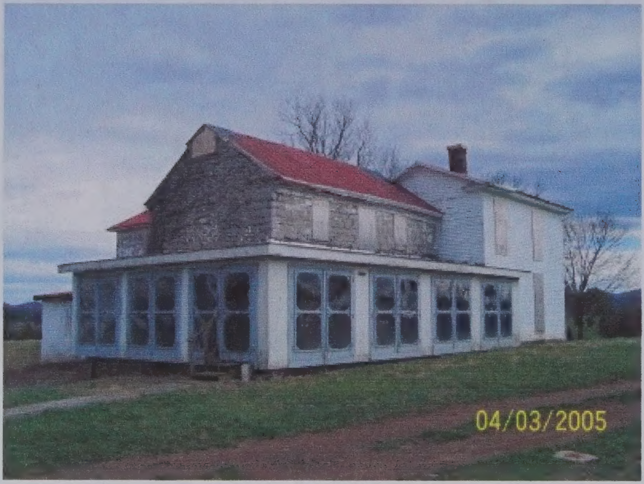
Fairview

(Warren Co. VA)



Fairview - Warren County, VA

Home of Thomas Buck McKay & Ann Elizabeth LeHew. Comparing the photo on this page and the one used by the 'Battle of Front Royal' website, a question arises. What happened to the chimneys?

It was later found that the chimneys were considered to be unstable and were removed piece by piece and placed behind the house until they could be properly restored.

NANCY A. (NANNIE) MC KAY AND THE BATTLE OF FRONT ROYAL MAY 23-24, 1862.

(Here is a narrative done by Tom Blumer of the Warren Heritage Society based on the account by Cousin Nannie McKay Rust on the captured Yankee flag that she was entrusted with.)

I was 12 years old when Virginia seceded from the union. The war started shortly after. We were filled with hope for independence. All the promising boys of Warren County enlisted in the Confederate States Army. It was pretty quiet around home for a while. I was too young for boys to come courting.

The management of all business was left to women, us children, and those men who were too old to fight. My papa, Joshua McKay, was 50 years old. He managed the McKay orchards with the help of my mom, Ann, and a few hired hands when he could get help. I did the best I could. My brother Joshua who was 10 worked like a man. The apple harvest of 1862 looked to be a good one until the Battle of Front Royal.

May 23, 1862, was a day I will never forget as long as the Good Lord gives me breath. We always got up with the birds. We expected nothing unusual to happen that day, though we had heard that Stonewall Jackson's men were camped between Overall and Asbury Chapel, just south of Front Royal. While we wanted to believe the rumor, no one was ever certain as to Stonewall's location. We had also grown tired of an expected fight since the Yankees had occupied Front Royal.

The Battle of Front Royal came crashing down on us like an avalanche. Mom and I were on our porch shelling peas when a bunch of boys came running through the orchard with the news. Seeing their frantic faces, we expected them to sound the usual alarm, "The Yankees are coming!" The unexpected cry brought tears of joy to our eyes, "Stonewall is here! He will liberate Front Royal!" My heart pounded, and I ran to fetch a Confederate flag I had been sewing of an evening, after chores. Mama remained on the porch wringing her hands and praying. We knew not what to expect. The Yankees had already stripped our home of everything of value. Our few silver utensils lay safely buried in the orchard.

Our shock and bliss was so great, no one thought to harness my ten-year-old brother Joshua. Before we could stop him, he joined the youthful crowd of fellow chaps and dashed away. They ran to spread the news to other nearby farms. I can still hear mama cry out to him, "Joshua! Come back! You hear your mother!" Joshua was gone.

My flag in hand, I dashed into the parlor where papa was reading. Weeping with joy, I cried, "Stonewall is coming!"

We spent the rest of the day waiting. Eventually we could hear musket shots and cannons from Front Royal. Soon after we saw columns of smoke. The Yankees had set our twin bridges afire to stop the Southern advance. We soon learned that, though the Yankees had set the bridges on fire, Stonewall's men had saved the bridges. Stonewall pursued the fleeing Yankee army up Winchester Pike toward our home.

The Battle of Front Royal reached our farm late in the afternoon. Yankee stragglers began to show up. The first was a group of twenty or so men from the First Federal Maryland. No sooner had these men been captured when a Yankee officer tried to rally his troops. He drew his men up in a line right across our orchard. In the process of the ensuing battle, our orchard was left a shambles and the Maryland Confederates held the day. They captured the First Maryland Federal flag. One of the Maryland Confederates entrusted the flag to me. I returned the flag to Maryland in 1880.

Not long after I took possession of the captured Yankee flag, mama went to the cellar and found a Yankee from Pennsylvania hiding there. He was so bewildered and frightened by his state of affairs that he surrendered to mama. She came away with his two ivory-mounted pistols as a trophy. He even offered mama money, if she would allow him to escape, something she would not do. Like Belle Boyd, mama had her very own Yankee prisoner.

The Yankees took their last stand in our orchard, but our mighty Stonewall was too much for them. I watched 700 of them surrender their arms and be marched off captive by our triumphant boys in grey. We were mighty proud, but our orchard was ruined. When he returned home from spreading the news, my little brother Joshua sat on a stump in the yard and took everything in.

The next day, we got news that Stonewall was coming up the Wincherst Pike, right past our home. We hoped we would get a glimpse of our hero, Stonewall Jackson. Everyone in those parts stood on the side of the road to cheer him. I waved my half sewn Confederate flay and mama, papa and Joshua waved table linens. Even my little four year old brother Francis waved a hanky with great gusto. To tell you the truth, I could not imagine a more majestic figure on a horse. I will never forget those two days. I, just a young thing, had taken part in our War of Independence.

The Last Will & Testament of Joshua A. McKay

See Joshua's family record.

In the name of God amen. I Joshua A. McKay of the County of Warren and State of Virginia, being weak in body but sound of mind and good memory do make this my last will and testament.

First it is my will that all my just debts and funeral expenses shall be paid.

Secondly I will and desire that my beloved wife Esther Ann McKay, shall have all my real estate south of the road leading from the Turnpike road to the point of Wheelwright's Woods which is of the home farm, with the privilege of fire wood and timber for necessary purpose on the farm from the other part of the farm or from the Pine hills. I also give to my beloved wife her choice of two horses & 3 cows and all my household kitchen furniture.

Thirdly I will the balance of my landed estate to be rented out by my executors and the rents to be applied to the payments of my debts.

Fourthly I will and devise all my personal property to be sold except what I have here in before given to my beloved wife and the proceeds to the payment of my debts should my creditors not be willing to indulge my estate until the balance of my debts due be paid from rents as provided in the foregoing.

Fifth I hereby authorize and empower my executors without the certification of a search for a title to execute and convey my interest in that portion of the Richardson farm purchased by Joseph McKay, Thomas B. Massie, J.H. McKay and myself of Wm. W. Eastham trustee of J.W. McKay's estate whenever sold. The residue of my estate, both real and personal including the portion left to my beloved wife during her lifetime is to be equally divided between my dear children, Nancy Antrim McKay and Joshua A. McKay and Francis H. McKay, as they severally become of age. And if either should die under age, his or her portion should go to the others.

Sixth I will and wish Washington Wells, a free colored man, to have the house and 30 acres of land attached in the Pine hills occupied by George Way, during his natural life, he paying $12 per annual to my estate for the use of the same, the said house and land in no way whatsoever is to be liable for said Wells' debts (as he will be only a tenant) now or hereafter contracted.

I hereby request the said Washington Wells to render unto my beloved wife any assistance he can in her farming operations, she paying him whatever such services may be worth.

I wish and desire my dear cousin Eliza Haycock to continue to make her home with my beloved wife as long as she remain single and particularly request my wife and children to extend to her all the kindness and assistance she may need.

Seventh I hereby appoint Joseph McKay and Jesse H. McKay my executors of this my last will and testament and in testament thereof I hereby subscribe my name and affix my seal this 10th day of July 1861.

J.A. McKay (Seal)

Witnesses:
John Clark
James W. Green
Eliza C. Buck

Warren County

At a Court held for the County of Warren on Monday the 1st day of September 1861, the last will and testament of Joshua A. McKay was produced in Court by the oaths of James W. Green and Eliza Buck and ordered to be recorded.

Antrim Farm
(Warren Co. VA)

This was the home of Joshua Antrim McKay which was willed to him by his great-uncle Joshua Antrim. According to Dee Ann Buck's Tabulated Genealogy of the Family of Robert Mackay Sr., the home is located 'about two miles north of Cedarville on the east side of the Winchester Turnpike and about one-half a mile from the Pike.'

More details later as they come to me.

Confederate Museum Report

McKAY MEMORIAL

xxxxxAt its annual reunion last summer, the McKay Family Association voted to donate $500 to the Warren Rifles Confederate Museum as a group memorial to the eleven known McKay soldiers who served in the Confederate Army. The Hon. John Rust of Fairfax was appointed chairman of a committee to collect this fund and to choose a memorial unit toward which to apply it. Recently Mr. Rust mailed a check for the full amount of this memorial to the Museum Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Burke.

xxxxxAfter due consultation with the Museum Committee, Mr. Rust's Committee chose as the McKay Memorial unit a beautiful arch just inside the Main Exhibition Room of the Museum building. This was considered an especially appropriate place inasmuch as the Buck family memorial--a flag niche--is to be located at the opposite end of this room. Thus the two handsomest memorial units in the Main Museum Room will honor the two families of McKay and Buck, which have figured so prominently in the history of Warren County through many generations.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Sr., founder of the Virginia family, was the first settler of what is now Warren County. His was among the famous party of sixteen families who came into the Shenandoah Valley with Joist Hite, the greatest promoter of colonization in early Valley history. Robert McKay staked out his claim in the present Fork District along the south branch of the Shenandoah. His son, Robert McKay, Jr., took up 828 acres along Crooked Run near the site of Cedarville. There, about 1733, he built a two-story home of walnut logs which is the oldest house standing in Warren County today.

xxxxxThe McKays were a famous family and in the following generations their homesteads dotted the landscape from Front Royal to Winchester. They cleared and cultivated broad acres, reared and educated large families and helped to build a great civilization in one of the garden spots of the world. In the "martial sixties" eleven scions of this pioneer stock volunteered for service in the Confederate Army. They included:

xxxxxCorporal Alfred A. McKay, Co. E, 7th Va. Cavalry.

xxxxxCapt. Jesse Clay McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJacob Francis McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, Quartermaster Serg't. 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxThomas Buck McKay, Co. B, 17th Va. Infantry; later of Co. B, Mosby's Bat. of Cavalry.

xxxxxJesse H. McKay (branch of service unknown)

xxxxxThe military records of the above soldiers are being compiled by the McKay family historian, Mr. Hunter B. McKay, of Belmont, Mass., and will be published when completed.

The Last Will & Testament of Robert S. McKay

See Robert's family record.

I Robert S. McKay considering the uncertainty of life, and the duty of being prepared for death, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills by me at anytime made.

1st I direct that all my just debts, including my funeral expenses be paid by my executors and if the proceeds of the sale of all my personal property, not specially bequeathed and also of the Bush Hill farm which is situated in the county of Frederick near Newtown (ed. note: now known as Stephens City) and contains by old survey one hundred & seventy two acres, and there is also connected with of seventy eight acres of woodland, which is adjacent to Klines land, and which is considered as part of the Bush Hill farm, and as a further description of the said tract of land it may be said that it formerly belonged by virtue of a devise of her husband to my present wife Jane R. and to her children, wherever the youngest one becomes twenty one years of age, but was sold under a decree of court and bought by me be not sufficient for that purpose my executors are authorized to certain the cents and profits of the remainder of my estate and apply them to the debts until all of them are paid.

2nd I give and bequeath to my wife Jane R. all the slaves she possessed when we were married and all those inherited since that time from her Father's estate, both of which have been transferred to her by any deed. I also give and bequeath to her a home at our present residence during her life, to be shared with whoever may live there, and moreover an annuity of one hundred dollars per annum as long as she lives which must be paid out of my estate and furthermore all the household and kitchen furniture of every description which was brought to our residence by her when we were married and which belonged to her and I do hereby declare my intention to be that this and such request provision herein made for my wife shall be in lieu of her dower and distribution share of my estate. But if she refuse to accept to this arrangement then I desire that some satisfactory agreement be entered into between her and my executors taking into consideration the benefit to the estate and her comfort and hoping that her requirements may be as reasonable as possible.

3rd I gave and transferred to my son Wm. F. all the real estate which he and his deceased brothers Henry Clay & Robert P. inherited from his grandfather and when he again transferred it to me I made it a condition to the subsequent transfer of that estate to my son in law Benj. F. Hicks that he should pay to my son Wm. F. two thousand dollars which was accordingly done. I also paid to W.D. Bartlett one hundred and eighty. My will therefore is that he shall have no more of my estate.

4th I give and devise to all my children by second wife Nancy A. Viz: Ann Elizabeth, James E., Jesse C., Kathleen, Jacob F. and Robert all the balance of my estate to be divided equally between them except so far as any of them may be hereafter charged with advancements which must be accounted for in the division of my estate. The land devised to the above named children will consist of the tract on which I reside commonly called the Orchard Farm, the Cedarville Farm, the Watson Farm and a portion of Western Land.

5th I direct that Kathleen, Jacob and Robert shall not enjoy any part of my estate until and unless they convey their right away in the tract of land which I conveyed to W.M. Wheelwright and which is situated in the county of Warren near Nineveh and adjoining the lands of J.A. McKay & Cohn E.B. Jacobs and also borders on the Front Royal Turnpike. My children Ann Elizabeth, James E. and Jesse C. being of age, have already conveyed away their interest in the above described tract of land.

6th I desire that the tract of land which I have transferred to my daughter Ann Elizabeth, be valued at twenty five hundred dollars, which sum and fifty dollars per annum from the period of the transfer to her to the time of my death one to be considered an advancement and she is to be charged with the same in the settlement and division of my estate. My son James E. is also charged with five hundred dollars which is to be accounted for at the same time and in the same manner. Also my son Jesse C. is charged with one thousand dollars, which must be accounted for in like time and manner as in the two preceding instances.

7th I appoint my sons James E. and Jesse C. executors of this my will and desire that they will not be required to give the usual bond or security, and also that they charge no more for their services in settling up the estate than will be sufficient to defray their necessary expenses which immediately engaged in doing so. In testimony whereof I have to this my will consisting of one sheet of paper, it my hand the 2nd day of October A.D. 1860.

R.S. McKay

signed, published and declared to be the testator R.S. McKay as and for his last will & testament the presence of us who in his presence & in the presence & each other at his request have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.

Robert Aaron Shinn McKay Record

Robert Aaron Shinn McKay, born: 17 Dec 1795; Cedarville, Frederick (now Warren) Co. VA; died: 10 Jun 1862; buried: Crooked Run (Nineveh) Cem., Warren Co. VA in an unmarked grave;

Robert, married: 18 Dec 1819; Frederick Co. VA; Virginia Grubbs, died: ca. 1827;

See Robert's Last Will and Testament.

According to a copy of an old Bible record believed to be from the family Bible of Moses & Abigail McKay, Robert is listed with the middle names of 'Aaron' and 'Shinn'. He signed his legal documents in Virginia as 'Robert S. McKay' and I do not know of any other documents spelling out his complete name at this time. The original Bible record is in the possession of Katherine (Hackney) Luby. Dee Ann Buck disagrees that his middle names were 'Aaron' and 'Shinn' so we need further documentation on this.

All children of above were born in Cedarville, Frederick (now Warren, formed in 1836) Co. VA.

Dear Joshua,

I have been several days thinking of writing to you but have not until now commenced it until now.

I have nothing now to write of Importance or Interesting. We recieved your Letter Informing us of the Death of our much Esteemed Relation Levi which was Indeed a shock, he was Indeed a Relation I very much Respected and a young man of as good (In many Respects) morals and nice sence of honour as was common, but he is gone and the Judge of the whole earth will do right.

I wish you If you please to attend the payment of the case on the Land that Brother Jesse conveyed to me adjoining George McKays part of which is in Green County and some in Clinton, you understand it better than I can Inform you, as well I can Recollect there was some mistake in the Quantity in Green probably the whole amount was in Green and still a part in Clinton you paid So it is I want you to arrainge it and pay it, and I will send the money out by Bernard as he expects to be out shortly & also Joseph McKay or some other person, we have been making arraingements for some time to come out we did not receive the Information of the deth of Levi for a good while after it took place the letters were in Winchester several weeks before we got them, it is our wish if it can be accomplished that Jesse Wood should succeed Levi in the administration.

If that is not possible I want his Brother in Laws or the same that undertakes his buying to undertake both, We have wrote on to Chillicothe.

I hope you will attend to and arrainge the tax Should none of us come out I will send the money by mail or some how shortly and pay you for all your trouble.

We have had a good deal of sickness in our Neighbourhood this season but not so fatal as was last my family is well and our Relations is generally well now Uncle and Aunt as well as common.

Jacob McKay, husband of Elizabeth Antrim

November 30 2006 at 2:19 PM

Response to That narrows it down

If you could tell by the hand writing if said Jacob was an old man about 59 years, then I would say most likely Jacob son of Jacob Sr., son of Robert Jr.

But for other reasons I think the writer was "our" Jacob McKay (husband of Elizabeth Antrim).

On page 87 of my McKay book with the chart of the different Jacob & Jesse McKay family grouping, all three Jacobs: Sr., Jr. & III had brothers named Jesse. So no big deal the writer mentioning a brother Jesse.

I did include with my McKay book the marriage record of Jacob McKay & Elizabeth Antrim. I do not know if the letter was signed or not. You might try comparing the two records.

The Washington McKay listed on page 58 of my McKay book the son of Jacob & Mary (Haines) McKay.

The James Antrim and wife mentioned were: James Antrim who married Ann Pratt on 8th Mar 1820 in Frederick Co. VA. Their minister Thomas Buck, John McKay posted their bond. James' family line can be found in my Antrim Book pages 26 & 139. He was the son of John & Ann (Hackney) Antrim. His father was the brother of the father of "our" Elizabeth Antrim.

Another researcher, informed me that The Handley Library in Winchester, has on file all the Chancery Causes for Frederick Co. VA. Michael you will find these films a "gold mine" of information. We might find in these files samples of McKay hand writing. Each roll takes about hour & half to read.

I have found in Frederick Co. VA Land Deeds Book 25, 551 a Jacob McKay witness the deed filed by Thomas B. Martin of Greenway Court dated 21 Apr 1790. He took an oath on the document. I think this Jacob was the son of Jacob Sr. (removed to OH) As far as I know Jacob Sr. (son of Robert Jr.) remained a Quaker through out his life time, as did Jacob II McKay (son of Andrew McKay), so this just leaves Jacob Jr. (son of Jacob Sr., son of Robert Jr.)

I hope to turn up more information as I go through Frederick Co. VA Land Deeds & Chancery Causes.

Response to Letter to Moses McKay to be added

Do you know the history of the letter ?

Does not the content of the letter point to which Jacob ?
Does this Jacob mention other family members?

Robert Jr.'s son Jacob would have been dead by that time. He died by 1817.

A Jacob McKay posting a letter in 1827, could be Jacob Sr.'s son Jacob or his grandson also Jacob.

Andrew McKay's son Jacob died by 1815.

Response to Cool !!!

Well, now we've eliminated two of the ones I was thinking of.

Joshua Yoe Esquire 25
Wainesville Ohio
Warren cty
The care of Mr Moses McKay

This folded lettersheet / stampless letter has a circular date stamp for WINCHESTER VA, a 25 cent rate, and is addressed to Joshua Yoe, Esquire, Wainesville [Waynesville], Ohio, Warren cty, to the care of Moses McKay, and is a three page letter written by Jacob McKay. The headline is Crooked Run, Decr 2nd, 1827.

Some abstracts:

"We recv'd your Letter informing us of the death of our much esteemed relation Levi which was indeed a shock, he was indeed a relation I very much respected and a young man of as good (in many respects) morals and nice sense of honour as was comon ...."

"I wish you if you please to attend the payment of the tax on the Land that Brother Jesse conveyed to me adjoining George McKays part of which is in Green county and some in Clinton ..."

"I will send the money out by Bernard as he expects to be out shortly & also Joseph McKay or some other person, we have been making arrangments for some time to come out ..."

"... if Jesse Wood should succeed Levi in the administration ..."

"We have had a good deal of sickness in our neighbourhood this season ..."

"James Antram & wife has ague every third day Washington McKay and his family is some of them sick yet, they have had a sick family."

And more writing. Condition of the letter rates good. There's an old paper mend over the seal tear. As usual with stampless letters, after writing on one or more sides of a sheet of paper, the letter was folded several times and mailed. Please note that most stampless letters have faults such file folds, tears at and opposite the sealing wax area, and some stains / wear / tear here and there. I hope the scan gives you a general idea of the condition.

Codicil to the last will and testament of Jacob McKay III

I Jacob McKay, County of Warren, State of Virginia, do this 7th day of June 1852, make and publish this codicil to my last will and testament in manner and form following to wit.

Whereas, in my last will and testament I have thus given and bequeathed to my son, William B. McKay, a certain portion of my estate, a part of which he did recieve before his death, the balance which would have been coming to him, I give and bequeath to my four children, namely, Jesse H. McKay, Thomas B. McKay, Sarah J. Buck, Eliza Buck, and to my daughter Nancy A. McKay to be equally divided into five parts and whereas I have as aforesaid willed to my daughter Nancy A. McKay, fifty acres of my home farm, I now will and bequeath the same to R.S. McKay for the benefit of her children after the death of my beloved wife Elizabeth. I give and bequeath to my son, Thomas B. McKay, my servant Ben, and also after the death of my wife I give and bequeath to my son Oscar McKay my servant Henry. I do hereby constitute and appoint my sons Joshua McKay and Jesse H. McKay my executors and they are to recieve one hundred dollars each for services as such and lastly it is my desire that this my present codicil be amended to and made part of my last will & testament. In testimony whereof I set my hand and seal this date before written.

To my son, Oscar McKay, I will and bequeath all the residue of my home tract of land lying west of the road leading from Cedarville to Nineveh and north of Chapel Road including all the buildings. I also bequeath my son Oscar McKay one half of the pine hill woodland the northern portion of the Jesse McKay tract, said pine hill woodland bequeathed as aforesaid to Oscar and Thomas B. to be divided and laid off to them by my sons Joshua McKay and Joseph McKay. I will and desire that when my two sons Thomas B. and Oscar McKay become of age, they shall make and sign a deed of relinquishment of their interest in the mill and land sold to representatives without any consideration and in the event they do not make or cause to be made said relinquishment, my will is that said Oscar and Thomas B. shall not have nor inherit any part of my estate real or personal. Be it furthermore understood that the tract of land bequeathed as aforesaid to my daughter Sarah Buck I desire and will that she shall have it after my death and that her husband Charles Buck shall have a life estate in it without accounting for rents or profits thereof whatever and in the event that my son Thomas McKay should not have one hundred and fifty acres of lime stone land, I desire and will an equal deduction in my son Jesse H. McKay and R.S. McKay's part so as to make that quantity should it turn out to be more than 115 acres, I will and desire that it remain and stand as set forth in my last will and testament, in witness I hereto set my hand and seal.

Jacob McKay (seal)

Probation of the last will and testament of Jacob McKay III

In a court held for the County of Warren at the Court House thereof on Monday the 19th day of July 1852, the last will and testament of Jacob McKay, and codicil proved by the oaths of Joseph McKay and Jesse H. McKay, one of the executors named in the codicil who was sworn in and entered into bond with Joshua A. McKay and Robert McKay, his securities in the penalty of twenty thousand dollars conditioned as the law directs. Certificate is granted him for obtaining probate of said will and codicil in due form of law and liberty is reserved to the other executors Joshua McKay to qualify at a future day.

The Last Will & Testament of Jacob McKay III

See Jacob's family record.

I, Jacob McKay, of the County of Warren, and State of Virginia, do hereby make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following to wit: After my death I desire and will that my just debts and funeral expenses be paid. Then I desire and will that my beloved wife, Elizabeth, shall have peaceable possession of all my estate both real and personal for and during her natural life, after her death I will, bequeath and charge as follows:

First, to my Daughter, Nancy A. McKay, wife of Robert S. McKay, I do hereby charge her with fourteen hundred dollars. I also will to my said daughter, Nancy A., fifty acres of my home tract of land to be layed off to her on the east side of the road leading from Cedarville to Nineveh, running parallel with her husband's line to my back line for which I charge her twelve hundred and fifty dollars, making in all twenty six hundred and fifty dollars.

To my son, Jesse H. McKay, I do hereby charge him with seventeen hundred and fifty dollars. I also will and bequeath to him fifty acres of my home tract of land lying east of the road leading from Cedarville to Nineveh, commencing at the said road, this running with a parallel line with Nancy A. McKay's in an easterly direction to my back line from which I charge him twelve hundred and fifty dollars; in all three thousand dollars.

To my daughter, Sarah J. Buck, wife of Charles Buck, I do hereby charge her with seven hundred dollars. I also will and bequeath to my said daughter Sarah J. Buck, two hundred and twenty five acres of my West Run tract of land, that meets and bounds of which my son Joshua A. McKay has surveyed and made out, for which I charge her twenty one hundred and fifty dollars, making in all twenty eight hundred and fifty dollars, reserving to my two sons, Oscar and Thomas B. McKay, the right of a passage through my daughter Sarah J. Buck's tract to said Oscar and Thomas B.'s Pine Hill woodland (of which I shall name hereafter) where it may suit best and do least damage.

To my daughter, Eliza Buck, wife of John G. Buck, I do hereby charge her with fourteen hundred dollars.

To my son, William B. McKay, I do hereby charge him with fifteen hundred and fifty dollars, (what follows at this point is not clear but it appears that he is reducing the fifteen dollars charged to six hundred and fifty, because the son, Wm. B. has either gone or intends to go West, HBM (*ed. note Hunter Branson McKay))

I desire, wish, and will that out of all my personal estate including my slaves, save one, that those of my children herein before named who have received least to be made equal to those who have received most and I wish and will it to be distinctly and expressly understood that in a distribution of my estate real and personal herein before willed and set forth to my said five children namely, Nancy McKay, Jesse H. McKay, Sarah Buck, Eliza Buck and William B. McKay, it be equal one with the other and no difference made, it being all my estate real and personal I desire and will them to have.

To my son, Thomas B. McKay, I will and bequeath all of the residue of my home tract of land lying east of the road leading from Cedarville to Nineveh, including the woodland lying between William B. Garrison and Wesley McKay with access to the Cedarville Spring for house purposes and also from the bridge and Nineveh Road with a lane 15 feet wide running parallel with the Nineveh and Chapel roads near enough to the spring so as with a drain from the spring in a north east direction water may be embraced for stock and not to interrupt the spring house and access to the spring for my son Oscar McKay.

I also will and bequeath to my said son, Thomas B. McKay, two other lots and parcels of land one lot of bottom land a part of my home tract lying immediately beyond crooked run commencing 10 feet north of the stone fence thence running in an westerly direction parallel with same and to the hill field fence thence with the fence in a southern direction to the chapel road thence with the road to the beginning containing in and about 3 acres the other lot of Pine Hill woodland the division fence now between myself and R.S. McKay, I desire shall be the division fence between Nancy A. and Jesse H. McKay in case it is necessary for a division fence between them and should any difference of opinion arise between my said children as to construction of an interest of this my last will and testament, such construction I desire and will shall be left to my son, Joshua McKay and Joseph McKay I desire above all that there be no law about my estate.

I do hereby appoint my son, Joshua A. McKay, executor of my last will and testament inasmuch as I have heretofore given my said son, Joshua, one thousand dollars, I do hereby will and bequeath him my servant boy, Harris, for his services as my executor in case the boy should die, I will that he shall have three hundred dollars out of my estate for said services as aforesaid.

In testimony whereof I have here unto subscribed my name and affixed my seal this 13th day of April 1848.

Confederate Museum Report

Confederate Museum Report

by Laura Virginia Hale

McKAY MEMORIAL

xxxxxAt its annual reunion last summer, the McKay Family Association voted to donate $500 to the Warren Rifles Confederate Museum as a group memorial to the eleven known McKay soldiers who served in the Confederate Army. The Hon. John Rust of Fairfax was appointed chairman of a committee to collect this fund and to choose a memorial unit toward which to apply it. Recently Mr. Rust mailed a check for the full amount of this memorial to the Museum Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Burke.

xxxxxAfter due consultation with the Museum Committee, Mr. Rust's Committee chose as the McKay Memorial unit a beautiful arch just inside the Main Exhibition Room of the Museum building. This was considered an especially appropriate place inasmuch as the Buck family memorial--a flag niche--is to be located at the opposite end of this room. Thus the two handsomest memorial units in the Main Museum Room will honor the two families of McKay and Buck, which have figured so prominently in the history of Warren County through many generations.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Sr., founder of the Virginia family, was the first settler of what is now Warren County. His was among the famous party of sixteen families who came into the Shenandoah Valley with Joist Hite, the greatest promoter of colonization in early Valley history. Robert McKay staked out his claim in the present Fork District along the south branch of the Shenandoah. His son, Robert McKay, Jr., took up 828 acres along Crooked Run near the site of Cedarville. There, about 1733, he built a two-story home of walnut logs which is the oldest house standing in Warren County today.

xxxxxThe McKays were a famous family and in the following generations their homesteads dotted the landscape from Front Royal to Winchester. They cleared and cultivated broad acres, reared and educated large families and helped to build a great civilization in one of the garden spots of the world. In the "martial sixties" eleven scions of this pioneer stock volunteered for service in the Confederate Army. They included:

xxxxxCorporal Alfred A. McKay, Co. E, 7th Va. Cavalry.

xxxxxCapt. Jesse Clay McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJacob Francis McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, Quartermaster Serg't. 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxThomas Buck McKay, Co. B, 17th Va. Infantry; later of Co. B, Mosby's Bat. of Cavalry.

xxxxxJesse H. McKay (branch of service unknown)

xxxxxThe military records of the above soldiers are being compiled by the McKay family historian, Mr. Hunter B. McKay, of Belmont, Mass., and will be published when completed.

The Last Will & Testament of John W. McKay

See John's family record.

I, J.W. McKay of the County of Warren and the State of Virginia do make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following:

First it is my will that my just debts and funeral expenses be paid. As I am guardian for my daughter Sarah F. McKay, I do hereby make provision for her guardian claim namely colored man named Edward $500, her interest in the Garrison tract of land sold by me for $450 and money received of J.N. Carson as coming from her Grandmother Rebecca Garrison of Missouri, net proceeds $550 making in all $1530. This claim of fifteen hundred and thirty dollars is to be made in the following manner: It is my will that about forty acres of my home tract east of Joseph Painter's tract be sold and my interest in the Nancy Silvers dower land be sold and the net proceeds of each be applied to my daughter Sarah F. McKay's claim--if that is not sufficient my desire and will is that my river place be rented out until she is paid the interest of Sarah F. McKay's claim I balance against her bond and interest. As to my present wife Mary's claim which is $2700, my desire and will is that her heirs by me shall have as much of my river place as shall make the said amount laid off to them, the balance of the real estate my will is that it shall be equally divided between all my children. As to my other just debts and funeral expenses, it is my will that all my personal property and my colored people be sold and the proceeds be applied to the payment of them. If that is not sufficient, my desire and will is that all my real estate be rented out until they are paid. I do hereby constitute and appoint my brother Joseph McKay or Joshua A. McKay and Jesse H. McKay my executors of this my last will and testament.

J.W. McKay

Signed in the presence of the following witnesses:
Abraham R. Boone
Joseph Painter

Codicil #1 to John W. McKay's last will & testament

Whereas I, J.W. McKay of the County of Warren, State of Virginia some few years since I made my will and Joseph Painter and A.R. Boone are witnesses to the same in that will I devised and willed some twelve or fifteen hundred dollars to my daughter Sarah Frances before my estate should be divided between the rest of my children on account of that amount coming by her mother my first wife Frances, in addition I also desire and will to the rest of my children two thousand dollars worth of my estate which amount came by their mother Mary and after each of the above named amounts are received by each set of children by my two wives either in money or land and then the balance of my estate I will and desire to be equally divided between them all the two sets of children. The above I wish to be inserted in the will I made as above stated and carried into effect as witness my hand and seal this 12th day of December 1848.

J.W. McKay (Seal)

Codicil #2 to John W. McKay's last will and testament

Whereas I, J.W. McKay have made the above provision for my children and whereas I have married my third wife late Mary Ann Massie, I make this provision for her in this codicil and my former will as above referred to this provision is that my present wife Mary Ann had when I married her and has received since from her mother's estate a colored boy named George--the slaves in all amounting to five namely, Sarah, Ellen, Isaac, Elias and George-- this property I will and desire that my wife shall have back again at my death instead of a dower interest in my estate to dispose of as she may see proper for her own use and benefit. Also for her to have a house and garden, firewood and pasture for two cows and one horse on one of my farms during her life or as long as she remains my widow. The said Mary Ann, my wife, is to receive this property provided she does not claim the third of my estate. Also the above property and my estate is to be valued and for her to receive one-third during her lifetime or for my heirs to pay her interest on the said one-third valuation during her lifetime. All of my just debts must be paid first before any division as witness my hand and seal this 14th day of January 1855.

J.W. McKay (Seal)

Probation of John W. McKay's last will and testament

At a Court held for the County of Warren on Monday the 15th of June 1857 this last will and testament of John W. Mckay, dec'd and two codicils was produced in Court and the said will proved by the oaths of Joseph Painter and Abraham Boone, witnesses thereto that the will was wholly in the writing of John W. McKay and therefore the said will and codicils are ordered to be recorded and on the motion of Joshua A. McKay one of the executors named in said will who was sworn and entered into bond with Joseph McKay, Robert S. McKay

Confederate Museum Report

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated 28 July 1955)

Confederate Museum Report

by Laura Virginia Hale

McKAY MEMORIAL

xxxxxAt its annual reunion last summer, the McKay Family Association voted to donate $500 to the Warren Rifles Confederate Museum as a group memorial to the eleven known McKay soldiers who served in the Confederate Army. The Hon. John Rust of Fairfax was appointed chairman of a committee to collect this fund and to choose a memorial unit toward which to apply it. Recently Mr. Rust mailed a check for the full amount of this memorial to the Museum Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Burke.

xxxxxAfter due consultation with the Museum Committee, Mr. Rust's Committee chose as the McKay Memorial unit a beautiful arch just inside the Main Exhibition Room of the Museum building. This was considered an especially appropriate place inasmuch as the Buck family memorial--a flag niche--is to be located at the opposite end of this room. Thus the two handsomest memorial units in the Main Museum Room will honor the two families of McKay and Buck, which have figured so prominently in the history of Warren County through many generations.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Sr., founder of the Virginia family, was the first settler of what is now Warren County. His was among the famous party of sixteen families who came into the Shenandoah Valley with Joist Hite, the greatest promoter of colonization in early Valley history. Robert McKay staked out his claim in the present Fork District along the south branch of the Shenandoah. His son, Robert McKay, Jr., took up 828 acres along Crooked Run near the site of Cedarville. There, about 1733, he built a two-story home of walnut logs which is the oldest house standing in Warren County today.

xxxxxThe McKays were a famous family and in the following generations their homesteads dotted the landscape from Front Royal to Winchester. They cleared and cultivated broad acres, reared and educated large families and helped to build a great civilization in one of the garden spots of the world. In the "martial sixties" eleven scions of this pioneer stock volunteered for service in the Confederate Army. They included:

xxxxxCorporal Alfred A. McKay, Co. E, 7th Va. Cavalry.

xxxxxCapt. Jesse Clay McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJacob Francis McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, Quartermaster Serg't. 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxThomas Buck McKay, Co. B, 17th Va. Infantry; later of Co. B, Mosby's Bat. of Cavalry.

xxxxxJesse H. McKay (branch of service unknown)

xxxxxThe military records of the above soldiers are being compiled by the McKay family historian, Mr. Hunter B. McKay, of Belmont, Mass., and will be published when completed.

Alexander/Floyd McKay

I really think those who are looking for the parentage of Floyd McKay, should look very close at Alexander McKay of Shenandoah Co. VA.

IF you-all are sure that Floyd was born in Shenandoah Co. VA (believe information came from a grave marker) and if the birth year is right, then the only household said Floyd would fit into would have been Alexander McKay of Shenandoah of the 1820 census.

This Alexander McKay not related to the family of Robert Mackay Sr. & Ann Brown.

My records show that

Orrin McKay m. Sarah Ann Rogers son of

Floyd McKay m. Lucinda Vaughan. He was born 4 Mar 1814 Shenandoah Co. VA d. 3 Mar 1882. I have a copy of his will. He and his wife were said to be cousins. But I have not found the evidence that they were. Lucinda Vaughan was the daughter of Thomas Vaughan & Polly McKay. Said Polly McKay was the daughter of James McKay & Mary Cheek. He the son of James MacKay Sr. of Shenandoah Co. VA & wife Mary Chester. He the son of Robert MacKay Sr. (Quaker from PA to VA).

My cousin Michael L. McKay was a web site just concerning the MacKay/McKay of said Robert MacKay & allied families. His address I believe on this site. His e-mail address:

So show me the proof. That's what I'm asking. I'd like to sort these things out.

Enos McKay has a death record in Switzerland Co. It says specifically that his father was Enos McKay and his mother was Milly Lanham.
William and Henry are in Milly's household in 1850 in Milton Twp. so I assume they are sons.

I've always assume Floyd was a son of Asa for two reasons. 1. They are buried in the same row as Enos. 2. The rather confused footnote in the Mackey book tends to indicate they Floyd and Enos are brothers although it doesn't give clear guidance on who the father is.

Somebody, I think Lloyd Oliver, once sent me a page indicating the Cheny was Moses' son through his research on the Gaines line.

I can't prove Morris parentage either. I don't think that I got to check on his death certificate. Since he's buried in the same cemetery as Melinda Lanham McKay it's logical to ask if he's her son. As far as Lydia, everyone I know thinks she's equally unplaced.

That's a real interesting view for a professional genealogist. I won't sell a book to someone who can't prove they are related. I won't help somebody who asked for help. I'll just tell them they are wrong.

I'm kind of curious how you know I'm not related. I've never told you what my line is. (PS It's not by Jonathan McCartY)

I have all that sorted out in my latest book concerning the descendants of Robert MacKay, based on wills, land deeds, census and bible records.

But I would not like to sell such a book to someone who I know is not a member of the family, all sale are final.

My work with the MacKay family goes far pass the work that was done by pass MacKay family historians. Doughtie's book was copyright I believe in 1955 and Hunter B. McKay died in 1972.

People should not depend on such old books to do their research.

You have mixed together four different branches of the family. Children listed as Asa were not his.

Trying to definitely establish the family of Asa MCKAY who married Malinda LANHAM, daughter of Henry LANHAM. Asa died by 1840, probably in Jefferson Co. Malinda lived there in 1850. Believe they had the following children.

1. FLOYD MCKAY 4 March 1814-3 March 1882, buried in the same row as Enos McKay. born Shenandoah, Va., per his tombstone
2. ENOS MCKAY 4 July 1816-23 Nov. 1901, buried Mt. Zion Cem. Switzerland Co., Ind. His death certificate shows he was son of Asa and Milly McKay
3. MORRIS MCKAY 1820-5 Nov. 1883, buried in the Braytown Cem., Switzerland co. where his presume mother is buried.
4. CHANEY/CHANCY MCKAY b. 1819/20 But it seems someone sent paper's showing he was Moses MCKAY's son.
5. LYDIA MCKAY 8 March 1822-4 Feb. 1896 She Hiram Lanham. She died Craig Twp.
6. HENRY MCKAY b. 1824/25 lived 1850 with his mother
7. WILLIAM MCKAY b. 1826/27 lived 1850 with mother,

Frederick Findings

October 6 2004, 1:31 PM

Volume 1, No 1,2,3 dated 1988, circulated by Frederick Historical Society has published listing of men who serviced from Frederick Co. VA in French & Indian War.

Some men listed as being part of Capt. Wm. Darke's CO 8th Continental Line of VA: Edward Beason (Sergeant), Henry Yeger (Sergeant), George Johnston (Fifers & Drummers), James Anderson (Privates), Francis McKay (Privates), Henry Bowen, John Ridgway, James Jolliff, Wm. Hicks, John Job, George Hollingsworth, Edward Jinnins (sic), Joseph Borden, Joseph McCarty, Abraham Haines, George Hampton, Joseph Hampton, Henry Cloud, Joseph Ballinger, John Denton, Zachariah McCay & Moses McCay.

Have another listing of soldiers Roster of Capt. Abel Westall's CO 8th Continental Line of VA. They stated most of these men were from Hampshire Co. VA/WV. One name listed Thomas Brannan (could be Branson), Edward McCarty, John Hicks, John Hogg & Edward McCarty.

Check Originial Records

October 6 2004, 8:15 AM

You can find on various military listing of soldiers names on micofilm through State of VA or L.D.S. that MOSES MCKAY (son of Robert Sr.) enlisted with Frederick Co. VA Militia in Capt. Henry Speake' Co.his name appears on the Muster Roll dated 28 Oct 1756/60. Said MOSES MCKAY last military duty occurred with 13 VA Reg. Capt David Steel's Co., Col. Wm. Russell during the Rev. War. He enlisted Sept 1777 and drowned the same year.

You will not find the name Moses GREEN McKay on any military record or any other originial record. If you can-- "we" would like to see that record. The name Moses Green McKay was made up by the late Bill Jobe and circulated by his "Job/Jobe Journal". Robert MacKay Sr. had no middle name nor any of his children.

From a Frederick Co. VA Land Deed (an originial record) we do known there was a John Green McKay (born c1805) son of Asa McKay. Said Asa McKay son of Jacob Sr., he son of Robert Jr. (brother of above Moses Sr.)

ASIA

I do not have any military service for Abraham McKay (son of Moses McKay), that doesn't mean he didn't service in some military group. You might look at Cocke Co. TN military listing of soldiers. He was disowned by the Society of Friends for joining the Baptist.

Good luck with your research.

Item #121 on Discussion Forum

October 6 2004, 12:15 PM

I posted a message on this issue of the name of Moses McKay (youngest son of Robert Sr.) on this web page item #121.

I have never viewed nor received any originial records giving his name as Moses Green McKay. But still people continue to pass around incorrect information. Two more researchers: Lucinda Bishop Fentress & Dennis Glassock have posted information on L.D.S. computer bank. Also both give the ancestry of our Robert as Hugh MacKay. Write and ask them for evidence to support the ancestry of Robert and the name of his youngest son being Moses Green McKay.

Silence means consent.

Asa McKay Family, Jefferson/Switzerland Co., Ind.

July 17 2000 at 10:43 PM

I want to sure my findings and conjectures on the findings of the family of Asa McKay and wife Melinda Lanham. Some of the men that I believe to be their children have been ascribed to other Virginia McKays.

Asa

From my reading of the records it appears that Asa was son of Andrew McKay who was son of Robert McKay Jr. son of Robert McKay, the first known of this clan. As such he was a second cousin to Robert McKay who m. Lydia Leith, James McKay who m. Mary Check, and Abisha McKay, whose first wife was Polly Lanham, a sister to Melinda. I cannot find a record of Asa in Indiana and it is possible that Melinda moved to be near her father and siblings in Switerland/Jefferson Co. after Asa died.

The will of Henry Lanham names daughter Milly McKay. Millie McKay 15 June 1798-18 March 1867 is buried in the McKay Braytown Cem. (age 73 years 8 months 28 days)The birth date in the transcription does not coincide with Milly's age in the census. Milly McKay, age 57, born Virginia, lived 1850 Milton Twp. with Henry McKay 25, and William McKay, 23, apparent sons, in her household. The death record of Enos McKay, who died in Switzerland Co., shows his parents as Asa McKay, born Virginia, and Milly Lanham, born Maryland.

The book Mackey and Allied Families contains a footnote, which quite obviously confused the various generations. These footnotes are based on the records of Mrs. Minnie McKay Jackson of Hemlock, Ind., a granddaughter of Enos, and Mrs. Louisa Reed, 1856-1950, a daughter of Floyd. The book's version of these footnotes are apparently based on a typewritten document by Miss Mary Hill, who did much research in the 1930s through the 1950s. Miss Hill's typewritten notes are in the Madison (Ind.) Public Library.

Mrs. Jackman thought Morris was son of George McKay and Malinda Lanham (close enough for jazz). There is no death record for Morris in Switzerland Co., however. The notes from Mrs. Jackman, says she thought Floyd was son of Floyd McKay and (blank) Lanham. Mrs. Reed thought Floyd was brother to Enos, Cheney, Henry and Lydia who married Hiram Lanham. If we ignore Cheney (son of Moses and Bethelin Gaines) it looks like Mrs. Reed got it right.

Children of Asa McKay and Malinda Lanham
1. Floyd McKay 4 March 1814-3 March 1882 He m. 10 May 1838 in Jefferson Co., Lucinda Vaughn, both buried Mt. Zion Cem., Craig Twp., Switzerland Co. His tombstone shows he was born in Shenandoah Co., Va.
2. Enos McKay 4 July 1816-23 Nov. 1901, buried Mt. Zion Cem. He m. 1st 6 March 1843 in Switzerland Co., Malinda Bray They lived 1850 Craig Twp. He m. 21 Jan. 1855 in Switzerland Co., Francis Jane Gow 1831-4 Aug. 1869, buried McKay Cem. (Braytown). Son of Asa McKay and Milly Lanham per his death record in Switzerland Co. In 1850, his oldest son is listed as Asa.
3. Morris McKay 22 Feb. 1820-5 Nov. 1883 He m. 6 Dec. 1841 in Switzerland Co., Elizabeth Bray 19 May 1824-26 March 1886, both buried McKay Cem. (Braytown) as is Milly McKay. He lived in 1850 in the same household as Meshack Lanham, his mother's brother. In 1850, his oldest daughter is named Melinda.
4. Lydia McKay 8 March 1822-4 Feb. 1896 She m. 30 Jan. 1840 in Switzerland Co., Hiram Lanham. Lived adjacent to Milly McKay in 1850 in Milton Twp.
5. Henry McKay b. ca. 1825 lived 1850 with mother He m. 1st __________ Lanham; 2nd Wallace, lived Greensburg, probably the Henry age 36, lived 1860 Craig Twp., wife was Martha b. 1834/35
6. William McKay b. ca 1827 lived 1850 with mother, unmarried, per Mary Hill records two, suggesting Lydia died in the 1848 to 1850 period. The transcription of her death is probably an error.

5. HENRY MCKAY (1824/25-after 1860) Listed in his mother's household in 1850, he m. 1st on_12 May 1855 in Switzerland County; Nancy Lanham; m. 2nd on 15 Jan. 1860 in Switzerland County, Martha Wallace (b. 1834/35). They were listed in Craig Township in 1860 and later moved to Greensburg. Transcriptions of county records provided the first names.
6. WILLIAM MCKAY (b. 1826/27) He was shown in his mother's household in 1850. He was unmarried, per Mary Hill's records.

The other Asa McKay

January 26 2008 at 2:19 PM

Doc's message on Asa McKay son of Jacob reminded me that we have progress on the line of Asa McKay who married Malinda Lanham, daughter of Henry Lanham, whose daughter Sarah married Zachariah McKay and whose daughter Mary married Abisha McKay.

I have not seen any discussion of whether this Asa is in the Robert McKay line. Researcher Donald Short posted an Ancestry Tree that says Asa married Milly on 12 May 1812 in Middletown, Frederick County, (it said Maryland, but he must have meant, Virginia) One of these Asas was the one shown in Middletown, Frederick County, and the other was shown in Isabella Furnace, Shenandoah County, in the 1820 census, I assume.

The Asa who married Millie Lanham was then almost certainly the A. McKay who was shown in the 1830 Jefferson County, Ind., census (which does not shown townships). He died by 1840 when Milly McKay headed a household in Craig Twp., Switzerland County, which neighbors Jefferson County on the East. Milly then headed a household in Milton Twp., Jefferson County, (which borders Craig Township on the West) in the 1850 census with Henry McKay 25, and William McKay, 23, apparent sons, in her household. Milly, age 67, was listed in Enos McKay's household in Craig Township in 1860.

Asa and Milly's children were outlined the Doughtie's book, The Mackeys and Allied Families, but Asa and Milly were not mentioned. The footnotes listing this got mixed up, I suspect, from the notes submitted from the Indiana sources on this family and the footnotes never quite made sense. However, some time ago I found the death record of Enos McKay in Switzerland County, which showed Asa and Milly as his parents and recently Michelle Davis of Madison, Ind., found the death record of Floyd McKay in Jefferson County, which shows Asa and Milly were also his parents. Floyd and Enos were both buried in the cemetery of the Mt. Zion Methodist Church in Craig Township, Switzerland County. The church building is now used by another denomination.

The notes for this family that were printed in Doughtie's book were collected by Mary Hill and I came into possession of these several years ago. Much of the information came from Mrs. Louise Reed, Floyd McKay's daughter, who was living in the Dreville Home, a home for elderly women in Madison. These notes shown the same confusion as the footnotes in Doughtie's publication.

Mrs. Reed gave the following as brothers and sisters of Floyd: Enos who married first Malinda Bray, and second Jane Gow; William, who died unmarried; Cheney, who married a Bray; Henry who married first a Lanham, second a Wallace; Lidia who married Henry Lanham.
Mrs. Reed (30 Aug. 1856-25 July 1950) would have known most of these. She did not list Morris McKay, who evidence suggests belongs in this family, and she did list Cheney, who evidence suggests is not one of the children. The only thing I can think is that conversations between interviewers and subjects can get mixed up with the best of participants.

Another footnote was based on information collected by Miss Hill, which came from Mrs. Minnie McKay Jackman of Hemlock, Ind. This footnote, attributed to Mrs. Minnie McKay Jackman of Hemlock,Ind. Mrs. Jackman was daughter of Daniel Boone McKay and his wife Malinda McKay. Daniel Boone McKay was son of Enos McKay.

The record appears to show Floyd, Enos, George, Morris and Chaney McKay as brothers by the way the outline is organized in the Doughty Book. The outline was repeated a second time in detail. The George would have been George who married Malinda Lanham on 2 March 1821 in Switzerland County. I've not been able to sort out from the records whether the name is Chaney or Chaney McKay. Census and marriage records show both.

Putting that together with the information in the McKay book, I think we can state with a great deal of certainty that the following were Asa and Milly's children. I am withholding judgment on George and Cheney/Chaney McKay at this point. George McKay married Malinda Lanham on 2 March 1821 in Switzerland County and probably would fit here. But I cannot find him in the censuses with any certainty (as compared to another George McKay or two) With Morris McKay marrying Malinda Bray's sister Elizabeth, it would not be surprising if they were brothers.

1. FLOYD MCKAY (4 March 1814-3 March 1882) He m. on 10 May 1838 in Jefferson County, Lucinda Vaughn, both buried Mt. Zion Cem. He was listed immediately after Moses McKay in Craig Township in 1840. They were listed in Milton Township in 1860, and 1850 His tombstone inscription says he was born in Shenandoah County, Va.
2. ENOS MCKAY (4 July 1816-23 Nov. 1901), buried Mt. Zion Cem. He m. 1st on 6 March 1843 in Switzerland County, Malinda Bray. They were listed in Craig Township in 1850. He m. on 21 Jan. 1855 in Switzerland County, Francis Jane Gow (1831-4 Aug. 1869), buried McKay Cem. (Braytown). Tombstone transcription shows her as wife of Enos McKay. They were shown in Craig Township in 1860, 1870, and 1880.
3. MORRIS MCKAY (22 Feb. 1820-5 Nov. 1883) He m. on 6 Dec. 1841 in Switzerland County, Elizabeth Bray (19 May 1824-28 March 1886), both buried McKay Cem. at Braytown. They lived in Craig Township in 1850, 1860, and 1870. The will of Henry Lanham, Milly Lanham's father, lists Morris as a grandson. It does not appear that Morris could belong to Sallie Lanham, who m. Zachariah McKay, or to Mary Lanham, who m. Abisha McKay, because these children are spelled out in Zachariah's probate and Abisha's will. The only way he could be Lanham's grandson would be if he were Milly's child. Morris' birth date is from a family Bible, probably transcribed in the 1940s. It belonged to a Mrs. Culver of Mooresfield, Ind, at the time.
4. LYDIA MCKAY (8 March 1822-4 Feb. 1896) She m. on 30 Jan. 1840 in Switzerland County, Hiram Lanham. Born in Indiana, she died in Craig Township. They lived in Craig Township, in 1850. In 1860, Lydia was not in his household and his children range down to the age of Frederick Co. VA Land Deeds 45, 245 dated 22 Jan 1822, probated 1822, said Asa McKay named as his daughter Edith McKay he gave her a tract containing 211a in Frederick Co. VA which had been given to him by his late father Jacob McKay. He also gave her slaves: Jane (woman), George (boy), Eliza (girl) & Caroline (child).

In other land deeds named two sons: James McKay & John Green McKay. Census report seem to show additional children, perhaps they died without coming of age.

I hope additional information will surface about Asa McKay, like the name of his wife.

The Last Will & Testament of Jacob McKay Sr.

See Jacob's family record.

Be it known to all whom it may concern that I Jacob McCoy of Union Township Belmont County of the State of Ohio, being of sound mind & understanding do make & ordain this my last Will & Testament in manner following to witness--

First my will is that all my just debts & funeral expenses be paid by my executors herein after nominated & appointed.

2nd I give & bequeath unto my beloved wife Rebecca McCoy all the property she was possessed of & that came into my hands at the time of our marriage to her forever.

3rd I give & bequeath unto my said wife the use, occupant & improvements of the two tracts of Land on which I now live, together with the buildings thereon during her life.

4th My will is that y executors shall have cause and appraisement & inventory of my personal property to be made according to Law, that my wife have the priviledge of retaining in her own property during her life, seek parts of the Stock that shall be on the two tracts of land on which I now live also seek parts of the movables belonging to my house & farm as will in her judgement contribute to her own conveniences. And further my will is that my executors sell at public auction all the remaining parts of both the stock & movables belonging to the stock, house & farm & retain the money arising from said sale in their own hands & also that they retain in their own hands all the money that I may have at my decease or that may come into their hands by the collection of Debts or otherwise...Nevertheless should my wife find it necessary for her comfortable support to make use of a part or the whole of said Money my will is that my Executors at all times pay to her order such part of said money or they may draw upon them for...

5th I give & bequeath unto my Daughter Hannah Wood, wife of Joshua Wood all the revenue of my personal property that shall be left after the decease of my wife of whatever kind or wherever it may be found.

6th I give & bequeath unto my said Daughter Hannah Wood, (at the decease of my wife), the two parts of land before mentioned on which I now live on the Guarantee Situated of Land which is now in possession of my said son in law Joshua Wood, lying on the six mile run being part of Section No 7, Township 10, range 6 in the Steubenville district unto her, his heirs & apparent forever.

7th I give & bequeath unto my Daughter Sarah Walton wife of Samuel Walton in Northeast quarter of Section No 6 in Township No 9 in range 6 in Steubenville district to her heirs & apparent forever.

8th Believing that my four sons viz: Asa, John, Jesse & Jacob have received of my my full sharing my estate. I give & bequeath unto them the further sum of one dollar cash to be paid to them by my executor within one year after my decease--

Lastly I nominate constitute & appoint my said son in law Joshua Wood & my friend David Hoge to be my executors of this my last Will & Testament hereby revoking all other Wills & Testaments by me made declaring this & this only to be my last Will & Testament---

In Witness whereas I have hereunto set my hand & seal this eighth day of first month in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred & seventeen---

Jacob McCoy

Signed, Sealed & Delivered by the Response to McKay - Shinn marriage

http://www.geocities.com/mckyrbnsn/lines/mackay/22.html

He was first married to Rachel Ridgeway who is the mother to all of his children.

Jacob's 3rd wife was Rebecca (Janney) Gregg. She was a member of a well-known Quaker family of Loudoun County, VA.

Jacob's 2nd wife Rachel (Wright) Shinn and her first husband George Shinn are the parents of Abigail Shinn, who married Moses McKay, Jacob's nephew.

Hope this helps.

Confederate Museum Report

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated 28 July 1955)

Confederate Museum Report

by Laura Virginia Hale

McKAY MEMORIAL

xxxxxAt its annual reunion last summer, the McKay Family Association voted to donate $500 to the Warren Rifles Confederate Museum as a group memorial to the eleven known McKay soldiers who served in the Confederate Army. The Hon. John Rust of Fairfax was appointed chairman of a committee to collect this fund and to choose a memorial unit toward which to apply it. Recently Mr. Rust mailed a check for the full amount of this memorial to the Museum Treasurer, Mrs. Joseph M. Burke.

xxxxxAfter due consultation with the Museum Committee, Mr. Rust's Committee chose as the McKay Memorial unit a beautiful arch just inside the Main Exhibition Room of the Museum building. This was considered an especially appropriate place inasmuch as the Buck family memorial--a flag niche--is to be located at the opposite end of this room. Thus the two handsomest memorial units in the Main Museum Room will honor the two families of McKay and Buck, which have figured so prominently in the history of Warren County through many generations.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Sr., founder of the Virginia family, was the first settler of what is now Warren County. His was among the famous party of sixteen families who came into the Shenandoah Valley with Joist Hite, the greatest promoter of colonization in early Valley history. Robert McKay staked out his claim in the present Fork District along the south branch of the Shenandoah. His son, Robert McKay, Jr., took up 828 acres along Crooked Run near the site of Cedarville. There, about 1733, he built a two-story home of walnut logs which is the oldest house standing in Warren County today.

xxxxxThe McKays were a famous family and in the following generations their homesteads dotted the landscape from Front Royal to Winchester. They cleared and cultivated broad acres, reared and educated large families and helped to build a great civilization in one of the garden spots of the world. In the "martial sixties" eleven scions of this pioneer stock volunteered for service in the Confederate Army. They included:

xxxxxCorporal Alfred A. McKay, Co. E, 7th Va. Cavalry.

xxxxxCapt. Jesse Clay McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJacob Francis McKay, Co. E, 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, Quartermaster Serg't. 12th Va. Cav.

xxxxxThomas Buck McKay, Co. B, 17th Va. Infantry; later of Co. B, Mosby's Bat. of Cavalry.

xxxxxJesse H. McKay (branch of service unknown)

xxxxxThe military records of the above soldiers are being compiled by the McKay family historian, Mr. Hunter B. McKay, of Belmont, Mass., and will be published when completed.

Erin's architecture is Greek Revival with Ionic pillars. The handcarved woodwork on the first floor in different in each room (4). The 5th pattern is at the front door and the 6th pattern is upstairs. There are 4 fireplaces. The house is weatherboard lined with brick, called "brick nogging". Spiral stairway makes it the most "architecturally significant home in Warren County."

The drawing room has niches on each side of the fireplace large enough for life-sized statuary. The house has nine different sizes of windows. Thresholds are shaped by the steps of many generations.
There is an original door knocker carrying the crest of William the Conqueror. Mrs. Funsten was descended from King William through her mother, (Susan Everard) Meade.

These notes made by Mabel Simpson, friend of Francis Trenary.

Erin Historic Landmark

(From the Northern Virginia Daily dated Monday 5 November 1979)
(Some photos accompanied this article but the copies were too light to display here.)

The Virginia Historic Landmarks Commission has announced "Erin," located at the intersection of U.S. 340 and U.S. 522, in Warren County, has been added to the Virginia Landmarks Register. Dating from 1848, the structure is considered to be a sophisticated example of a three-part Greek Revival country home. Dominated by an Ionic portico, the house was erected for David Funsten, a local lawyer and politician. It presently is owned by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Trenary of Front Royal.

Erin Added to Landmarks Register

Warren's Erin has been added to the Virginia Landmarks Register. The Virginia Historic Landmarks Commission made the announcement this fall.

Built in the 1840s, Erin is a sophisticated example of a three-part Greek Revival country house, and is dominated by an Ionic portico. David Funsten, Princeton graduate, politician, and lawyer built Erin circa 1845 and erected his law office in the yard (at left of main house in photo.)

The walls of the house are filled with brick, and during construction high interior niches, in the Greek style, were incorporated (interior photo at right on either side of the fireplace by extending the walls on both sides of the stone chimneys (visible in main photo.)

In the downstairs woodwork, there are five different designs, another upstairs, and still another motif in the outside office. Most Windows, ranging in nine different sizes, retain their original glass, and the thick pine floors have stood the test of 140 or more years.

The master bedroom on the first floor south is just off the entrance hall (pictured here with its graceful circular stairs.) On the bedroom door the unusual knocker is engraved "Guernesey, England," with the coat of arms of William the Conqueror, ancestor of Mrs. Funsten.

Other rooms on the first floor are the drawing room north (here pictured) dominated with ten and a half foot ceilings, elaborate carved woodwork, the twin niches, and the dining room east behind the entrance hall. Three bedrooms of varying ceiling heights are on the second floor.

The story and a half single room building in back of Erin was built 100 years earlier, and was probably used as a home when Funsten built the main house. After the family moved into Erin this became the kitchen. Still standing also are the log meat house and the granary, both constructed in mid 18th century.

David Funsten's father, Oliver, immigrated from Ireland to White Post in the latter part of the 18th century. David was the ninth child born to Oliver Funsten and Margaret McKay, daughter of Andrew McKay (grandson of Robert McKay, first settler in the Valley with Joist Hight in 1731.)

Jesse Hitter McKay bought Erin in 1856 from his cousin, David Funsten who had moved to Alexandria in 1852. Merchant McKay, who had lived in Front Royal, ran a general store at Nineveh in conjunction with the post office.

Erin went out of the McKay family in 1896 when it was bought by Frank Weaver. The current owners, William C. and Francis Blackwell Trenary, bought the place from the Weaver estate in 1937.

The Landmarks Commission made other new additions to the register in the area including Ben Venue in Rappahannock and Carlheim in Loudoun.

Mount Zion, the only other home so honored in Warren, was listed in the Virginia Landmarks Register in 1965 and nominated to the National Register of Historic places the same year.

Notes on Erin

When Joist Hite arrived in Virginia, he was accompanied by Robert McKay.
Col. David Funsten was a law graduate of Princeton.
His father settled White Post in 1799 and was from Ireland.
David married Margaret McKay, youngest daughter of Andrew McKay who was the grandson of Robert McKay. Robert built the McKay house in Cedarville in 1732.
(Actually it was Robert Mackay Jr., Andrew McKay's father, who built the McKay Home. Also, it was Oliver Robert Funsten who married Margaret McKay. David is their son.)

Col. Funsten built Erin in 1840. In 1852, he moved to Alexandria and sold Erin to his wife's cousin, Jesse McKay in 1856.
Frank Weaver bought Erin in 1896 and William and Francis Trenary bought it in 1937 and restored it.

The Beers 1882 History of Warren County contains the following passages beginning on page 471

> "On the 7th of September, 1806, Jonathan Tichenor and Abner Smith, as Trustees of the Presbyterian Church at Lebanon, in consideration of $40, purchased of John Shaw a lot, which is now in the western part of Lebanon, for a graveyard, and is known as the Old Presbyterian Graveyard. This is the oldest graveyard at Lebanon. It is much older than the date of the deed to the Presbyterian society would indicate, as it is known that it was used as a place of burial as early as 1799. There are no inscriptions upon the tombstones marking the earliest graves. Capt. Robert Benham was buried here, but there is no inscription upon his tombstone. The grounds have long been neglected, and are grown up with weeds and briers. Many remains interred here have been removed to the Lebanon Cemetery. Among the names of well-known families of Warren County, the following are found on the tombstones in this yard: Beller, Ferguson, James, Randolph, Dill, Perlee, Dunlap, Halsey, Monfort, Miller, Blackburn, Beedle, Braden Bone, Brown, Liddell, Krewson, Cowan, Perrine, Tharp, Goodwin, McCrary, Dunham, Crane and Benham.

The Presbyterian Graveyard site was sold to the Village of Lebanon in 1906 and in 1907 most of the remains interred there were removed to Section B of the Lebanon Cemetery. The original cemetery site is now an automobile dealership.

The relocated stones in section B are grouped tightly together along

Starting in April of 2006, Laurie and Darren Waters of the Landon area, volunteered to photograph tombstones for the Warren County Genealogical Society in conjunction with the society's efforts to obtain digital photographs of all extant tombstones in Warren County. Since Laurie is a descendant of the Whitacre family, they volunteered to do this cemetery. After much time riding around the countryside querying anyone they could find, they finally located the cemetery on private property situated a beautiful bluff overlooking the Todd's Fork valley. With the enthusiastic consent of the property owners they visited the location of the cemetery and found practically nothing but heavy pasture grass and scant evidence of no more the 1 or 2 partially buried stones. Undeterred, they jumped in with line trimmers, probes, shovels and brushes and uncovered many more graves than were previously known to be here, all of them appear to be the extended family of Whitacres who lived on or near the burial site. The results of their efforts will be included in a 2nd edition of Warren County Cemetery Records, Volume 7 We thank them for also sharing their efforts with the Warren County OHGenWeb project.

Warren County Burials

Whitacre Farm Cemetery
Salem Township, Warren County, Ohio

The Whitacre Farm cemetery probably was a private, family burying ground from the mid 1800s, containing tombstones dating from 1849 to 1875. The locations was on the 157 acre farm of Benjamin F. Whitacre on both the 1856 Wall Map and the 1867 Wall Map of Warren County. The 1875 Warren County Atlas shows the cemetery location was on the 117 acre farm of S. & C. Whitacre. The 1891 Atlas and the 1903 Atlas both have the location on a 135 acre farm of Chas. G. Whitacre. The 1932 Warren County Plat book shows the location on the 130 acre farm of C. G. Whitacre. None of these maps had anything on them to indicate that a cemetery was present at this site.

Little publicly available documentation has been found regarding the cemetery or who was buried there. The depression era W.P.A. Graves Registration Project documented the cemetery with a plat showing 2 rows of 4 graves but showed only one of the three Civil War soldiers buried there (Elijah Beeman). In 1956 and 1957 James E. Stubbs visited the cemetery and recorded the inscriptions of 12 tombstones visible at that time. The cemetery had not been included in any of the cemetery publications done by either the D.A.R. or the Warren County Genealogical Society although the Stubbs data was later added as an addendum to Warren County Cemetery Records, Volume 7.

Aquilla Whitacre, was born at Hopewell, near Winchester, Virginia, the 7th of 9th month, 1797 and removed with his parents, Robert and Patience Whitacre, in 1805, near to Miami Monthly Meeting at Waynesville, Warren County, OH. In 1820, or near that date, he was united in marriage with Ruth Anna Potts, daughter of Samuel and Mary Potts. After the death of his first wife, which was in the year 1838, he was united in marriage with Ann Cook, daughter of Abram and Ruth Cook, in the spring of the year 1844; died April 23, 1876. In 10th month, 7th, 1865, certificates were received for him, his wife, and minor children, at Wapsononoc Monthly Meeting, Iowa, from Miami Monthly Meeting, Ohio. Three years afterwards, through his influence, a meeting house was built, and an indulged meeting established at Highland, Johnson County, IA, and at his death he bequeathed funds to build an addition, which has been done, a preparative meeting established there, and the monthly meeting held alternatively there, and at West Liberty. Soon after his removal to Iowa, he was appointed to the station of Elder, which station he filled until the time of his death, and of him it may be truly said, "He was indeed a Father in Israel." He was divinely inspired with the true spirit of discernment which enabled him to judge rightly in reference to the ministry, sometimes in a feeling manner, to extend a word of caution or reproof, at other times when any of the little ones were in a low, discouraged state, he could enter into feeling with them, and as a true father, he was sent by his Divine Master to extend to them timely words of encouragement, to stimulate them to persevere in well-doing, to faithfully obey the impressions of duty, and thus receive the sure penny of reward. He was one who was not only able, but willing, to be useful to his fellow beings, by rendering them pecuniary aid, when such aid was required. Being kind and benevolent in disposition, he was well calculated to do much good in the community in which he lived. Being of a social, genial disposition, it was a real pleasure to be in his company. Carrying out both by precept and example, those lovely traits of a true Christian character, he was indeed worthy of esteem. He was concerned to exercise Christian charity toward those who did not see things just as he did. He was, when in health, a consistent attender of all our meetings. which they occupied after 1740. By the middle of last century the Indian population in Ohio was fully determined. Counting four to a family there may have been twelve thousand Indians in the present Ohio in 1770, but as Ohio became the general fighting ground the northern and western nations hurried their warriors eastward to the border, and in 1779 there were possibly ten thouand warriors alone within the confines of the northern old Ohio. Boquet's route is marked, conspicuously, as is Braddock's Road and Forbes'.

1667	Ohio first explored by the French; Lasalle's discoveries; disputed still.
1763	The French assigned the Great West to the English.
1779	George Rogers Clark won control for Virginia, called Northwest Territory.
1783	Treaty of Paris, Great Britain relinquished her right and interest States of Virginia, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts made claims.
1784	Virginia Military lands contains about four million, two hundred four Acres Among Virginia soldiers receiving allotments here were Gen. George Washington, George Rogers Clark and Daniel Morgan. Washington's was in Clermont County totaling to 3,051 acres. Acreage reserved for Va. Military Warantees.
1852	Unclaimed lands went back to the U.S. and in 1871 ceded back to Ohio.

1840	Indiana, Illinois for 677 miles ending at the Mississippi River, completed in 1840, 20 years after beginning construction. Heavily laden Conestoga freight wagons passed continually by fast stage coaches drawn by six horses. The last construction expenditure made in Indiana, 1841.
1841	A continuous steel rail connection from New York through Albany to Buffalo.

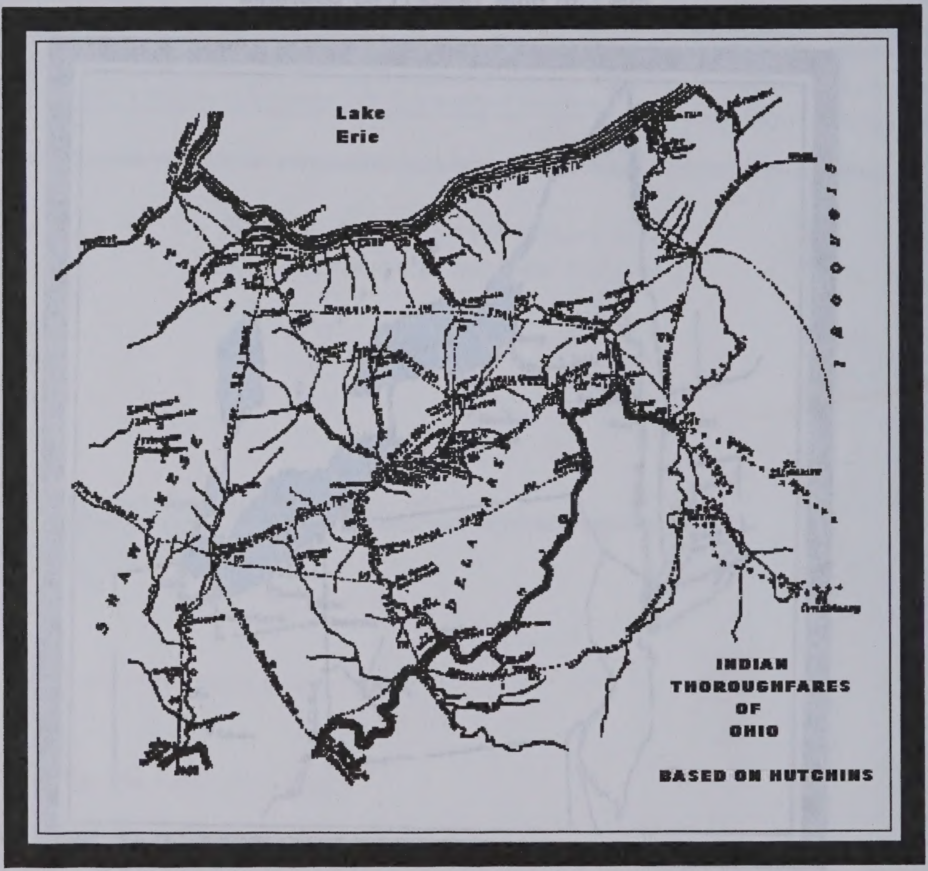
MAP OF INDIAN THOROUGHFARES OF OHIO



The general plan of this map is that of Hutchins. Several Indian trails and Indian villages have been added from other maps, making it perhaps the most complete map of the Indian east and central Ohio published. It will be noticed that it does not include the western portion. This is owing to the fact that the old maps give almost no Indian villages or trails of western Ohio, showing the absolute ignorance which existed of it when the central and southern portion were quite well known. The Indian trails are numbered to correspond with the chart. The three centers of Indian population should be noted, that of the Wyandots on the western shores of Lake Erie, where they settled about 1701; that of the Delawares, between the Ohio and Muskingum and westward, whither they came from the eastern valley whose name they bore between 1740 and 1750; and the Shawnee in the Scioto Valley, 1810	treadmill ferryboat at Hoboken, New Jersey to cross to New York City.

1814	Growth of Coastwise Travel, New York to Philadelphia, U.S. Route 1, most heavily traveled road.
1816	First State Board of Public Works, at Gen. Assembly of State of Virginia Feb. 5, 1816.
1829	Hobby Horse Bicycle first patent in U.S. issued N.Y. City on June 26, 1819 to W.E. Clarkson.
1820	General Jackson's Military Road from Nashville, Tenn. to New Orleans, Louisiana, projected to shorten by 220 miles the 736 miles between Nashville and Natchez Trace, 21 to 35 ft. wide.
1822	Sante Fe Trail, first of pioneer road established between Mississippi River and Far West.
1823	First American Macadam Road laid upon Boonsborough turnpike road between Hagerstown and Boonsboro, Maryland, now U.S. Route. Company that built it incorporated in Md. Jan. 30, 1822. Second road surface in U.S. following this was built by U.S. on 73 miles of National Pike or Cumberland Road from west bank of Ohio River, opposite Wheeling, to Zanesville, Musk. River.
1825	The Erie Canal opened October 16th from Buffalo to Albany, 363 miles long canal. It did not injure the stage coach companies between the terminal cities but it did bankrupt the Conestoga wagon freight carriers.
1826	The Michigan Road was the main north and south route over which the settlers moved. But contrary to popular impression, the immigrants to southern Michigan entered principally by way of the Erie Canal, the Great lakes and the old Chicago Turnpike which followed the Sauk Indian trail leading southwest from Detroit. The Michigan Road was used by settlers who established their homes in Indiana. Over this road the pioneers of the 1830's called 'movers' drove their ox-drawn covered wagons thru hills of southern Indiana counties to prairies beyond Wabash River (8 months of year). Michigan Road, named after the lake and not the state, was second only to National Rd. Emigrants from Pennsylvania, New England and other eastern states floated in flatboats and barges and upon rafts down the Ohio River to begin their northward journey at the riverside settlement at Madison. Settlers journeying northward frm the southern states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and the Carolinas, crossed the Ohio River from Milton to Madison. More than half of homesteaders in northwest quarter of Indiana reached there by the Michigan Road. Some entered southern Michigan over this route. The 267 mile long Michigan Road began at Madison on the Ohio River, through Michigantown, to the Wabash river crossing at Logansport, on to South Bend, west 36 miles to M Michigan City on lake Michigan. The 100 foot wide road was obtained by treaty.
1827	The Northwestern Turnpike incorporated by act of the General Assembly, bad terrain. It reached Parkersburg in 1838 from Winchester, great difficulties due to topography.
1830	The Maysville Turnpike, thru Blue Grass region of Kentucky, 64 mile unit of long mail road branching from National Pike at Zanesville, Ohio, running southwest through Maysville and Lexington, Kentucky, Nashville Tennessee, Florence, Alabama, to New Orleans.
1830	The Iron Horse Wins hauling a B & 0 railroad car on August 28th, over horse coach.
1836	El Camino Real, the Royal Highway, from Santa Fe, New Mexico to St. Augustine, Florida.
1836	The Deserted Villages in rural areas, like ghost town remnants of mining camps, due to products of changing conditions in agriculture, industry, transportation, social life, nearly halfway between Millville and Tuckahoe, N. J., a village called Cumberland Work.
1836	The New England Town Hall where assembled all males over twenty one from town and the township , meeting convened once each year, usually during February, March or April. The town meeting became fountain head of all representative government in the county. There were elected, or appointed, regular town officers, such as clerk, treasurer, assessor, surveyor of highways, school committeement, others.
1836	The Parish Church, governed by its vestry, cared for by church wardens, was cradle of society and government in early Virginia. Parish church in Virginia was patterned after its Anglican counterpart. Early records used words Parish and Town interchangeably.
1836	The County Courthouse, the county seat of local goverment. The word county is derived from the territory in France governed by a count. It was applied after the 11th century to the Engoish shires, the antecedent of which were the ancient tribal governments superior to the clans or family groups, which had their habitat in the towns. These two forms of English local goverment--the tribe, or county, and the clan or town, were transplanted to the English colonies in America. The town predominated in New England but the Parish was the accepted political subdivision in Louisiana. The ounty was divided into precincts or 'walks' each in charge of a surveyor or foreman. Tithable persons were local residents over 16 years of age, whether free, slave or indentured.
1839	The First Iron Bridge was over Dunlap's Creek, Main Street, Brownsville, Pennsylvania.

The Last Will & Testament of Enos McKay

See Enos's family record.

In the Name of God, Amen

I, Enos McKay of Spring Farm, Page Co., in the State of Virginia, being of perfect mind and memory do make and ordain this my last will and testament. Imprimis. I give, bequeath and dispose of my worldly estate in the following manner in form after the payment of my just debts and necessary expenses which can be paid out of my personal property. It is my will and desire that my lands and the rest of my personal estate be divided in the following manner to wit--

Item, To my dearly beloved wife, Eleanor Elizabeth, I give and bequeath the home farm purchased of Brumback, on which I now live or rather the balance of said tract as a small part there of has been deeded to my son, David McKay the tract containing at this time about 468 acres, be same more or less. Together with three tracts adjoining the purchased of Wm. Blackford and Mr. Peedler containing 50 acres each more or less. The other purchased of Mr. Marys containing 14 or 15 acres also the balance of tract purchased from Mr. Farrow which has already been given to my son, David McKay & Barbara Finter all of which will more fully appear in reference to their respective deeds. To have and to live the same during her single life, in event of her death or remarriage the same is deeded to her two daughters, namely, Ann McKay and Virginia McKay, and their lives forever. I further give and bequeath to my said wife Negroes, Rose, Gill and Isabella and their increases during her natural life after which are to go to her two above named daughters. I further give and bequeath to my said wife and her heirs forever all the livestock of every description and grain of every kind. I may be possessed of together with the whole of my household and kitchen furniture.

Item. To my daughter Jane who intermarried with David Bumgardner, I give and bequeath my half of the Thornton Gap Turnpike with the lands attached in addition to the three thousand dollars already given her in the Hawksbill Mill property as laid off and described in an instrument of writing given her and her heirs forever.

Item. To my two granddaughters Margaret Winsborough and Mary Ann Winsborough, Children of my deceased daughter, Rachel Winsborough, I give and bequeath my half of the Massanutten Turnpike with all land attached together with the Hersberger tract of land lying on Mill Creek and containing 380 acres more or less to them and their heirs forever.

Item. To my two grandchildren Catherine Price and William Price, children of my deceased daughter, Leah Price, I give and bequeath the Mill Creek Farm purchased of George Brettan, Esq. and containing one hundred and fifty nine acres by the same more or less in addition to the one half of the Hawksbill Mill Farm already deeded to them.

Item. To my son, David McKay, I give and bequeath that part of the Cave Hill tract of land purchased from Isaac Coffman lying on the right hand side of the main road leading from Luray to New Market. I also give and bequeath to my said son David three hundred dollars bond of his now lies in my possession payable after my death or in other words I acquit him and his heirs forever from the payment thereof. All in addition to the lands and other property already given him.

Item. To my daughter Sarah who has intermarried with Reuben Bell, I give and bequeath the farm where on William Kedwell now resides, it being the one half of a tract of land on the South River (lower end) commonly called the eight hundred acre tract the other half of which I have conveyed to David Bumgardner by title bond for value received to her and her heirs forever subject never the less the payment of five hundred dollars to William Enos Price son of my deceased daughter, Leah Price where he shall leave arrived at the age of 21 years.

And furthermore it is my will and desire that there as of my lands should be sold at public auction by my executors and the money arising there from together with all bonds, notes and open accounts and what ready cash may be on hand after paying my just debts and necessary expenses and also paying James R. Robertson a small legacy of 150 dollars as a memory of my friendship for him and also my beloved friend Ambrose C. Boston $50. That the balance should equally be divided into seven parts and divided as follows to wit to Jane Bumgardner, David McKay, Sarah Bell, wife of Reuben Bell, Ann McKay and Virginia McKay each equal one part thereof and to Margaret Winsborough and Mary Ann Winsborough one equal part between them and to Catherine Price and William Enos Price one equal seventh part between them and their heirs forever.

Lastly, I do hereby constitute and appoint my friend David Bumgardner and James R. Robertson Joint executors of my last will and testament hereby utterly revoking disallowing and disannulling all and every other testament, will, legacy, bequeath and executors by me in anywise before named written and bequested ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament. In witness thereof I have here into set my hand and seal this 20th day of January the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty four.

Enos McKay

Legal and sealed and published and declared by said Enos McKay in his last will and testament in presence of each other have here unto set our names.

Wm. H. Harris

Son of Andrew/Jane Ridgeway

George Wesley McKay Record

George Wesley McKay, born: 11 Mar 1800; Frederick (now Warren) Co. VA; died: 10 Jun 1850; Warren Co. OH; buried: Mckay Cem. of Clinton Co. OH;

George, married: 6 Feb 1823; Frederick Co. VA by Rev. Thomas Buck; Mary (or Mildred) Massie Ferguson, born: 2 Sep 1802; Fauquier Co. VA; died: 5 Sep 1878; Clinton Co. OH; buried: McKay Cem. of Clinton Co. OH; Dau. of Samuel & Sarah Mildred (Garrison) Ferguson;

George's middle name being "Wesley" came from Katherine "Kate" (Hackney) Luby's notes on Moses McKay's descendants and does not appear in Dee Ann Buck's book. Also, Mary's name possibly being "Mildred" also came from Kate's notes. The dates are identical to the ones listed in Dee Ann's book. Place names were not listed in Kate's notes that I have.

Issue: McKay

- Moses, born: 6 Nov 1823; died: 13 Oct 1862; buried: McKay Cem. of Clinton Co. OH; Continued elsewhere.
- Samuel Ferguson, born: 8 May 1825; died: 28 Dec 1894; buried: McKay Cem. of Clinton Co. OH; Continued elsewhere.
- Sarah Mildred, born: 2 Jul 1827; died: 28 Nov 1849; Clinton Co. OH; buried: McKay Cem. of Clinton Co. OH;
- Abigail Jane, born: 7 Apr 1829; died: 14 Apr 1918;

The Last Will & Testament of Estelle Laws McKay

See Estelle's family record.

I, Estelle Laws McKay, now residing at Nineveh, Warren County, Virginia, being of sound mind, make this my last will and testament revoking any former wills.

One: I give and bequeath to my husband, Hubert F. McKay, the sum of $3,000.

Two: All the balance of my estate, real, personal or mixed, wherever located, I give, bequeath and devise to my sister Alice Laws Moore, to be hers absolutely. If my sister should predecease me, then I give, bequeath and devise all the balance of my estate to my sister's children, namely Adair Moore, Douglas Moore, and Erle D. Moore, share and share alike. Included in the bequest to my sister is an interest that I may inherit from my mother's estate and any compensation that I am to recieve from the estate of George E. Morgan.

It is my desire that my sister give to certain friends certain items of remembrance which I have discussed with her, and to whom I have delivered a list.

Three: I appoint my sister, Alice Laws Moore, as executrix of my estate, and request that she be permitted to qualify without surety on her bond. In the event my sister predeceases me, then I appoint my nephew, Adair Moore, and Ralph Ware, as Executors of this will.

Given under my hand and seal this 11th day of August, 1947

Estelle Laws McKay

The Last Will & Testament of Robert S. McKay

See Robert's family record.

I Robert S. McKay considering the uncertainty of life, and the duty of being prepared for death, do make and ordain this my last will and testament, hereby revoking all former wills by me at anytime made.

1st I direct that all my just debts, including my funeral expenses be paid by my executors and if the proceeds of the sale of all my personal property, not specially bequeathed and also of the Bush Hill farm which is situated in the county of Frederick near Newtown (ed. note: now known as Stephens City) and contains by old survey one hundred & seventy two acres, and there is also connected with it seventy eight acres of woodland, which is adjacent to Klines land, and which is considered as part of the Bush Hill farm, and as a further description of the said tract of land it may be said that it formerly belonged by virtue of a devise of her husband to my present wife Jane R. and to her children, wherever the youngest one becomes twenty one years of age, but was sold under a decree of court and bought by me be not sufficient for that purpose my executors are authorized to certain the cents and profits of the remainder of my estate and apply them to the debts until all of them are paid.

2nd I give and bequeath to my wife Jane R. all the slaves she possessed when we were married and all those inherited since that time from her Father's estate, both of which have been transferred to her by any deed. I also give and bequeath to her a home at our present residence during her life, to be shared with whoever may live there, and moreover an annuity of one hundred dollars per annum as long as she lives which must be paid out of my estate and furthermore all the household and kitchen furniture of every description which was brought to our residence by her when we were married and which belonged to her and I do hereby declare my intention to be that this and such request provision herein made for my wife shall be in lieu of her dower and distribution share of my estate. But if she refuse to accept to this arrangement then I desire that some satisfactory agreement be entered into between her and my executors taking into consideration the benefit to the estate and her comfort and hoping that her requirements may be as reasonable as possible.

3rd I gave and transferred to my son Wm. F. all the real estate which he and his deceased brothers Henry Clay & Robert P. inherited from his grandfather and when he again transferred it to me I made it a condition to the subsequent transfer of that estate to my son in law Benj. F. Hill [illegible] pay to my son Wm. F. two thousand dollars which was accordingly done. I also paid to W.D. Bartlett one hundred and eighty. My will therefore is that he shall have no more of my estate.

4th I give and devise to all my children by second wife Nancy A. Viz: Ann Elizabeth, James E., Jesse C., Kathleen, Jacob F. and Robert P. the balance of my estate to be divided equally between them except so far as any of them may be hereafter charged with advancements which must be accounted for in the division of my estate. The land devised to the above named children will consist of the tract on which I reside commonly called the Orchard Farm, the Cedarville Farm, the Watson Farm and a portion of Western Land.

5th I direct that Kathleen, Jacob and Robert shall not enjoy any part of my estate until and unless they convey their right away in the tract of land which I conveyed to W.H. Wheelwright and which is situated in the county of Warren near Nineveh and adjoining the lands of [illegible] Mellon & [illegible] also borders on the Front Royal Turnpike. My children Ann Elizabeth, James E. and Jesse C. being of [illegible], have already conveyed away their interest in the above described tract of land.

6th I desire that the tract of land which I have transferred to my daughter Ann Elizabeth, [illegible] five hundred dollars, which sum and fifty dollars per annum from the period of the transfer to her to the time [illegible] to be considered an advancement and she is to be charged with the same in the settlement and division of my estate. My son James E. is also charged with five hundred dollars which is to be accounted for at the same time and in the same manner. Also my son Jesse C. is charged with one thousand dollars, which must be accounted for in like time and manner as in the two preceding instances.

7th I appoint my sons James E. and Jesse C. executors of this my will and desire that they will not be required to give the usual bond or security, and also that they charge no more for their services in settling up the estate than will be sufficient to defray their necessary expenses which immediately engaged in doing so. In testimony whereof I have to this my will consisting of one sheet of paper, if my hand the 2nd day of October A.D. 1860.

signed, published and declared to be the testator R.S. McKay as and for his last will & testament the presence of us who in his presence & in the presence & each other at his request have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.

The land devised to the above named children will consist of the tract on which I reside commonly called the Orchard Farm, the Cedarville Farm, the Watson Farm and a portion of Western Land.

5th I direct that Kathleen, Jacob and Robert shall not enjoy any part of my estate until and unless they convey their right away in the tract of land which I conveyed to W.M. Wheelwright and which is situated in the county of Warren near Nineveh and adjoining the lands of J.A. McKay & Cohn E.B. Jacobs and also borders on the Front Royal Turnpike. My children Ann Elizabeth, James E. and Jesse C. being of age, have already conveyed away their interest in the above described tract of land.

6th I desire that the tract of land which I have transferred to my daughter Ann Elizabeth, be valued at twenty five hundred dollars, which sum and fifty dollars per annum from the period of the transfer to her to the time of my death one to be considered an advancement and she is to be charged with the same in the settlement and division of my estate. My son James E. is also charged with five hundred dollars which is to be accounted for at the same time and in the same manner. Also my son Jesse C. is charged with one thousand dollars, which must be accounted for in like time and manner as in the two preceding instances.

7th I appoint my sons James E. and Jesse C. executors of this my will and desire that they will not be required to give the usual bond or security, and also that they charge no more for their services in settling up the estate than will be sufficient to defray their necessary expenses which immediately engaged in doing so. In testimony whereof I have to this my will consisting of one sheet of paper, it my hand the 2nd day of October A.D. 1860.

Robert Aaron Shinn McKay Record

Robert Aaron Shinn McKay, born: 17 Dec 1795; Cedarville, Frederick (now Warren) Co. VA; died: 10 Jun 1862; buried: Crooked Run (Nineveh) Cem., Warren Co. VA in an unmarked grave;

Robert, married: 18 Dec 1819; Frederick Co. VA; Virginia Grubbs, died: ca. 1827;

See Robert's Last Will and Testament.

According to a copy of an old Bible record believed to be from the family Bible of Moses & Abigail McKay, Robert is listed with the middle names of 'Aaron' and 'Shinn'. He signed his legal documents in Virginia as 'Robert S. McKay' and I do not know of any other documents spelling out his complete name at this time. The original Bible record is in the possession of Katherine (Hackney) Luby. Dee Ann Buck disagrees that his middle names were 'Aaron' and 'Shinn' so we need further documentation on this.

All children of above were born in Cedarville, Frederick (now Warren, formed in 1836) Co. VA.

Taylor/Shinn Family Bible

Contributor: Transcription contributed by Mark Danielson of Bellingham, WA on 9 May 2004

Comments: I am sending you a transcription of a family Bible that is owned by a distant relative in Kentucky. The individuals listed were residents of Warren County in the early 1800s. We have not ascertained where Moses Taylor was buried, although he died while resident in Warren County. His mother-in-law, Jane Shinn, is buried in Shelby County's Orange Cemetery. Jane and her daughter, Martha, were from Burlington County, New Jersey, Quaker stock. We have not located the final resting places of any of the other individuals, either.

Moses Taylor was born Dec. 25, 1770
Moses Taylor died Mar. 29, 1823

Martha Shin was born Nov. 29, 1782
Martha Taylor died June 24, 1849

Thomas Shin Taylor was born May 24, 1813
Thomas S. Taylor died Nov., 1878

Jane Shin was born Dec. 6, 1758
Jane Shinn (note spelling) died Feb. 17, 1846
Aged 87 yrs, 2 mos, 11 days

Rebecca, widow of Thomas S. Taylor died Feb. 10, 1879

Jacob Dicks was born Oct. 27, 1808
Jacob Dicks died Oct. 19, 1860

Lucy Ann Taylor was born Aug. 7, 1811
Lucy Ann Dicks died May 14, 1855

Jane Taylor was born Sept. 12, 1808
Jane Taylor died Mar. 5, 1847
Age 38 yrs, 6 mos, 22 days

Joseph Taylor was born Mar. 18, 1806

Martha Ann Taylor was born April 28, 1846
Martha (Mattie) A. Kraushaar died June 11, 1901

Dee Ann Buck

Robert S. McKay married third on 8 June 1853 to Jane Reddice (Carson) Wells. Her first husband Richard Wells' will filed in Frederick Co. VA by 1847. A copy of his will included in my second Frederick Co. VA Will Book. According to the notes of H.M. McKay said Richard & Jane Wells had six children. But according to his will and census records they had twelve children: Mary Eveline (married Lewis S. Emmett, listed in father's will & later Frederick Co. VA marriage bond), rest of these children listed on 1850 Frederick Co. VA with their mother: Martha, Simon Carson (could be Dr. Carson Wells), James Max, Jared W., Margaret H., Robert W., Arthur, Oscar, Lucy J., McKim H. & Betsey A. Wells.

Second will, Jared Wm. Carson dated 7 Aug 1851, 1 Sep 1851 probated, named as his daughter Martha Rebecca Carson. He was married to Mary Harriet MCKAY in Warren Co. VA 12 Sep 1837. If his daughter died without issue all his property gained from her mother (not named in the will) to go to his brother-in-law John W. MCKAY.

His property to be given to his sister Mrs. Jane R. WELLS (she would marry Robert S. McKay) and his brother James H. Carson.

So we have two connection with the McKay family, one Robert S. McKay I know where he fits into the tree, still working on Mary Harriet McKay and her brother John W. McKay.

(Note: John D. Collett and his son John P. Collett, of Indianapolis, are descendants of the above John Collett, who married Elizabeth Stevenson. John P. Collett is a friend of Samuel R. Ashby and was his roommate at Harvard. The Indianapolis Colletts have their line in full to the present, and the Colletts in Ohio also have their line in full. In Maryland land records there is record of a survey for Richard Collett of 700 acres, called Collettstown, Sept. 15, 1659.)

(There are some handwritten notes on these pages that I have difficulty in reading. I will attempt to get the information on this later.)

Excerpts from "Ashbys, Reids and Allied Families"

(Information starts here)
gave me the following extracts from a story of the Colletts and Ashbys, written by her father, James B. Nickerson, who was a grandson of Silas and Sarah Collett Ashby. This was as he remembered his grandmother telling it, for his grandfather died before his grandmother left Kentucky. The story follows, in part:

The Silas Ashby Tradition

"Sarah [Collett] Ashby was the daughter of Moses Collett, born Nov. 17, 1718. He lived in Virginia, probably Madison County. She was the youngest of eight children. She and her brothers John and Aaron, packed their small belongings on their horses, and started across the mountains, seeking a new home in Kentucky. Fortunately, they encountered no hostile Indians. They landed at a station or fort founded by Daniel Boone. Shortly after arriving in Kentucky, Aaron Collett was wounded by the Indians and he died Aug. 16, 1785. In Boone's Station, Sarah met a young white-haired man, named Silas Ashby. He was six feet two inches tall, and could outrun and outjump any Indian. He was from Maryland (family from Virginia) and was also seeking a new home in Kentucky. They were married April 21, 1789. There is no record of Grandfather Ashby's history."

"Our grandmother Ashby was a noble woman, of whom we her descendants, may be justly proud. Grandmother's oldest son, Hankerson, went with the Kentucky troops into the war of 1812. He was in the battle of the River Raisin in Michigan." (This Hankerson is our ancestor, great-grandfather of Samuel Ashby.)

Silas Ashby Family*

1. Silas Ashby b June, 1765, d Sept. 24, 1806, buried near Shelbyville, Ky. m Sarah Collett b 1766, d 1824, buried near Wilmington, Ohio. They were married April 21, 1789, in Lincoln County, Kentucky. (These are the great-great-grandparents of Samuel Ashby, who married Ida Mary Reid.)
    A. Hankinson, b April 11, 1791; m Edith Pollard, 1810; d 1828 in Kentucky.
    B. Anna, b Oct. 10, 1792; m Henry Pollard, 1810, in Kentucky.

Foreward To Family Chart

The Collett family chart that accompanied the book, published in 1929, was, at that time, incomplete as to the French and English Collett genealogy.

April, 1930, volume 38, number 2, page 14, Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, under title "Gifts" sets out as received from Miss E. Cruwys Sharland, Cornwell, England, photo's of Little Gidding and some members of the Ferrar and Collett families, of England.

A letter by us to Miss Sharland, December 18th, 1930, brought a reply stating she was eighty years old and had referred our letter to a member of our branch of the English family for a reply. Miss Sharland is the Editor, of "The Story Books of Little Giddings."

March 31st, 1931, brought us a letter from Mr. Henry Collett, 64 Cornhill, London, E.C.3. (home address, 4 St. Anns Villas, Holland Park, London, W. 11 England), of marked interest relative to the English branch of Collett's, that has grown into correspondence that has been carried on since that date, giving a complete data of the early genealogy of the family unknown to me. Also sent us copy of his book published in 1925, titled "Little Gidding and Its Founder." The book contains a history of Little Gidding Church; the address he delivered there on the 300, anniversary of its founding; with biographical notes of the lives of several of the Ferrar's, and Collett's, and followed, in a letter, with a chart, and coat-of-arms, of the English Collett's, a result of which is the herewith corrected, and added to chart of the combined English and American Collett family.

The present Governor of the Bank of England, Mr. Montague Collett Norman, wrote me; long hand; of his mother as a Collett. John Collett, was Governor of the Bank of England, in 1882, and again in 1885. Henry Collett, writes me in 1933, that Sir Knight Charles Collett, had been made Lord Mayor, of London, for 1934, stating the first Collett to be Lord Mayor was Sir Henry Collett, 1486 and again in 1495. His son the Rev. John Collett (spelled Colet.), born 1467, graduated at Cambridge University with degree of M.A., in 1490 became the first Greek instructor at Cambridge. In 1506, he was made Dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, England. In 1508, he inherited his father's wealth and in 1509 to 1512, completes the founding and fully endowing of, St. Paul's School for Boys, at St. Paul's Cathedral, which is extant today. In 1514, he made the Canterbury pilgrimage, and in 1515, he preached at Wolsey's installation as Cardinal. Rev. Collett's opinions were so much more liberal than those of his contemporary clergy that he joined Desederius Erasmus, and Sir Thomas More, a barrister, as the three principals in bringing about "The Reformation," in England, under King Henry VIII. (See, "The Oxford Reformers" by E. Seebolm.) Rev. John Collett, died September 16th, 1519, buried on the south side of the choir St. Paul's Cathedral, where a stone laid over his grave bears his name.

John D. Collett,

Indianapolis, Ind.,
December, 21st, 1933.

The Collett Family

DIFFERENT branches of the Collett family have worked on their line, and they do not all agree, therefore I will give first the record given me by the descendants of Sarah [Collett] Ashby.

"Three Collett brothers, Huguenots, were driven from France, one fled to the mountains of France, one to England, and one embarked with his wife to America. A son was born on the voyage, but the wife died. The son's name was Stephen, and the record says he married Elizabeth Wiley. They settled near Baltimore, Mdd. Moses Collett, son of Stephen, married Elizabeth Armstrong. They settled in Jefferson County, Virginia."

1. Moses Collett b Nov. 17, 1718; d June 6, 1783; m Elizabeth Armstrong b Aug. 18, 1725.
    - A. Stephen b May 9, 1746; went to Kentucky, killed by Indians 1820.
    - B. Rachel b Dec. 15, 1748; d 1813; m Sparks in Maryland.
    - C. Daniel b Feb. 10, 1752; d June 28, 1835; m Mary Haines.
    - D. Elizabeth b Dec. 18, 1754; d Feb. 27, 1816; m Byers or Benk. Wiley. Some of her family lived in Indiana.
    - E. John b Nov. 8, 1757; died in New York; m Elizabeth Wiley
    - F. Isaac b June 14, 1760.
    - G. Aaron b May 11, 1763; d Aug. 16, 1785, by Indians.
    - H. Sarah b Sept. 30, 1766; d July 24, 1824; m Silas Ashby April 21, 1789. Their children and descendants given in the records of the Ashby family.

Daniel Collett, brother of Sarah [Collett] Ashby, served as a county magistrate in Jefferson County, Virginia, also as a High Sheriff. He came to Clinton County, Ohio, in 1812, where he purchased 3,000 acres of land. His descendants were prominent people in Ohio and many of their large brick houses still remain. The Colletts and McKays also intermarried and we visited in the old McKay homestead, where Sarah [McKay] Smith now resides.

Page 1008 E. L. and J. G. MACY, farmer and merchanic [sic]; P. O. Harveysburg. One among the prominent and early pioneer families of Harveysburg, was the Macy family, and their descendents constitute a large number of families in Harveysburg and vicinity at the present time. They have a very complete genealogy of the family from its first location in the United States published in book form, and from it we find they have multiplied and extended until they are found in twenty-two States of the Union, and in 1868 there were then living 1,240 souls; deceased since their settling in the United States. 851; unknown, 17; total, 2,108. The progenitor of this now so memorous family was Thomas Macy, born in Wiltshire Co., England; emigrated to America about 1635, and became one of the first settlers of Newbury, Mass.; residing there but a few years, he removed to Salisbury, Mass., and was one of the original settlers of that town. Mr. Macy was a man of sterling character, possessed of great energy and determination of will; he held many positions of honor and trust in this new settlement; was a merchant, a planter, one of the selectmen of the town, a juryman, and withal a preacher; he was of the Baptist persuasion, and would frequently on the Sabbath exhort the people. Mr. Macy resided at Salisbury until 1659, when the persecution of the Quakers, Baptists, and others became so intolerant that he would endure it no longer, and he, with nine others, purchased the island of Nantucket, and in September or October of above year, he, with his family, embarked in a small sail boat in Boston Bay, rounded Cape Cod, and sailed direct for the Island. This Island was then inhabited by about 3,000 Indians. There he, with a few others, settled, braving all danger to secure a free altar and a safe home, and thereby transmit to his descendents the seeds of true liberty and pure religion. Thomas Macy married Sarah Hopcott, who was born in England in 1612 ; he Page 1009 died on the island of Nantucket April 19, 1682, aged 74 years; she died in 1706, aged 94 years. They had three sons and four daughters, of whom John Macy, the sixth child and second son, was born in Salisbury, Mass., July 14, 1655; married Deborah Gardner, who was born Feb. 12, 1658; he died at Nantucket Oct. 14, 1691; she died in 1712; they had four sons and four daughters, of whom John, the eldest child, was born at Nantucket, about 1675; married Judith Worth, born Dec. 22, 1689; he died at Nantucket Nov. 28, 1751; she died Nov. 8, 1767 ; they had seven sons and six daughters, of whom David, the fifth child and fourth son, was born at Nantucket Sept. 12, 1714; married Dina Gardner; he died at New Garden, N. C.; they had two sons and five daughters, of whom David, the second child, and the grandfather of Edward L. and Nathan D. Macy, of Harveysburg, was born at Nantucket about 1743; migrated to North Carolina about 1770, and married Hannah White; his sister, Abigail, married Benjamin Stanton, and was the grandmother of the late Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, under the administration of President Lincoln. David died in Guilford Co., N. C., about 1792; his widow married Matthew Coffin, and died in Indiana. David and Hannah Macy had four sons and two daughters, of whom David, the second son and the father of Edward L. and Nathan D. Macy, wan born at Guilford Co., N. C., May 26. 1784; married Sarah Dix July 8, 1807; emigrated to Ohio, and located in Warren Co. in the spring of 1816; he died Nov. 14, 1863; his wife, Sarah, died Oct. 2,1866; they had seven children—Micajah T., born in North Carolina May 15, 1808, died at Harveysburg Dec. 2, 1828; William, born in North Carolina Nov. 18, 1809; Zalinda L., born in North Carolina Aug. 11,1811; Nathan D., born in North Carolina July 20, 1813; Edward L., born in Clinton Co., Ohio, Jan. 9, 1816; Milton T., born in Warren Co., Ohio, Nov. 25, 1817; and Abigail F., born in Warren Co., Feb. 24, 1824; died at Harveysburg Nov. 1, 1864. Mr. David Macy was a saddler by trade, and among the early settlers of Massie Township. When he came here be purchased a farm, where he continued to work at his trade; thence he removed to Harveysburg, and was associated with William Harvey in laying oat the town; here he continued in business at his trade until his death. Mr. Macy was a man of undoubted integrity, unassuming in his habits, never seeking or holding office, bat was one of those solid, substantial men who make the kindest of neighbors and best of citizens in every community; he was a worthy member of the Society of Friends and an elder in the same for many years. William Macy, son of David and Sarah Macy. married Phebe Bower, issue five children—Edward T., Zalinda A., Mary R, Priscilla and David. W. Mrs. Macy died Dec. 28, 1851. Nathan D. Macy married Mary Scroggy, issue two daughters —Sarah, now Mrs. W. Lukens; and Elizabeth, now Mrs. William Collett. Mrs. Macy died June 14, 1842. On Dec. 8, 1848, Mr. Macy married for his second wife, Eliza Gilpin, issue three children—Mildred, John G. and Edmond A. Milton T. Macy married Caroline M. Wales; she died Aug. 30,1844, leaving no issue. On June 28,1848, Mr. Macy married Mrs. Eliza J. King, issue three children-DeElla Alsora, Emma C. and Charles T. Mr. Macy and family now reside in Nebraska. The greater portion of the children and grandchildren of the pioneers, David and Sarah Macy, still reside in Harveysburg and vicinity, and are among their most worthy citizens. They are retiring in their habits, desiring no offices, or public notoriety, but possess a high moral standard, intelligent, social and congenial, constituting them excellent members of society in the communities where they live.

Page 998 WILLIAM J. COLLETT, farmer; P.O. Harveysburg; born in Clinton Co., Ohio, June 30, 1838, is a son of Jonathan and Sarah (McKay) Collett, natives of Virginia. The paternal grandfather, Daniel Collett, was born in Maryland, but his father was a native of England, and whose parents emigrated to America when he was but an infant, and his father died on the voyage and was consigned to an ocean burial. This left the mother with the full responsibility of the care of her infant son and were thus thrown into this new country among strangers early in the 17th century. Here this infant son grew to manhood, married and became the father of the above mentioned Daniel Collett, the grandfather of our subject, and from him have descended the numerous families bearing the name of Collett. Daniel married in Virginia, and raised a family of eight children—Moses, Joshua, Isaac, Jonathan, Benjamin, Aaron, Mercy, and Daniel. The family resided in Virginia for many years, till becoming completely
Page 999 disgusted with the institution of slavery, they determined to try and find a country and a home free from its pernicious effects, and in pursuance of this idea, in 1810, Moses, the eldest son, with his family, emigrated to Ohio and located in Greene County in 1811. Jonathan followed his brother to Ohio and remained here about two years, during which he was pressed into the service in the war of 1812, serving a short time; in 1813, he returned to Virginia, and brought his father and family to Ohio and they located in Clinton County; here the grandfather, Daniel, died about 1836, aged 84 years. He was a man who possessed a mind of high order; was noted for his excellent Christian and moral character, which, in those days of pioneer roughness, was of the greatest importance to mold the character of the people of those early settlements. Joshua, the second son of Daniel, arose to great distinction and held the office of Circuit Judge many years, for full information of which see in general history of the county. Daniel Collett was a soldier in the war of the Revolution, serving through the entire conflict. Jonathan, the father of our subject, was married in Warren County, and located in Clinton County, on a part of the land of the large purchase of 4,000 acres made by his father when they first came to the State, and there he spent his entire life. He died in October, 1865, aged 70 years; his wife died in 1852, aged about 55 years. They had ten children, seven now survive—Ann, now Mrs. McCune; Moses; Benjamin; Martha, now Mrs. Denny; William J.; Robert and Azel. Mr. Collett in his life and character was a facsimile of his father, noted for all those noble principles which made him so useful and beloved, and at his death the loss was mourned by all who knew him, but to love and respect him. Our subject remained with his father till 26 years of age; was married Dec. 7, 1864, to Elizabeth D. Macy, whose ancestral history is contained in. sketch of E. L. and J. G. Macy. By this union they have had three children, all deceased. Mr. Collett after his marriage, bought and located upon the place where he now lives and has since resided ; has a fine farm and a pleasant residence situated half a mile west of Harveysburg; is one of the prominent farmers of Massie Township, and well sustained the good name and character of his noble ancestors; has the entire confidence of his community, and has held many offices; was Township Trustee for twelve years, and has been a Director of the Orphan Asylum and Children's Home at Lebanon, by appointment of the Court since 1875.

Page 369 This distinguished lawyer and Judge was born in Berkeley County, Va. (now West Virginia), November 20,1781. Having obtained a good English education, he studied law at Martinsburg, in his native county. About the time he reached the age of twenty-one, he emigrated to the Northwest Territory, and stopped temporarily at Cincinnati, where he remained about a year. While he was at Cincinnati, the first constitution of Ohio was adopted and Warren was created a county, with a temporary seat of justice at Lebanon. In June, 1803, before the first court had been held in Warren County, he established himself at Lebanon for the practice of law, and was the first resident lawyer in the place. Here, it may be said, he commenced the practice of his profession, in which he afterward became distinguished, both at the bar and on the bench. Modest, diffident, unassuming and unpretending, to a degree seldom met with, he had great difficulties to overcome. He traveled the whole of the First Judicial Circuit, comprising the counties of Hamilton, Butler, Warren, Clermont, Montgomery, Miami, Greene and Champaign, and was thus brought into competition with the older and distinguished lawyers of Cincinnati and the bar of the whole Miami Circuit. Notwithstanding the embarrassments resulting from his modesty and diffidence, and the learning and eloquence of his competitors, his knowledge of the law and his sound judgment made him a successful practitioner. In 1807, he was appointed Prosecuting Attorney for the First Judicial Circuit, a position he held for ten years, when he was succeeded by his pupil, Thomas Corwin. The diligence, integrity and ability, with which he discharged the duties of this office, made him widely known and universally respected. In 1817, he was elected by the Legislature, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the term of seven years, and, at the close of his term, was re-elected. He continued on the Common Pleas Bench until 1829, when he was elected by the Legislature a Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio. His duties as Supreme Judge were onerous; he was compelled to attend courts in distant parts of the State, and to ride on horseback from county to county. At the end of his term, in 1836, he retired to his farm, near Lebanon, where he resided until his death.

After his retirement from the bench, he permitted his name to be placed on the Whig electoral ticket, in 1886, and again in 1840, and, having been elected both times, he twice cast an electoral vote for his friend, Gen. Harrison. He was, for seventeen years, a member of the Board of Trustees of Miami University, and, during all that time manifested an earnest solicitude for the welfare of that institution. He was interested in the cause of education, and held for some time the office of School Examiner in Warren County. .

Judge Collett, on emigrating to the West, left in Virginia six brothers and one sister, who, about the year 1812, followed him to Ohio. Their descendants are now numerous in Clinton and Warren Counties. Joshua Collett, in 1808, married Eliza Van Horne. William B. Collett, his only son and only child who survived him, was the leading spirit in the organization of the Warren County Agricultural Society. He died on the farm he inherited from his father, July 19, 1860, in the forty-ninth year of his age.

For the last twenty-five years of his life, Judge Collett was a member of the Baptist Church. He was a benevolent and kind-hearted man, and, though Page 370 an able lawyer and Judge, the crowning glory of his life was his spotless purity, his scrupulous honesty and his unsullied integrity. He died on his farm, near Lebanon May 23, 1855, and was buried at Lebanon. A plain tombstone was erected at the head of his grave, but it is now fallen to the ground, and is broken into several pieces. It bore this inscription:

JOSHUA. COLLETT.

> Born in Virginia in 1781; emigrated to Ohio in 1801; resided at Lebanon until his death, in 1856, aged 73 years and 6 months. Fifteen years a Lawyer, eighteen years a Judge of the Common Pleas and Supreme Courts of the State, as a man and a Christian, he maintained a character for Piety, Simplicity, Righteousness and Love of Truth, such as only the Fear of God and Faith in the Gospel of Jesus Christ can Impart.

FOOTNOTES: [a place to add additional information that you might want to submit]

So far as is known, all the older members of the profession in the county were opposed to the adoption of the reformed method of civil procedure which was enacted by the Ohio Legislature in 1853. It had been under discussion in the State since its adoption in New York in 1848. It has since been adopted by more than twenty American States and Territories, and has been accepted by the British Parliament. The old system of pleading, with its conflicting and confusing distinctions in the forms of remedial actions, had long remained one of the greatest and most unnecessary burdens on the administration of justice, both in England and America. It had originated at a remote period, and was possibly contrived for the purpose of securing to the favored few the exclusive administration of justice. The style used in pleading was awkward and clumsy from the use of unmeaning phrases, and was redundant in the use of synonyms and repetitions. The old lawyers, familiar with the artificial and technical rules of the old system, had learned to admire even its fictions, circumlocutions and contradictions, and taught it to their students as the perfection of reason and the most beautiful of human sciences. In the opinion of Edmund Burke, the science of law "does more to quicken and invigorate the understanding than all other kinds of learning put together, but it is not apt, except in those happily born to open and liberalize the mind in exactly the same proportion." The lawyer's habit of constantly appealing to authorities and precedents is not the most favorable to the development of the true spirit of progress. Certain it is that the most needed reforms in the law make slow progress. Even after the enactment of the code of civil procedure
Page 300 by the Legislature, the full measure of the reform intended by it was not experienced by the profession in this county. The older and leading lawyers, whose habits of thought had been formed under the former system, made the new practice conform to the old as far as possible. Judge Nash's work on pleading and practice was for many years in general use by the profession in this county. This author was an avowed enemy of the code system of practice, and confessedly resorted to the old precedents for his forms, and substantially followed them. A generation, however, has made great changes. Experience has given proof of the wisdom of reforming the practice, and to-day not a lawyer educated under the code system would be willing to go back to the common law pleading.

Below is given a list of the President Judges of the Court of Common Pleas of the circuits in which Warren County was placed under the constitution of 1802, and the Common Pleas Judges of the subdivision of the judicial district of which the county was a part under the constitution of 1852:

PRESIDENT JUDGES UNDER THE CONSTITUTION OF 1802.

Francis Dunlevy, of Warren County, 1803-1817.
Joshua Collett, of Warren County, 1817-1829.
George J. Smith, of Warren County, 1829-1836.
Benjamin Hinkson, of Clinton County, 1836-1843.
Elijah Vance, of Butler County, 1843-1850.
John Probasco, Jr., of Warren County, 1850-1852.

COMMON PLEAS JUDGES UNDER THE CONTITUTION OF 1852.

William A. Rogers, of Clark County, 1852; died 1855.
William H. Baldwin, of Clinton County, 1855; appointed by the Governor.
Robert Barclay Harlan, of Clinton County, 1855-1856.
William White, of Clark County, 1856-1864.
George J. Smith, of Warren County, 1859-1869.
James J. Winans, of Greene County, 1864-1869.
E. H. Munger, of Greene County, 1869-1872.
Leroy Pope, of Clinton County, 1869-1874.
James M. Smith, of Warren County, 1872 to the present time.

[Since 1872, there has been a Common Pleas Judge residing in Warren County, and the names of the Judges after that date residing in the other counties of the subdivision of which Warren forms a part are omitted.]

for the appointment of delegate to Congress, but failed to succeed by a single vote. Having acquired an independent fortune, principally by the rise of property, he retired from the bar. Unfortunately, he had been intemperate, and consequently more liable to be imposed on. His acquaintances, taking advantage of this circumstance, and of the natural kindness of his disposition, obtained his indorsements to an amount which eventually absorbed his estate, and consigned a helpless widow and family of children to poverty and want."

It is worthy of note that Francis Dunlevy, the first President Judge of the circuit which embraced Cincinnati and the southwestern third of the State, was not a regularly educated lawyer, nor was he admitted to the bar until after his retirement from the bench. He was, however, a classical scholar, and had served as a member of the convention which formed the State Constitution, and of the Territorial and State Legislatures. He practiced law some years after his retirement from the bench.

Joshua Collett, the first resident lawyer of the county, had studied law in Martinsburg, Va. He came to Lebanon soon after the organization of the county.

Richard S. Thomas commenced the practice at Lebanon in 1804 or 1805. He represented the Warren District in the State Senate in 1806, 1807 and 1808. In 1809, he received, in the joint session of the Legislature, twenty-nine votes for United States Senator, but was defeated by Alexander Campbell, who received thirty-eight votes. Mr. Thomas moved from Lebanon to the West about 1810. He became a Circuit Judge in Illinois.

John McLean was admitted to the bar in the autumn of 1807, and commenced practice at Lebanon. His public life soon took him from the bar. He was elected to Congress in 1812, and became Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio in 1816.

William McLean, a brother of John, was an early lawyer at Lebanon. He removed from Lebanon to Piqua, and was elected to Congress from Miami County, serving from 1823 to 1829. About the year 1829, he returned to Lebanon, and again practiced his profession.

Thomas Freeman came to the Lebanon bar from Cincinnati about 1809. He was a native of Pennsylvania, and practiced law with success in the Miami Circuit. His professional career was short. He died in 1818 from injuries received on being thrown from a horse, in the thirty-ninth year of his age.

Jacob D. Miller, a promising lawyer at Lebanon, died in early manhood, while representing Warren County in the State Senate, in the year 1827.

Thomas R. Ross who had studied law at Philadelphia, commenced practice in Lebanon in 1810, and was first elected to Congress in 1818. Phineas Ross, a brother of Thomas, was also a prominent early lawyer at Lebanon. He served for some time as Cashier of the Lebanon Miami Banking Company.

Jacoby Hallack was for twenty years a practicing member of the bar, and for several terms a member of the Legislature.

Thomas Corwin and A. H. Dunlevy came to the bar in 1817, and George J. Smith in 1820.

Biographies of some of the most distinguished members of the legal profession in Warren County will be found elsewhere in this work. It is proposal in this place to narrate, with some regard to chronological order, some facts concerning the bench and the bar of the county not elsewhere recorded. The sketch must necessarily be imperfect.

The legal business of the earliest pioneers of the county for eight years after its first settlement was transacted at Cincinnati. In 1796, there were nine practicing attorneys at Cincinnati, all of whom, except two, became confirmed drunkards, and descended to premature graves. Many of the early lawyers of Cincinnati who continued long in the practice attended the courts at Lebanon after the organization of Warren County. Judge Jacob Burnet says:

"It was always my opinion that there was a fair proportion of genius and talent among the early members of the bar. Some of them, it is true, were uneducated, and had to acquire their legal knowledge, after they assumed the profession. These were not numerous, but were noisy and officious, and, for some time, were able to procure a considerable amount of practice. This may be accounted for, in part, by the fact that the docket contained a large number of actions for slander, and assault and battery, and indictments for larceny, libels and the like, which generally originated among the followers of the army, who were numerous, consisting of pack-horsemen, bullock-drivers, boatman and artificers, who were not always very discriminating in the selection of counsel."

The attorney who prosecuted pleas in behalf of the State was appointed by the Supreme Court. Daniel Symmes, of Cincinnati, a nephew of Judge John Cleves Symmes, was appointed to discharge that duty at the first term of the Court of Common Pleas in Warren County, and prepared the indictments returned by the Grand Jury at that term. The sum of $20 was the usual allowance at that time for prosecuting pleas in behalf of the State at each term. Daniel Symmes served as Prosecuting Attorney in this county for a single term. He soon after became Speaker of the State Senate, and, in 1805, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Ohio.

Arthur St. Clair, Jr., also of Cincinnati, succeeded Daniel Symmes as Prosecuting Attorney in the courts of Warren County, and held the same position in some of the adjoining counties. He is said to have appeared in court with a cocked hat and a sword. He was a son of the Territorial Governor, Gen. Arthur St. Clair, and was a gentleman of culture and a lawyer of ability. Although he was not a resident of Warren County, yet, as he was for several years conspicuous in the administration of justice in this county, the following facts concerning him, communicated by Judge Burnet to the Western Law Journal in 1848, are here quoted:

"Arthur St. Clair was a native of Pennsylvania. He had been well educated, and was, moreover, a regular bred lawyer. Immediately after he came to Cincinnati, his father appointed him Attorney General for the Northwestern Territory, the duties of which office he performed acceptably to all concerned till it was abolished by the formation of a State Government. His manners were polished, his deportment popular, his talents highly respectable, and he supported an honorable standing at the bar. He was distinguished for great candor, which, it was supposed, he sometimes carried unnecessarily far. In 1799, he was a competitor with Gen. Harrison, then Secretary of the Territory, Benjamin Collett was one of the brightest lights of the Lebanon bar. Judge R. B. Harlan thus writes of him: "In my view, Ben Collett is entitled to be placed as a lawyer above all the lawyers of my acquaintance. If men have a natural genius for anything in particular, he had for the law. Apparently a slow thinker, he was the most ready man in the discussion of legal subjects that I ever listened to, and when he had closed an argument upon a legal question, nothing remained to be said on that side of the subject. His superiority on law questions over all his cotemporaries [sic] practicing at our bar was universally conceded. He had such a thorough knowledge of every branch Page 298 of the law as to easily make himself master of any question respecting it. He himself attributed his knowledge of the law to his having studied principles instead of mere cases. His earnest advice to young lawyers was to study the great principles on which the law is founded. His whole soul was in his profession. The books he read were mostly law books. He was a man of excellent temper. I never saw him out of humor, or heard him use discourteous language to court or bar, party or witness. "This talented lawyer fell a victim to intemperance, and was cut off in the prime of life. He died June 24, 1831, aged thirty-eight years.

For twenty-five years after the organization of the county, not more than six members of the bar residing in Lebanon appear to have been engaged in active practice at any one time. The foregoing list, brief as it seems, is believed to contain the name of every attorney in the county who made a reputation at the bar or was engaged in the practice of law for any considerable time previous to 1825. There were doubtless others who became members of the bar and opened offices in the county and afterward retired to other fields of labor or removed to other localities.

In 1830, attorneys and physicians were subject to a tax of five mills on each dollar of their annual income. The records of the County Commissioners contain a list of the attorneys practicing in Warren County that year. At that time, John McLean was a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States; Joshua Collet, Judge of the Supreme Court of Ohio; and George J. Smith, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. The following is the list of practicing attorneys: Thomas R. Ross, Phineas Ross, Benjamin Collett, Thomas Corwin, Francis Dunlevy, A. H. Dunlevy, William McLean and Jacoby Hallack. The sum of $750 is placed opposite each name as the income from the practice of law for the year, excepting those of Thomas Corwin and Jacoby Hallack, the income for the former being placed at $1,000, and that of the latter at $500. As the figures were merely estimates by the Commissioners, and not returns made by the attorneys themselves, they lose much of their value as evidences of the real profits of the profession fifty years ago.

The changes made in ten years will appear from the following list of practicing attorneys in 1840: Simon Suydam, J. Milton Williams, George J. Smith, John Probasco, Jr., A. H. Dunlevy, Robert G. Corwin, Thomas Corwin, Asahel Brown, Franklin Corwin, and, at Franklin, John W. Caldwell.

The following is the list for 1850: George J. Smith, J. Milton Williams, A. H. Dunlevy, E. Hutchinson, Durbin Ward, William S. Mickle, Lauren Smith, Robert G. Corwin, A. G. McBurney, John C. Dunlevy, J. Kelly O'Neall, James M. Smith and Horace M. Stokes. At this time, John Probasco, Jr., was President Judge.

Among the law firms of former years may be mentioned Ross & Corwin, consisting of Phineas Ross and Thomas Corwin; McLean & Smith, consisting of William McLean and George J. Smith; Williams & Collett, consisting of J. Milton Williams and William R. Collett; Corwin & Ward, consisting of Thomas Corwin and Durbin Ward; and later, a firm consisting of Thomas and R. G. Corwin and A. G. McBurney; Smith & Probasco, consisting of George J. Smith and John Probasco, Jr.; Dunlevy & Thompson, consisting of A. H. Dunlevy and Thomas F. Thompson.

Riding the circuit was the uniform custom of the early lawyers, whether they were old in the profession and had an established practice, or were young, briefless, and perhaps penniless, members, in search of business. They traveled on horseback, with their saddle-bags under them, an overcoat and umbrella strapped behind the saddle, and leggings well spattered with mud, tied with strings below the knees. Traveling the circuit became less common in the dec-Page 299 ade between 1830 and 1840, and finally ceased. Subsequent to 1840, it was continued only by the older lawyers, who had established a practice in the different counties of the circuit which made the toilsome journey, which took them away from their homes a considerable portion of the year, a remunerative one. Ferguson's Tavern, in Lebanon, which stood immediately east of the old court house, was a favorite stopping-place of the lawyers in the olden time. Here, in court terms, Jacob Burnet, Nicholas Longworth, Joseph S. Benham and Thomas Morris met Corwin, the Colletts and the Rosses, and the evenings were enlivened with mirth and jollity.

Lawyers' fees were low in the early days of Ohio. A charge of hundreds of dollars for an attorney's services in a single case was rare. A fee of $1,000 was almost unknown. Ejectment suits, which most frequently arose from disputed land boundaries in the Virginia Military District east of the Little Miami, were perhaps the most profitable part of the early lawyers' practice. It may be safely assumed that for twenty-five years after the organization of courts at Lebanon, $750. which was for much of that time the salary of the President Judge, was above rather than below the average annual income of a lawyer in full practice in Warren County. With the growth of population and wealth of the county, the profits of the practice of law increased.

In 1836, Judge George J. Smith was retired from the bench to the ranks of the profession by reason of a change in the political complexion of the Legislature. His salary as President Judge had been but $1,000. The Judge in after years sometimes amused his friends by relating to them the anxiety by which he was oppressed on being deposed from his office, and the concern which he felt lest he should not be able to provide a maintenance for his family by his practice at the bar, from which he had been withdrawn for seven years. His forebodings, however, proved unfounded, as his receipts from his practice during the first year after its resumption exceeded $3,000.

The salary of the Judge of the Court of Common Pleas was fixed, in 1803, at $750; in 1816. at $1,000; in 1837, at $1,200; in 1852, at $1,500; and in 1867, at $2,500.

1. Mrs. Wm. Richey, best collection.
2. Mrs. Wm. Richey, best and most tastefully arranged Floral Stand or design of Cut Flowers, premium, $5.
 Little Harry Stokes, contributed a most beautiful and singularly appearing Cactus which attracted much attention; discretionary premium recommended.

The committee would respectfully remark that the know of no town of it's size that can present a better and greater variety of Green House Plants than Lebanon, which in consequence of the inclemency of the weather, were not brought to the stand. These would have added greatly to the Floral Department.

The committee awarded the premium to the various persons as above arranged in pursuance of the published rules of the association.

Respectfully yours,
Committee

Not much is written in early history about the women of our community, but in the following article we get a glimpse of the many crafts and flowers that were exhibited by them at the fair

A note of interest on the prizes awarded. The average income for these farmers was about $250 per year so these prizes must have been well worth the effort of coming to the Warren County Fair.

Part IV Township Histories
Massie Township by Hon. Thomas M. Wales
(Chicago, IL: W. H. Beers Co, 1882; reprint, Mt. Vernon, IN: Windmill Publications, 1992)

Page 648 This township was formed from parts of Wayne and Washington, on the 10th of October, 1850, By Benjamin Blackburn, Isaac Leming and John M. Snook, the then board of County Commissioners, who described its boundary lines as follows, viz.: "Commencing at the point where the road from Wilmington to Lebanon crosses the Warren and Clinton County line, thence with said road to the line between Paul Vandervert and John Wilkinson; thence north, 80 1/2 degrees west, to the southwest corner of Thomas J. Fryer's 50-acre lot, in the line of Peter Muhlenburgh's west survey; thence on said line to the corner of James Currie's survey; thence north, 80 degrees east to a sugar tree on the bank of Caesars Creek, op-
Page 649 posite to the mouth Flat Fork; thence north, 10 degrees east to the Little Miami River, thence up said river to the Greene County line. Said new township to contain all the territory in Warren County which lies north and east of above-mentioned lines." In this form it continued until June 11, 1851, when the boundaries were changed and made to read as follows: "Commencing at the township line between Massie and Wayne, where it crosses Clement Reed's survey thence running in a northeastern direction on the back line of the river survey, to the corner of Richard Anderson's survey, and thence on the southwest line of said survey to Caesars Creek, thence up said creek to the Clinton County line, and the part taken from Massie township to be attached to Wayne, where it formerly belonged." "On the 1st of December following, another change was made in the boundaries, in accordance with a petition presented in the following words, viz.: "To change the line between the townships of Wayne and Massie, said alteration to begin at the present line on the west side of Caesars Creek, near the mouth of Flat Fork, and run up the said creek to the bend of said creek above Hisey's mill-dam; thence to intersect the present line in the road leading from Waynesville to Harveysburg, for the following reasons: First, it takes us away from where our business is to vote, and in times of high water we cannot cross Caesars Creek. Secondly, it divides our school district, and, thirdly, it requires us to work on the highway where some of us seldom travel, and leaving the road where most of our interest is, almost destitute of labor." After this last-named alteration was made, the boundaries were allowed to remain unchanged. As it now exists, Caesars Creek and the Military survey lines form the division between it and Wayne.

This region is well drained by Caesars Creek, a tributary of the Little Miami River, Flat Fork, Jonah's Run and Turkey Run, tributaries of Caesars Creek, and many smaller streams which empty into these. Caesars Creek runs almost the entire length of the township from northeast to southwest; Flat Fork is in the southwestern part; Jonah's Run near the centre, and Turkey Run in the northern corner.

The first officers of the township were John Blodget, John D. Cleaver and Joshua Canby, Trustees; Jesse Burgess, Clerk; Harvey Glancy, Treasurer. From this time to 1868 the officers can only be given from memory without giving dates of service, as the records of that period were burned in 1871. The Trustees were: Lee Ellis, Albert Crider, Joseph Lukens, Richard W. Jessup, J. D. Cleaver, Wm. Cleaver, J. H. Crew, Wm. Criswell, A. T. Sabin, Robert Wilson, T. M. Wales and J. D. Harvey. Clerks, Israel Taylor, C. Jessup, J. H. Lippincott, Hiram Madden and D. Q. Fox; Treasurer, B. Scroggy.

In 1868, Simon Hadley, Wm. J. Collett and T. M. Wales were Trustees; Hiram Madden, Clerk; and B. Scroggy, Treasurer.
1869. Milton Hadley, Wm. H. Collett, T. M. Wales, Trustees; Hiram Madden, Clerk; Geo. W. Scroggy, Treasurer.
1870. Wm. J. Collett, Milton Hadley, Lee Ellis, Trustees; H. Madden, Clerk; A. T. Lloyd, Treasurer.
1871. Wm. J. Collett, Lee Ellis, Wm. Janney, Trustees; Clerk and Treasurer as above.
1872. Wm. J. Collett, Clark Burgess, T. M. Wales, Trustees; Clerk and Treasurer as above.
1873, Wm. J. Collett, James Ellis, G. W. Grimes, Trustees; Clerk and Treasurer as above.
1874, Wilson Harvey, G. W. Grimes, John Harris, Trustees; I. M. Stout, Clerk; G. W. Scroggy, Treasurer.
1875, G. W. Grimes, John Harris, Wm. J. Collett, Trustees; Clerk and Treasurer as above)
1876, Wilson Harvey, Wm. J. Collett, Wm. H. Cleaver, Trustees; H. Madden, Clerk; Treasurer as above.

Related Links: The Robert Mackay Clan by Michael McKay who writes,
" Robert Mackay Sr. is the pioneer of this family. One of his great-grandsons, Moses McKay, settled in Warren County, Ohio, near Waynesville where his home still stands on New Burlington Rd. There are three other McKay related biographies as well:

- One is on Rhoda (Whitacre) Hollingsworth
- Another is on William J. Collett
- and the third one I'm aware of is on Joseph Hollingsworth. He descends from Hannah McKay & George Hollingsworth. Hannah is a daughter of Robert Mackay Sr. Joseph came up from South Carolina. After Hannah's death, George remarried and removed with all but one of his children to South Carolina. Because of their opposition to slavery many of them left South Carolina, some of whom came to Ohio."

Page 869 JOSHUA. C. McKAY, farmer; P. O. Waynesville; born on the place where he now lives, Jan. 21, 1837; is a son of Jonas T. and Matilda (Ferguson) McKay, natives of Virginia. The paternal grandfather, Moses McKay, was a native of Virginia, and married a Miss Shinn; they emigrated to Ohio in 1818; they came by wagons to Wheeling, Va.; thence by flat-boat to Cincinnati; thence by their wagons to Warren County, and to Wayne Township, and located on the place where Joshua now lives, residing here till their death. They raised a family of twelve children, six sons and six daughters, all of whom came to Ohio, but the eldest son, who remained in Virginia, and lived and died there. When Mr. McKay came to Ohio, he brought twenty or more slaves. with him, who of course were all set free. The maternal grandfather, Samuel Ferguson, was a native of Virginia, and married Mildred Garrison, and emigrated to Greene Co., Ohio, about 1824; he was a soldier in the Revolutionary war, for which services he obtained a land warrant, and drew a pension. The ancestors of both the McKay and Ferguson families, were of Scotch descent. James T. the father of our subject was five years of age when brought to this county, and here grew to manhood under the sturdy influences of pioneer life; was married and became the father of seven children—Emma; Sarah C., now widow Allen; Joshua C.; Harriet E., now Mrs. O'Neall; M Horace; Eusebia, now Mrs. Welch, and Letitia. His wife died June 1, 1855. On May 24, 1864, he married Matilda Brown; by her he has two daughters—Lida and Belle. The second son, M. Horace, was in the war of the rebellion; enlisted in the 79th O. V. I., and served about two and one-half years, until discharged for disability, and has since drawn a pension. Mr. McKay has been actively engaged in business most of his life; he dealt extensively in stock and also in pork, and was in the mercantile trade in Waynesville for a considerable time. Our subject was brought up to the honest occupation of farming; was married Sept 11, 1861, to Victoria, daughter of Henry and Ann (Antrim) Clark, he a native of South Carolina, and she of Virginia. The Clark ancestors were of English.

Page 870 descent, and we trace their genealogy to Henry Clark, born in England in 1715, and he was a son of Jonathan Clark Henry is supposed to have emigrated to America and located in Pennsylvania, where his son John was born and raised to manhood, and married Mary Campbell, and in an early day emigrated with his family to South Carolina, where they lived and died. Their son Henry was about 2 years of age when taken to South Carolina by his parents, and there grew to manhood and married Elizabeth Alexander, who was born in South Carolina, and whose father was killed in the war of the Revolution. After their marriage they resided in that State till 1805, when he with his family emigrated to Ohio and located on the same tract of land where Frank Clark now lives, opening out his farm right from the woods, and here they lived till their death. They had four children, who grew to maturity—Jonathan, Henry, Cornelius and Elizabeth; the latter now Widow Antrim, is the only one now surviving. Henry was born in South Carolina Nov. 14, 1800; hence was about five years of age when he came with his parents to Warren County, and here was raised to manhood, accustomed to the scenes and trials of pioneer life; was married to Ann, daughter of Daniel and Jane Antrim, natives of Virginia, but who came among the early settlers of this county, locating here in 1804. Mr. Clark and wife had four children who grew to maturity—Franklin, Eliza, Hannah and Victoria. Mr. Clark located and remained through life upon the old home place of his father; was a man of firm principles and undoubted integrity; a representative of a type of independence of character, yet kind, social and genial in his nature, and was a citizen highly esteemed in his community, and one in whom the people placed implicit confidence; he served as Township Trustee many years; he raised a very interesting family of one son and three daughters, and their loving family circle remained entire and unbroken for over half a century; when on May 14, 1880 the grim messenger death suddenly and almost without warning snatched in his cold embrace, her who had been his companion and support for fifty-three years; and in less than twelve months, on May 5, 1881, death again visited their family circle in a like sudden manner, and deprived him of his beloved daughter Eliza. This double affliction so sudden and unexpected, was more than his aged and shattered frame could endure, and in just nine days after the death of his daughter his spirit took its flight to that realm where sorrows and death never enter; he died May 17, 1881. But the remaining members of his family, in the midst of these afflictions, have the consolation that theirs was a life well spent, their reward sure, and their lives and good deeds will long be cherished by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. McKay and wife have three children— Henry C., born June 21, 1864; Anna Cora, born Oct. 20, 1868, and Robert C., born June 26,1876. Mr. McKay after his marriage located upon the old home place upon which his grandfather located, and lived, and died and here has resided up to the present time; has a fine farm of 261 acres, with good improvements constituting a pleasant home and residence.

Miami Monthly Meeting from Cane Creek Monthly Meeting in North Carolina, May 10th, 1805. Hannah Beals Hoggatt was the niece of famous Quaker minister, ~~Error! Bookmark not defined.~~, who was the first Quaker Missionary to the Indians of the Northwest Territory in 1775.

His third marriage was to Jane Ridgeway McKay (Hinshaw says she was Jane McCoy) at Waynesville in October 1806 (She died December 1806). For more information about Jane Ridgeway McKay, see The Robert McKay Clan website webmastered by Michael McKay, ~~Error! Bookmark not defined.~~. Andrew McKay was Jane Ridgeway Mckay's first husband.

His fourth marriage was to Mrs. Mary (Cook) Hunt in 1810. Joseph moved his membership to ~~Error! Bookmark not defined.~~ in Clinton County 5th mo. 30 1810 to marry Mary Cook Hunt on 7th mo. 7 day 1810. See website: ~~Error! Bookmark not defined.~~. Also see, Hinshaw's Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy, Vol. I (North Carolina) [Baltimore: The Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1991], pp. 348, 380, 651, 676 and 1041).

Early Friends in the East petitioned the Continental Congress expressing their concerns about slavery on 4th day of the Tenth Month 1783. They expressed their moral objections and fears for the future of the United States if slavery were not dealt with properly (NARA~Seattle, M247, r 57, I 43, p. 337, Papers of the Continental Congress, 1774-1783). Five years later, Friends at the Yearly Meeting held at Wells Meeting in Perquimans County with representatives from North and South Carolina and Georgia again expressed their concern about slavery pointing out that Friends themselves "had yet to cleanse their hands of slave holding". A new committee of 24 Friends was appointed to lead the fight against slavery. One committee member was Joseph Cloud, another was John Beals (probably his second wife's father) (see, The Will of Joseph Cloud is located in the Warren County, Ohio Probate Archives in the county courthouse in Lebanon, Ohio. OCP 13 #15 ~ DE O P.113 ~ 2 SEP 1816. Date Signed: 24 AUG 1813. Residence: Caesars Creek. Exec: Benjamin Butterworth. Heirs: Widow Mary, son Abner, Son Samuel, son Jacob, son Jonathan, son Joseph, son Joel, dau. Abigail, dau. Anne, gr. dau. Lucreta, son Daniel, son Mordecai (Warren Co., Ohio 1803-1859, Will & Estate Records [Cardinal Research, 9500 Creekside Dr., Loveland, Ohio 45140, 1993], p. 22.)

Joseph Cloud ~ Traveling Minister

Traveling minister Joseph Cloud was an influential minister who encouraged Friends in South Carolina and Georgia to leave the south and move to the Northwest Territory and who held meetings for worship in Waynesville during one of his travels in 1800.

"In the summer of 1800, Joseph Cloud, from North Carolina and Jacob Jackson, from Tennessee, ministers, paid a visit to Ohio, held their first meetings at George Harlan's Deerfield; then proceeded to Waynesville and held one or two meeting there, and, lastly one at High Bank. This meeting and that at Deerfield were those alluded to in the memorial of Joseph Cloud on their way to and from Waynesville" (*MEMORANDA: of the early settlement of Friends in the*Northwest Territory. The meeting was set down shortly after his visit. (See, Cane Creek: Mother of Meetings by Bobbie T. Teague [Greensboro, N.C.: North Caroline Yearly Meeting of Friends, 1995], pp. 26, 41 and 94).

"In 1800 Joseph Cloud, a minister of North Carolina who had been among the meeting on 'the western waters', visited South Carolina and Georgia, no doubt in the interest of removal. Borden Stanton wrote them urging them to go west in 1802. A certificate from Wrightsboro Monthly Meeting to Cane Creek Monthly Meeting, N. C., dated June 4, 1803 is the last evidence we have of Georgia Friends. They had departed to the great west" (quoted from Week's Southern Quakers and Slavery, p. 124 in Hinshaw's Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy, Vol. I (North Carolina) [Baltimore: The Genealogical Publishing Co., Inc., 1991], p. 1041).

Joseph Cloud died near Waynesville in Warren County, Ohio July 24th, 1816. It is believed that he is buried in the old Quaker Graveyard in Waynesville, although there is no record of it. The burial is mentioned in Memorials of Deceased Friends Who were Members of Indian Yearly Meeting. (Orthodox) published by Direction of the Yearly Meeting (Cincinnati: E. Morgan & Sons, No. 111 Main Street, 1857), p. 30.

Joseph Cloud was married four times. He was married first to Mary Earl Underwood Cloud (b. 3 mo. 22nd 1743 in Chester Co., Pa. ~ d. 1 mo 10th 1789 in her 46th year, buried in Cane Creek Cemetery) in 1763. They had eleven children: Abner (1764), Samuel (1766), Jacob (1767), Jonathan (1772), Anne (1773), Joseph (1775), Mary (1777), Mordecai (1780), Daniel (1783), Joel (1785), Abigail (1788).

His second marriage was to Mrs. Hannah (Beals) Hoggatt on April 22, 1790. Hannah Cloud, the wife of Joseph and the daughter of John Beals, died on 2 mo. 4th, 1804, aged about 59 years and was buried at ~~Error! Bookmark not defined.~~ on February 6th. She died a little under two years before Joseph and two of his children moved to Miami Monthly Meeting. Joseph Cloud and children Joel and Abigail received on certificate at

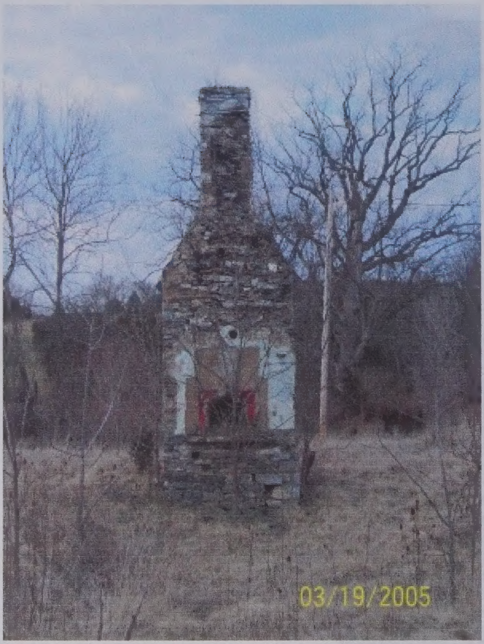
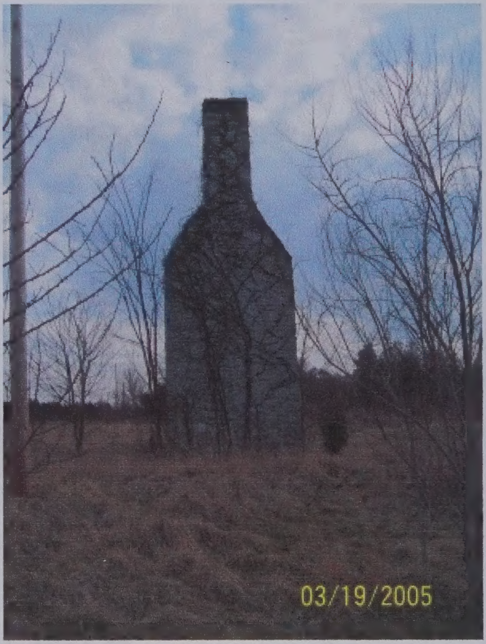
Andrew McKay Home

(Warren Co. VA)



Front of chimney



Back of chimney

Is this all that remains of Andrew McKay's home? This chimney is located near the Robert McKay Jr. Home mentioned on an earlier page in this section. The Andrew McKay home was reported to have burned during the late 1920s with only the chimney remaining standing. I found pieces of charred wood on the chimney but it appears I get some conflicting reports about this particular site.

McKay Home (Library of Virginia)

Could this be the Andrew McKay Home? It is discribed as being the 'McKay Home' yet it differs from the one we know as Robert McKay Jr.'s home. Plus the map location seems to put it in the same location as the photos above were taken.

The Last Will & Testament of Andrew McKay

See Andrew's family record.

This is the last will and testament of one Andrew McKay of Crooked Run Frederick County & State of Virginia.

In primis I give and bequeath unto my wife Jane McKay for and during the time of her natural life the sole use of dwelling house in which I now live together with the yards, gardens, stables, smokehouse and other out houses adjacent thereto. Also half of the orchard and the whole of the field in which it stands which said field shall be used by her for pasture only. Also eight acres of meadow farm of which I hereby direct shall be taken off the tract herein after devised to my son Moses McKay and four acres of that herein after devised to my son Jacob McKay such part to be most contiguous to the said dwelling house at the choice of my said wife. Which said partitions shall be fenced off the respective lots at the proper costs and charges of my said sons Moses & Jacob within a reasonable time after my decease. At the discretion of my said wife also all such firewood off the said lands devised to them as she shall need, they delivering the same in equal proportion at their costs and charges at the said dwelling house. I also give and bequeath unto my said wife all my household furniture of every kind and sort and also all the provision in my house at the time of my decease to her own use and benefit also my horse known by the name of Jack. Provided always and it is my will that these bequests with the rent charges herein after directed to be paid shall be ....by her in full satisfaction of all kinds & classes which she may or claim at Common Law out of all my real and personal estates.

Andrew McKay

I give and devise unto my son Moses McKay all those six hundred and twenty one and a half acres of land more or less separate lying and being upon Crooked Run and it's drains in Frederick County aforesaid (ed. note: this is now part of Warren County). Which said lands are more particularly described in a plate and survey thereof with other lands made by B. Ashby July 20, 1797; which said plate and courses thereof are annexed to this my will and designated therein by No. 2 Middle Division 625 1/2 acres with all houses and buildings thereon erected. To hold the same unto the said Moses McKay his heirs and assigns for ever charged and chargeable nevertheless with the annuity rent charge or yearly sum of Fifteen Pounds Virginia currency wich I do hereby give & bequeath to my wife Jane McKay for and during the time of her natural life payable in four equal quarterly payments of three pounds fifteen shillings each. The first payment thereof to begin and be made three months after my decease with full power to my said wife upon nonpayment thereof fourteen days after the same shall become due to enter upon the said premises & such .....to make thereon as shall be fully adequate to the discharge thereof with all costs thereon & also with the life estate of my said wife in the four acres of meadow part of the said tract herein before bequeathed to her. I also further charge the said lands & premises and my said son Moses McKay his heirs and assigns in respect hereof with payment of the sum of one hundred & fifty pounds which I hereby give and bequeath unto my daughter Margaret wife of Oliver Funsten five years after my decease Provided always nevertheless that if within that time a certain tract of land on Crooked Run in the said County of Frederick purchased of Robert and Thomas Branson should be recovered by John Branson son of Thomas Branson or by any person or persons claiming by from or under him that these the said legacy shall be considered as lapsed and the lands and premises upon which it is charged and my said son Moses in respect thereof discharged therefrom...

Item. I give and devise to my son Jacob McKay all those three hundred and fifty nine acres of land situate, lying and being upon Crooked Run and it's drains adjoining the above mentioned devised to my son Moses which said Lands are more particularly described in the above mentioned place and survey and designated therein by "No 1 upper division 359 acres" with the merchant mill, saw mill and all other buildings thereon erected to hold the same unto the said Jacob McKay his heirs and assigns forever. Subject to the life estate of my wife Jane McKay in such parts thereof as are hereinafter specifically bequeathed her with the annuity, yearly rent charge or sum of Fifteen Pounds Virginia Currency which I hereby give and bequeath to my said wife for the term of her natural life payable in four equal quarterly payments of three pounds fifteen shillings each, the first payment thereof to begin and be made three months after my decease with the power for recovery thereof as in herein before given her in respect to the rent premises hers before devised to my son Moses McKay.

Andrew McKay

Item. I give and devise unto my son Enos Mckay a tract of land on Shenandoah River in the said County of Frederick containing two hundred and forty acres more or less, part and parcel of a larger tract purchased jointly with my brother Jacob McKay. To hold the same unto my said son Enos McKay his heirs and assigns forever. Charged and chargeable nevertheless with the annuity yearly rent charge or sum of Fifteen Pounds Virginia Currency, which I hereby give and bequeath unto my wife Jane McKay for and during the term of natural life, in four equal quarterly payments of three pounds fifteen shillings each. The first thereof to begin and be made three months after my decease with like power for the recovery thereof as is herein before given her in respect of the rent charges issuing out of the premises devised to my sons Moses McKay and Jacob McKay.

Item. I give and devise unto my daughter Patience the wife of Robert Whitacre all those one hundred and ninety nine acres of land 11th In case my bonds and other personality not disposed of by this will are not sufficient to pay all my debts, I desire the deficiency to be paid by John W. and Joseph McKay and S.J. Melton in proportion to the respective amounts they receive by this will, each one selecting one person to fix the value thereof, and in case there is surplus I wish the remainder to be equally divided between the children of my sister Rachel Kenner.

12th I wish and authorize my Executors to procure Tombstones like those at the grave of Joshua A. McKay and put them at the graves of my wife and my own.

13th It is my wish and desire that E.A. McKay and Eliza Haycock should attend to putting up the Tombstones at our graves and the Executors are authorized to pay them $10 each for their attention to same.

If the parties named above who are to pay the legacies to the different legatees are unable to meet them as they mature, it is my wish that a reasonable time shall be allowed to meet them.

And lastly I appoint John W. McKay and W.A. Melton my Executors to this my last will and testament and desire they shall receive $200 each for their services.

Witness my hand and seal this 2nd day of November 1870.

Joseph McKay (seal)

Witnesses:
J.H. McKay
J.E. McKay

This will was probated 21 November 1870 in Warren Co. Va.

The Last Will & Testament of Joseph McKay

See Joseph's family record.

I, Joseph McKay of the County of Warren and State of Virginia being in feeble health but sound in mind and memory make this my last will and testament hereby revoking all wills and testaments heretofore made by me--

1st After all my just debts are paid I will and bequeath to my niece Sarah J. Melton and my nephew Joseph McKay all my landed estate on Crooked Run to be divided between them in the following manner: Beginning at a point on the Front Royal Turnpike 3 panels of fence North of two cedars standing near together a short distance from a mile post, thence West to where a fence crosses a hollow down said hollow to where another hollow makes in, thence North up the middle of said hollow to the top of a hill in line with a new fence now being made on the side of the hill above the old stone house & the limestone spring to a point near the road leading to the Sulphur Spring House opposite a wild cherry tree, down the East side of said road to where it crosses the old fence row on the side of the hill, down said fence row till it reaches a fence near a locust tree, thence North to a walnut on the West bank of the run, down the bank of the run to a point where the hill comes near a creek, thence SW to a point near a spring in a deep hollow in the woods on the opposite bank from the spring, thence due West to Stony hollow, then with the meandering of the hill on the East bank of the stream to John Gardner's line: All the land lying North of this line I will to Sarah J. Melton and all on the South of said line, I will to Joseph McKay.

2nd I further will and bequeath to my nephew John W. McKay my farm near Milldale known as the Allen farm.

3rd To my nephew Thomas B. Kenner, I will my Island Ford Mill property with all the appurtenances thereto belonging and desire him to pay to Hannah Gore 600 dollars, to Benton Kenner's wife $600, to Alexander Kenner's wife $300 and to Rebecca White $300, making in the aggregate $1800. The interest to commence on the above ten years after my death and to be paid in annual installments of one, two and three years from that time. The property willed to the said Thomas B. Kenner is made liable for the payment of the above legacies.

4th I will to Eliza Haycock by request of my late wife Dolly Ann $1,000, to F.A. McKay $400, to Mrs. H.H. Painter $600, amounting in the aggregate to $2,000 all of which I will Joseph McKay shall pay to the parties named in one, two and three years after my death, the first to bear interest from my death, and the land willed above to the said Joseph (John W.) McKay is made liable for the payment of same.

5th To my niece Rebecca Danner, I will the sum of $1400, To John R. Painter $800, To Thomas N. Garrison $800, To Elizabeth Hicks $200, amounting in the aggregate to $3,200, all of which I desire John W. McKay shall pay to the parties named in annual installments of one, two and three years to commence two years after my death and bear interest from that time, and the land willed above to the said John W. McKay is made liable for the payment of the same.

6th I will to Julia and Anne Melton $500 each ($1,000), To Abraham Shulls three daughters by his second wife $600 each ($1,800), to his son Joseph by his third wife $400, and to Sarah J. Buck $200, the above named sums amounting to $3,400 I will and desire S.J. Melton shall pay to the above named parties in one, two and three years, to commence two years after my death and not to bear interest till the expiration of that time. The lands willed to the said S.J. Melton are hereby made liable for the payment of same.

7th By request of my beloved wife Dolly Ann, I will the household and Kitchen furniture in the following manner--To Joseph McKay the chairs, tables and curtains in the parlor, one bed and bedding in addition to the one he has already gotten, one looking glass and the balance of my earthenware, tea and Albatta spoons and one set of knives and forks; To John W. McKay the parlor carpet, one bed and bedding, to his daughter Mollie the China ware, the beds and bedding in the chamber; I will to Hannah Gore the tin safe, the split bottom chairs and $100 in money to be paid by Joseph McKay in the same way as to time and interest as he is ordered to pay the other legacies above. To my wife's niece Dolly, daughter of Abram Shull, the large silver spoons, the balance of my household furniture to be equally divided between John W. $ Joseph McKay. These requests of my wife Dolly Ann are my requests to all intents and purposes.

8th I also will that Joseph McKay shall pay to Eliza Haycock the additional sum of $200, payable in one, two and three years, to commence two years from my decease, but to draw interest from my death.

9th I further will that John W. and Joseph McKay shall pay to Mary Ann Robinson, if she survives her present husband, an annuity of $100, to commence 12 months after her husband's death and the property willed them to be liable for the payments.

10th I will and desire that the graveyard near Nineveh known as the Quaker Graveyard shall be enlarged by extending it 20 feet North and the wall around the old yard torn down and a new and substantial mortar wall ordered around the whole, well capt with large flat stones--use gravel and cement and the whole to be well painted. And I hereby authorize my Executors to have this work done and appropriate a sufficient sum out of my money belonging to my estate for that purpose. The above work to be done within two years after my death.

McKay & Grubb Families

Dee Ann Buck

Frederick Co. VA Chancery Causes, reel #198 has the heirs of Stephen Grubbs division of his property on Crooked Run. Robert S. McKay in his own right (his first wife Virginia Grubbs) and children Wm.F. , Robert P. & Henry C. McKay. The other heir Eleanor who married Wm. D. Barlett. The widow Catherine given her dower portion.

This file as included a map of the tract divided. The statement in one of the documents that Stephen Grubbs had been buried near his dwelling house on his plantation. It looks like his widow Catherine got that portion of the tract.

The document stated that Robert P. McKay died at the age of 21 years. And died without issue with out a will recorded.

Where The Property Is Now ?

Dee Ann Buck

Response to Division of Estate of Stephen Grubb

Continue reading through Frederick Co. VA & Warren Co. VA land deeds.

Check the State of VA listing of Warren Co. VA land deeds to see the years they offer.

I believe the property Wm. F. McKay sold COULD have been the same property he and his brothers received from the Grubbs estate. His two brother died without issue. He sold his portion on 12th Sep 1853 probated 26 Mar 1866 to Thomas B. McKay. "On the land which Wm. F. McKay now residue and adjoins R.S. McKay, Joshua A. McKay & others"

The portion given to W.D. Bartlett has a note that Zion Meeting House is present.

Michael might be able to help you locate this general area.

If you keep posting message on Michael's site I will know what kind of information other are interested in collecting.

At the moment I am abtracting Frederick Co. VA Land Deeds 1800 to 1814. I will try to watch out for Grubbs entries.

Good luck with your research.

Job, Jesse, Moses McKay OH

Posted by: Charlotte Coats

Date: May 19, 2000 at 21:40:14

924 of 2428 Go

I have just discovered my McKay family!! Leah McKay married James H. Dotts in OH, her father was Jesse McKay, his father Job McKay, they were all from VA...connected somehow to the Robert McKay, sen and jr. in VA but not sure how...there were a couple of second marriages in there as well...

my McKay info is at:

http://www.rootsquest.com/~coatsfar/Default.html

I have an 1896 letter written by a cousin from this line on the documents page here as well...

I'm not sure how they're all connected past Job in OH and there is also a Moses McKay in OH or IN and not sure how he's related either as of yet...there is a newspaper article there about him...

This line of McKays including a Jesse and Job are all found in the Quaker Records of Hoepwell MM in VA and New Garden MM of NC...

Hi Lorna...hmmmm, yes, I am related to Leah McKay Dotts m to James H. Dotts...her tombstone and obit I think referes to her as Leah McKay...they are both in the 1850 Census for Clinton County OH...I've got copies of those census records on my web pages...

Leah and James had quite a few children, would it happen to be a Dotts you are looking for?

I've also just found some new info on James H. Dotts family...we blieve that Mary and Dorothy Dotts are related to James also in the Clinton County OH census records...there is a Margaret as well, I think that at least Mary and Dorothy are the children of George Dotts in VA and George was the son of Boston Dotts in VA as well...Margaret may be Boston's daughter...however, she could also be Georges daughter...some think Boston's daughter but her age is very close to Mary and Dorthy's and George had 4 daughter and 1 if not 2 sons...I don't recall the specifics from the census info I found...

Please...It's always nice to meet a new cuz...my weg pages are at:

http://www.rootsquest.com/~coatsfar/Default.html .... you are welcome to any of the documents which you can use...

Charlotte

Many thanks to our cousin Richard Brown for sending us this wonderful letter. The letter was typewritten; obviously transcribed from the original. It is possible that a word or two was mis-read. If anyone has access to the original letter, please let me know.

There is no end to the generosity of our cousins. The following letter was submitted by JoDell Koelling Steuver, daughter of Nixie Beason Koelling and ggggggrand-daughter of Charity Beeson. This letter is the response to the above letter from Charity and was published in THE GRUBB FAMILY by Gilbert Cope, 1893. Thank you JoDell for sending this along.

A Letter From Phebe Grubb Hadley to her sister, Charity Grubb Beeson

"Ye 9th of ye 9th mo; 1758;
West Bradford, Chester County

Loving Brother and Sister;

I received Your Letter this day, Dated ye 5th Month 1758, in which I had Great statisfaction to hear of You, Except that Impediment and Stopage in my Sister's Breath and my Brother's Weakness for which I am Ready to Sympathise With, Still hoping that Light, the Grace of God, may be your instructor Until it may Please Him to Call us Unto Himself Which is my Desire Both for you and myself, it Gives me Great Satisfaction to hear of your Keeping to meeting knowing by Experience the Benefit of Waiting Upon the Lord of help in this time of trouble. I have at this time no Child at home But I Acknowledge for myself on the Behalf of my children the Love My cousins has Remembered to us. The Present you have sent to me I Acknowledge and hope to keep as a Sure token of friendship. My desire is that you may be Still kept from the Merciless hand of the Enemy [Indians] and Above the fear of them by trusting in the god of all strength. We have frequently heard of their doing Mischief in the Province.

According to Your desire I shall Let our Relations Know the Contents of your Letter as soon as Possible; the time being so short I have not as yet had no Opportunity But I shall be Carefull. Brother John Grubb is Certainly Deceased this Life he Died with the Gravel and Was decently Buried at Chichester in Friends Buring Ground, the Corps Accompanied by Brothers Emanuel, Samuel, Nathaniel and my self, With a great Company of Others. Please to Remember my Love to My Children and Grand Children by My Late husband and to William Cox and his Wife Rachel Wright, With all Other Enquiring friend. Do no Neglect Writing to me as often as Possible and the Circumstance of Your Affairs and Condition if you

However, it is quite probable that there were at least ten, perhaps more. The Beason's drove seven or eight wagons. How many were driven by the Endicotts is not known. We do know that several Endicott families ended up at the new location.

Six of Nathan's children had married during their 17 years residence at Williamsport. Joseph had married Polly Sarah Endicott in 1832; Robert married Rachel Landon in 1841; Sophire married Leonard Doss Brown in 1842; Nellie married (name of husband not known); Eaph married Katherine Kochel in 1843; and Dinah married a Mr. Ganaway in 1845.

There were 33 members of the Beason clan (men, women and children) in the wagon train when it started for Missouri. One more was born along the way.

Traveling was slow and rugged. There were many hardships. There was some sickness, but there were no deaths before the journey's end. Rivers had to be forded, and occasionally the trail had to be opened. A few head of livestock were lost, and wagons had to be repaired. There were a few accidents, but nothing serious. Nevertheless, the traveling and the new sights were interesting, and there was enjoyment. Food along the way was abundant for both man and beast-grass, fruit, wild game. In general, their trail followed the rivers where food and water supply were plentiful. The oxen traveled slowly over the raw and rough trail. The livestock grazed as they traveled. Eight or ten miles made a fair day's travel for the caravan. Evenings were not without their entertainment. Frequently, the violin, banjo and Jew's-harp furnished orchestra music for singing and for dancing games.

Their trail covered between 600 and 700 miles. It ended at Stockton, Cedar County, Missouri. All settled in that vicinity, and most of them remained there until after the deaths of Nathan and his wife Sarah. Sarah died in 1851, and Nathan died a year or two later. After Sarah's death, Nathan and his two children, Margaret and James, moved in with Joseph and his family on the "Doctor Cox Farm". Both Nathan and Margaret died there. Margaret died in 1853. James stayed on and farmed with Joseph.

About this time, members of the Beason clan began to scatter. Most of them moved north and settled in the locality of Hamburg, Iowa and Nebraska City, Nebraska. A few, at least Joseph, Eaph and Nathan with their families remained until the Civil War was in progress.

A Brief Biography of Nathan Beason

The following text was shared by Cousin Dave.

(E) NATHAN BEASON, sixth child of (D) Thomas Beason who was the eighth child of (C) William Beason who was the seventh child of (B) Richard Beason who was the second child of (A) Edward Beason who migrated from Lancaster, England to America in 1682, was born in a log cabin, the home of his parents, in North Carolina December 22, 1787, 105 years after his great-great-grandfather (A) Edward Beason had settled in the village of Irishtown, New Castle County, Delaware. Nathan and his brother William were twins. At the time of their births, they had two older brothers and two sisters; (D1) Margaret 9, (D2) Joseph 7, (D3) lsaac 5, (D4) Abetha, (D7) Thomas was born here in 1790.

When Nathan was about 7 or 8 years old, his family, along with several others, moved to Ohio Territory and settled on the Miami River in the locality of what is now Dayton, Ohio. While living there, a baby girl was born to the family. (D8) Mary was born November 26, 1796. Within a couple of years after that, the family moved about 25 or 30 miles to the east and settled on Caesar Creek south of Xenia, Ohio. Another brother, (D9) Amasa was born there in 1798 and the last child of the family, (D10) Elizabeth, was born there November 5, 1800.

All the children grew to maturity on the Caesar Creek farm; and all married in that community. (D4) Abetha was first to leave the home. She married Samuel Bone November 8, 1803. Theirs was the tenth wedding in Greene County, Ohio. (D2) Joseph married Samuel's sister Susan Bone April 13, 1805. (D3) lsaac married Jane Sanders on Christmas day the following year. The next marriage took place when (D5) William married Mary Stansbury February 28, 1811.

(E) Nathan Beason married Sarah Turner at Xenia, Ohio December 10, 1812. They were married by Justice of the Peace Isaac Gird. Sarah was eighteen. Nathan's brother Thomas married Sarah's sister, Kisen Turner, August 11, 1814; and Nathan's sister Elizabeth married Sarah's brother, Henry Turner, July 26, l819. (D8) Mary married Henry Bone, younger brother of Samuel and Susanna Bone in 1820. The last wedding in the family was a double wedding on December 15, l821. (D1) Margaret married Malon Seward, and (D9) Amasa married Margaret Price.

As was customary in this frontier settlement, each pair of newly weds set up housekeeping in a new log house on their own land. When the wedding date was announced, brothers, cousins, uncles, neighbors, all gathered to cut the trees into logs and to build the house, The women helped too, cooking, interior finishings and furnishings, food supplies, etc. Such preparations were made for Nathan and Sarah. The log house was built on a parcel of land that Nathan had purchased on Caesar Creek near his father's farm. Nathan and Sarah lived in this house for 17 years; and eight of their children were born here: (E1) Joseph in 1814, (E2) Robert 1816, (E3) Sophire 1817, (E4) Nellie 1819, (E5) Ephraim l823, (E6) Dinah 1825 (E7) Nathan 1827, (E8) Sarah (Sally) 1829. (E) Nathan's wife Sarah was born in Tennessee in 1794.

Nathan added more land to the farm. While some territorial and early state records are missing, we do find that Nathan bought 70 acres of land "adjoining other land that he owned on the waters of Caesar Creek" from Mr. Murphy for $180.00 in 1823. This transaction was recorded in l824. The records also show that in 1824 he "sold 70 acres of land to his brother-in-law, Samuel Bone." He "purchased a parcel of land in Greene County on the waters of Caesar Creek" from Richard Anderson for $156.00 in 1823. He sold 4.0 acres to someone whose name is not legible. He sold another piece of land to Ambrose Beason and still other land to his brother, Thomas Beason.

Nathan left Ohio in 1829 and traveled north-west nearly all the way across the state of Indiana. He settled near the little town of Williamsport, Indiana near the western boundary line of the state. Williamsport was destined to be the hometown of the Beason family for the next 17 years. (E9) Mace was born there in 1830, (E10) Margaret in 1835, and (E11) James in 1837. Here, as in Ohio, the files of early records are incomplete. However, there are a few records of land transactions that have to do with the Beason's. Nathan bought a "plot of land (No.66)" May 12, 1834. in Rainsville, Warren County, Indiana from Isaac and Sarah Rains for $10.00. Rainsville is about 11 miles north of Williamsport and was founded in the year 1833. On February 22, 1835, Nathan sold this plot #66 to Michael Creekpaum for $1200.00. He also sold the NW 1/4 of the NE 1/4 of section 35, township 23, range 8 to Creekpaum and P. Davis for $300.00. These transactions were witnessed by Jesse Endicott. Other members of the Beason family grew to maturity and purchased land also. By the spring of 1846, the Beasons had disposed of all their land and decided to move to Missouri.

The depression had reached Missouri "by the time that state was admitted to the union August 10, 1821. Both the Bank of St. Louis and the Bank of Missouri failed. The barter system was coming into use. There was still trouble with the Indians. However, with the introduction of steamboat traffic on the Missouri River and the overland trade with Mexico, prosperity gradually returned and treaties with the various Indian tribes reduced fear. In 1836, the Indians relinquished their title to the Platte Country. This included land along the Missouri River from Platte County, Missouri to the Iowa state line. The Mormons were driven out by the Missourians in 1838. Other immigrants came. The spotlight was on Missouri. It was a frontier state, wild life, vegetation, fertile soil, open to settlement.

It seems that the (E) Nathan Beason family and the Jesse Endicott family had been friends through the years. Jesse Endicott married Sarah Lowe at Xenia, Ohio in 1811. Earliest record of Nathan's residence at Williamsport lists the name of Jesse Endicott, also the census record of 1830. They witnessed business documents for each other; Nathan's son Joseph and Jesse's daughter Polly married at Williamsport in 1832; and now the two families or clans traveled together to settle in Missouri. They traveled in covered wagons drawn by oxen. They took along household belongings, farm tools and equipment, livestock, cattle, hogs, chickens, horses. It is not known how many wagons traveled in this caravan.

Many thanks to both Lester Merklin, the great-grandson of this wonderful woman, and to Jean Suman for their donation of this story. It is my great pleasure to feature it on my Beeson/Beason Family site and hope that it will be appreciated and enjoyed by all who venture across this page.

him and if he were dead. Four men Mr. Gambel (Mrs. Browns hired man) Allan Beeson, Mr. Gregg and Mr. Pulley carried my father to a wagon and brought him to our house. There they laid him out. On Sunday he was buried three miles from where we lived, close to O'lathey. My father had helped to bury this widows little boy just the Sunday before and little did we dream then that he would be buried in the same graveyard the next Sunday. After the funeral three men went home with us and advised mother to move to Wyandott. They advised Mrs. Brown and the widow lady to go too. So both families moved to Wyandott.

We were glad to have Mrs. Brown and the widow lady in the same town for we knew no one in Wyandott. We had to carry water nearly half a mile up a very steep hill. When there was snow on the ground we would melt that instead of carring water. I was fourteen in December and my father was killed in the October before that He was killed in 1862. During the time we were at Wayandott Mr. Allan Beeson came in and brought us a load of corn, a jug of milk and one half gallen of cream. Mrs. Cole was staying with us at the time and went home with Allen Beeson to work with him. She worked there until her husband came home from the army, some twelve or fourteen months.

While in Sahwneetown we became acquainted with a family by the name of Styles. It was proved later that Mrs. Styles was a Union Spy. The same night that they killed my father they killed him. The bushwackers are who killed them both were members of Quantrill's band. There were about five hundred of them. After Mr. Style's death the Union soldiers moved Mrs. Styles to Leavenworth, Kansas. My mother made a trip to Leavenworth, Kansas and there left the papers for my father's work shoeing hores for the government with Mrs. Styles to settle the amount but we never heard anything more from them. My Mother wrote once about it but we never heard anything more from them or Mrs. Styles.

A few months before mother went to Leavensworth to transact business we moved out to the Sharp place which Allan Beeson rented. Allan Beeson took mother to Leavensworth and when they returned Mr. Beeson handed me a certificate which told me that he and my mother were married. Mr. Beeson had two sons at home, Jess and Elwood and two in the army Oliver and Lewis. Jess had been paroled from the army and had just lost his wife with smallpox, and had come to share a home with his father. Jess went back into the army and stayed there until the end of the war. He was a message carrier from Fort Scott to Fort Smith. He had a beautiful horse and this was shot and fell under him. His thumb was shot off and the first joint of this first three fingers. His hip shot through by the same bullet that killed the horse. He pulled his feet out from under the horse and crawled to a stream near by hiding under the trunk of a tree staying there all day until dark. He tied up his hand and hip with a hankerchief and crawled fifteen miles to the nearest house where he was received aid. The man of the house gave hime something to eat and took him on the Fort Scott where he was put in the hospital. He was there three or four months. This was in the spring and he came home that fall.

Mr. Lewis Beeson and his brother Oliver came home about the same time. Shortly Lewis came home weighing ninety pounds when he ordinarily weighed two hundred and thirty pounds. This difference was caused by chronic diarrhea. They hadn't been home but a few days when we heard that Price's army was coming. Mr. Beeson and the three boys got horses and rode for Fort Scott. They had onlly been gone an hour when the soldiers came. The couldn't ride fast on account of Lewis' condition. One rode on each side of him so he wouldn't fall. There was many others going to Fort Scott. When they came through our place like they did in many others, they killed the hogs, and took everything we had to eat. I was sick and we were without food till the next day.

They had a battle within a quarter of a mile of our house and the roar of the cannon was deafening. There was a string of horses about a half a mile long. Each man held about eight horses each. They resorted to sabers before the battle was over. This was on the Osage River. There were about sixty thousand men engaged. The Union men were victorious. It was here that Marmaduke was captured, and at this time (before they went to battle). They first fought with sabers on their horses then they dropped their sabers and dismounted using their guns. In passing through Price's army destroyed, burned and killed. (Old man Woodall sick and old, between seventy and seventy five years old) was chased by Price's men while he was riding hoseback,,,,,,,shot and killed. Mr. Stevens another of our neighbors was shot and killed without provocation. His body fell against the store door. Then they set fire to the building and burnt him. A man about a mile from Ft. Lincoln whose name was Campbell rode out on his horse and told the confederates he was a sympathizer and he would let them have his horse. So he did. Then they told him some of them were without coats and they wanted his coat. Tlhey got that. Then they asked for his trousers and got them. They also took his boots. He was left in his socks and underwear to walk home two or three miles in the drizzling rain.

Another man seventy-eight years old was met by some of Price's men at his own door and asked for money. He told them he had no money for them. Then he secretly nodded his head to his daughter that he was going to the woods. They soon followed him and later he was found lying across a path with a bullet hole in his head and it looked as if his eyes had been gouged out with sticks. They brought him to the house and he died that night. He was a close neighbor of ours.

My stepfather told my brothers to take some of our choice stock and go down and hide them in the woods. There were three horses and a yolk of oxen. The boys hid them in the brush and when they saw them coming they dropped their guns and ran. The rebels broke their guns and took the stock. They butchered about ten head of hogs, all we had. They took all our bedding burned our hay and fed all our corn. They destroyed our bees and took our honey. They took all the mens new clothing and ours too so that none of us had a change.

The boys got home the next day about sundown we were so happy to see them for we had mourned them as dead. We all cried when they came in we were so glad. We had an Uncle that had disappeared and we did not know where he was. He came back after about three days. When he got to the place where he had lived a year of more he didn't know where he was and asked what place it was. I told him it was Allan Beeson's place. He had almost lost his mind. I was sixteen years at this time.

Acknowlegements:

Part 3

Within two days we moved to Shawneetown. We took just what we could in two wagons. A little later on in the fall when the weather was getting chilly father went back to the place to see how things were and get some beans that we had left when he heard er thought he heard a horse's hoofs beating. He ran out of the house and jumped on a horse and started out fer town as hard as he could go. They chased him fer four miles. But father out distanced them and when it came to where the roads turned they happened to take the other road and that is all that saved father that time. Some week or so after this the horse that father rode was stolen from our barn in town. We believe it was either the same outlaws or some of their gang that stole it. A couple of months later they stole our team and hack.

While we were living at Shawneetown we children had measles very bad and nearly lost my youngest brother, Alfred. Mother was up with us and she stepped out on the back porch. She thought she heard somebody sigh. She looked and she saw a woman sitting down by the side of the house. It look like she was all bundled up Mother called to her. "Mrs. McFarland what are you doing there?" When she got in she told Mother that Mr. McFarland had come home drunk and took the baby and was pounding it and she jerked it from him and made for the door and just as she reached the door he struck her over the head and back with a chair. As a result of this attack Mrs. McFarland was confined to her bed fer weeks. The two boys, one thirteen and the other eleven practically kept the family by their efforts in helping neighbors do chores. The husband used all he could get his hands on fer drink. What a blessing is prohibien!

While we were at the same home one of our friends, Abelitien Brown, was called into a hotel by Mr. Holms, the prorieter, at the request of a Jim Neuning, a slavery man, who was playing cards with a lot of other men at the table. As Brown entered the door Neuning shot him dead without a word of warning, because he was a abolitienist. He left a family ten miles out in the country and when he failed to come home that night which was unusual the next day his wife sent a man to see what the trouble was. When he got there he found out that Mr. Brown had been killed. He returned and told her. Mrs. Brown was the Mother of twins six months old. Immediately she got ready to go to town. She took his good suit, shirt, etc. but when she reached Shawneetown she found the arrangements were all made and that Mr. Brown was already in his casket. She laid his clothes down but when she went to get them no one could find them. We went out in the hack (before it was taken) and brought Mrs. Brown and the children in and they stayed with us a week or so.

The same fall that Mr. Brown was killed Harvey Beeson, my husband's second cousin rented Mrs. Brown's place and my father bought the crop. The next summer my father rented Jerry King's blacksmith shop and shod horses for the gobernment. He made five or six hundred dollars but hadn't received the money yet. The last of August we moved out of the Brown place as my father had bought the crop. We stayed with Mrs. Brown until Mr. Harvey Beesens could get moved away from the renters house. He was going to Iowa. It was here that we became acquainted with Mr. Allen Beesen, and uncle of Harvey Beeson and later my stepfather and father-in-law. For several days father worked cutting down sugar cane. He worked until noon one day and then went to town. When he got back the little boys, my brothers and Mrs. Cole's little boy who was living with us again, had gone to the spring fer water. There they saw three campers. One man was drinking and cursed them. Father told Mother he thought he had seen a couple of spies as he was coming home. he told mother he was offered one hundred and twenty five dollars for the horse he was riding. As father was talking to mother the boys came up from the spring and told father that one of the men cursed them, and had asked if they could get corn, hay and seed there. Father went down and came back with them and helped them get the corn and hay and weed then he helped carry the things down to the spring for them, "They talked ther until ten o'clock then father came carring several big apples which these men have given him. Father went straight to bed when he came home.

About twelve o'clock the bush whackers came. There was said to be about five hundred of them. They surrounded the house and kicked and yelled like wild Indians. They had probally followed him from the spring up and had listened to him talking to the men at the spring. They entered the house and the leader said to my father, "You are my prisener". Father said, "let me get my hat and coat". The man said, "You don't need any". Father put on his shoes and started off with them. Mother my sister and myself followed two or three hundred yards when one of the men said, "You women better go back". Father said, "Mother you's better go back, I don't think Billie will hurt me and if he does you couldn't do me any good". So we went back to the house then I said to my sister lets go to the spring, for we saw a fire burning. She was crying and didn't want to go. I went by myself, I and the dog. As I got near the spring I could see that a lot of the stuff from the wagons had been thrown on the ground. I picked up four or five boxes of matches and threw them in a candy bucket and as I did so I looked in front of me and about five feet there laid a man dead. He had been shot four or five times. He was one of the men who had ask my father for corn, hay and weed. there were three of them, one a southerner, one a boy of seventeen and the other the dead man.

The southerner left when the bushwackers came and came back after they had left and took the wagons on. The bushwackers yanked the seventeen year old boy out of the wagon by the hair of his head and then told him to run. As he did so they shot him but did not kill him. He fell within twenty or thirty yards of a house where a widow and her children were living. She got up and gave her bed to him. I ran back to our house. I was so scared I don't know how I got there. I ran right on to Mrs. Browns after telling the folks what I had seen and told Mrs. Brown about it. During the day the took the boy to O'Lathey and he died that A.M. Just as I entered Mrs. Browns door I heard a shot fired and I said, "Oh they have killed my father". Later we found that he had been shot just at this time.

We slept no more that night. Mother spent the night weeping. Just six weeks later my little brother Charley was born. Early the next morning I ran to the widows house to see if she were dead or alive. Then I ran on down the main traveled road and found my father lying dead on the ground. about one half mile from the widow ladys house. His right hand lay across his heart and his left hand hung at his side. I put my hand on his and found it icy cold.

Just then Mrs. Brown's hired man rode up from the same direction the bushwhackers would have gone and asked me many questions. We always believed he knew these bushwhackers were coming and was perhaps with them. He soon saw my mother coming and told me I had better keep her from coming any farther so I met her and told her not to go farther. She turned and walked back to the house with me. She asked me if I had seen for the use of the grinding stone. We were relieved when they ask to grind their knives, but almost immediatedly the thought came that they were sharpening their knives to kill us. Then the burden rolled away.

About this time the people who lived down the draw from us moved away, Harris included. Their farms were taken by some people from Kentucky, and among these people was a lady who taught school. She lived about a mile from us and she taught school in one of her rooms. I was eleven years old. We only had four months of school a year. During this first school year an Indian came to our home. He wore a breach clout and carried a tomahawk. The dog tried to bite him and we tried to keep the dog off, while the Indian brandished his tomahawk at the dog and we thought if he killed the dog he would kill us next. He had a paper in his hand and wanted mother to read it but she was afraid and wouldn't go near the Indian. She pointed below the house to where there was a man camped. He went to the wagon and then acted as if he were coming back several times but finally walked off.. We heard afterwards that he was a friendly Indian and just wanted something to eat.

Shortly after this I went to stay with a half breed Indian for company for six weeks but most of the time was put in working at hard work. I had to wash, iron, scrub, churn, work butter and take care of kids. While there I got a fright. Her husband went to the city and brought home a brand new clock and and lounge. The next morning I had to get breakfast all by myself and the hired man came in and asked me if I were frightened and I said "Yes". I heard him say to the man of the house "I'll get the ax and cut it all to pieces" speaking of the couch, and "I'll slam the clock on the floor". Neither one came out till nearly noon and the dinner was on the table then the man came out and ate with the hired man and went to the woods. After that she came out, but I being only twelve years old was so frightened and worried over such carrying on that I could not eat. Father said when I went home that he wouldn't have had me stay fer anything if he had known how things were.

That summer I went to school four months. That summer another Indian made his appearance. We children were sitting on the front porch when he stepped up. We ran in the house and crawled under the bed but when we found he just wanted something to eat we came out. On our way to school we had to ride across a stream where we often saw a large snake. When the snake heard the horse hoofs in the water she would come to the edge of the water and the little ones would run in her mouth until she was many times larger around.

This same fall mother and father went to visit an acquaintance that lived about ten miles away and didn't get home until after dark. About dusk the wolves began to howl. We would go to the door to see if anyone was coming and then immediatedly lock the door again. We were tickled children when we heard them coming. The next summer we went to visit a neighbor, Mrs. Dunham, a widow, living a mile away and just got home before the hail began to fall. It came down so large that a lot of them wouldn't go into a pint cup. It knocked some of the cows down. The cattle ran and tore around. This same summer two of my father's half brothers came out from Illinois on their way to Pike's Peak in a covered wagon, looking for a gold mine. On the way one Uncle sickened with Typhoid fever. Two of the men went to the peak leaving my other uncle to stay and doctor the sick one. He turned around and brought the sick uncle back to our house. The Great uncle who had come to see us in Illinois was at our house at this time and he being a doctor cared for my sick uncle when he arrived. A few days after they reached home we had another storm. It was a small cyclone, and threatened to blow the house down. It twisted the smoke house half way around. After the storm we found the dog and some chickens under the house. The house had to be raised to let the dog out and a knot hole in the floor let a little sunlight under the house encouraging the rooster to crow or we perhaps would never have known the chickens were there.

My great uncle scouting around discovered a lovely strawberry patch within the hundred and sixty acres and asked we girls if we didn't want to go and help him pick berries. We went and came back with a couple of water buckets full of wild strawberries. We did this many times. There was a Mrs. White living with us. She was a widow woman, and went to work for a neighbor by the name of Mocaby who had freed his slaves. She later married a man by the name of Cole who was striker for my father in the blacksmith shop. My father started to build a house for them on our place but never completed it for they got frightened and moved to town. We raised a splended garden that summer--lots of beans, cucumbers, watermelons, potatoes, etc. We cut wild grass for hayand could sell all we could take to Kansas City to be used in the livery barns. Three or four men came out to cut grass fer father had told them they could have all they wanted to cut. Two of the men went to town with a load of hay and on the way bck two men coming the same way tried to crowd them into a fence so that the hubs of the wagon would catch on the poles of the worn fence. One of the men got out to pull the wagon away from the fence and they shot him with buck shot. The other man brought him on to our house and we sent for the doctor. When the doctor came he said he would have to take him to Kansas City. He took some of the shot our of him before he left and when he was taken in the next day the doctor tried to get the rest of it but the man died about Christmas time. He was about thirty.

We lived on the border between Missouri and Kansas all this time, in E. Johnson Co., Kansas. The next summer 1861 twenty men came to the house talking like Mexicans, and father thought they were Mexican until he saw their faces. They came in with their revolvers cocked. They demanded his arms and ammunition if he had any. He pointed to his shotgun on the wall and said that was all the guns he had. They said they had been informed that he had a lot. They went to the dresser and bureau drawers and pulled the contents out spitting tobacco juice on them. A man stood with a revolver in each hand pointing to my father and told him to stand perfectly still while the other ramsacked the house. They then called my father who was in his night clothes to the door and I instientively stepped in front of him and told him I would hold the light. Mother always said it was this act of mine that saved father from being killed that night. As soon as they left father put on his shoes and crept up the slough where these fellows had camped and heard them talking. He found out their leaders name was Dick Yager. They told father before they left that he couldn't live there any longer. They said, "If your sympathy is with the South you can't stay and if it is with the North you can't". Before leaving they took all our jewelry and money.

Soon after this we heard a shot ring out and a man on horseback came running up and made his horse jump the fence and ran on down through the garden and down the draw, through the brush and across the stream to the Indian Mission three miles away. The man who was with him was killed as he crossed a bridge. They were opposed to anyone opposed to slavery. Out to kill and get what they could. About this time another man came to the house and spent the biggest part of the day talking with my father. His name was Jim Neuning. His claim joined by father's. He stood for slavery and we think he was trying to get him to join the slavery forces. Shortly after this the Union soldiers came and camped within a short distance of the house. My father was arrested and taken to their camp where he was interregated to find out what he stood fer. He was released the next morning.

name was Mary Watson. Seven children were born to my mother and father. After my mothers second marriage two more were born-two boys. I had two sisters and four brothers.Hariet Ellsie Warfield, John S. Warfield, Lemual, Alice Ellen, Alfred, Charley were my full brothers, and sisters.

When I was five years old the railroad gave father three acres of land in Gerared, Illinoios if he would build a blacksmith shop and a house on it. He was a blacksmith by trade and built tha house and shop. Mother was a teacher when married and had tought two terms or three. She had graduated from the academy at Jackensville. Father had worked at blacksmithing for three or foour years. He then had a hemorhage of the lungs and the doctor advised him to go to Kentucky for his health. He had not been gone but three weeks when my uncle, His brother Ben came to our house. He said he had come home ro die. He was just there one day before he died. He was about twenty-eight years old. He was buried by the Masens. He was unmarried. It made us all sad and sick for we all loved him. We wrote to father to tell him of my uncle's arrival then we wrote again immediately after his death but the letter did not reach him for he had left Kentucky for Kansas. While he was in Kansas mother wrote him that dear little brother Lem, only two years old, had died. He then came on to Illinois. Little brother was buried two days before father reached home. Dear Grandmother Jones was with us. We all wept to see him put under the sod. The wind whistled, and moaned. We children went into the parlor and lay on the carpet and cried. Mother and Grandma set dinner on the table but we couldn't eat it.

Dear Father came home. How glad we were to have him with us again. He was so sad. He cried and kissed us all. Dear Mother could hardly talk and tell him of the sorrow she had born without him. He was home with us for a few weeks then he went back to Kansas again. He took a homestead and wrote and told mother to get ready and he would get a home ready for us and write us when to come, and we children talked of nothing else but going to Kansas, but when we thought of leaving dear grandmother and Uncle Charley and Aunt Sarah behind we would feel sad and unhappy. Grandma and Mother were busy sewing getting us ready to go when father wrote us to come but it was several weeks before we got off. In the meantime Mother's aunt and her husband and two sons came by from Pennsylvania to see us. This made us very happy. They brought us many little presents and candy and nuts. Mother said some things but most of the furniture was shipped. At last the time came for us to go to father away off in Kansas. How far away that seemed! We felt like we would never get to come back to dear friends and relatives. A great many came to tell us goodby. Grandma hugged us and cried and cried and we never saw her again. In a few short years she died. She had intended to come to us.

When we got on the train we left for St. Louis. There we took the boat, the Admiral for Kansas City. We were on the boat because the river was so low and the boat was stuck sevrl times. I was so anxious to see father and the new home. Soon we came to St. Joseph, Missouri where we got off the boat and visited the penitentary. What impressed me the most was seeing two women there. One was in for the fouth time one for stealing and the other for killing her husband. While on the boat one day at dinner I discovered a good looking cake and asked the steward if I could have a piece of it. The steward replied, "That is not sweet cake it is corn pone." I still thought I wanted it for it looked as good but when my wish was gratified I nibbled a few small bites and left the rest. Then he laughed at me for I wouldn't eat my cake and he saw my embarrasment.

A few days after arriving we found father. We stopped at the Harris Hotel. About the fourth day a darkey came in and said he had seen Mr. Wafield passing down the street with a suitcase in his hand. He was on his way to the wharf. Mr. Harris the proprieter, told the darkey to overtake him and tell him his family was there. He came back with the darkey and found us at the hotel. I was taken sick at the hotel with pluerisy and we were compelled to stay there three weeks. When I got well we went out in the country to a Mr. Carr's and we boarded there for three months. For father had sold the homestead. When we went in the house the master and the mistress were not home and here came the darkeys, old, little, big and young which frightened we children terribly. We drew back and my little sister cried.

There was a house and a blacksmith shop just across the road from Mr. Carr's which my father rented for a year at the end of that time father met a young fellow who lived about two miles from us and wanted to sell his claim. He told father he could have it for seventy-five dollars. He paid him the seventy-five and when he went to the place the next morning he found a man by the name of Harris in possission who told him that he had jumped the claim. My father carried it to court and father won the case. It was tried twice and both times my father won. About five or six months later father Met Harris in town and Harris told him if, he, father, would pay him $500 and get his wife a new dress he would drop the case, and would not bother him any more.

A short time before this Harris came to our home late in the evening acting like he was drunk. A Mr. McCauley and a Mr. Brown called that evening to get sickles groun and stayed for supper. Mr. Harris also stayed. After supper father played the violin for them for he was an expert violinist. Mr. McCauley and Mr. Brown left but Mr. Harris stayed on. Three of us children were asleep in the trundle bed in the front room. There was a box stove in the room and as father stooped over to pick up some wood to make kindling, Harris grabbed his whiskers from behind and grabbed a sad iron from the stove throwing it at him, but it missed his head and almost hit we children striking against the casing of the door. Father came down straddle of him grappled with him. Harris made a desperate effort to get a dagger from his pocket but failed. Harris was willing to quit so father let him up and he wanted to go home but father was too wise fer he knew he probalbly would bring a crowd and kill father so father kept him all night. Father bathed his face and bruses and made him go to bed. Then he told my father he had come to cut his heart out but that father was too much for him. At this time I was about ten years old.

The house on the claim when father bought it was not fit for occupancy so father built another. He put the framework up and then he returned to where we were living to stay all night. While he was away some one took the framework down and hauled it away. Father went to Kansas City and got more lumber to rebuild. He had the framework up and two sides of the house and part of another, the third side being enclosed with quilts when three or four Mexicans with large bread knifes appeared. We were all frightened for we feared they had come to kill us. Earlier in the day a Mexican called at the house and wanted to come in and get warm but Mother shook her head and pointed down the road to where smoke was coming out of a little shack on the claim. He went down and got warm but we were afraid that Mother had offended him and he told the other four Mexicans and that they were coming to kill us. We were relieved when they ask to grind their knives. They came up to the door and thanked us

Autobiography of Mary F. Beeson

Overview and Part 1

Mary Francis (Warfield) Beeson was born Dec. 14, 1848 in Jacksonville, Macoupin, Illinois. Her parents were Mary Jane Jones and James Lot Warfield. This is the story of the first 16 years of her life. Her father James Warfield was killed by Quantrill's raiders October 17, 1862. She tells of her early family life, death of family members, their trip from Illinois to St. Louis, Mo. by train. They came the rest of the way to Kansas City, Mo on the boat, Admiral.

Part 2

Her father bought a claim on the border of Kansas and Missouri in East Johnson Co., Kansas. She tells about her uncles coming through on a trip to Pikes Peak to find gold, describes a cyclone, and hail storm. She covers the problems with a claim jumper, and an occasional Indian, going to school for four months of the year, the pro-slavery and anti-slavery forces in the area.

Part 3

The family moved to old Shawneetown. There several families are mentioned in the area and stories about them. A lot of violence took place. The bushwackers came and James Warfield and others were killed.

Part 4

After Warfield's death, the family and several other friends moved to Wyandotte Co. Mary Warfield, James' widow, later married Allen Beeson. Mary Frances tells about the battle on the Osage River and their experiences with the soldiers. The story ends when she is sixteen. She later married Lewis Beeson, Allen Beeson's son.

Footnote from Jean Suman
This story was sent to me by her great-grandson, Lester Merklin. He graciously agreed to share this story with people who might be interested. I retyped it for clarity, trying to leave in her words and spelling. She dictated it to a neighbor lady who typed it. Mr. Merklin said she had very little education, but "she was a great old lady" who died in Walla Walla, Washington on Jan. 4, 1943 at the age of 94.

xxxxxThe price, the size and number of rooms and the eight acres of land that went with it were the determining factors. The Morrises had outgrown their house in Seat Pleasant, and Seat Pleasant had grown too -- "too big, too fast," Mrs. Morris said. The move meant that Howard Morris must begin his day at 4 a.m. to commute to Maryland to work, but the eight acres means breathing room and no sudden spurt of growth with houses crammed all around them.

xxxxxThe move meant hard work, too -- first to make the place livable for now and in the future to make it comfortable and restore it to what it was. They have been told already that local organizations will be interested in showing the house on tours when it is ready.

xxxxxThe Morrises still have a lot of work before the place is ready for touring, but what they have done to date has not drastically changed what Robert McKay built. Unless it is pointed out, the visitor doesn't realize that the plastered wall is really modern wallboard. The electric heating panels in the baseboard are almost inconspicuous and with the black walnut hand-hewn beams and the original stone fireplace, few people will be looking at the electrical outlets.

xxxxxRobert McKay might not know what to do with some of the gadgets the Morrises have installed in the kitchen, but there's little doubt that he'd recognize his living room if he dropped in for a visit.

ORIGINAL FIREPLACE -- The size of the fireplace in the Robert McKay house now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morris, dwarfs Mrs. Morris and her son, Phillip Wayne. Built of native stone, the fireplace boasts a huge hand-hewn black walnut beam.

Historic McKay House Is Being Restored

One OF Oldest West Of Blue Ridge

Historic McKay House Is Being Restored

by Rebecca Poe

(Webmaster's note: This story is about the Robert Mackay JUNIOR house even though the person being discussed in this text is Robert Mackay Sr. This is one of the areas of confusion for some people when discussing things relating to the two men. Some wrongly assume that Robert Sr. built this house but he actually owned land west of Front Royal called "Hay Bottom". It is believed that none of the houses he lived in are standing today. MLM) xxxxxThe house Robert McKay built in the Shenandoah Valley nearly two and a half centuries ago pre-dated Benjamin Franklin's famous kite flying experiment on electricity by at least a decade. Today the house is totally electric.

xxxxxMcKay came into the Valley with Joist Hite and erected his house on a tract north of what was to become Front Royal. The exact year he built is uncertain, but what he built is still there. Hite and his party acquired their land in 1731. Records viewed by the present owners, Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Morris, indicate the house was standing by 1734.

xxxxxA highway marker on Route 522 a short distance from the ancient house proclaims it as one of the oldest west of the Blue Ridge. Some historians believe it is the oldest. It is the only one of the original structures built by the pioneers of the Hite-McKay emigration known to be still standing.

xxxxxThe total electrical modernization occurred last May when Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Morris of Seat Pleasant, Md., purchased the house and moved in. It was the first step in a restoration project that the Morrises are accomplishing themselves. Their aim is to restore the house to as near what McKay built as possible, but at the same time to make it comfortable and livable.

xxxxx"I'm not going to be a washboard mother," says Veasey Morris, who acknowledges that an automatic washer and dryer are now a part of the standard equipment.

xxxxxIt was neither comfortable nor livable when the Morrises and their five children moved in. It had been standing vacant for some years and had not been locked. What time and neglect had not damaged, vandals had. All the windows had been knocked out, the doors were sagging or missing, plaster had crumbled and stones from the massive fireplace had fallen or been removed.

xxxxxHoward Morris, who works now as a tile setter's helper in Landover, Md., and who has had some experience in many facets of the building industry, set to work to put the house in order. His partner in the work is his wife, Veasey. Restoring the McKay house requires proficiency in carpentry, masonry, insulating, hanging wallboard and stripping paint from the old woodwork. Veasey Morris had none of these skills, but she has learned.

xxxxxThe Morrises expect their total restoration program to take two or three more years. In the year they've been there, they have wrought near miracles. Window glass has been replaced, new doors have taken the place of those missing, and wallboard has replaced fallen plaster. Plaster and a painted mantle (added in a remodeling program in more recent years) were removed in the living room to reveal the original fireplace and the huge walnut mantle that Robert McKay built.

xxxxxRestoring the dining room fireplace permitted the Morrises to exercise their own talents of design. While the massive stones were still there they had fallen and the original design could not be determined. Howard Morris set to work (with help from his masonry helper, Veasey) and designed an attractive fireplace. It is this fireplace that the family uses most.

xxxxxThe living room is in the original house which consisted of four rooms, two up and two down. The dining room is in the east wing, added some time in the early 1800s. Clapboard, which the Morrises plan to replace eventually with aluminum siding, now covers the original log structure. The exterior of the addition is stone.

xxxxxThe Morris family, which includes Teresa Louise, 16, Karen Sue, 14, Howard Jr., 13, Veasey Kay, 12, and Philip Wayne, 2-1/2, is keeping a scrapbook on its historic home. They viewed documents which attest to its age and history. "We wanted an old house," Veasey Morris said, "but it didn't have to be this old."

Inventory of Andrew Job's Estate

Here is the transcription of Andrew Job's Estate that Freida bought. Another well-written document that was easy to read. The signature of William Brown might have been unreadable had I not known he was there at that time. The signature of Samuel Little has a curly-q on the end and John Churchman almost printed his last name. Note that the inventory was supposedly taken only 4 days after his death.

1722 Nov. 13, The will of Andrew Job was probated in Chester County. It is now on file in Westchester, Pennsylvania:

Robert Mackay Jr. Record

Robert Mackay Jr., born: ca.1708; possibly Freehold, Monmouth Co. NJ; died: before 20 Sep 1796; Frederick Co. VA; believed to be buried in Crooked Run (Nineveh) Cem., Warren Co. VA;

Robert, married: 27 Jan 1735; Nottingham MM, Chester Co. PA; Patience Job, born: 2 Sep 1710;

See some photos of their house located in Cedarville, Warren Co. VA.

Robert Jr. has been confused with Robert Sr. on many occasions by genealogists, newspaper reporters and possibly others. The two main confusions involve the house he lived in at Cedarville which has been mistaken as being the home of Robert Mackay Sr. A sign marking the location of that house posted by cousin John R. Rust mistakenly says the 'home of Robert McKay Sr.'. Some genealogists have mistakenly said that Robert Mackay Sr. had come before Friends Meeting due to being overtaken by alcohol. Actually, it was Robert Mackay Jr. who had the problem with alcohol and not his father.

Most likely Moses was born in Freehold, Monmouth Co. NJ, removed with his father Robert to present day Nottingham Meeting House neighborhood, Cecil Co. MD, removed down into present day Shenandoah/Frederick/Warren counties. His descendants that stayed longer in VA lived in Shenandoah and the part that became Page Co. VA.

Mary born in Chester Co. PA/Cecil Co. MD, died in VA.

MOSES MCKAY ca/ 1707-1780, died Shenandoah Co., Va. He m. Mary Job. This is the Moses I am aware of who married Mary Job. He is the son of Robert McKay who had alarge grant of land in the Shenandoah Valley. Robert died before 19 Aug. 1752 when one of his sons refused administration of his estate. However, Moses' 1707 birth record wouldn't fit terribley well with a son born 1760.

Hello,

I am trying to find further info on a William Mackay born in 1760 with the above parents.

I think he may be the father of MY Elizabeth Mackay that married William Andrew Long

Have other ties into the above families and think this may be the one I am looking for.

I show a wife for William as Jane Lawsher/Lasher (?)

Abraham McKay's House
Located in Bridgeport, TN near NewPort

This old house was built between the late 1700's and early 1800's and was known as the McKay Fort. During Indian raids, the neighbors would take refuge in the house, probably because of it's solid construction. It is made of bricks that were formed from clay in the area. The bricks were fired and laid by two slaves that were owned at the time. The walls are three bricks thick throughout the house The house contains 3 fireplaces with an opening in each room, both up and down stairs. The front porch is inlaid with large marble pieces. The floor is made of pine boards. The rafters are made out of pine poles which still contain the bark, and the decking slats are made from either walnut or chestnut boards. The boards were only ripped and not edged. Historians in the area stated that the back portion of the house, which is now the kitchen, was the original structure. This area was lived in while the remainder of the house was built. The house is now vacant but was continually lived in until the year 1978.

The house sets on 525 acres of land that backs up to the Pigeon Forge River. As far as can be determined, this is the original homestead that has never been subdivided. The back of the house is only about 60 yards from the river. The old original hand dug well is about 30 feet from the house, walled-up with rocks taken from the river. No mortar was used between the rock and the depth is about 40-45 feet. The well still contains water and is in useable condition.

Brushy Fork Cemetery Jefferson County, Indiana

Shelby Township, Sec 20

Contributed by Jackie Owen, Mar 26, 2002 [edjackieowen@wmconnect.com].

To reach the cemetery take Hwy 250 west from Pleasant, Indiana for one mile Hwy 250 and the county line you will see a church on the north side of the roa on the south side of the hwy, just inside Jefferson county is the cemetery.

Names followed by initials with parenthesises around them were not fou surveyed the cemetery.

WM=Info found in Wanda Morford's book of cemeteries, which she did i BS=Info from Bob Scott who transcribed info from the DAR list of 1940 visits that he made to the cemetery.
DAR=Info from the DAR list of 1940
W=Wife S=Son; D=Daughter; SS=Same Stone

The Rogers/ Rodgers in this cemetery used 2 different spellings-the info how the name was spelled on the stone. There were at least 18 stones t readable when I visited the cemetery in 2000. So there are about 11 st longer there or that I missed.

My wife is from the line of Robert McKay which includes Moses McKay, Rachel McCoy (McKay), Nancy Lillard, Rachel Coleman, Thomas Hilton. Is there info in your book regarding Lillard, Hilton, and Coleman? If so, how can I get it?

Robert, Issac, George, James McKay/McKee of Shenandoah Co. VA

Posted by: N. Freeman Date: July 14, 1998 at 17:01:53

Issac McKee/McKay married in Shannadoah Co, VA in 1797. Was still there in 1810 In the census of 1820 he was in Wilson County, TN. I think one of Isaac's children, Daniel McKee, was born about 1807 died 1836 in Wilson County. James McKee received a Land Grant in 1815 of 45 acres. And on Dec 24, 1819 George and James McKee sold 60 acres on Hurricane Creek of Wilson County TN This land was sold by George and James McKee to a William McGregor of Maryland. This is recorded in Deed Book G, page 304. The deed was registered Dec.24, 1819 Both James and George signed the same deed on 13 Jan 1816. In Deed Book H, page 423 they sold 320 acre of land on the North fork of Smith's Fork branch of Caney fork. Issac's son, Daniel McKee, purchased land in Sept. 1828 and sold it in 1835 a year before his death. His land was also on Smith's Fork Branch. From the censuses of Shannandoah County VA there appears to be two more brothers, Enos and Jeremiah, with the father being a Robert McKee/McKay.

Inventory of Andrew Job's Estate

re is the transcription of Andrew Job's Estate that Freida bought. Another well-written document that was easy to read. The signature of William Brown ght have been unreadable had I not known he was there at that time. The signature of Samuel Little has a curly-q on the end and John Churchman almost nted his last name. Note that the inventory was supposedly taken only 4 days after his death.

22 Nov. 13, The will of Andrew Job was probated in Chester County. It is now on file in Westchester, Pennsylvania:

Two Different Mary Jobe/Job

April 23 2001 at 9:20 AM

Dee Ann Buck

Three researchers named: George Vernon, Bob and Verna Vernon & Katherine A.H. Luby have posted the wrong Mary Jobe/Jobe as wife to Moses MacKay Sr.

Andrew Job Jr. and wife Elizabeth Vernon did have a daughter named Mary Jobe who married John White. But she was not the Mary who married Moses MacKay (son of Robert Sr.)

(Mary Jobe who married said Moses MacKay was the niece of the above Mary Jobe. She was the daughter of Abraham Job and first wife Sarah Gatchell. Said Abraham would take as his second wife Elizabeth MacKay (sister to said Moses MacKay).)

There were many relationships with the Jobe & MacKay families. Also some of the members of the Jobe family inter-married with members of other Quaker families that ended up marrying into various branches of some of my other Sheanandoah Families.

I have listed some of these connection in my latest MacKay book on pages 25 to 28.

Michael McKay	I'm familiar with that branch	April 23 2001, 10:59 AM

I think I've mentioned this before but I'm familiar with the branch of Mary Jobe & Thomas White.

This branch intermarried with our Branson & Antrim families and they are the ancestors of a few other folks who attend Hopewell Centre Meeting with me.

Mary & Thomas are also the ancestors of the wife of Goldsmith Chandlee (well known clock maker) and their son Goldsmith Jr.

They are also the ancestors of the "Brown" family that intermarried with my Steer family so I have double kinship with those descendants as well.

THE HOLLINGSWORTH - PARKINS GRAVEYARD

The Hollingsworth - Parkins graveyard is an old Quaker burying ground located just off Jubal Early Drive behind the PolyOne plant. It is one of the oldest (if not the oldest) existing graveyards in the city of Winchester.

In order to appreciate the significance of this graveyard you have to understand a little about the Hollingsworth and Parkins families and their importance to the early history of Winchester and the surrounding area.

Abraham Hollingsworth was a Quaker who was born in Delaware in 1686. He came to this area about 1729 and settled in the area called Shawnee Springs where his son, Isaac Hollingsworth, built "Abram's Delight" in 1754. Family tradition says that Abraham Hollingsworth paid for his land three times: "First a cow, a calf, and a piece of red cloth to the Shawnee Indians: next a sum of money to the King's agent; and finally a sum of money to Lord Fairfax." Abraham and his family were members of Hopewell Friends Meeting, which was formed in 1734. Hopewell is located in Frederick County near Clearbrook. The Hollingsworth family established a flourmill near the springs and was engaged in many other enterprises.

Another prominent Quaker family during this era was the Parkins family. Isaac Parkins acquired 1,425 acres in three tracts in 1735. One tract of 725 acres included the graveyard location and the location of the Parkins family home, which was west of the graveyard on what is now Valley Avenue on the southwest corner of Jubal Early Drive and Valley Avenue. This large brick house (no longer standing) was called "Milltown" and later "Willow Lawn."

When Frederick County was established in 1743, Isaac Parkins became very prominent in its affairs, serving as a justice and a member of the House of Burgesses. He erected a sawmill and two flourmills. The Parkins family was instrumental in the establishment of Centre Friends Meeting, which was first located near the Parkins family home. Centre was moved farther into Winchester in 1819. Near the original location of Centre Meeting was another small graveyard, which was moved to Hopewell in 1961.

John Parkins left the graveyard for the use of Quakers in 1815. His will, dated May 5th, 1815, states:

> "I John Parkins being sick of Body but of sound understanding do make devise and direct in this my Last Will & Testament that that spot of ground called and known by the name of burying ground on my land wherein my parents and many others of our family have been Entered be kept and forever Reserved for the purpose of Burying Ground for the use and to be at the disposal of the Society of Friends in general..."

There was, of course, much marrying among these early Quaker families. T.K. Cartmell in his history of Frederick County written in 1908 (Shenandoah Valley Pioneers and Their Descendants) observes: "The Hollingsworths intermarried with the Parkins, Lytle, Jolliffe, Robinson, Houghton, Lupton, Griffith and many other families, which makes the lines so intricate and the descendants so numerous that it would require a large volume to enumerate them - it being positively asserted that the name appears in Census Reports of every State in the Union save three." (p. 293)

The largest grave marker in the Hollingsworth - Parkins graveyard is that of Isaac Hollingsworth. However this is not the Isaac who was the son of Abraham. This Isaac was a cousin and is several generations later. This Isaac was the son of Zebidae Hollingsworth and Lydia Allen. He was born in 1771 and died in 1842. He married Hannah Parkins who is also buried there. Some of the other family names of those buried in the graveyard are Lytle, Brown, Smith, Richards, Neill and Gilkison. A listing of all the graves taken from a graveyard census in 1931 exists at the Handley Archives.

The graveyard, covering about a quarter of an acre, was located between the Hollingsworth and the Parkins family homes. For many years, the graveyard was isolated and the only access was to walk up the railroad tracks from Papermill Road. When Jubal Early Drive was built in the 1990's, the graveyard became much more accessible.

It appears that there were few burials in the Hollingsworth - Parkins graveyard after the mid 1800's. Many family members had by that time moved away and there were other Quaker graveyards in the area, the largest being at Hopewell. During the 1800's the Henry family acquired some of the surrounding land and you sometimes see references to the Hollingsworth - Parkins - Henry graveyard.

The wall around the graveyard was built around 1930 to replace an older stonewall which had deteriorated. When this wall was built, no opening for a gate was included. Instead, steps, called a "stile" - were built into the wall. Since then, the back corner of the wall has sunk and made an opening so it is possible to enter the graveyard without climbing the wall. Footing in the graveyard is precarious so visitors should be very careful.

By the early 1990's, the graveyard was neglected and many of the grave markers were damaged. Because of its isolated location, the graveyard was overgrown and not regularly maintained. In 1995 a local Boy Scout as part of an Eagle Scout project undertook an extensive renovation. At that time a plaque was attached to the wall identifying the graveyard. Since then, volunteers have maintained the graveyard and many of the grave markers have been repaired. In 1996 the graveyard was formally deeded to the trustees of Hopewell Monthly Meeting and Winchester Center Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends.

The passage of time has caused many of the burial sites to sink, and grass and other flora now surround many of the aged grave markers. But within the protective stone wall built in 1930s, many of the inscriptions remain clearly recognizable, especially to those well-versed in local history.

The largest grave marker belongs to a Hollingsworth — Isaac by name, but not the Isaac Hollingsworth associated with the construction of "Abram's Delight." This Isaac, a cousin, was born in 1771. He married Hannah Parkins, who is also buried in the cemetery.

In his will, dated May 5, 1815, John Parkins left "that spot of ground called and known by the name of burying ground on my land wherein my parents and many others of our family have been Entered . . . for the use and . . . disposal of the Society of Friends . . ."

In 1996, the cemetery was deeded to the trustees of Hopewell Meeting and Winchester Center Meeting, and thus, for the foreseeable future, will stand as testimony to the Quaker faith and those hardy pioneers who seeded it.

The Old Quaker 'Burying Ground'

A goodly part of what makes the northern Valley so special is that history is tucked away seemingly in every little nook, cranny, and corner.

Take, for example, an old Quaker graveyard nestled in a grove of trees and surrounded by modernity — namely, the PolyOne plant, a Thrifty car rental outlet, and Jubal Early Drive.

Though The Star had written about this cemetery — back in 1995 when a local Boy Scout, Brian Rhodes, undertook its renovation as part of his Eagle project — I must confess I never knew it was there until local CPA and fellow Swirls aficionado Jim Riley made me aware of it.

And so, after driving past it countless times, it was not until this past Saturday morning, when Jim met me in the rain, that I actually laid eyes on it.

For Jim, it was more than an appreciation of local history that prompted him to become active in ongoing efforts to keep the graveyard maintained and in the public eye.

Jim, you see, is a Lupton on his mother's side, and the Luptons are one the oldest families in Frederick County. Like many of the other founding families of Frederick — the Hollingsworths and the Parkinses, for instance — the Luptons were Quakers. Jim grew up attending the Hopewell Friends Meeting near Clearbrook, where his grandmother, Victoria Lupton, taught Sunday school.

Thus, Jim was drawn to the cemetery behind PolyOne by a sense of kith and kin. For the longest time, he recalls, it was accessible only by walking up the railroad tracks from Papermill Road. It was a case of "unless you knew it was there, you would never know it was there." But then, in the early 1990s, came Jubal Early Drive — and easier access.

The graveyard, final resting place of many of the antebellum Hollingsworths and Parkinses, dates back to the 18th century, thus making it one of the oldest — if not the oldest — in Winchester. It sits on one of the three original tracts purchased by Isaac Parkins in 1735 and is but a long stone's throw to the east from the site of the Parkins ancestral home, first known as "Milltown" and later renamed "Willow Lawn." Further to the northeast, more than a mile away, is "Abram's Delight," home of the Hollingsworths.

Warren County Local History by Dallas Bogan

Rhoda Whitacre Hollingsworth - Early Warren Countian

Contributor: Dallas Bogan on 13 August 2004

She was described as a "bright and shining example of a meek and lovely Christian." Her religious belief was that of the Friends doctrine, having adhered to that faith since childhood.

Rhoda Whitacre Hollingsworth was one of the lady pioneers that made her mark in Warren County.

Rhoda was born March 12, 1802, the daughter of Robert and Patience Mckay Whitacre who were both natives of Virginia. Robert was born in 1758 and Patience in 1763. Patience was Robert's third marriage. To this union was born seven children, namely, Andrew, John, Priscilla, Jane, Aquilla, Rhoda and Moses.

In the early part of the nineteenth century they traded their farm in Frederick County, Virginia, for a military claim of four thousand acres located on the Little Miami River and Todd's Fork. The land purchase was known as Military Survey No. 1494. They migrated to their new home in the wilderness in 1805. Rhoda at this time was but three years old. They established their home on a beautifully elevated spot, which now overlooks Morrow. They merely existed in an unbroken wilderness and suffered the many trials and hardships that went along with securing a new home in a wild and untamed land.

Roads were practically nonexistent in this time period, which made the thirty-mile trip through the woods to the markets in Cincinnati a struggle beyond belief. Sometimes they would load their produce onto the flatboats and float them down on a rise in the Little Miami River to Cincinnati, and sometimes to New Orleans. Robert at one time drove his own hogs, along with his neighbors, to Baltimore, Maryland, starting in August, and arriving in Baltimore in time for the fall market.

Patience would ride on horseback to her old home in Virginia (a journey of several hundred miles), and visit her friends and relatives, and receive encouragement, which would strengthen her to renew her work in the wilderness.

Patience, with her three daughters, Rhoda, Jane and Priscilla, contributed to the comfort and the welfare of the family. In this day and time, clothing was a main factor for the family. They picked, carded, spun and wove the wool for winter clothing, and the flax for summer. Under these circumstances, Rhoda was raised.

At the age of eighteen she was united in marriage to Joseph Hollingsworth (born in 1786), a native of Frederick County, Virginia. He migrated to Ohio in 1816, first to Centerville, Montgomery County, thence to Waynesville. Here he worked for a time in a flouring mill. From there he went to Stubb's Mill, which was a short distance west of Morrow.

Joseph and Rhoda were married in 1820 and settled on a farm near Beech Grove Schoolhouse, about two miles from her father's home.

They had several children, the last survivors being Moses and Ruthanna. With hard work and a straight forward course of life, they succeeded in establishing themselves a comfortable home and an excellent farm.

Joseph was a miller by trade and was instrumental in forming a company with his brothers-in-law, and building what was known as the Whitacre Mills on the Little Miami River near the mouth of Todd's Fork in the years 1832 and 1833. (The skeleton of the old mill is still standing at this printing.)

About the year 1851 they sold their farm and moved to near Harveysburg, where Joseph died in 1853. Soon after, Rhoda and her son Moses moved to Springboro. Ruthanna had been residing with them since the death of her husband, Nathan Hunt.

Rhoda, at the time of her death, lacked but a few days of being eighty-two years old. She died February 25, 1884. She was the last of her family, all her brothers and sisters died years before. A writer once wrote of her: "There are, perhaps, but few people who haves to her advanced age that have lived during the entire time a life more consistent, or one worthy to be more praised and held up as an example to future generations. Her loving friends were only limited by the circle of her acquaintance, for none knew her but to love her."

Related Links: The Robert Mackay Clan by Michael McKay who writes,
" Robert Mackay Sr. is the pioneer of this family. One of his great-grandsons, Moses McKay, settled in Warren County, Ohio, near Waynesville where his home still stands on New Burlington Rd. There are three other McKay related biographies as well:

- One is on Rhoda (Whitacre) Hollingsworth
- Another is on William J. Collett
- and the third one I'm aware of is on Joseph Hollingsworth. He descends from Hannah McKay & George Hollingsworth. Hannah is a daughter of Robert Mackay Sr. Joseph came up from South Carolina. After Hannah's death, George remarried and removed with all but one of his children to South Carolina. Because of their opposition to slavery many of them left South Carolina, some of whom came to Ohio."

Page 748 JOSEPH HOLLINGSWORTH, farmer; P. O. Lebanon; was born in South Carolina May 25, 1802: he is the son of Abraham and Eunice (Steddom) Hollingsworth, who emigrated to Warren County in 1804; he was raised on the farm and received as liberal an education as the schools of the township afforded. He was married in 1833, to Miss Sallie Furnas, of Montgomery Co., Ohio, by whom he has had nine children—five now living. He is a Republican in politics, and, with his wife, belongs to the Society of Friends; he owns several farms, amounting in all to 725 acres.

I would say to any boy who desires to carry a good physical body and a standard code of morals past the meridian of life to keep shy of sawmill life.

Yet there is a pleasant side to the business occasionally. On a cool morning, you will find it on the sunny side of the shed and, of a hot evening, in the shade of the same.

B. C. was Benjamin Cosand Hollingsworth8 (1859–1932), the fifth of 11 children of Isaac7 of Joel6 of Isaac5 of George4 (& Hannah McKay) of Abraham3 of Thomas2 of Valentine, Sr.1 His autobiography was written when he was age 30 and was submitted for publication by his granddaughter, A. Holly Hollingsworth.

Benjamin's siblings included Mary, Caroline, Harvey, and John by his father's first marriage to Elizabeth Miller. Isaac then was wed to Phebe H. Johnson before his third marriage to Penina Cosand. Isaac's and Penina's children were Benjamin, Samuel, Lindley, Clarkson, Hannah, Calvin, and Mary.

Benjamin married Laura Ann Carter in 1889. They became the parents of LaVanche, Emily, Irene, Lowell, Nelson, Willard, Lucy, Raymond, and Samuel. [Genealogy information from Padgett-Carter-Busby-Thompson: The Ancestors of Thomas George Padgett, M.D., and Linda Carol Padgett, Ph.D. by Alberta Joan Busby Padgett Frech (Baltimore, Md.: Gateway Press, Inc., 1999)]

Holly grew up just a few miles from where Benjamin raised his family in Russiaville, Howard Co., Ind. The home he built is still standing and in good condition as is the house Holly's father built during the Depression. Holly's brother Joel now lives in the family home.

Joel and his son, Darien, own and operate a sawmill/lumber business on the adjoining land. They did not take Benjamin's advice "to keep shy of sawmill life." Holly's father, Nelson, started the business in 1935 or so. Benjamin died when Holly was five years old, and she remembers him only barely. He was a quiet, thoughtful person who was known for the round barns he built. The one near his homestead was built of cement blocks. It was demolished by a tornado, but the homestead was spared.

Holly remembers playing with two wooden puppets operated by strings that were in the upstairs of his house. He had carved them years before. The interior of the house was stark, with only a few necessary furnishings.

Holly now resides in Orinda, Calif. While preparing this autobiography and photo for publication, she discovered a renewed interest in finishing the history of Benjamin's family which she had put aside about 10 years ago. She is further energized by the interest in the Hollingsworth family recently shown by her daughter, Holly Austin. Between the two of them, let's hope there's much more to come!

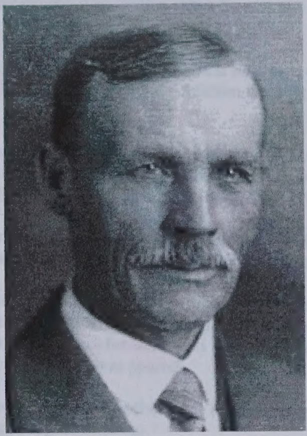
Autobiography of B. C. Hollingsworth - Russiaville, Ind., Feb. 24, 1889

December 17 2007 at 8:13 AM

From HOLLINGSWORTH HERITAGE, Volume XIV, Number 2 Page 21-22



The writer of this article was born in the year fiftynine of the present century and has always made his home in the same door yard of his birth. My lot was not cast in the arms of luxury or wealth but was blessed with most of the necessities of life. The house in which I was reared to manhood was a hewed log cabin, covered with long clapboards and poles.

One end of the cabin was occupied by a fireplace in which we burned 4-foot wood and short saw logs, the chimney being on the outside and of like proportions.

Before this fireplace about half the cooking was done for the family in pots, skillets, griddles, and tin reflectors that would be a curiosity to most of the juveniles of the present day. The food thus cooked was not the least inferior to that turned out by the best ranges of today, and it makes me hungry yet to reflect upon its excellence.

We had an old log barn that would have made a good jail where we hunted eggs and fed the pigs. Through the farm where there is only a tile ditch now, there used to be a good branch out of which we have caught messes of fish. About half the land in the neighborhood has been cleared since my recollection.

And the springtime of my youthful years will each be associated with clouds of smoke and ashes rising from old deadening. In fact, my first introduction to work was picking brush and trash in the clearing. That is, I mean, when I was not rocking the cradle or bringing in wood or water. Our best Sunday suit in those days was Janes, plain homemade Janes that we saw clipped off of the sheep's back under our own eyes and doubled and twisted into a garment by simple machinery at our own home. Its color was scraped off a walnut bush and boiled through it in a wash kettle.

I was furnished one pair of cowhide boots for each winter that would generally admit of more or less sunshine near the early days of spring. It was my duty to attend S.S. and church each Sunday and one meeting at least between times. To this, I complied in the summertime minus the boots.

The amusements of those days were of the ruder sort, such as wrestling, jumping, racing, and breaking a colt to the saddle or a pair of calves to the yoke.

I scarcely received the rudiments of a common school education. But I am honest in my belief that I tried much harder to learn than the majority of lads. And can say that I have no regrets for misspent time in school.

The earlier part of my life was spent upon the farm. Whether right or wrong, I often yet wish that the rest of it had been. I merged into the sawmill business at the age of 16.

Here I was thrown in with surroundings that were naturally repulsive to my nature, and nearly all of my baser and refractory nature that asserts itself today was cultivated and fostered as a natural result under their influence.

Whatever has been my success at milling, I doubt were it to do over again if I should pay the cost for the value received.

Pidgeon Family Quilt, c.1850, made by friends of Sarah Marshall Chandlee Pidgeon (1825-1885), Clarke and Frederick Counties, Virginia. 104" x 97". Collection of Christopher and Mary Robare. This friendship quilt, assembled and quilted by Sarah Pidgeon, has been handed down through five generations of the Pidgeon family. Many of the individuals who signed the blocks also signed blocks seen on other quilts from the region. They have been identified as members of Quaker Meetings in Virginia and Maryland. Broderie Perse blocks are combined with appliqué blocks in red and green. The "Apple Pie Ridge Star" pattern identified in the four corners of the Hollingsworth Quilt is also included in this quilt. Two colors of sashing separate the blocks, which are set on point. Quilting designs include shells, tulip flowers, maple leaves, feathers and chevron patterns.

The 35 blocks in this quilt top are appliquéd of red and green cotton, popular colors at the time of its making. It also includes broderie perse of printed floral fabrics. The quilt is inscribed with dates of 1846, 1849, and 1850. Several of the signatures found on this quilt are also on the Waterford appliqué blocks. A local historian recognized some of the names as members of the Fairfax Meeting of Friends in Waterford and others were found on the rolls of the Hopewell meeting in Clearbrook, Virginia, west of the Blue Ridge.

The ground of this pieced quilt is made from the green gold silk wedding dress originally worn by Emma Schooley in 1838 and by her daughter in 1862. The fine hand quilting is done in feathered wreaths in the plain blocks. It is finished with a woven silk binding.

Five Friendship Quilts

Amos Janney, a Quaker from Bucks County, Pennsylvania, founded Waterford in 1733. Originally known as Janney's Mill, the early commercial center of Loudoun County became the village of Waterford in the 1780s. Preserving the past is a way of life for the non-profit Waterford Foundation in this hamlet of 250 residents. The village is on the Virginia Landmarks Register, the National Register of Historic Places, and is a National Historic Landmark District.

Phebe Steer is a descendent of two early Waterford Quaker families, the Duttons and the Steers. In 1994 she donated a family quilt to the Foundation. It was made from the silk wedding gown worn by her grandmother, Mary Frances "Molly" Dutton Steer (1840-1933) and also her great-grandmother, Emma Schooley Dutton (1807-1889). Both weddings were at the same Fairfax Meeting House in Waterford, one in 1838 and the second in 1862.

At the Loudoun County Museum in Leesburg, just six miles away, another quilt, c. 1870, has pieces of the same silk wedding dress. Connections between the two museums and the families are repeated in signed appliqué blocks owned by each. In addition to the silk quilt, Ms. Steer donated nine appliqué signature blocks attached to a linen foundation to Waterford. The Loudoun Museum also has an appliqué signature quilt with the same fabrics, and the same family names as the blocks donated to Waterford. The blocks are dated 1846, 1848, and 1850. There are also similar signed quilts which appear in the Shenandoah Region of this book: the Hollingsworth quilt, the Pidgeon Family quilt, and the Cather-Robinson family quilt (with ties to author Willa Cather). (See pages 59 and 78).

One common link to all five quilts featured is the Hollingsworth surname. Members of the Hollingsworth family were early residents of Winchester as well as Waterford, Virginia. The signature, "Lydia J. Hollingsworth," is found on four of the album quilts. Records show that Lydia Jane Hollingsworth attended Quaker meetings in both regions. She was a resident of Stephensburg, Frederick County, before a move to Waterford, Loudoun County, sometime after 1850. The Hollingsworths, like most of the block signers, were members of the Religious Society of Friends. Quaker residents of Clarke, Fairfax, Frederick, and Loudoun Counties in Virginia, as well as Maryland and Pennsylvania, are represented on the blocks.

Nineteenth-century Quakers traveled regularly by horse and buggy for rotating Quarterly Meetings, staying days in each oth-held in Baltimore, Maryland. In addition to th attendance at weddings and funerals in dista meetings provided for frequent spiritual, busi exchange, and would have been natural occ munity quilting.

In a documented study of nineteenth ce Valley Quaker quilts, one researcher theorize quilts represented a way to strengthen the s challenged by many changes, moves, and u times. They were an outward sign of the str port offered by the community of Friends.[15]

The "Apple Pie Ridge Star" block appears

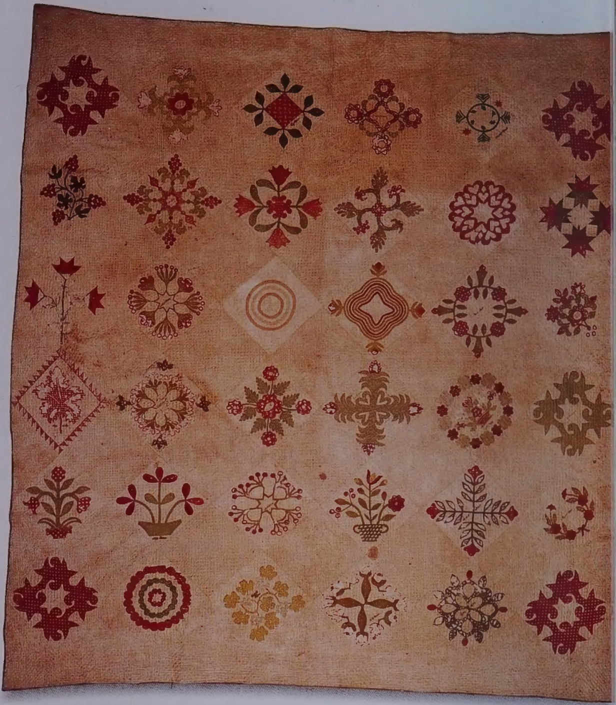
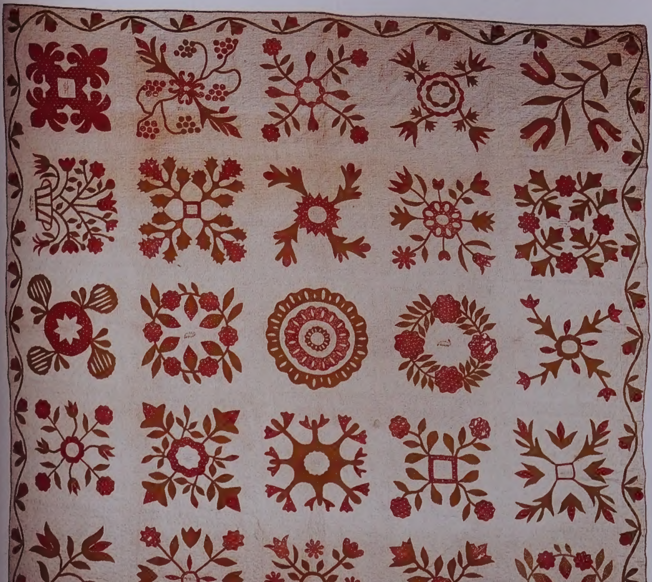
Hollingsworth Family Quilt, c. 1858-1859, group-made in Frederick County. Displayed at Abram's Delight Museum. Courtesy of Winchester-Frederick County Historical Society.
One of the blocks on this quilt stands out in its simplicity of concentric rings. However, viewing the block with lighting behind reveals a hidden block—an elaborate appliqué of a vase of tulips. There is no documentation about this, but a theory is that the maker of the original block may have been disowned from the strict 1850s era Society of Friends, prompting the 'erasure' of the earlier block from the quilt. Some of the signatures on this Quaker quilt include names from the Robinson family, which are also found on the Waterford and Loudoun County quilts featured in this book. In addition, Hollingsworth family signatures also appear on the Pidgeon Family Quilt, the Cather-Robinson quilt, and on the Steer Family signature blocks as well. This quilt is made of 36 different red and green appliqué blocks inked with dates and signatures of the makers. The quilting is closely crosshatched in the background with floral motifs in some of the plain blocks.





Signature Album Quilt, c. 1852, made by the Ladies of Virginia, Frederick and Clark Counties. Displayed at Abram's Delight Museum. Courtesy o Winchester-Frederick County Historical Society.
This quilt was made by a group of 25 women, each stitching a different design and signing her block. In the center square is written, "Album quilt pieced by the Ladies of Virginia, March 25, 1852, Lydia Louthan, Milton Valley, Clarke County, Virginia, Rachel Anderson."

Page 1046 JABEZ HOLLINGSWORTH, farmer, P. O. Oregon; was born in Turtle Creek Township Sept. 3, 1811; he is a son of Abram and Eunice (Steddom) Hollingsworth, natives of South Carolina. They settled in Turtle Creek Township in 1804. His father was born March, 1776, and died Nov. 28, 1849. Mrs. Hollingsworth was born in 1789, and died in 1814. Our subject was reared on a farm, and obtained his education in log school-houses, furnished with a fireplace and greased paper window lights. Mr. Hollingsworth has always followed farming, and the rearing of live stock to some extent; he owns a farm of 260 acres, and is an enterprising citizen. Notwithstanding his eccentricities, he is classed among the better citizens of Warren Co.; his portrait will appear in this work.

minds of their hearers and excite them to acts of violence. Hence arose the scenes of opposition and persecution which followed. These scenes began by opposing, molesting and disturbing the believers in their testimony and worship, by various kinds of mockery, railing and cursing, threatening, pushing, collaring, and other acts of personal abuse and insult.

"On the 27th of August, 1810, a body of 500 armed men, led on by officers in military array, appeared before the principal dwelling of the society in Union Village. This formidable force was preceded and followed by a large concourse of spectators of all descriptions of people, estimated at nearly two thousand in number, whose object was to witness the mighty conflict expected to take place between a body of 500 armed men and a few defenseless Shakers. Among the concourse were many who were friendly to the society, and whose only wish was to prevent mischief and preserve peace; but many were armed in mob array, some with guns and swords, some with bayonets fixed on poles, an others with staves, hatchets, knives and clubs. These formed a motley multitude of every description, from ragged boys to hoary-headed men, exhibiting altogether a hideous appearance. The troops having taken their station near the meeting-house, a deputation of twelve men came forward, headed by a Presbyterian preacher, Rev. Matthew G. Wallace, who acted as chief speaker, and, after making a number of unreasonable demands, stated as their principal requisition that the society should relinquish their principles and practice, mode of worship and manner of living, or quit the country. The answer of the society was mild and calm, but plain and positive: That they esteemed their faith dearer than their lives, and were determined to maintain it, whatever might be the consequences; as to quitting the country, they were upon their land, which they had purchased with their own money, and they were entitled to those liberties granted by the laws of their country, including the liberty of conscience.

"the calm, peaceable and harmless deportment of the believers, together with the expostulations of a few respectable individuals, the liberty given to examine the youth reported to be held in bondage, the marks of contentment and the decent and orderly appearance of everything around, all conspired to change the sentiments and feelings of the vindictive warriors to such a degree that all withdrew without committing any abuse."

The manuscript journals of the society show that there were other mobs in the years 1812 and 1813, and on July 31, 1817. At the last-named date, Richard McNemar opposed the forcible entrance of the rioters, and was afterward indicted by the Grand Jury for assault and battery. At the trial of the case, Mr. McNemar, as was his legal right, demanded to be heard in his own defense. He argued the case before the jury with such skill and ability that he was triumphantly acquitted.

Mob Against the Shakers

Page 442 These unfounded charges against a peaceful and harmless sect were widely promulgated and received with ready ears, and in August, 1810, a mob was raised and marched against the Shakers. Unfortunately, it has always been too easy, especially among a backwoods people, to convince the multitude that they are justified in taking into their own hands the redress of their own grievances, and in all communities there are always too many who are ready to assist in riotous proceedings. If there is any innate meanness in a man, it is most likely to display itself in the time of a mob. The men who composed the mob were collected from regions around Union Village, a considerable proportion, it is said, being from Dick's Creek, in which region its leader preached. It is said that none who participated in the riotous proceedings were from Lebanon, with the exception of one elderly woman, a member of the Seceder Church from Page 445 North Carolina. In the crowd were a number of women, more fierce for the destruction of the Shakers than any of the men. There were some hundreds of persons collected together by this mob. According to the accounts of the Shakers, there were 500 armed men, exclusive of those drawn to the scene by curiosity, which is probably an exaggerated estimate. A number of cool-headed and law-abiding men, having a great abhorrence of mobs, went to Union Village while the mob was assembling, for the purpose of preserving the peace. Judge Francis Dunlevy, then President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, read the riot act, and, in the name of the State, commanded them to disperse. Joshua Collett and Matthias Corwin, Sr., and other intelligent men, did all in their power to protect the Shakers from violence. These efforts were successful, and, after some parleying, the crowd slowly and angrily dispersed.

This mob, and other persecutions to which the first Shakers were subjected, as might be anticipated, benefited the society. Many persons from the neighborhoods of Lebanon, Middletown, Hamilton and more distant regions, were induced to visit them from curiosity or sympathy, and from among these visitors new converts were received. From 1810 to 1818, the accessions to the society were numerous. The following is the account given by the Shaker writers of this mob and other persecutions. It is condensed from "The Millenial Church, or United Society of Believers, commonly called Shakers," a work first published in 1823:

"The great opposition which was raised against the testimony in the West was first instigated by the principal leaders of a class of people who styled themselves Christians, in contradistinction to all others who professed that name, under different denominations. Some of these had been distinguished leaders in the late revival; but, instead of advancing forward in that increasing work, to which the spirit of the revival had so powerfully directed them, they became the foremost in opposition, and exerted all their influence to prejudice the m Joseph Kenneth Hollingsworth (Ken), and would like to welcome you to my genealogy website. I plan to stretch this out as far as I can. Some es will obviously grow larger than others.

m the son of Joseph Carr and Bonnie Caroldine (Blackwell) Hollingsworth. My father and I descend from Isaac and Jacob, the brothers who grated into Mississippi in the early 1800's, and produced a multitude of descendants. If you are related in some way to a Hollingsworth, don't be ·prised to find a connection. Jacob's and Isaac's descendants spread out to most of the southern states, and some even went north.

ould like to invite you to help me in this endeavor. If you have anything that connects to any of these people, I will upload and link to them. ings like photos, family Bibles, biographies, etc., will look very nice and helpful to understand our ancestors and the way they lived. You might ːn consider putting a memorial to a lost loved one on this site. I have a couple in mind, myself.

At the age of 19, John enlisted in the Army and served for three years of a four-year enlistment, having been discharged due to injury. He was a corporal in Co. C., 18th Regiment, United States Volunteer Infantry from the State of Ohio. His service included, among others, Bull Run, Murfeesboro, Stone River (where he was severely wounded), Chattanooga, Chiclamauga, and other battles of the Atlanta campaign of the Civil War.

For some years John followed the carpenter and builder profession. Later, as an architect, he designed many buildings scattered over Indiana and Tennessee, where he resided for several years. He was also an artist of some reknown and many pieces of his art adorn the walls of homes and offices.

The Winchester newspaper of Nov. 12, 1914, printed the following: "John Hollingsworth, aged 73, a former Winchester resident, was shot and instantly killed, while returning from a hunting expedition in the woods near Indianapolis, where he made his home....Hollingsworth had spent the day hunting with his son and another man. While awaiting the arrival of an interurban on the station platform, he rested the gun on the edge of the platform. It slipped off and the trigger guard struck the edge of the platform and the charge entered his shoulder and chest. He died before the physician arrived."

John and Alzada lived in Elwood, Indiana, for several years. About 1902, they moved to Indianapolis and resided with his son-in-law and daughter, Mary.

John S. and Alzada (Grove)
Hollingsworth

THE Hollingsworths have held their own all along the ages. They were an old Saxon family said to have settled in the North-eastern part of Cheshire, as early as 1022, in which year the ancestral estate, Hollingsworth Manor, in Cheshire, was purchased. The name represents a locality, from the estate of that name, near Mottram, in the county in question. The name comes from the two words, "holly" and "worth," a farm, meaning a farm of holly trees. Annals dating from the Norman conquest, speak of "the hundred of Macclesfield or Maxfield," known in the Domesday survey as "the hundred of Hamstan," and one of the Manors mentioned in these ancient books is that of Hollingsworth Manor, situated on the edge of the great woods of Macclesfield. The visitation of Cheshire by the official herald in the year 1580 includes "John Hollingsworth, Gent," and "Robert Hollingsworth," among the gentry residing in the hundred of Macclesfield." A further record speaks of Robert Hollingsworth of Hollingsworth Hall, from whom the family is descended, and who was Magistrate for the counties of Chester and Lancaster. The church of the family and the hall, both several centuries old, are still standing, and upon both are emblazoned the family Coat of Arms. The late owner, Captain Robert Hollingsworth, the last representative of the English branch of the family, died in 1865. The estate is said to include 625 acres and to be valued at 20,000 pounds. Picturesque red-berried holly trees abound upon the estate, and when one realizes its nearness to the edge of the Macclesfield woods, the arms and crest handed down for generations acquire a picturesque significance. The tinctures of the shield are azure, suggestive of the blue sky, argent, of the silvery streams that flow through the woodlands, and vert, of the green leafage of the forest trees. The virtues of these colors are equally beautiful, expressing loyalty, innocence and love. The Crest is a stag, recalling the Saxon Earls of Cheshire and merry hunting scenes, and three glistening holly leaves suggest Christmas in merry England. Motto—Learn to suffer what must be borne, or, bear patiently what must be borne. The usurpation of that Saxon shire by the Norman Earl, Hugh Lupus, no doubt suggested the motto. At any rate the records state that these freemen of Hollingsworth and the seven other manors that make up Macclesfield, paid their yearly tax to the usurping earl and held their manors in undisturbed possession.

It is probable that the Hollingsworths went over to Ireland from England with other planters, early in the 17th century.

"Till and Nancy usually came for dinner, and after the dishes were washed they sat down with Mrs. Blake in the wooden rocking-chairs by the west window where the sunlight poured in. They took out their sewing or knitting from the carpet-bag, and while the pound cake or the marble cake was baking in a slow oven, they talked about old times. I was allowed to sit with them and sew patchwork. Sometimes their talk was puzzling, but I soon learned that it was best never to interrupt with questions—it seemed to break the spell."[1]

Cather-Robinson Quilt, dated 1848, made by the women of Back Creek Valley, Frederick County, 101.5" x 88". The quilt is now owned by the Willa Cather Institute at Shenandoah University. Photographs courtesy of the Willa Cather Foundation, Red Cloud, Nebraska. Author Willa Cather was born in Virginia and into strong family quilting traditions. The quilt descended in the Robinson family, which intermarried with the Cather family before 1850. Each of the 36 blocks of this signature album quilt is cross-stitched, inked or stamped with the name of its maker. The blocks are appliquéd or pieced in red, green and yellow cotton in different patterns. The quilting in small even stitches is executed in straight lines creating a grid. The quilt shows similarities to other quilts from the Quaker community in Loudoun County, featured on pp. 58-59. The signature of Lydia J. Hollingsworth appears on the Cather-Robinson quilt and the Waterford Steer Family quilt as well. The Robinson name also appears on this quilt and the Hollingsworth quilt. Some of the block and quilting patterns in the five quilts featured here are similar.

Inventory of Andrew Job's Estate

Here is the transcription of Andrew Job's Estate that Freida bought. Another well-written document that was easy to read. The signature of William Brown might have been unreadable had I not known he was there at that time. The signature of Samuel Little has a curly-q on the end and John Churchman almost printed his last name. Note that the inventory was supposedly taken only 4 days after his death.

1722 Nov. 13, The will of Andrew Job was probated in Chester County. It is now on file in Westchester, Pennsylvania:

Robert McKay Family Ages: A Puzzle

Posted by: Bob Scott (ID 1852) Date: August 01, 2006 at 06:07:59

I have long been curious about the ages assigned to the children of Robert McKay the elder, the grantee, and his reported wives, Ann Brown, and the others known only by their first names, Mary and Margaret.

One of the leading researchers gives ages of birth for his children that seem not to be the norm given their ages at marriage which also leads me to a puzzle about the wives and which of his children belonged to each. I note that is has also been stated that we don't know their births. But it seems to me that most were likely

Here is what has been often posted

Mary, born: ca. 1705; died: ca. 1797;
Robert, born: ca. 1708; died: before 20 Sep 1796;
Margaret, born: ca. 1710; died: ca. 1770
James, born: ca. 1700 [I assume this birth was a typographical error] died: 1797;
Zachariah, born: ca. 1714; died: ca. 1797
Hannah, born: ca. 1715; died: ca. 1755;
Leah, born: ca. 1716; died: 1797;
Elizabeth, born: ca. 1719; died: ca. 1790;
Moses, born: ca. 1720; died: 1777; VA;

Hannah McKay married George Hollingsworth on 12-19-1734.
This makes her 19.

Mary Mackay & George Robinson dated 14 Feb 1726 Her certificate was signed by her mother Mary. that makes her 21 years old at marriage by thislist.

Margaret Mackay & Joshua Job dated 1 Nov 1731. This makes her 21 Her mother was Margaret.

Robert m. 27 Jan. 1735, Patience Job That makes him 30 given the 1705 and 31 when his oldest child was born

James McKay. Although his marriage date has not been found, the ages of his first two children make him 48 and 50 when his first two children were born.

Women on the frontier more typically married at 16 to 18, sometimes younger. Men were more usually 18 to 21. This seems like rather unusual marriage pattern.

At 16 to 18, we end up with Mary born 1708 to 1710, Margaret at 1713 to 1715 and Hannah at 1716-1718.

In any case, if Mary McKay was the oldest daughter and her mother was Mary, how can Ann Brown have been the mother of most of the children as is usually stated?

cently a copy of a hand-written account about Robert Mackay Sr. came into my possession from Katherine (Hackney) Luby which is believed to have ne from Frances who is a granddaughter of Sarah McKay Smith who did some considerable research on the family during her lifetime. The information, if oven, would lend support to the theory that Robert Mackay Sr. was a convert to Quakerism. The wife mentioned in the account below would probably have en Ann Brown based on what we have on the marriage certificates of Robert's children.

> 'Robert McKay (-1752) came from Freehold, N.J. It appears that he joined Friends when he married a Quaker woman in New Jersey, whose name is unknown. The McKays moved to the Nottingham Lots on the Pa./Md. boundary line where they were early members of Nottingham Meeting.'

e birth year given for Robert is only a guess since we have no records at this time which give us a clue as to when he was born. Also, there have been ferent genealogy records both on-line and off-line submitted by people that give Robert's parents as being Hugh Mackay & Jane Dunbar. At this time there no evidence supporting these claims nor has there been any evidence so far giving us a clue as to Robert's true parentage & origins. It is assumed our nily's origin comes from Scotland because of the surname 'Mackay' but nothing substantive in that direction. Similarly there has been mentioned that Ann own's parents were James Brown & Honour Clayton. This too remains unproven. We know of Ann Brown's existence because she is mentioned in a nute from Nottingham Friends Meeting dated 1 Nov 1730 concerning the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Margaret to Joshua Job which reads 11.1730 Margaret McKay, daughter of Robert & Ann Brown of Milford Hd. Cecil Co. MD & Joshua Job son of Andrew & Elizabeth'. There is nsiderable biography written in Dee Ann Buck's Book 'A Tabulated Genealogy of the Family of Robert and Ann (Brown) Mackay Sr.' (Vol. 1, 1997 tion) about Robert's early life and the evidence gathered so far. This book will be used as the primary source for compiling these partial genealogy ords.

me of the problems we have regarding the mystery of Robert Mackay Sr.'s origins can be summed up by both Dee Ann (Shipp) Buck & Hunter Branson Kay. Dee Ann writes:

> 'Who were Robert Mackay Sr.'s parents? Where was he born? Was Robert Mackay Sr. the emigrate? Why can't we seem to find civil and church records dealing with this man's life before we find him as a member of Nottingham Quaker Meeting House? The only hint about his life before living in PA, came from a land deed filed in PA, which stated that he came from Freehold, NJ. Why can't more information about his life in Freehold, NJ be found? Where did he come from before Freehold, NJ? These questions Hunter Branson McKay, spent most of his adult life trying to answer. I have spent about sixteen years, carrying on this task. To successfully find the answers to the above questions, we must have solid and legitimate original documents.'
> 'In all the pages that make up the Fairfax Land Suit, his partners made references to their place of birth, but not our Robert Mackay. There has never been a hint, inkling, suspicion, clue or by insinuation the names of his parents, his siblings or cousins in any original document. The only known near relations were his children and his three wives.'

nen our family group started holding our annual gatherings what we should call ourselves became a question of concern for Hunter Branson McKay. He ote:

> 'I appreciate that it has been the practice to speak of the reunion since it was founded some 20 years ago by Cousin Mamie, as the McKay Clan Reunion, as this has a pleasing connotation and suggestive reference to the Highlands of Scotland, but it would be much more accurate to refer to it as the Robert McKay Family Reunion or Association. You see there are hundreds of McKay families in this country, and about 10 or 12 of them hold reunions, and hence the designation of Robert McKay rathern than simply the McKay family. As to calling it a "Clan" I have yet to find any authentic evidence of any connection whatsoever with the Scottish Clan of Mackay, other than the name. The earliest records of Robert McKay the elder and his family made when he and they were alive, give no indication of a Scottish origin. Genealogically speaking, it seems to me, that among the various unrelated McKay families in this country alone, to say nothing of Canada and other British possessions, that the notation of the Robert McKay Family of Virginia is sufficiently illustrious to require attempting to borrow from no other source.'

r family organization has unofficially been called 'The McKay Family Association' and 'The Robert McKay Clan'. Recently when I assumed the sidency of our annual reunion for the first time I changed the spelling of the name to 'Robert Mackay Clan' to be more in line with the way Robert Sr.
elled his name. We have been known predominantly as 'The Robert Mackay Clan' (or Robert McKay Clan) and I believe that in order not to be confused
h an official Clan Society such as 'Clan Mackay Society, USA' that we spell it as 'The Robert Mackay Clan' since it is no different than if we were to eak of the 'Samuel Jones Clan'. 'Clan' or 'chlann' as it originally is spelled in Gaelic simply means children and is used rather loosely in the language when I've created a Clan MacKay website which has a section devoted to the Robert MacKay Clan (family organization).

Robert MacKay is the Quaker pioneer who lived first in Freehold, Monmouth Co. New Jersey and then later in Frederick/Warren County, Virginia.

The address is: http://www.geocities.com/Heartland/Park/8030

Pub as our gathering place for Saturday evening. The Irish Isle is located on Main Street (U.S. 11) in Middletown, VA just south of The Wayside Inn which is about 10 miles west of the reunion location. On some evenings the owner of the restaurant, Brian Coughlin, will get on stage and sing a few Irish folk songs, as well as others you may be familiar with. I've been there several times and enjoy the Irish cuisine.

If you would like to meet on Saturday evening please indicate by checking the appropriate section on the reunion attendance form. For those of you planning to meet on Saturday we will meet at the Irish Isle at 6:00 p.m. Afterwards, other activities can also be considered if time permits. Please let us know of any births, marriages, or other relevant news of your immediate family or other relations that you keep in contact with that we can announce at this year's reunion. (You could put this information on the enclosed card along with your reservation.)

Also, if anyone has any ideas of activities and/or games to entertain the younger children of our family please be sure and bring them. I'm always interested in finding ways to make our gatherings more enjoyable for the younger members of the family.

Our gatherings provide an opportunity for folks to get re-acquainted with relatives they don't see very often to catch up on news and other events and the chance to meet new cousins.

I hope to see you at our annual reunion.

If your plans change or if you are late sending your notice please contact me at:

Donations

For those of you who have sent in your donations, thank you. Your contributions help us in mailing out these notices, maintaining the website accounts, publishing our newsletter as well as helping to defray some of the reunion expenses such as room fees and other charges.

Sincerely,
Your President,

Michael L. McKay.

Forthcoming Reunion Information

(McKay-Sowers-Kerfoot)

Plans for the 61st annual family reunion in Virginia have been finalised!!

Greetings cousins,

It's almost time for our 61st annual reunion (McKay-Sowers-Kerfoot). This year, our gathering will be held at the upstairs Banquet Hall of the Best Western/Lee Jackson Motor Inn in Winchester, VA on Sunday 25th June 2006 beginning at 12:00 noon with dinner at 1:00 p.m.

Please bring something of interest to share with the rest of us. Tables will be set up for display of photo albums, genealogy records, and other family related items. A wall is available to use as a screen for a projector if needed.

Plan to come early and stay later to meet and socialise and to view the items on display. Also, if you have an item that you would like to donate as a door prize please bring that as well. A reunion attendance card is enclosed for your convenience. Please fill out the card no later than 15th June, whether you are planning to attend or not. This helps keep the addresses in our mailing list accurate.

We will be having a buffet style luncheon featuring entrees of Steamship Round of Beef and Baked Chicken. Other items on the menu are: Green Beans with Country Ham, Fried Apples, Escalloped Potatoes, Fresh Garden Salad, Dinner Rolls, Assorted Desserts, Coffee, Tea and Soft Drinks. A Cash Bar will also be available for those who wish to make use of it. The cost will be $15.00 per person for adults. Children 12 and under are free.

Perkins Restaurant is located in the same building as the banquet hall and is available for your dining pleasure.

A map showing the location of The Best Western/Lee Jackson Motor Inn is on the right for your convenience.

Their address is:
711 Millwood Avenue, Winchester, Virginia, 22601-5168, US
Phone: (540) 662-4154 Fax: 540-662-2618

There is an elevator to the banquet hall located to the right side of Perkins Restaurant for those who need it.

A swimming pool is located on the premises for those interested in using it.

(Webmaster's note: Please note that it hasn't been proven that Robert Mackay Sr. came from Scotland. The information on this plaque is based on "family tale". Also, we do know from the marriage records of some of Robert's children and Robert's will that Margaret was Robert's 3rd wife. It's likely they were married while Robert was in Cecil County, Md. although we do not have details on when or where Robert married any of his three wives. Moses & Abigail emigrated from the section of Frederick County, Va. that later became Warren County, Va. as mentioned above. MLM)

The Collett-McKay Picnic

Collett-McKay Picnic grounds

Moses McKay, a great-grandson of Robert Mackay Sr., moved with his wife and family except for one son, Robert S. McKay, from what is now Warren County, Virginia to Chester Township, Clinton County, Ohio along with some other Quaker families. His last two children were born in Ohio. Many of his descendants still live in the area. Moses also owned some land in Warren Co. Ohio where he built his house. This house was used during the Underground Railroad to hide runaway slaves. A photo of it is on a different page in this website.

In 1866 some of his descendants gathered together for the first Collett-McKay picnic partly to see who returned from the Civil War. The reason it is called the Collett-McKay picnic is because four of Moses's children -- Sarah, Francis, Virginia & Maria -- intermarried with four members of the Collett family.

The Collett-McKay picnic is held annually every 2nd Saturday in August starting at 12 noon on a portion of the original Moses McKay tract of land in Clinton Co. Ohio which was set aside many years ago and is held in trust by some of the descendants as a permanent site for the gathering.

These picnic grounds are located at the corner of Inwood and Gurneyville Roads in Chester Township, Clinton County, Ohio.

The Collett-McKay picnic grounds now have a street address to help visitors find the location. You can find the picnic grounds at:

5353 Gurneyville Rd.
Wilmington, OH

McKays Hold Family Reunion In Front Royal

(Newspaper article from unknown newspaper in Loudoun Co. Va. dated 1959)

McKays Hold Family Reunion In Front Royal

xxxxxThe 14th annual reunion of the McKay clan was held at the Virginia Gentleman Club, Front Royal, on July 26. Seventy-four members were present, guest coming from Richmond, Alexandria, Arlington, Luray, Front Royal, Purcellville, Millwood, Winchester and Bedford, Hyattsville, Severna Park and Silver Spring, Md. and Washington.

xxxxxThe management of the Virginia Gentleman Club served a buffet luncheon and provided swimming facilities. A gala time was reported.

xxxxxA business meeting was called by the president of the clan, J. Brownley McKay. Prayer was offered by Winston McKay. There was special recognition for Mrs. Isabelle McKay Hicks, Mrs. Lucy McKay Ray, and Hubert McKay for their outstanding work and interest in behalf of the McKay clan.

xxxxxCandidates elected included Perry Mowbray president, Mrs. Mary Hause vice president, Mrs. Ruby McKay secretary-treasurer.

xxxxxLater in the afternoon, members of the clan visited the recently dedicated Confederate museum in Front Royal. The interesting memorials and relics connected with the War Between the States were viewed, including the McKay memorial, which was made possible by donations from the clan.

xxxxxThe next McKay clan reunion will be held at the Virginia Gentleman Club on the fourth Sunday in July 1960.

McKay Clan Holds Reunion On Drive

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated Sept. 1954)

McKAY CLAN HOLDS REUNION ON DRIVE

xxxxxThe ninth annual McKay reunion was held Sunday, September 12, at Skyland Recreation Center. Seventy-nine descendants of Robert McKay, who settled in the Valley of Virginia near Cedarville, Virginia in 1732, were present. Everyone agreed that this was one of the most enjoyable occasions since the Clan was organized.

xxxxxA delicious lunch was served by the concession at the Skyland Recreation Center and during luncheon Mr. Beverly B. McKay, a close relative of Robert McKay, was called upon to speak. Mr. McKay's remarks were interesting, informative and humorous.

xxxxxA brief business session presided over by the Honorable John Rust, followed. Prizes were awarded for traveling the longest distance and bringing the most people to the meeting. These were won by Mrs. John Miller from Stamford, Conn. and Mrs. Lucy McKay Ray. Door prizes went to Mrs. Nancie Evans, Mrs. Jesse McKay and Strohm Evans. Samples of the McKay plaid were presented to each family present by Mrs. Henry McKay.

xxxxxA motion was made and carried that a committee be appointed to study the advisability of purchasing a memorial in the proposed Confederate Museum.

xxxxxA vote of thanks was given to those who had made the meeting such a success. Officers elected for the ensuing year are Marshall Gore, president; Randolph Barbee, vice president; Isabelle McKay Brockman, secretary and treasurer.

xxxxxAmong those present were Mr. and Mrs. Dearing McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKay and daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Millan of Alexandria, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall R. Gore, Miss Carol Gore, Mrs. Mary E. McKay, Mrs. Albert O. Brockman and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dudeck and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin and sons, Mrs. Elizabeth Keene of Arlington, Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keene and family of Ashburn, Va.; Mrs. J. Calloway Brown of Bedford, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. McKay of Bethesda, Md.

xxxxxMr. and Mrs. Clinton Boze of Charlottesville, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rust of Fairfax, Va.; Mrs. Jesse McKay, Mr. Jack McKay of Greenville, Va.; Miss Peggy Barbee of Hume, Va.; Mrs. C. J. Gillis of Haymarket, Va.; Mrs. Henry McKay, Mr. and Mrs. William K. McKay and daughter, Mrs. Florence W. Hudson, Mrs. Jack Smith, Miss Bell Buracker, Mrs. Blanche Bell Grove, of Luray, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Beverly B. McKay of Millwood, Va.; Mr. Carroll F. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. William P. McKay and family of Rocky Ridge, Md.; Mrs. Lucy McKay Ray, Mr. Antrim McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Evans and children of Severna Park, Md.; Mrs. Ron Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Allen and son, Mr. and Mrs. Archie L. McKay of Silver Spring, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Stamford, Conn.; Mrs. Christine McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Shipp, Mr. Randolph Barbee, Mr. and Mrs. Elmore K. McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell C. Pinkerton of Washington, D. C.

xxxxxAs all good things must come to an end so about 4 p. m. good-bys were said until the first Sunday after Labor day 1955.

McKay Reunion (1951)

McKay Reunion

xxxxxTo honor their ancestors and to renew associations once again ninety-seven members of the McKay family gathered for their annual reunion in the Front Royal Country Club Rooms on Sunday, October 8, 1951.

xxxxxAfter greetings were exchanged and a bountiful repast had been consumed, the meeting was called to order by President, John Rust, of Fairfax.

xxxxxEach member responded to Roll Call with a short resumee of his line of ancestry stemming from the original Robert McKay, who with Joist Hite, was so instrumental in settling in the year 1732, the Shenandoah Valley on the western side of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

xxxxxPrizes were distributed to both the older set and the younger folk. Mr. Deering McKay, of Washington, D. C., generously donated to the very young crowd, a combination swing and play-pen.

xxxxxOfficers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Mrs. Lucy McKay, of Severna PArk, Md.; Vice-President, Mr. John Rust, of Fairfax, Va.; Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth W. McKay, of Luray, and Mrs. Margaret Brown, of Bedford, Va., Assistant Secretary and Treasurer.

xxxxxWith the conclusion of the business session, the meeting was turned over to the speaker of the day, Mrs. Lucy McKay Ray.

xxxxxMrs. Ray gave a most interesting, informal talk on Old Wills and Deeds which she had collected during the year. Her pertinent remarks added greatly to the occasion, as she brought in anecdotes connected with the writing of the family documents. Also read, were marriage ceremonies, one of the quaintest being that of the Quaker Faith when Jane Ridgway and Andrew McKay were united in the Holy Bond of matrimony, unmistakably united, the Quakers being as they were in the year of 1760.

xxxxxIt was planned to incorporate the Wills, Deeds and Wedding Ceremonies in a book separate and distinct from the four volumes which the clan historian, Hunter B. McKay of Boston, Mass., has compiled on the history of the McKay family.

xxxxxIt was learned that Mr. Hunter McKay has agreed to donate his vast amount of genealogical data to the University of Virginia, for the convenience and reference of the McKay descendants, and in the interest of the State of Virginia.

xxxxxA vote of thanks was tendered President John Rust for his untiring efforts on behalf of the McKay Clan and the erection of the State marker on the highway at Nineveh, Virginia, where the first McKay, Robert, settled in 1732.

(Webmaster's note: As stated elsewhere in this website the house being mentioned here is the Robert Mackay Jr. house, not the Robert Mackay Sr. house. The sign is slightly incorrect in its reference to Robert Sr. concerning this particular house. MLM) xxxxxAppreciation was expressed to both Mrs. Lucy McKay Ray for her fine work, and to Mr. Deering McKay for his continued encouragement and zeal.

(Webmaster's note: His name should be spelled as 'Dearing' not 'Deering'. MLM) xxxxxHearty thanks went to Mrs. Isabelle McKay Brockman for her loyalty and efficiency as Secretary and Treasurer to the food and table arrangement committee; and to all others who, by their interest and work, have made the family gatherings occasions to be remembered with such pleasure.

xxxxxFollowing further discussion of family matters and the decision reached to meet again, in October 1952, the meeting was adjourned. But . . .

Should auld acquaintance be xxxxxforgot
And ne'er brought to mind?
Not while there breathes the xxxxxname, McKay--

The Scotch are a clannish kind.

xxxxxBeing the historian of the family, Hunter McKay gave an informal and highly enlightening talk on his experiences in connection with the compilation of the McKay family genealogy, two volumes of which are now bound and soon will be made available to interested persons. Mr. McKay gave a resume of the family, beginning with the Clan in Scotland in the year 1395, and tracing its growth and expansion on down to the present time. He noted that while times and customs change, the Scotch-Irishmen have changed but little, having retained the characteristics by which those races have become known, those characteristics which all jokes to the contrary, have so endeared the Scotchman to the world.

xxxxxThe Hon. John Rust, in his most interesting discussion of the family, stressed the human and more personal elements in the history of the McKay Clan--its war cries and badges, its castles, coats of arms and plaids; its feuds and ambitions; its hatreds and its loves. Delving into the past, Mr. Rust, who is a competent speaker and a student of family history, brought out facts and anecdotes of much interest to his listeners.

xxxxxHighly esteemed and powerful in the north of Ireland, the McKay Clan furnished many leaders. In 1689, James II appointed General Hugh McKay "Major-General of all the forces, whatever, within our ancient kingdom of Scotland," a position he held until his death in 1696 in the Battle of Steinkirk.

(Webmaster's note: I believe the writer meant to say 'Scotland' rather than 'Ireland'. Also, I've been informed that where it says 'James II' it should read as 'William 3rd'. MLM) xxxxxRobert McKay was the first of his name to settle in the Valley of Virginia, coming from Pennsylvania where the family were Quakers. Samuel Kercheval's History of the Valley of Virginia states the year as 1732. The original Robert McKay house at Cedarville was built of walnut logs and stone, and is believed to be the oldest standing house west of the Blue Ridge mountains. From this pioneer Robert, are descended all of the Virginia McKays.

(Webmaster's note: The above two paragraphs represent examples of a theory I have as to how I believe Hugh Mackay ended up being listed as Robert Mackay Sr.'s father. Some historical sketches of our family are preceeded by a history of the Clan Mackay of Strathnaver. Hugh Mackay was a prominent figure in the history of the Clan and usually after the brief historical sketch, which ended with this Hugh, began a sketch of the history of our Robert Mackay family. I believe that some researchers assumed because one followed the other that a connection must have existed between the two men although none has been stated in this article or others presented on this website. Also, I would like to point out two errors in the above paragraph. #1. The house being mentioned is actually the house of Robert Mackay Jr. Robert Mackay Sr. settled further south at 'Hay Bottom' which was located west of present day Front Royal, Va. To my knowledge, Robert Sr.'s house is no longer standing. #2. Robert is not the ancestor of all Virginia McKays. There were a few other Mckay families that settled in Virginia other than our Robert Mackay family. Their connection, if any, to our Robert Mackay family is unknown at this time. MLM) xxxxxThat Robert McKay was a man of means and influence, has been widely attested to by many records. His partnership with Joist Hite proved a profitable venture. The two men obtained an order of council for 100,000 acres of land north of North River and north of the forks of the Shenandoah, a grant which Lord Fairfax later, was to claim for himself under the name of the Culpeper Grant, or "Northern Neck." The rest became the history of Virginia. Hite and McKay filed suit against Lord Fairfax and were awarded the court judgment.

xxxxxRobert McKay's fortunes prospered. His sons and his sons' sons fared well, and the countryside became dotted with McKay homes. There was the old brick place, "Chamblin," at the Double Toll Gate, and the Joseph Miller stone house. "Erin," the Jesse McKay house at Ninevah, and the house of Joshua McKay, known as the "Antrim Farm." The LeHew house, the Painter house at Cedarville, the Melton house. The Robert McKay house and many others.

xxxxxOf special interest to Luray is the fact that Enos McKay, a descendant of Robert, settled in Page County at Spring Farm late in the 1700's and until he died in 1830 owned large tracts of land in and around Luray.

xxxxxIt is meet and fitting, that the descendants gather to honor the memory of the pioneer Robert McKay, who was a man of integrity, vision, and foresight, a real builder of the Valley section of Virginia. It is well that the McKay descendants continue to honor their ancestors, by contributing their best and utmost toward the upbuilding of their country and nation, in wartime and in peacetime, by upholding all those standards of conduct and those ideals which must have been in the heart and mind of Robert McKay as he stood high on some hillside, looking down upon his land and perhaps, saying to himself, as countless descendants must have echoed:

xxxxx"This is my own, my own loved xxxxxxxxxxland, xxxxxAcquired and tended by my hand.
xxxxxGrant I may pass on to my son xxxxxThat priceless heritage, work xxxxxxxxxxwell done!"

(Webmaster's note: (Regarding this last paragraph and the little quote about 'my own land' after it) Where do these writers come up with this stuff? haha It's memorable! MLM) xxxxxAfter a basket picnic lunch the meeting was in order and prizes were awarded as follows:

xxxxxTo the Hunter McKays for having travelled the greatest distance.

xxxxxTo the Rust family, for having the largest representation.

xxxxxTo Mrs. Henry McKay for being the oldest lady in attendance.

xxxxxTo Charles Gillis, the oldest gentleman present.

xxxxxTo Penelope McKay, for being the youngest girl.

xxxxxTo Stephen McKay Rust, the youngest boy present.

xxxxxIt was decided that the next meeting to be held the first Sunday in October, 1951. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year, and various committees appointed:

xxxxxPresident, Hon. John W. Rust.

xxxxxVice President, Dearing McKay.

xxxxxSec. and Treas., Mrs. Isabelle Brockman.

xxxxxAssist. Sec. and Treas., Mrs. Gertrude McKay.

xxxxxSgt. at Arms, Wm. P. McKay.

(Webmaster's note: We had a Seargent at Arms? What did he do? MLM) xxxxxThe Clan was most fortunate in procuring two speakers for the occasion, the Hon. John W. Rust, of Fairfax, Va., and Hunter McKay, of Belmont, Mass.

Editor's note: Thanks to Hunter McKay for retyping the talk and sending it to me to print.

(Webmaster's note: The notation 'HBM' used throughout this sketch refers to Hunter Branson McKay. Also, the above editor's note is one made by Wallace E. Shipp, former editor of the Robert McKay Clan Newsletter. I do not know if Mrs. Wood is still living or not. MLM)

xxxxxOn December 26, 1862, Robert S(hinn) McKay died. James Edwin McKay, then a Confederate soldier, and R. S. McKay (Author's note: I do not have a full transcript of the will of Robert S. McKay and so cannot be positive, but I think that possibly Mrs. Wood intended to write J. C. McKay instead of R. S. McKay as one of the two executors. HBM) were named as executors of his estate. His personal property was appraised at $16,708.00 A gold watch and chain valued at $100.00, and half of a set of Queensware, valued at $21.00 were taken by his heirs at time of appraisment.

xxxxxThe returned report of his sale showed a total of $ 15,505.50. Two tracts of real estate (farm land), located in Frederick County, sold by his executors to James A. Downing; the first tract of 172 acres and the second tract containing 75 acres, brought $50.00 per acre, totaling $9,000. I wonder if the executors accepted Confederate money in cash on the day of sale as the record does not show how payment was made. The sale of this property was recorded on January 18, 1864 (two years after the death of Robert S. McKay) and the recording fee was $.30. The deceased was the son of Moses and Abigail (Shinn) McKay.

xxxxxIn September, 1862, the McKays witnessed the return of wounded Confederates and active Confederate troops from the Battle of Sharpsburg, this battle being considered by many historians as the turning point of the war. The Confederacy really suffered its first great losses in this battle.

xxxxxIn November of 1862, General Jackson's Army camped at Ninevah and at the Confluence (now known as Riverton). But the remainder of the winter was quiet so far as troop movements were concerned.

xxxxxEarly in March, 1863, the Union Army was again on the move, either to or from the direction of Winchester, all passing through Cedarville and Ninevah. The Confederate Army was also using the same marching path. On June 12, 1863, the entire day was used up by General Ewell's Command and A. P. Hill's Division on their march to Winchester. This movement eventually ended in the Battle of Gettysburg, and immediately after this battle the armies were seen back in the Valley. For a short time after some peace was enjoyed from the continual presence of the enemy.

xxxxxBut on the other hand, the people were experiencing destitution. Stores had to close because of their entire stock being taken by the enemy and with no means of restocking with new merchandise. Money was fast becoming worthless, if even available at all. Prices had skyrocketed. The people continued to lose their entire crops to the invading enemy. The Yankees had begun to burn barns and homes. Thomas B. McKay was the first to have a barn destroyed by arson. He was then away from home, being in Mosby's command.

xxxxxAnother short period of rest from invasion was experienced for a few months, but in October, 1864, the Yankees were on the road again, plundering and looting as they traveled. They again occupied the area from Cedarville to Guard Hill or rather I should say to the Shenandoah River. All horses and edible live stock was taken. Entire crops were taken, either as food for the troops or for the horses. The last was the corn crop of 1864. A diary kept through the war years relates the following: "The last to was the season's corn crop. Out goes the bread for families in winter. The wheat crop has been taken early in the season."

xxxxxThe last great troop movement the McKays had to witness of either the Yankees or the Confederates was from late November through December of 1864 when both armies were moving on toward Richmond. These armies moved at different times through Ninevah and Cedarville, and camped on Guard Hill and at the Richards' place on the north side of the River. On the other side the camp ground extended from "Rose Hill" to Crizers. It was estimated that on December 19, 1864, that 8,000 Yankees passed through Ninevah and Front Royal. They were consumating plans to take Richmond. The Confederates were hoping to prevent this. Thus all were moving to the end of the conflict and the eventual surrender.

xxxxxThe people of Warren County evidently were too absorbed in the acts of war to take time for the recording of marriages, births or deaths in the County Court as I did not find these records for that period.

xxxxxThe only McKay births I can report for the war years was that of two infants and these came from other sources, that of Robert Edwin McKay, son of James Edwin McKay, who was born in Harrisonburg June 28, 1862 while his father was at Ft. Defiance, and Francis Wesley McKay, born at "Fair View" March 1, 1863 to Thomas Buck McKay and his wife Anne Elizabeth ("Betty") Lehew.

xxxxxI located the deaths through the wills that are recorded in the Warren County Court. The first marriage record I found after the Surrender was that of John McKay, 25 years of age, son of John W. and Mary McKay, to Lucelia Robinson, then 23 years old of Fauquier County, Va., and the daughter of Samuel and Tracey Robinson, on September 22, 1865, the minister being Thaddeus Herndon.

xxxxxThis completes the most interesting facts I could find on the McKays of Warren County, Virginia during the years of 1861 to 1865.

xxxxxI imagine that the majority of the older members of this Clan are familiar with most of the incidents I have reminded you of today. Perhaps I have been able to relate to the younger members of the family some of the history made by the McKays during the South's most trying period.

xxxxxI have enjoyed doing this research, and have made several visits with members of the family and took a personal tour of McKay lands to familiarize myself a little more with my subject besides referring to diaries of the War kept by persons here in Warren County, and to the files of Miss Laura Virginia Hale.

xxxxxxxxxxMrs. Dewey R. (Lola S.) Wood and the northern area of Virginia or on the move toward Richmond and other battlefields in that direction. Therefore, the roads through Manassas and Chester Gaps, the Luray and Winchester Turnpikes, and all roads connecting with these were in constant use, even in going to Harpers Ferry, Sharpsburg (Antietam) and Gettysburg the McKay homes were passed.

xxxxxIn the Spring of 1861, when it was reported that 40,000 Union troops were in Washington City ready to invade Virginia, the McKays saw Confederate troops marching past their homes on the way to defend the Southland, and the spirit of patriotism was kindled in the hearts of the young McKay men, and from then on the enlistments were numerous.

xxxxxAlexandria was the first city in Virginia, and really the first Southern City to evacuate when it was learned that Union troops were entering the City. One of these families was that of David Funsten and Susan Everard Meade his wife with her servants left their home they loved so much in Alexandria and came to the home of her brother in Clarke County, for the duration of the war.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, of "Orchard Farm", left his wife and child (John Kenney McKay) to serve in the famous 12th Virginia Cavalry. She left her home, took her child and went to her parents' home in Harrisonburg where she remained until she moved to a property owned by her family near Fort Defiance, Va. She was living there when her second child whom she named Robert Edwin McKay was born in 1862.

xxxxxAlexandria having been taken over by the Union Army in May of 1861, troop movements of both armies continued and resulted in the Battle of First Manassas in July 1861. Thomas Buck McKay was there with the Warren Rifles. Anne Elizabeth Lehew, his wife, was home at "Fairview" with her four small children: William Buck, Charles Edward, Sallie Branson and Jonathan M. McKay, all ranging from three to seven years of age. Needless to say she was experiencing great anxiety, but little did she then know what hardships the next four years held in store for her.

xxxxxOn May 23, 1862 when the Battle of Front Royal took place, the battle just did not exactly end in Front Royal. The battle continued through the next day and ended at Ninevah on the lands of Thomas Buck and Joshua Antrim McKay. "Fair View", the home of Thomas Buck McKay was occupied as a hospital for the wounded of both sides. These McKays not only furnished battlefields, but a strip of land at "Fair View" adjoining "Antrim Farm" was used by the Yankees to bury their slain men. The bodies of these Yankee soldiers remained there until years later when they were moved by the United States Government when the National Cemetery was established in Winchester, Va.

xxxxxA dozen or more Yankee soldiers, captured by General Jackson's men, were left in the yard at "Fair View" in the custody of one Confederate guard until they were picked up by a detail and taken to prison. However this did not materialize because several Yankee soldiers had crouched in the wheat field opposite "Fair View" during the battle. After the Confederate Army had moved on, their bravery returned to them, they emerged from the wheat field, shot the Confederate guard and released their comrades in blue.

xxxxxBy the end of 1862, the McKays knew what living on a battlefield and in an invaded country was like. They were experiencing all the hardships an invaded land and its people suffer. The Yankees exercised the privilege of taking any fruits, vegetables and crops, either harvested or in the ripening stage, and especially grain crops which they could use for horse feed. They also took any desirable horse they could find, or any cattle that would make good beef. Soldiers in small groups camping in the area would drop in and demand that meals be prepared for them. They were also beginning to take personal items from the houses. At "Erin" Mr. Jesse H. McKay cut a section of flooring in his downstairs bedroom 34" by 38" in size and stored valuable and cherished possessions and lots of food. He covered this with a room size carpet and placed his bed over it. Since the house did not have a basement, the storage place was not suspected by the enemy.

xxxxxTroops were continuously on the move over the Winchester Turnpike. Signal posts were established at or on Guard Hill which proved to be a vantage point to watch movements from Manassas and Chester Gaps and the Luray Turnpike as well as activities in Front Royal. Federal pickets surrounded Front Royal when activity was at its height in this area and the McKays like the other people were prevented from entering the town. They were cut off from all stores, communications of any kind, and every man was continuously urged to take the Oath of Allegiance to the United States. Men were arrested for no reason at all, and among those from the Cedarville-Ninevah section was Mr. Jesse H. McKay of "Erin" who was abused as was Mr. Jacobs who lived nearby and other men in his company at that time because he would not take the Oath.

xxxxxIn June, 1862, it was estimated that 100,000 Union troops were camping between Ninevah and what is now known as Crizer Road in Front Royal. They were on their way to Richmond. This movement continued on through July. On the 18th the Confederates attacked a Union train at Cedarville and captured a great quantity of valuable war supplies. Can you visualize how the landscape looked when 100,000 soldiers with their horses and necessary equipment and army supplies were occupying the territory?

xxxxxDuring 1861 and 1862 records substantiate the fact that other losses besides those connected with the war were suffered by the McKays. Book C, page 405 of Wills recorded in the Circuit Court of Warren County denotes that on September 16, 1861, the date of the will of Joshua (Antrim) McKay whose wife Ester Ann (Haycock) and his children named Nancy Antrim, Joshua Antrim and Francis H. (but more generally known as "Frank", HBM), that Jesse H. McKay and Joseph McKay were named as Executors. At that time a Joseph Casper McKay was in the Confederate Army, however I imagine he was the same one named in the will. (I think the executor named was more likely the elder Joseph McKay, son of John, who was 63 at that time, rather than the younger Joseph Casper McKay, then in the Army. HBM). One provision of his will provided for Washington Wells, a "Free Colored Man", to have the use of a house and 20 acres of land during his life, providing he paid the estate $12.00 annually. He was also asked to give all help and advise possible to his wife Esther (Ann Haycock) in operating her farms.

"THE MCKAYS OF WARREN COUNTY, VIRGINIA, 1861-1865",
Address given by Mrs. Dewey E. Wood
at the Mimslyn Hotel, Luray, Va., June 27, 1971

xxxxxIn 1861 at the beginning of the War Between the States the McKay Family, descendants of Robert McKay, Jr. of Warren County, (Va.) owned and occupied the greater portion of land between the mouth of Crooked Run and the village of Nineveh. It can be said truthfully that the majority of the families living in this area which extended from Guard Hill to Double Toll Gate were relatives of the McKays through marriages of McKay daughters, beginning with those of Robert McKay, Jr., on through the years up to 1861.

xxxxxIn addition to the original Robert McKay, Jr., home at Cedarville, the following homes were owned and occupied by McKays: "The Willow Bend Farm", occupied by the Joseph McKay family; "Orchard Farm" (later the John M. Bierer, Sr. place and formerly the home of Andrew & Robert S. McKay), occupied by the James Edwin McKay family; "Antrim Farm", occupied by the Joshua Antrim McKay family; "Fair View", then occupied by the Thomas Buck McKay family, and later by the Funstens but then occupied by the Jesse H. McKay family; and "The Wrens Nest", the home of Joseph Francis McKay.

Charles Lewis McKay, a Sgt. in Co. E, 12th Virginia Cavalry who died in Ft. McHenry, Prison, Baltimore, Md., on April 17, 1865 (8 days after the surrender and was buried in Loudoun Park National Cemetery, Baltimore, Md. Is he still there, or was he moved?--I am wondering if Cousin Antrim Almond McKay, who lives near Baltimore could investigate this?).

Jacob Francis McKay, also served in Co. E, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.

James Edwin McKay, Sgt., served as Quarter Master in Co. E., 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.

John Walter McKay, Lieutenant, Co. I, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.

Joseph Casper McKay, Co. I, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.

Jesse Clay McKay, Captain, 7th Brigade, First Virginia Cavalry.

Thomas Buck McKay, Co. B, 17th Regiment, Virginia Infantry (Warren Rifles) until a date in 1862, possibly after the experience his family was subjected to following the Battle of Front Royal when he obtained a substitute in his place. He returned home and remained there until Col. John Singleton Mosby formed his command when Thomas Buck McKay became a member of Co. B, 43rd Battalion, Virginia Cavalry and served for the duration of the war.

Alfred Almond McKay, a Corporal in Co. E, 7th Regiment of Virginia Cavalry enlisted March 25, 1862 in Woodstock, Va., at the age of 21, served the remainder of the war and was paroled in Winchester, Va. on June 8, 1865.

xxxxxThere were numerous cousins in the Confederate Army. Among these were two brothers, Captain Samuel D. Buck, a member of the "Boomerangs" of Co. H., 13th Regiment, Virginia Infantry, and William A. (Sandy) Buck, Co. H., 13th Regiment, Virginia Infantry, sons of Elias McKay Buck of Buckton. Sandy Buck was cited for bravery at the Battle of Greenland Gap, Virginia, now West Virginia. General Early said of Captain Samuel Buck, "Buck is the bravest man I ever saw".

xxxxxAnother descendant of the McKays serving with distinction in both the Military and the Confederate States Government was David Funsten, son of Margaret McKay and Oliver Funsten, born at "Erin", May 14, 1821 (The Funsten-Meade Geneal. gives his birthdate as Oct. 14, 1819). He served first as a Colonel of the 11th Regiment, Virginia Infantry until severely wounded at the Battle of Seven Pines. Later he served as a representative from Virginia to the Confederate States Congress for the duration of the Confederate Government.

xxxxxHistorians have not recorded too much history about Warren County during the War Between the States. The main events have been very colorful, and about three in number. First, the Battle of Front Royal that extended into McKay territory, where "Brother Fought Brother", during May of 1862; second, the Mosby and Custer incident down the streets of Front Royal, in September 1864; and third, the activities of Belle Boyd, the famous Confederate Spy who claimed Front Royal as her residence during the majority of the war years, and where several of her exploits took place.

xxxxxOne would think that due to the Valley Campaign, the Cedar Creek and other battles in the main stream of the Shenandoah Valley, the many times Winchester was in the hands of the Yankees on one side, and the famous Battles of 1st and 2nd Manassas, the Wilderness and Peninsula Campaigns, and the continuous attempts to capture Richmond, plus the Battles of Antietam and Gettysburg to the Northern direction--that the McKays probably lived in the area as remote from actual invasion as was experienced in certain sections of Western Virginia. One would not have thought that the McKays would have experienced anxieties of an invaded land other than worry about the safety of their boys away from home. But this was far from being the case.

xxxxxInstead of living in a quiet atmosphere the circumstances were exactly opposite, and a great part of the suffering they endured was because of a geographical situation and their closeness to Front Royal which was a cross roads used by both the Confederate Army and the Union Army. Since Virginia was the main battlefield, troops were continually on the move, going either to or from the Valley--going toward Washington, to Manassas xxxxxJacob McKay, 3rd, son of Jacob McKay and Rachel Shinn, born September 1, 1785, died June 16, 1852, buried in the Quaker Graveyard at Nineveh, Virginia, married Elizabeth Antrim, daughter of Caleb Antrim and Sarah Garwood, who was born October 2, 1789, (Hopewell Friends, page 491) and died July 5, 1854, also buried in Nineveh Graveyard. His will is recorded in Will Book B, page 203 of the will books of Warren County, Virginia.

(Webmaster's note: Jacob 3rd, actually son of Jacob McKay & Elizabeth Wright. MLM)

A. Nancy Antrim McKay (1809-1828) wife of Robert S. McKay

B. Joshua Antrim McKay (1811-1861), married Esther Ann Haycock. He was a surveyor xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxand the first County Surveyor of Warren County.
C. Jesse Hitter McKay (1813-1892), married, first, Lucy May Almond; second wife, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxMartha C. Lane
D. Sarah Jane McKay (1817-1879), married Charles Buck.
E. Eliza McKay (1819) married John Gill Buck.
F. James Buck McKay
G. Francis McKay
H. Thomas Branson McKay, born August 11, 1831, died August 25, 1911 in Clarke xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxCounty, Virginia.
I. Oscar Cabel McKay, (1835)
J. William B. McKay.

(Webmaster's note: Nancy A. McKay's death year incorrect. Should read 1852. Also, Thomas B. McKay's middle name should read 'Buck'. I have his birthdate as 14 August 1831. MLM) xxxxxJoshua Antrim McKay lived in the old brick house known as the "Antrim Farm", about two miles north of Cedarville on the east side of the Winchester Turnpike and about one-half mile from the Pike, which was willed to him by his great Uncle Joshua Antrim, whose will was probated on November 18, 1844, in Warren County Virginia.

xxxxxJesse Hitter McKay lived in the fine old home at Nineveh, known as "Erin", one of the show places of the section, on the Winchester Pike.

xxxxxThomas Buck McKay lived during the Civil War in the stone and frame house on the Winchester Pike about two miles north of Cedarville, known as the "Lehew House", and later in a brick house on the west side of Crooked Run about one mile south of Nineveh.

xxxxxJacob McKay, 3rd, willed to his son, Oscar McKay, "All of the residue of my home tract of land, lying west of the road leading from Cedarville to Nineveh and north of Chapel Road, including all of the buildings." This was the original Robert McKay, Jr., home at Cedarville.

xxxxxThis paper was prepared by John W. Rust, of Fairfax, Virginia, at the request of the Committee appointed by the Present Chief of the McKay Clan, H. Randolph Barbee, to be read at the annual meeting of the Clan on August 11, 1957, at Skyline, Virginia. The compiler of these records deeply regrets that it has been impossible for him to extend this paper to the various Virginia branches of the McKay family, and he hopes that anyone interested in a different line of the family will order from Mrs. Beatrice McKay Doughtie one of her fine books that extends all lines of the Virginia McKays from Robert McKay, Sr., to a recent period. The information contained in this book is unbelievable and indicates many years of intensive study, and any one interested in the McKay history will find a full and complete line of all branches of the McKay family contained in this excellent book.

(Webmaster's note: 'Chief of the McKay Clan' should actually be the 'President of the McKay Clan'. MLM)

Jacob McKay, born Sept. 1, 1785, died June 16, 1852.

xxxxxHis children by his first wife, Patience Job, were:

A. Andrew McKay (1736-1804) married Jane Ridgeway, daughter of John and Jane xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxRidgeway, November 27, 1760.
B. Jacob McKay (1738) married, first, Rachel Ridgeway, daughter of Hannah Brown xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxand John Ridgeway on August 15, 1765, second wife Rebecca xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx(Janney) Gregg, widow.
C. Margaret McKay (1740), married Richard, son of Hannah Brown and John Ridgeway xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxon December 22, 1762, at Crooked Run.
D. Robert McKay (1744-1800), probably son, married Mary __________
E. Job McKay, probably a son.
F. John McKay, probably a son.
xxxxxThere may have been other children

(Webmaster's note: Andrew's wife, Jane Ridgeway's parents should read John & Hannah (Brown) Ridgeway, the same as Rachel's & Richard's parents listed just below. Also, three other children not mentioned in this report are: Enoch, Jesse & Sarah. MLM) xxxxxJacob McKay, Sr., married, first Rachel Ridgeway, daughter of Hannah Brown and John Ridgeway, on August 15, 1865, and married, second, Rebecca (Janney) Gregg, widow. Known children by first wife, Rachel Ridgeway, are:

(Webmaster's note: wedding year should read '1765'. Also, Jacob was married three times. His 2nd wife was Rachel (Wright) Shinn whom he married on 7 Jul 1784 in Stafford MM, and his 3rd wife waa Rebecca Janney, widow of Mr. Gregg. MLM)

A. Hannah McKay, who married Joshua Wood on May 16, 1792, at Crooked Run. Hopewell

B. Sarah McKay, who married Samuel Walton of Shenandoah County, Va., on December
xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx6, 1797, Hopewell Friends, page 402.
C. John McKay, born Nov. 2, 1773, died 1845. Buried at Nineveh, Married xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxRebecca Wickersham. Lived at Painter Place, Cedarville, Va.
D. Jacob McKay, Jr., married Rachel Shinn of the County of Stafford, July 7, 1784, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxHopewell Friends, page 377.

xxxxxChildren by second wife, Rebecca:

E. Jesse McKay
F. Asa McKay

(Webmaster's note: New evidence suggests that John McKay's wife's surname wasn't Wickersham. Also, Jacob McKay Jr.'s listing is incorrect. More on that later. The children listed as being from the 2nd marriage of Jacob Sr., i.e. Jesse & Asa McKay, are actually from his first marriage. I am not aware of any children being born from Jacob Sr.'s other two marriages. Rachel (Wright) Shinn did have children from her 1st marriage to George Shinn. MLM)

xxxxxRobert McKay, Jr., was the oldest son of Robert McKay, Sr., as shown by the Court Records June 7, 1797. He resided on a tract of 828 acres, lying on both sides of Crooked Run, which was granted to him by the Crown on October 3, 1734. The home of Robert McKay, Jr., is still standing today in the hamlet of Cedarville, Warren County, Virginia, about three miles north of Front Royal on the Winchester Pike, and is marked with a Virginia Road Marker and is said tobe the oldest house still standing west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, the oldest portion being of walnut logs and the new part of native limestone.

xxxxxJacob McKay, son of Jacob McKay and Rachel Ridgeway, daughter of Hannah Brown and John Ridgeway, married Rachel Shinn of the County of Stafford on July 7, 1784, Hopewell Friends, page 377, and had a son:

(Webmaster's note: The listing for Jacob McKay, Jr.'s wife is totally incorrect. The woman listed here is actually his step-mother as indicated in the listing for Jacob Sr. Jacob Jr. actually married Elizabeth Wright. She is the mother of Jacob III listed below. After her death Jacob married Margaret 'Peggy' __________. They had children of which there isn't much known except for a son, Jesse who is mentioned in Jacob's will. The others I'm guessing may have died young. MLM)

A. Jacob McKay, 3rd, married Elizabeth Antrim, daughter of Caleb Antrim and xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxElizabeth Antrim being born on February 10, 1789, Hopewell the Courts, and the grantees were entitled to hold the land they had settled upon. It was the courage and adventurous spirit of these early Valley pioneers that blazed the path for progress and civilization and made this section what it is today.

xxxxxThe old Quaker graveyard at Nineveh was a lease for 99 years from Thomas Branson of Orange County, N.C., to John Painter of Frederick County, Virginia, and dated June 1, 1758, to run 99 years. It conveyed 4 acres of land on the southeast side of Crooked Run "for a Friends Meeting house & Burying ground, for that use, and no other." Hopewell, page 74. This lease is recorded in Winchester, Virginia.

xxxxxThe information contained in this article has been obtained from Kercheval's History of the Valley, Hopewell Friends History, 1734-1934, Frederick County, Virginia, the Mackeys (variously spelled), and Allied Families by Beatrice Mackey Doughtie (containing 1002 pages), McKay History and Genealogy by Hunter B. McKay, 2 Colonial Terrace, Belmont, Massachusetts, and other sources. This article should have been written by Hunter B. McKay, the McKay Historian, as he has a vast supply of records and information and has furnished me with a large amount of the data included herein. The McKays owe him a debt of gratitude for his wonderful work in compiling the McKay History.

xxxxxIt is absolutely impossible for me to do more than simply trace one line of the family from the original pioneer, Robert McKay, Sr., to a certain date. If any of the branches of the McKays are not included in this article and they desire to trace a specific branch, it can be done by references to the above books, and especially to the excellent book of Mrs. Doughtie, above referred to, which can be obtained by writing her and enclosing $10.00.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Sr., the Pioneer, removed from Cecil County, Maryland, to Virginia, in 1731, and settled in Orange County, Virginia. He married first Ann Brown and, second, Margaret __________.

(Webmaster's note: We now know of three wives of Robert Mackay Sr. Margaret was his 3rd wife. His 2nd wife was named Mary. Also, Orange County is the parent county of Frederick. The area of Robert's settlement is in what is now Warren County. MLM) xxxxxThe will of Robert McKay, Sr., dated October 7, 1746, and probated in Augusta County, Virginia, on August 19, 1752, mentions the following children and wife:

D. Zachariah McKay
E. Leah McKay, who married William Taylor, also called Tyler.
F. Margaret McKay, who married Joshua Job, January 11, 1730, son of Andrew and xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxElizabeth Job.
G. Hannah McKay, who married George Hollingsworth at the home of Isaac Parkins xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxin Virginia, on December 19, 1734. This is said to be the

H. Mary McKay who married George Robinson, February 14, 1726.
I. Elizabeth McKay, married Abraham Job, July 8, 1739.

xxxxxThe will mentions his wife, Margaret, and all of the land devised by the will and upon which land he and his sons lived (except Robert McKay, who lived at Cedarville), was upon the South branch of the Shenandoah River a few miles above Front Royal, stretching along the River for about 13 miles. His Executors were his sons, Robert, Jr., Zachariah, Moses and James. Witnesses were Gabriel Jones, David Vance and Abraham Hite.

xxxxxI have given you the foregoing history of the McKays of Scotland in order that you may have some knowledge of your highland ancestors and the important part they have played in Scottish history. The name McKay has been held in high esteem and honor for many centuries in Scotland.

xxxxxThe war-cry of this courageous Clan was "The White Banner of the McKays," and their Badge or Flower was the "Red Grass." known to us as the "Cat-O'Nine-Tails." Their home was a handsome castle known as "The Tongue House," and their coat of arms was a shield of blue with two boar heads above and one below, and a center of gold, with a deer head, and a hand on each side containing a dagger pointing at and almost touching the deer head, a very colorful and lovely emblem.

(Webmaster's note: 'Red Grass' should be 'Reed Grass'. MLM)

THE McKAYS OF VIRGINIA

xxxxxFrom the best information obtainable, Robert McKay, Sr., the emigrant, was in Pennsylvania in 1726, with his wife, Margaret, and a family of children. See page 150 "The McKays and Allied Families," by Mrs. C. E. Doughtie, Jr. (Beatrice MacKey Doughtie) 3449 Peachtree Road, N.E., C-2, Atlanta 5, Georgia. (Price $10.00)

(Webmaster's note: It hasn't been determined whether Robert Sr. was the immigrant or not. Also, Beatrice Mackey Doughtie is deceased and I'm not sure if the book is still available. We've learned much, much more about our family history since that book was published. MLM)

xxxxxSamuel Kercheval's History of the Valley of Virginia, under Title "First Settlement of the Valley," states that Joist Hite, with his family, and his sons in law, George Bowman, Jacob Chrisman and Paul Froman, with their families, and Robert McKay, Robert Green, William Duff, Peter Stevens and others, amounting in the whole to sixteen families, removed from Pennsylvania, cutting their road from York and crossing the Potomac River about two miles above Harper's Ferry, to Winchester, Virginia. This road was known as the "Road to Opeckon" and was the first wagon road from Pennsylvania to Opequon and followed in a large measure a well marked Indian trail known as the Consetoga Path. Hopewells Friends, page 113. Kercheval states that Hite settled on the Opequon, about five miles south of Winchester. Peter Stevens settled at Stephensburg and Robert McKay settled on Crooked Run about nine miles southeast of Stephensburg, which would be at Cedarville, Virginia.

xxxxxIt would however, appear from accurate records that Kercheval was mistaken in stating that Robert McKay, Sr., settled at Cedarville, Virginia, now in Warren County, about four miles north of Front Royal, Virginia. Hopewell Friends History of Frederick County, Virginia, page 186, states that Robert McKay, Sr., lived on or near the South Fork of the Shenandoah River, several miles above Riverton. This placed him in Augusta County after 1744, then the line between Frederick and Augusta Counties was surveyed, and his will, dated October 7, 1746, was probated in Augusta County on September 19, 1752. His oldest son, Robert McKay, Jr., lived on a tract of 828 acres of land on both sides of Crooked Run in what is now Warren County, which he held by a Crown patent bearing date of October 3, 1734. He was closely associated with Friends of Hopewell and Crooked Run meetings, and meetings were held at his house, and the Journal of John Fothergill records that on September 9, 1736, John "Fothergill went from Alexander Rosse's meeting to the following day near 'Shenando' River held at Robert McKay's the younger, pretty open and comfortable". Hopewell Friends, Page 187.

xxxxxPage 151 of "The McKays and Allied Families, it is quoted as follows:

> "On the petition of Robt. McKay & Joost Heyd, of the Province of Pensilvania, setting forth that they & Divers other families to the number of one hundred are disirous to remove from thence & Seat themselves on the back of the great Mountains within this Colony, & praying that one hundred thousand acres of land lying between the Line of the Land granted to John Vanmeter, Jacob Stover, John Fishback & others may be assigned to them, and that the residue of said hundred thousand acres may be assigned upon & including the several branches of Sherundo River, above the said Stover & Fishback & his partners. The Governor, with the advice of the Council, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered that the petitioners in behalf of themselves and their partners, have leave to take up Sd. Quantity of 100,000 acres of Land within the limits above discribed, and that upon the above Number of Families coming to dwell there within two years, Patents shall be granted them in such manner as they shall agree to divide the same." Extract from the proceedings of the Colonial Council of Virginia, October 21, 1731.

xxxxxIt is further stated that they were unable to settle 100 families on their land in two years and the Governor and Council in a subsequent order extended the time to 1737, when it was found that sufficient settlers were in actual residence to comply with the original order.

xxxxxThis grant did not require that the 100,000 acres was to be surveyed in a block, and the said Robert McKay and Joist Hite and their associates could choose any land that they desired in this section. They did choose the most desirable portions of this land, mostly on the rivers and streams, and it was known as "strip grants," and it was objected to seriously by Lord Fairfax in his suits with the McKays and Hites, but Fairfax was overruled by

Introduction to The McKays of Virginia

(Webmaster's note: Since this document was first distributed many years ago during one of our family reunions a lot of new information has been uncovered in regards to our family history. I have endeavoured to make notations through the text commenting on any part of the document where I feel a correction is needed so that the reader doesn't make the mistake that what he/she is reading is current and up to date. The most reliable genealogical record on the early family of Robert Mackay Sr. that I'm aware of so far is the most recent book on the family published by Dee Ann Buck. You can purchase a copy by contacting her by e-mail: deeranddoe@hotmail.com. In this book many mistakes made by earlier historians have been examined and corrected. Even so, we are constantly learning new facts concerning our family history which would of course lead to new revisions of what we previously knew in regards to our history. MLM)

McKAY CLAN REUNION.

Introduction to

By John W. Rust, Fairfax, Virginia

xxxxxThe Clan McKay occupied the extreme northern part of Scotland, just south of the Orkney Islands, known as "Strathnavern", and were the highest of the highlanders.

(Webmaster's note: We know the name is correctly spelled as 'Mackay' but this document is being reproduced 'as is' with the name being spelled as 'McKay' as it was in the document when John W. Rust first distributed it. MLM)

xxxxxThe information as to the McKays of Scotland is obtained principally from "History of Scotland, Its Highlands, Regiments and Clans," written by James Browne, L.L.D., published in eight volumes by Francis A. Niccolls and Company, of Edinburgh, London and Boston in 1909. I would recommend to anyone interested in Scotch history to obtain a set of these books, if possible, as they contain all of the clans, their war cries, badges, castles, coats of arms and plaids in color, and a complete history of each clan, giving the family names and location of the various clans.

(Webmaster's note: A better history of Clan Mackay can be found in Ian Grimble's three volume set on the history of Clan Mackay which is discribed elsewhere in this website. MLM)

xxxxxThe first mention of the Clan McKay is in the year 1395, and it was then a strong and powerful organization, occupying a large portion of northern Scotland, and its Chief was Y-McKay of Farr, who had two sons, Donald McKay and Nicholas McKay. In the year 1395 a feud began between the McKays and the Earl of Sutherland, who lived just south of the McKay Clan, in which many lives were lost and great depredations were committed on both sides. The Earl of Sutherland proposed a meeting of the parties at Dingwall in the presence of the Lord of The Isles, some of the neighboring Gentry, and friends of the two families, and a discussion took place between the Earl and McKay, in which high and reproachful words were exchanged, which so incensed the Earl that he killed McKay and his son, and with difficulty effected his escape from the followers of the McKays, and fled to his home. The matter was in some degree reconciled between Robert, the successor of Nicolas, and Angus McKay, the oldest son of Donald McKay. Familiar names of the early McKays of Scotland were Neill McKay, John McKay, Dubh McKay, Y-Roy McKay, Black Angus McKay and Rob Roy McKay.

xxxxxHistory relates many feuds and wars between the Scottish McKays and their highland neighbors. They were typical highlanders and ready to fight upon the slightest opportunity and often provided the opportunity themselves.

xxxxxThe early McKays who settled in Warren County, Virginia, were Quakers and were always of a peaceful and happy nature, and it is rather hard to understand how warlike and fierce their Scottish ancestors must have been as shown by history.

xxxxxGeneral Hugh McKay was invited to England by James II, from whom on the fourth of June, 1685, he received the appointment of Major-General or Commander-in-Chief of all the forces in Scotland. He, however, disliked the arbitrary proceedings of James II and resigned his commission. By a warrant signed January 4, 1689, Hugh McKay was appointed "Major-General of all the forces whatever, within our ancient Kingdom of Scotland," and the Kingdom of Scotland does "Acknowledge the great kindness and care of the King of England, and do hereby warrant and authorize the said Major-General McKay to command any forces, either standing or raised, with the Malitis, within this Kingdom." McKay was raised to the rank of Lieutenant-General in 1696, and was killed in the Battle of Steinkirk.

(Webmaster's note: I believe it is possible that this document may have inadvertantly started the idea that our Robert Mackay Sr. is the son of Capt. Hugh Mackay and Jane Dunbar, probably because of what was written here above. However, if you read this carefully no connection is being put forward here stating that our Robert is the son of this man. This is simply a brief history of the Clan Mackay and a few key events in Clan Mackay history. The only problem I have is the assumption that our family descends from the Strathnaver Mackays simply because of our surname without any actual evidence to back up the claim. MLM)

xxxxx"Except for the erection of this museum to house the many war relics that are fast becoming extinct and lost to future generations, history cannot be properly preserved and the future sons of the North and South will never know of the sacrifices that were made on both sides in this useless war. On the farm on which I was reared at Nineveh the First Maryland Regiment, North, and the First Maryland Regiment, South, fought each other, and brother fought brother, and uselessly killed each other. My mother was given the flag of the First Maryland Regiment, North, by a Southern soldier, who had captured it in this battle and she hid it under the house until after the war. She gave it to the Turner Ashby Camp at Winchester many years ago. The soldier said he would return for the flag if he lived after the war, but he never came back.

xxxxx"No section of the State suffered more during this conflict than this part of the Valley. Winchester changed hands more than any other city of the country, and Front Royal was a close second as the Northern and Southern troops marched through the streets of this Town continuously for the period of four long years. Sheridan destroyed the crops and burned the barns, and carried away the cattle, horses and other stock and made of this fine section a desert, in order to destroy what was known as the bread basket of the Confederacy.

xxxxx"However, this section of the Valley has now recovered partially from his cruel and inhuman war, and its vast fields are yielding as fine crops as any section of the world. Its people the flourishing and prosperous and have a great future before them, but they can never forget the devastation of 1861 to 1865, and this Confederate Museum will contain relics that will impress upon future generations the history of these times, and the many fine memorials to the various fine families of this Valley and County, will perpetuate their memories for all times, and great credit should be given to the noble women and men who have had a part in this great work.

xxxxx"We should all take off our hats to Miss Laura Virginia Hale, and the other fine women who have had such a prominent part in the erection of this Confederate Memorial, and who have given so freely of their time and efforts to such a noble achievement in honor of our sacred dead, who gave their all for the Southern cause and the defense of their homes and State.

xxxxx"I appeal to all who may hear my voice over this radio station to have some part in the erection of this Confederate Memorial and in perpetuating the memory of the brave and noble men who served in the Confederate army from this County and Section, by contributing to the erection of this Museum."

Rust Is Speaker On UDC Weekly Radio Program

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated Thursday, 11 August 1955)

xxxxxJohn W. Rust of Fairfax, Va., was the guest speaker, July 27, on the weekly WFTR radio program sponsored by the Warren Rifles Chapter, U. D. C. Mr. Rust, a distinguished lawyer and former state senator, is interested in Virginia's history and is particularly well acquainted with our section of the state. The following is a transcript of his talk:

xxxxx"I was very much pleased and gratified to receive an invitation to talk to the radio audience of Warren County and the Valley of Virginia, upon the subject of the Confederate Museum that is being built in Front Royal, Va., as my father, Captain John R. Rust of Company I, 12th Virginia Cavalry, and my mother, Nannie Antrim McKAy, were both natives of Warren County, Va., and I was born and reared at Nineveh, Warren County, Va., and continued to reside in the County until I was 20 years of age. I still own 500 acres of land on the Shenandoah River, about ten miles below Front Royal, which land has been in my family since 1747, and which land belonged to my grandmother, Mary Ann Ashby. So I am still very much connected with and interested in Warren County, and whatever affects Warren County, and the State of Virginia, is near and dear to me.

xxxxx"My father, Captain John R. Rust, and six first cousins joined the Confederate Army on the day after the State seceded from the Union, April 18, 1861, four Rust boys and two Shumate boys. Four were killed in battle, and my father and your townsman William O. Rust, who was the cashier of the bank in Front Royal for many years, and his brother, Bushrod Rust, who was Superintendent of Schools for many years in Roanoke, Va., were the only survivors of this terrible civil strife, the effects of which we are still feeling today. They were members of the famed Laurel Brigade, under General Rosser.

xxxxx"Eleven McKays were soldiers from Warren County, and the McKay Clan is establishing a memorial in the New Museum to their memory, and a memorial will also be contributed to the Rust soldiers of this war from Warren County.

xxxxx"I have not intended to be too personal in making my talk to you today, but I did want you to know that I am deeply interested in the progress and success of this Confederate Museum to honor as brave a body of soldiers as ever fought for the honor and integrity of their native land.

xxxxxWhen I was in the Virginia Senate I sponsored a bill along with your townsman and statesman, the late Senator Aubrey G. Weaver and the late Senator Henry W. Wickham of Hanover County, to erect a monument to Stonewall Jackson on the Manassas battlefield on the spot where he won his immortal name of "Stonewall." The State appropriated the sum of $25,000 for that purpose and the monument now stands as a lasting tribute to this great Virginian, one of God's most noble men. No finer man or soldier ever lived and died for his home and native land. Would to God we now had more men of his sterling qualities and valor to guide us through the perilous times in which we live and find our country today.

xxxxx"The least we Southern people can do is to erect museums and to write in stone and bronze the deeds of valor and courage of the Southern Soldier in order that their true history may be preserved for future generations.

xxxxx"It is most gratifying that this spot was chosen for this Confederate Museum as it was here that so many of the battles of this war were fought and where Jackson's men defeated Banks in the famous Valley campaign that has been studied by military men of all nations as an example of the highest standard of successful maneuvering of men in battle.

xxxxx"I knew so many of Jackson's men personally as they visited my father on many occasions and I have listened for hours to their wonderful tales of valor and bravery in the defense of this Valley against untold odds in numbers and supplies. For four long years they resisted the hordes of the North, fully armed and equipped, with unsurpassed bravery and courage, and it is but fitting that we should all be united in making this Confederate Museum one of the finest in the South.

xxxxx"I was instrumental in the erection of the Museum on the Manassas Battlefield, having been president of the Manassas Battlefield Confederate Park and I hope to do all that I can to make a great success of this fine memorial to the Southern Soldier.

xxxxx"I have a number of relics that I intend to give to this museum, including bullets, belt buckles, cannon balls, etc. I recently found something on my farm on the Shenandoah River, owned by my grandfather, Charles B. Rust, that I think will be of interest to many people. It is one of John Brown's pikes that he delivered to the slaves in this Valley, under the assumed name of Smith, when he rented property near Harper's Ferry prior to his infamous attack upon Virginia and Harper's Ferry in the vain hope that the slaves would rise up and kill their masters with these crude, barbarous weapons, a thousand of which were made by his adherents in Collinsville, Conn., but not a single slave used them against his master. These pikes are about 18 inches long, made of fine steel, and hammered to a fine sharp point, and were placed in a long handle and used like a spear. These pikes were evidently delivered to my grandfather's slaves with the admonition to use them to kill him and his wife and children as he had 45 slaves at the beginning of the War between the States. However, crazy John Brown was not able to incite the slaves to kill their masters and he met a just and proper death upon the gallows after his abortive attack upon the United States Arsenal at Harper's Ferry. I hope I may obtain one of these pikes for

McKay Exhibit At Warren Rifles

McKay Exhibit
At Warren Rifles

xxxxxWarren Rifles Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy have put together an exhibit on the McKay family, Warren County's first family in conjunction with the Festival of Leaves.

xxxxxAmong the displayed items in the main assembly room in the Confederate Museum on Chester Street, upstairs are a copy of Robert McKay's will and a reproduction of the first land grant, circa 1731, giving the McKays lands in the Cedarville and South River areas.

xxxxxThere is a compilation of the original Fairfax suit researched and gathered here and in England by the late Hunter McKay.

xxxxxIn addition, there are a plat of the Nineveh church graveyard where the McKays are buried, pictures of six generations of McKays, personal articles and historical facts about the family.

xxxxxWorking on the extensive exhibit has been William Barbee, Isabelle McKay Hicks and Lucille Silman Wood.

xxxxxAs you probably know the Warren Rifles Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, with the cooperation of the Warren County-Front Royal Chamber of Commerce and the governing officials of the Town of Front Royal and the County of Warren, have undertaken to build a Confederate Museum on Chester Street, Front Royal, Virginia, on land donated by Dr. Bernard Samuels, which will be the only Confederate Museum located in the famed Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, where "Stonewall" Jackson, Turner Ashby, John S. Mosby and Belle Boyd won renown as devoted heroes of the Southern Cause.

xxxxxAll of the prominent families of Warren County who had soldiers in the War Between the States, have been requested to contribute to the erection of this Museum and to place Memorials to their beloved dead in this Museum to perpetuate their memories and exploits.

xxxxxIn view of the fact that the McKays had about eleven soldiers in this war from Warren County, more than any other family with the possible exception of the Bucks who probably had 14 soldiers in the war, we have been requested to donate an appropriate memorial in the main room of the Museum in memory of these fine men. We do not have a complete list of these soldiers, but some of them are as follows: Alfred A. McKay, Charles Lewis McKay, James Clay McKay, Jacob Francis McKay, James Edwin McKay, John Walter McKay, Joseph Casper McKay, Capt. Jesse McKay and Thomas Buck McKay.

xxxxxWe would like to receive the name or names of any McKays omitted from the above list and their companies and regiments.

xxxxxAt a meeting of the McKay Clan held at Skyland, Va., on September 12, 1954, the Museum and the memorials were discussed fully and an appropriation of $150.00 from the treasury of the Clan was donated towards the Museum and a proper memorial for the McKays.

xxxxxA committee was appointed to choose a proper memorial and collect the money for the same if possible. The committee appointed was John W. Rust, Fairfax, Virginia; H. Randolph Barbee, 1701 Florida Avenue, Washington, D.C. and Lucy McKay Ray, Severna Park, Maryland.

xxxxxThe committee attended the ground breaking ceremonies for the Museum on October 24, 1954, and were much delighted with the entire layout, location and enthusiasm shown on this occasion; then after consultation decided to choose as a memorial to our family an Archway loading from the lobby into Museum room, at the cost of $500.00. Therefore, after deducting the $150.00 already earmarked by the Clan it will be necessary for us to raise the balance of $350.00 for this fine cause.

xxxxxWe are writing to each member of the Clan for an individual donation and hope that you will send a check payable to Isabel Brockman, Treasurer, through the undersigned Chairman, John W. Rust, Fairfax, Virginia, so that we may meet our commitment for the Archway thus commemorating the fine services rendered our State in its time of peril while also helping to establish the only Confederate Museum in the Valley of Virginia.

Of course the McKay place could have been lower down the River on the present Jesse Keyser place, visible from the Yates' place, but which we did not this time visit, or even up the River where he said his (Mr. Yates') brother or brother-in-law lived, there being two other piles of stone in this bend of the River.

While there I inquired of them if they knew of any place along the River where a spring flowed out of a cave, and they said they thought there was such a place above Rileyville on Goode's Lane (the first road to the right), on a farm now owned by Mr. Olin Staubs, and that this was the only one in that vicinity that fitted such a description, and thought it quite likely could have been the place where Barnaby Eagan could have fancied to keep his milk."

Bottom and there is ford (easily negotiated by horseback, carriage or by foot) about a mile farther up the River directly opposite the present John Robert Yates' and former Israel B. Burner's "Promised Land", and which I have ever reason to believe was the site of McKays "Haybottom Plantation". But a car is no good here, and there is no road out on the Bottom side of the River--at least at the present time, so Mr. Yates told me.

We stopped at the road sign marked "Overall", formerly "Milford" (the change in name being occasioned we were told later by Mr. Rinker by another place in Virginia, and an older one, having the same name), and looking around we saw that the village consisted of three houses--two of which are located on Overall Run and nearly under the Norfolk & Western trestle, and one of these is the store and post office, and since the latter is on the south side of the Run, should be in Page County. So we pulled off the Highway and drew up in front of it, I being low on Prince Albert tobacco, it made a good excuse for inquiring as to how I might get over to the "Promised Land".

Mr. Rinker, the Postmaster and Storekeeper, told me he had lived about 35 years in that place, and that he came from the Fort Valley between Seven Fountains and Edith P.O., and as I had all my records with me, including the Page & Shenandoah Atlas, we were both pleased to be able to locate his father's on the map. So he told me what he knew of the history of that vicinity: pointed out to me the former Dr. Compton house just a few feet across the road from the store, and the former Triplett house on the bluff across the Highway from the store, now a tourist home and very popular country dining room run by Mrs. Clarence Fristoe; and he also told me how to get over to Mr. Yates'--to go up the Highway to the top of the hill and turn to the right at Carvell Road which would lead down to the River and then to hollow across and that Mr. Yates in all probability would come across in a boat and take me over. Very simple as I look back upon it for that is exactly the way to do it. But the first try we misinterpreted the instructions, turning into a road which we thought was the top, but which turned out to be the entrance to Mr. Charley Jones' summer place, and he being at home at the time, we had a little chat with him during the course of which he said he was an official in the government in Washington-- Housing or Home Loan, as I now recall it--and that although he had lived there in the summer for several years he was not familiar with the country across the River which was hilly at this point and below the Bottom area, but told me to go down the road to Mrs. Fristoe's who was well acquainted with the country and to make inquiry there. He also mentioned that he was well acquainted with Mr. & Mrs. Gruver, the former now deceased and who was formerly the Headmaster or resident of the now abandoned Eastern College at Front Royal, where the Hotel Royal now operates in one of the buildings. He said that Mr. Gruver had been very successful in real estate operations in Washington and that his death was accidental. I related if he was any relation of the Mr. Charley Jones who was related to the Earle family and lived near Milldale when I was a boy, but he said that he was not.

Upon going down to Mrs. Fristoe's and finding her at home, found that she was a niece of the late Mr. Billy Compton with whom I had lived while attending high school in Front Royal, and therefore a cousin of mine, and that she had referred to the letter which I had written her some time ago to her cousin Miss Effie Compton who lives at Riverton, and whom I had planned to see while here, having made inquiry of Mr. Bennett as to where she lived but didn't have time to--see again repeated Mr. Rinker's directions as to how to get over to the "Promised Land", which she knew quite well.

So this time we went up to the top of the hill, maybe a Mile from the village, and came to a signpost plainly marked "Carvell Road" (I have subsequently checked the Atlas of the Springfield District and see that a family by this name is shown on the map at this point) with the notation that the road ended 9/10th of a mile to the west. This road is very narrow but quite passable to the River bank or ford, as there are several houses located on it, the one at the end of the road and just above the Ford, owned by a Mr. Patterson I was told, was built by my late brother Aubrey. Parking the car along with two or three others drawn up by the side of the road, and which we subsequently learned were fisherman's cars who were living in the Yates' "Promised Land" house for the summer, we walked down the bank to the edge of the River and luckily saw two small boys in a boat on the opposite bank. We made them understand we wanted to get across, and were told to wait a while, which we did. And it seemed like more than a while, but as I learned later it was quite a distance to the house and back, so we were just about ready to leave having turned the car around when we heard them call from the other side that they would come over to get us. The boys were quite good at poling but the boat was none too good and the bottom was partly filled with water, so we did not take any of our records nor the Kodak, which I now regret as I should have had a picture or two of this place: it had been my intention on revisiting the place at a later time. The house lies about a quarter of a mile back from the River on the edge of the bluff and just a little up the stream from the ford. Mrs. Yates and Mr. Yates were both there and most cordial to us.

Mrs. Yates told me that the substantial brick house, the "Promised Land", was built by her grandfather, Israel B. Burner, and that the bricks were burned from clay taken from the River bottom land, and that the two very large boxwood on either side the walk in front of the house were set out by her grandmother, Mrs. Israel B. Burner. In addition to the house, then occupied by the fisherman, above referred to, there were several more or less indifferent farm structures about, but no barn in evidence, and from which I would conclude that one must have been present to justify a house of that size but that it had now either burned or fallen into decay. There is a spring at this point and a house above it. The house does not face the River, but is at right angles to it and from which I would conclude that it faced a road that at one time ran from the bluff to the ford.

We discussed the possibility that this could have been the site of the new house built by John Wiley and Joseph White for Robert McKay the Senior shortly before 1752, and came to the conclusion that it very likely was, although today there are no tangible marks to verify this, unless it be a pile of stone that was located at the edge of the front yard and slightly toward the river from the present brick house, and from which Mr. Yates said he could well remember taking a substantial amount and quite large pieces of stone, and he showed me one small piece still remaining. There were several sites that may have been graveyards in this general area, I was told, but the only one having marked stones were the Burner plots, and it is quite probable that the Burners would have selected a new location for their Ground. This pile of stone would indicate some type of structure, either a stone house, a chimney or the foundation of a barn.

The region is now occupied by two private neighbourhood communities which did not exist during the time of Hunter Branson McKay's visit to the area in 1952. They are as follows:
Thunderbird Farms which is located at the end of both McCoys Ford Road and Downing Road
Poca Bella Farms which is located at the end of Lee Burke Rd.

The fragment of brick taken from the site of the old house at McCoys Ford, was enclosed in a wooden box (which is now in my possession), and the lid of the box labelled as follows:

Settlement Of Robert McKay Sr.

Some fifteen or twenty years later, and just shortly before his death in 1752, his last house that he had built, there was an account of its construction in the Fairfax Land Suit, it was called "Hay Bottom Plantation". The farm was located farther up the River at a point about opposite present Overall or former Milford, and just about on the border line of Warren and Page Counties. He willed this home to his youngest son Moses Mackay Sr. This land remained in the possession of the sons and grandchildren of Moses McKay, until about 1832, when they sold it to Isaac Overall Sr., and eventually found its way into the possession of members of the Burners, Yates and Keyser families. The deed records of Shenandoah and Page Counties definitely place this land in the bend of the River opposite Overall, partly in Warren but mainly in Page, what Robert called "Hay Bottom" is known now as "Burners Bottom" on modern maps. The farm was then known as "The Promised Land." Hunter Branson McKay in 1952 has an account of his visit to this location.

> "It is not difficult to reach the general area of this place, as it is located across the River and slightly south or up the stream from the village of Overall which sits on the Eastside Highway about ten or fifteen minutes drove from Riverton. But to get across the River is another proposition. In the early days I would suppose it was considered just as accessible as many other locations in the County or Counties, for James Leith's Ford was located at or near the mouth of Overall Run which would lead to the lower part of the

Robert Mackay's Homes in Virginia

(From Dee Ann's 'A Tabulated Genealogy of the Shenandoah Valley Family of Robert Mackay Sr.', p. 12-17.)

In Virginia Robert Mackay Sr. had two principle homes, which today no longer exist. Robert Mackay, the elder, and all of his children except Robert Junior, settled on the South River Shenandoah. His first or "Old Home Place" was located at McKay's Ford (now known as McCoy's), about opposite present Limeton, in Warren County, which was willed to his son James. Four Valiant Years 1861-1865 by Laura Virginia Hale, has a picture of this location on page 145. Hunter Branson McKay wrote an account of his visiting this area in 1952:

> "When going to the Ford from the Fork or north side of the River, we drove out from Front Royal on Highway No. 619 crossing the River on the bridge at the N & W RR station, and along by Bennets Chapel to Highway No 622, McCoys Road, which leads down to the Ford of same name. The Downing estate is located on both sides of this road, and we visited three of the river bottom farms, now rented, I believe, by Mr. Burke. Mrs. Burke and several of her very attractive children of a family of 15 were at the farm which lay immediately at the Ford, and she directed me to the old cemetery which lies north of and between the road to the Ford and the farmhouse; she considered this to be an "old slave cemetery" because there were no markers, but I am more inclined to believe this was the McKay Family Cemetery. Mrs. Burke stated that she thought there was an abandoned graveyard on the bluff back of the house, but did not know where it was. She told me that Mr. Burke was down on the lower farm, and after directing me to this place, said that Mr. Burke could tell me more about such matters than she could.
> Accordingly we drove to this lower farm, that is the third down the river from the Capt. Simpson house at the Ford, by way of the secondary roads NOs. 622 & 623 to the end of the latter at the river bottom, and along its extension, now a private road, for a mile of which has recently burned, leaving only the brick chimney now standing.
>
> We found Mr. Burke repairing his tractor, which he said was now used exclusively instead of horses--I do not believe he had any horses on the farms. In fact the total absence of horses in evidence on the farms throughout Warren and Clarke was one of the outstanding changes to be observed since the time I was there as a boy. In discussing the history of the Ford, and the possible location of the McKay house, with Mr. Burke, he directed me to the site of an old house which formerly stood in the SW corner of the bend in McCoys Road just before it enters the bottom land to the Ford. We examined this spot carefully, and the found remains of a house, now overgrown with trees which I would estimate to be about 50 to 75 years old, and an old rose bush, and the fallen bricks of a chimney or fireplace, now moss covered. Mr. Burke said there was an abandoned well at this site, but I could not observe it. The house foundation area was about 20 X 30 ft. I would roughly estimate, and the house appeared to have been made of wood. I brought one of the brick fragments back with me as a memento, which I hope to have examined to determine, if possible, its age. The absence of any springs or running water around this site, is rather disconcerting in considering it as a possible exact location of Robert McKay's settlement. Possibly the land was better watered then than now, and Mr. Burke said there was evidence of a former spring near this site.
>
> We took several photos of these sites, and returned to Riverton by way of the Old Bethel Church in the Fork, the graveyard of which I found to be in an advanced state of decay, and if I saw the correct site, more limited in the number of graves than I had expected."

Historic Homes To Be Opened For Garden Club Tour

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated Thursday, 4 April 1957)

xxxxxThe Garden Club of Warren County in cooperation with Historic Garden Week in Virginia will sponsor a tour of Warren County homes on Sunday, April 28, from 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. Six houses dating from 1760 to 1850 will be open for this tour.

xxxxxFairview--built in 1760 is one of the tour attractions. Never opened to the public before, the house is brick, covered with white stucco. One of the oldest houses in Warren County, the interior is furnished with 18th century antiques of American, English, Russian, and Spanish origin. An outstanding collection of 17th and 18th century antique silver. Also 18th century porcelain, a large collection of military lithographs of the Napoleonic period, antique glass and Russian paintings by Kovalevski. Colonel William E. Shipp owner.

(Webmaster's note: This was the home of Thomas Buck McKay & family. MLM) xxxxxOther homes included are, xxxxxErin--built in 1804 by David Funsten on land bought from the Lord Fairfax holdings. The architecture is Greek Revival and the house is furnished with rare and interesting antiques. Purchased by Mr. and Mrs. William C. Trenary in 1938.

xxxxxGently--The home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bowen, built in 1850 by Andrew Jackson Bowen. It is seen today as an average farm house, modernized for the convenience and efficiency of a busy family. Restored by its present owners.

(Webmaster's note: This house is more a part of Sowers family history. MLM) xxxxxWillow Brook Farm--Built by German prisoners of war in 1785, restored by German prisoners of war in 1945. It is known that George Washington slept here, and also it is known that this was the scene of a minor battle in the War between the States. Style is colonial, furnishings early American with an odd mixture of Italian and France of the same period.

xxxxxColonel and Mrs. James Pomeroy Kendrick, owners.

xxxxxCedarbrook Farm--The original house was a two-story log cabin built by a Pennsylvania Dutch settler, one of a group of a hundred brought here by Robert McKay Sr. to settle a land grant deeded them by the English King. The original log part was built in 1746-48 and now constitutes one half of the entrance hall, the kitchen and the two rooms above. Around 1804 an addition of English Ballast brick was added. The porch and circular molded brick columns were added in the early part of the 19th century and the present house was restored in 1941 by its owners Mr. and Mrs. A. R. L. Dohme.

xxxxxRiverside--Built by the Spengler family in 1849 almost immediately it came into possession of Major James Richards and is still occupied by his descendants, Mrs. J. N. Major Sr., owner.

xxxxxEach home is of distinctive interest and may be visited individually or in a continuous tour. Block tickets, $2.00 each, includes refreshments at Riverside. Tickets for single houses are $1.00. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. H. U. Oxenham or from any member of the Garden Club of Warren County.

xxxxxMr. Hunter Branson McKay still working on the "McKay History and Genealogy" with 9 volumes on file at the University of Virginia. Part of this record is also filmed with copies in Salt Lake City, Utah and in the D.A.R. Library in Washington, D.C. Also, there are some 15,000 "A" size typed pages which need indexing and binding. This man is the best authority by far on the Robert McKay Sr. Family and other McKays in the U.S.A. and Canada, but there are still some problems that need to be solved, such as: (1) The origin of Robert McKay Sr. (2) Why there is no record of the settlement of the estate of Robert McKay Jr. (3) How many Jacob McKays were there.

(Webmaster's note: There was an accompanying map and two photos of the Robert Mackay Jr. house with this document which I was unable to scan well enough to reproduce here. MLM)

the history of many of the descendants of the elder Moses & Zachariah McKay, and other pioneers of the Shenandoah Valley to Tennessee. This record was kindly made available by Mrs. Riba Bayliss Boyer (Mrs. S.B.) of Athena, Tenn., in 1963.

xxxxxThis period is not easily catalogued by a single date, but marked the era of movement from Virginia to Ohio and Indiana and other Western States, not only by the McKays but by members of allied and other Virginia families. For example, Jane (Ridgway) McKay, widow of Andrew, left in 1805, the year following the death of Andrew; Jacob and wife, Rachel, in 1809; the family - James Jr. (son of James Sr., son of Robt. Sr.) to Indiana in 1811; and in 1818 or 19, the entire family of Moses (son of Andrew), except Robt. S. who remained at Cedarville, removed to the then frontier State of Ohio, where he died some years afterward, leaving hundreds of descendants, some of whom have for a number of years held an annual COLLETT-McKAY Picnic or Reunion in that State.

(Webmaster's note: This event is still being held today. MLM)

xxxxxOn Dec. 31 of 1823 Thomas Green, an attorney in Washington, drew up a paper showing the legal heirs of Robert McKay Sr., which listed the known descendants through the 4th & 5th generations, and is there- the first known genealogy of the family. The existence of this paper, which is not available for publication, was made known by the late Eppert Rudolf McKay of Massachusetts.

1833
xxxxxKERCHEVAL publishes his HISTORY OF THE VALLEY OF VIRGINIA, this appearing to be the first printed record of the McKays, as it is of Valley history, but it unfortunately is fragmentary as pertaining to the history of this particular family, and does not clearly differentiate between Robert Senior, the partner of Hite, who settled on the South River Shenandoah, and his son, Robert Junior, who located at the present Cedarville, on Crooked Run, and this confusion has been perpetuated by some subsequent historians.

1836 xxxxxWarren County formed from Shenandoah and Frederick and County Seat is at Front Royal.

1887
xxxxxThe first genealogical account of the McKay family appeared in GEORGE BROWN GOODE'S VIRGINIA COUSINS, the occasion for including the account of the McKays in this very extensive record of numerous Virginia families (which some later investigators have intimated was comprehensive rather than thorough), was the marriage of Margaret, daughter of the Moses who migrated to Ohio, as indicated above, to Dr. Henry Jones Goode.

1924
xxxxxJ. ADGER STEWART, of Louisville, Kentucky, publishes the GENEALOGY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF VALENTINE HOLLINGSWORTH, SENIOR, which includes the known descendants of Hannay McKay, daughter of Robert, Senior, who was the wife of George Hollingsworth, this being the most extensive published list of published McKay descendants.

1926 xxxxxHOWARD S. F. RANDOLPH, professional genealogist, compiled with the aid of two descendants of Robert McKay--- Miss Edith Whitehill Smith and Mr. Robert Marion Ward, both now deceased, and others-- THE FUNSTEN-MEADE GENEALOGY, probably one of the most distinguished American genealogies, and included in it an account of the ancestry of the Margaret McKay, who married OLIVER FUNSTEN, the progenitor of that family. ?

xxxxxEVA MILLER NOURSE, after twenty years of work, as she indicates in the preface to the record, publishes the comprehensive historical and genealogical account of THE MILLER-du BOIS Family History and GENEALOGY, and their allies.

(Webmaster's note: The correct spelling of the name is "Millar" not "Miller" in this genealogy)

xxxxxE. Rudolf McKay, of Indiana and Massachusetts, descendant of James McKay, Sr., one of the sons of Robert, Sr., started work on the historical and genealogical records of this and allied branches of the family.

1934 xxxxxThis year the Friends records of the Hopewell and Crooked Run Meetings were published, and in this was included an extensive amount of McKay and related family data.

1939
xxxxxJOSIAH LOOK DICKENSON, of Front Royal, Virginia, published in the Warren Sentinel, and other publications, a series of articles on the early history of WARREN COUNTY, including extensive references to the McKays and related families.

1730

xxxxxJOHN & ISAAC VAN METER obtain grant from the Colony of Virginia for 40,000 acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley.

1731 xxxxxROBERT McKAY and JOIST HITE are granted 100,000 acres of land in the Valley, a part of this grant being the 40,000 acres previously assigned to the Van Meters but now reassigned to McKay & Hite.

1732 xxxxxJoist Hite came to Winchester, Virginia, as reported in the Naturalization Papers of Adam Miller.

1734

xxxxx(1) ROBERT McKAY, SENIOR -- Location of his settlement at this xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxdate, on the South branch of the xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxShenandoah River, ten or more miles xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxabove (that is south of) Riverton, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxis indicated in a land grant to xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxWilliam Russell.

xxxxx(2) ROBERT McKAY, JUNIOR -- Received a patent for 828 acres on xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxboth sides of Crooked Run, in what is xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxnow Warren County. This same year he, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxthat is Robert, Jr., married Patience Job, xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxyoungest child of Andrew, at Nottingham.

xxxxx(3) HANNAH McKAYxxxxxxxx-- Married George Hollingsworth, at Hopewell xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxMeeting, this being the first marriage of xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxFriends (Quakers) in the Valley of Virginia.

xxxxxStart of conflict with LORD FAIRFAX, involving the boundaries of his propriatary of the Northern Neck, and the querry of whether his Lordship or the colony of Virginia had legal right to the lands settled by McKay, Hite and company; Hite & McKay contending that their land was not included in his propriatary and therefore subject to grants by the Crown through the government of the Colony of Virginia, and his Lordship claiming they were part of the Northern Neck. The litigation arising from this jurisdictional conflict extended intermittently through the Virginia Courts until about 1830. However unfortunate this extended legal conflict may have been economically, it was most fortunate from a historical and genealogical point of view, as it preserved many records that otherwise would never have been recorded and preserved.

1739

xxxxxThis also is a key date in the history of the Robert McKay, Sr., family. Hite, McKay & Company obtained a grant for 7009 acres of land on LINVILLE CREEK, now in Rockingham County, Virginia. In 1744, this land was conveyed to Robert McKay, Sr., and at his death a few years later, passed on to his sons, who in turn in the year 1768, sold part of it to JOHN LINCOLN, ancestor of Abraham Lincoln. Since most of the standard histories of this famous President cite this transaction, the names of Zachariah, Moses and Robert McKay, Jr., are recorded for all time.

1752

xxxxxSix years prior to his death in 1752, Robert McKay, Sr., made his will, the instrument apparently being drawn by the then young GABRIEL JONES, then or later to become one of the most famous colonial lawyers of the Valley of Virginia. The will was produced for probate in the young County of AUGUSTA -- not in the sister County of Frederick as one might suppose would have been court of jurisdiction for an estate located within a few miles of Front Royal, since the boundary of Augusta in that day extended much farther north than at present. This fact is clearly recorded in the records, but is not too generally known. This will is a most interesting document from several aspects. Friends and members of the family will find an examination of the original, on file in Staunton, Virginia, of added interest.

1758

xxxxxThe old Quaker graveyard at Nineveh was a lease for 99 years from Thomas Branson of Orange County, N.C., to John Painter of Frederick County, Virginia, and dated June 1, 1758, to run 99 years. It conveyed 4 acres of land on the southeast side of Crooked Run "for a Friends Meeting house and burying ground, for that use, and no other." Hopewell, page 74. This lease is recorded in Winchester, Virginia.

1735-1836

xxxxxAbraham McKay and after his death his son Jeremiah McKay, were clerks of the Big Pigeon Baptist Church in Cocke County, Tenn., which is in the eastern part of the state near the French Broad River, and in the course of this long, and almost unbroken clerkship, recorded

1682 xxxxxOn this date VALENTINE HOLLINGSWORTH, with his family and friends, arrived from Belfast, Ireland, and settled in Delaware, near New Castle. Two members of this family married daughters of Robert McKay--George Hollingsworth, a great-grandson of Valentine, married Hannah; and George Robinson, whose mother was a Hollingsworth, married Mary.

1692 xxxxxBy this time ANDREW JOB, son of Andrew, who was born on shipboard about 1650, had become well established in Chester County, Penna., holding important civil offices, and was a friend of William Penn. Two children of Andrew Job, and either a third child or a granddaughter, married three children of Robert McKay--Joshua Job married Margaret; Patience Job married Robert, Jr.; and Mary Job, either a daughter or granddaughter, married Moses McKay.

xxxxxThe Old Brick Meeting House (East Nottingham) was established about this time, by William Penn and others. Both Jobs and Hollingsworths were Quakers and lived in the vicinity. This Quaker Meeting House has a place that is memorable in the annals of McKay history as the name of Robert McKay first appears in its records.

1710 xxxxxJoist Hite, destined to be the partner of Robert McKay and others, in their extensive land development of the Valley of Virginia, had arrived in this country from Germany, and was then located in upper New York State. Later, he moved to Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia, and while there operated a mill, and entered into a business arrangement with Robert McKay, Sr. Extensive records are extant relative to this business arrangement and certain legal conflicts growing out of it, but there does not appear to have been any genealogical, social or religious connections between the two families.

xxxxxThe earliest, unquestionable, mention of Robert McKay,Sr. that have been able to find to date (1964), is in the Minutes of the New Garden Marriage Books for the East Nottingham Meeting, held at the Old Brick Meeting House, near Calvert, now Cecil County, Maryland, in connection with the marriage of his daughter, Mary, to George Robinson, which is recorded as follows:

xxxxxxxxx"1/12/1726; George Robinson, son of George of newark in New xxxxxxxxxxCastle Co. & Mary MacKay, daughter of Robert, both of xxxxxxxxxxNottingham meeting, declare intentions."

Nineveh Presbyterian Church

(Newspaper article from The Warren Sentinel dated Thursday, 4 October 1973)

Nineveh Presbyterian Church

by Rebecca H. Good for the Warren Heritage Society

xxxxxNineveh Presbyterian Church will be open on October 20 and 21 for the church and home tour of the Festival of Leaves. This typical steepled and white clapboarded country church was built in 1916 to replace the original Presbyterian Church which had been struck by lightning and burned on August 29, 1913. But the religious heritage of the Presbyterian congregation goes back more than two centuries when devout persons of the Quaker faith built here a simple log meeting house for the Friends of Crooked Run community.

xxxxxThe Quaker Robert McKay, Jr., who had received a grant on Crooked Run at Cedarville in 1731, was followed by a number of families who were also of the quiet persuasion. The families of Grubbs, Antram, Fawcett, Oglesby, and Painter, to name a few, were all Quakers who were early settlers in the Cedarville-Nineveh area. The records show that as early as 1734 there was a community of Friends on Crooked Run, for in September of that year they held a meeting in the home of Robert McKay, Jr., as shown in the journal of John Fothergill, visiting Quaker minister from England.

xxxxxThe Friends at Crooked Run had official ties with the Hopewell Meeting and it is stated in the minutes of that meeting that on August 4, 1760 the Crooked Run congregation had been, for several years past indulged by this meeting with liberty of holding a meeting for worship twice a week, and that they had lately built a new meeting house. The minutes show that "after deliberate consideration' the Hopewell Meeting moved to recommend to the Quarterly Meeting that Crooked Run be established as a meeting for worship twice a week.

xxxxxOn June 1, 1758 Thomas Branson had leased to John Painter a four acre tract of ground for the period of ninety-nine years with the stipulation that it was to be used for a Friends meeting house and burying ground and for no other purpose. How long the meeting house stood here is not known, but the Hopewell records show that in 1810 the Crooked Run meeting was 'laid down' so few Friends attending. By this time the great western migration was under way, and the removal of many names of members who had left the community. Other denominations were also making in roads on the membership, and numerous persons were put out for 'marrying out of meeting', i.e. marrying outside the Quaker faith. The Friends had very strict rules which were rigidly observed, and a member could be expelled for such offenses as joining the militia, scouting after Indians, absence from meeting, holding slaves, fiddling and dancing, speaking falsely, hitting a man and singing.

xxxxxRecords show that there was a schoolhouse on the lot of the Crooked Run Meeting and in 1817 Samuel Swayne and Amos Lupton were appointed trustees with liberty to rent out the property and to apply the proceeds toward repairing the graveyard and buildings. Records show the meeting house still standing in 1828 but in a bad state of repair.

xxxxxThe 99-year lease expired in 1857 and ten years later the Winchester Presbytery appointed a committee to organize a Presbyterian Church at White Post. After the service on March 30, 1867 seven persons from Nineveh presented their certificates and Dr. William Sommerville was elected elder. From these seven charter members the present Nineveh congregation developed. Having no church building of their own, they met for fourteen years in the Main Street church of the Front Royal Methodists, (site of the Royal Quality Shop), and supported with the Methodists a union Sunday School.

xxxxxIn 1881 pastoral relations with Berryville were dissolved and the White Post church was transferred to the Front Royal charge. At that time it was suggested that all the members of the Front Royal church living north of the Shenandoah River unite with members of the White Post charge and establish a central meeting place at Nineveh.

xxxxxWith eighteen members from the Front Royal church and thirteen from White Post the congregation began to hold services in the Mt. Zion Baptist Church at Nineveh. On July 1, 1892 John M. Bierer, Henry C. Hoskins, and Frank McKay trustees for the Presbyterian Religious Society at Nineveh, took title to the lot of the Crooked Run Meeting. The deed made by Magnus C. Leach and wife, who had acquired the land from the estate of Elizabeth Neville, called for two acres of ground, the Quaker graveyard having been reserved by descendants of those who are buried there. It is still maintained as a family graveyard.

xxxxxIn 1893 the first Presbyterian chapel was built. When it burned in 1913 the congregation met with the Mount Zion Baptists until a new building could be erected. During this period the Presbyterians had the good fortune to receive by gift an organ for their chapel, and the amicable relationship which existed between the two denominations is illustrated by the fact that, although disapproving of the use of instrumental music in the church, the Old School Baptists permitted the Presbyterians to install their new organ temporarily at Mount Zion. In those days it was customary for members of both churches to attend one anothers services, since each congregation met there on alternate Sundays. The story is told of one Baptist gentleman who attended Presbyterian meetings regularly, but always rose from his seat and departed as soon as the organist began to play.

xxxxxThe pastor of the Nineveh Presbyterian Church is the Rev. Dr. Paul F. Reigner. We are grateful to Mrs. J. Miller Jett, Mrs. William C. Trenary

- Notes: The first meeting house in the Nottingham settlement was built about 1706. Part of the present building, East Nottingham Meeting House, known locally as "The Brick", dates from 1724. The Brick Meeting House is located at Calvert, Maryland, about five miles east of Rising Sun and five miles south of Oxford, Pennsylvania. In 1701 William Penn told his companions that he "Then and there set apart and dedicated forty acres of land to them and their successors forever, for the combined purpose of public worship, the right of burial, and privilege of education". This verbal declaration of Penn was the only title by which Friends held East Nottingham Meeting House until 1765, when they were given a deed by John and Thomas Penn. William Churchman (b. 1/29/1721) was a trustee of Brick Meeting House at this time, so his name is on the document.

  The cemetery partially surrounds the Church. Next to the Church, where John and Hannah Churchman are buried, there are no markers of any kind -- then there is a half circle where small field stones mark the graves -- then small stones with inscriptions, and the later markers look like any other cemetery.

Quaker Meetings in the Lower Shenandoah Valley and elsewhere

 * * Under construction * * ***

Below is a list of the different Friends Meetings that existed in the Shenandoah Valley region and surrounding areas as well as some other areas that members of our McKay & Steer families and other allied families of Quaker roots settled.

Also listed are some other cemeteries and churches that are associated with these families.

Some of the McKays who left the Society of Friends became Baptists and many living in Clarke and Warren counties became affiliated with Bethel Baptist Church and other churches connected to Bethel. In addition to that it is believed that the site which Bethel now stands on was once occupied by Friends. To see more info. on Bethel and these other churches click on this page: The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated.

Any Meeting that is currently a Monthly Meeting or was a Monthly Meeting sometime during it's existence will have a "*" beside it.

Pictures of the inside of the Brick Meeting House were taken by Everett Churchman on October, 2000. Mr. Ed Plumstead is the curator of "The Brick" Cemetery (Quaker portion). Panels in the center of the lower level move up and down. When services are held, men sit on one side and women sit on the other. Panels are adjustable for how they want the building configured to accommodate the current function. The benches on the lower level were built in 1810. The benches on the upper level were built in 1752.

These two plots contain some of the descendants of Jacob Sowers & William Kerfoot who were buried at Bethel. Some of these are children who I believe died as a result of typhoid fever.

from the Shiloh Baptist Association. Some churches to the west that remained in Potomac Baptist Association later joined Shenandoah as that association gained strength and resources.

In the 1890s Ketocton Baptist Association took on the Primitive Baptist name, having never moved from its Calvinistic, anti-missions, roots. It remains today, with a very few loosely aligned Primitive Baptist Churches.

In 1952, Potomac Baptist Association split to the east to form the Mount Vernon Baptist Association, leaving Fauquier, Loudoun and Prince William County churches in Potomac Association.

(Rev. Charles Lumpkin also wrote:)

Bethel, from its beginnings, was a loving, progressive and visionary congregation. I doubt if it ever lingered long in the anti-benevolence or anti-missionary camps of Christian thought. When Dr. Broaddus was called to pastor there, he was also the pastor of Long Branch Baptist Church south of Middleburg, and most of the other churches that would initially form the Salem-Union Baptist Association. He found a congregation with courage and love who was willing to stand up against the "popular notions" of the surrounding Baptist and go it alone. It is not a stretch to say they blazed the trail for other churches to follow. Many other churches were supportive of missions and benevolence, but did not declare themselves such until Bethel and Long Branch valiantly stood up for those Biblical principles of loving neighbor as oneself. You will note in your research that Ketoctin Baptist Church and Buck Marsh/Berryville, two the most influential Baptist congregations soon joined the Salem Union Association.

Bethel was a church founded by people who attended Buck Marsh, Berryville and found it more convenient to build a church never their homes. It remained, like its parent church, in the Ketoctin Baptist Association until its split to form the Salem-Union Baptist Association. Thereafter, being a charter member church of both the Potomac and Shenandoah Associations as well. Members of the Kerfoot and Sowers families were prominent in support of missions minded principles. They can be found as associational representative and supporters in Bethel, Millwood, and Boyce Churches.

Shenandoah Association records indicate that Bethel, Boyce, Rockland and Mountain shared the following pastors: Henry Bryant Stoneham (1908-1911); George T. Schools (1911-1913); Thomas Dunlap Duglas Clark (1914-1915); Augustus S. Buyck (1917-1919); John B. Williams (1920-1927); and C. V. Vanderlinden (1928-1938). In 1935 Rev. Vanderlinden added Summit Point Baptist Church to his field, he resigned that church at the same time he resigned Bethel and Mountain. He continued to hold Boyce and Rockland until 1942.

Bethel Baptist Church's Latter Years

In reveiwing my notes from the Mountain Baptist History I came across the following:

> 1931 - C. V. Van Der Linden is the pastor of the Boyce Field (Boyce, Rockland, Bethel, Mountain). According to Shenandoah Baptist Association minutes of the annual meeting, the pastor only commits to Mountain one Sunday a month (the 4th), Boyce every Sunday, Rockland two Sundays and Bethel two Sundays. A recommendation to the Acting Board for $300 aid to the Boyce field to pay the pastor was not approved, thus no action would be recommended to the State Board for funds. This had the effect of cutting the smaller church, Mountain, from greater support by the pastor. (membership records show Bethel - 58; Boyce - 107; Mountain - 42; Rockland -56).

The state missions board routinely sent funds to associations to suppliment salaries for pastors of small churches. This was only done if the association requested such. Likely the association's acting missions board felt that between the four churches Vanderlinden's salary should not be an issue. However, in those poor economic times, larger churches sometimes did not vote to share their bounty with other churches for fear that they would come up short. Pastors, knowing on which side their bread was buttered on, gave more to those that paid more and gave little to those that contributed little. The missions spirit (of sharing money for the poorer churches) founded at Bethel in 1832 was glowing very dimly in 1931.

More Bethel History

Bethel Baptist Church (1804-1941) under the able leadership of William F. Broaddus, was a founding congregation of the Salem-Union Baptist Association (1832), which later merged (in 1856) with Columbia Baptist Association to become the Potomac Baptist Association. In 1882 the churches west of the Blue Ridge formed the Shenandoah Baptist Association in a friendly split from Potomac Baptist Association. The formation of the Salem-Union Association was the result of Bethel's belief in Missionary practices, which were not supported by the Anti-missions Baptist churches, which made up the majority of the Ketoctin Baptist Association.

From 1907 until its deconstitution Bethel was on the church field with Mountain Baptist Church, Millwood Baptist Church (which moved to become Boyce Baptist Church), Rockland Baptist Church. The church joined Rockland, Boyce and Mountain in building a joint parsonage in Boyce for their shared pastor. Its last pastor, C. V. Van Der Linden, did not believe that Mountain and Bethel was worth his pastoral efforts and rarely attended to his duties with these churches. He expected payment of his salary from these churches, but would often miss his preaching appointments for months at a time. He abandoned all work at both in 1938, leaving the few remaining members at Bethel to falter. Because World War II greatly restricted the supply of Baptist ministers, the church could not find able leadership and deconstituted. Those few remaining members joined other churches in the area.

This can be verified by research at the Virginia Baptist Historical Society on the campus of the University of Richmond, and the annuals of the Shenandoah Baptist Association located in Front Royal, Virginia. Both Mountain and Boyce Baptist Churches are still active congregations. Mountain Baptist Church almost faltered when it, like Bethel, could not secure a pastor.

I wrote the following while I was the Interim Director of Missions of the Shenandoah Baptist Association. Although complicated it gives insight into the great place Bethel Baptist Church had in the Missions movement of the Baptist of Northern Virginia. It, along with Long Branch Baptist Church, can well be named the founders of that movement in the region. Those mission minded churches would join the Southern Baptist Convention in or after 1845. Today those same churches are members of the Shenandoah, Potomac and Mount Vernon Baptist Associations.

Northern Virginia Baptist Associations and Associationalism

Philadelphia Baptist Association was formed in 1709. Mill Creek Baptist (1743/1752), Ketocton Baptist (1751) and Smith Creek Baptist (1756) joined the Philadelphia Baptist Association, but began holding meetings on their own in 1756. In 1765 these three churches, along with Broad Run Baptist (1761) petitioned Philadelphia to form their own association. In 1766 the Ketocton Baptist Association was formed.

As the Revolution began to unfold, Separate Baptist churches in the northern most part of Virginia but still aligned with the General Association of Separate Baptists of Virginia, Northern District [North of the James] began to associate with the Regular Baptists of Ketoctin over issues of religious liberty and congregational polity loosely. These groups sought no formal merger of association and district.

This changed in 1787 when the Regular Baptists and the Separate Baptists formally united as a single denomination. The Separate Baptist Churches in Northern Virginia were accepted into Ketocton Association. In 1789 the Ketocton Baptist Association was divided into two, the southeastern portion becoming Chappawamsick Baptist Association. Chappawamsick Baptist Association and Ketocton Baptist Association were reunited in 1792, under the older established name of Ketocton Association. The southeastern churches could not sustain their associational structure. Columbia Baptist Association split from Ketocton Baptist Association in 1820, with churches in the old Ketocton Associational area being allow to align with either association.

In 1832 Salem-Union Baptist Association was formed by one Ketocton Baptist Association church (Bethel of Clarke County, Virginia), one Columbia Baptist Association church (Long Branch Baptist), and four newly constituted churches (2nd Upperville Baptist [Upperville Baptist], Liberty [Bealton Baptist], Providence Baptist [Mount Holly Baptist] and Cedar Creek Baptist after Long Branch Baptist and Bethel Baptist disassociated from their associations for their beliefs in missions.

By 1856 the Columbia Baptist Association, which had turned to support the missions movement, merged with Salem Union Baptist Association to form the Potomac Baptist Association. During the Civil War, Primitive Baptists were neutral or sympathetic with the Union. Thus both regionalism [North vs. South] and doctrinal conflicts prevented any thought of merger of the declining Ketocton Baptist Association and the growing Potomac Baptist Association at any time.

By 1882 Potomac Baptist Association found itself grown too large to support all its territory. The churches in the Shenandoah Region grew tired of coming across the mountains for meetings, and the increasing "eastern" predominance of the association. Shenandoah Baptist Association was formed that year out of the western portion of Potomac Association [thirteen churches] and one church [Luray Baptist - now Main Street Baptist]

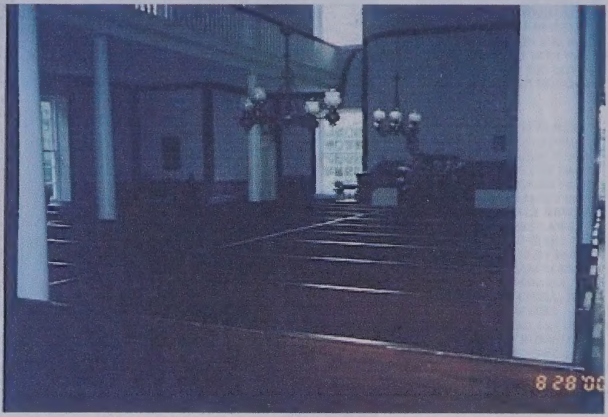
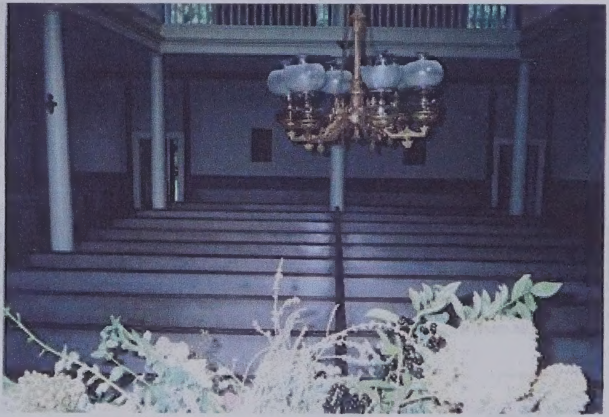
Inside the Sanctuary



View of the sanctuary looking toward the pulpit.
In this photo you can see the kerosene lamps that are used to light the church building. We use these during our annual Christmas Carols and Lessons. The first four columns also have lamps on them but they are difficult to see in this picture. The pulpit is on a raised platform. On each side of the pulpit are two enclosed vestibules. You can also see some of the original design styles that were used when the church was originally built in the form of lines tracing out the vestibule wall corners and following up the wall behind the pulpit.



View of the sanctuary from the pulpit.
This is how the minister would look out towards the congregation. You can see the division between the pews which divide the men's section on the right and the women's on the left. This division used to extend toward the back wall but the back end where one of the Franklin stoves once stood was cut away. Originally people couldn't cross from one side of the sanctuary to the other without exiting the building first.

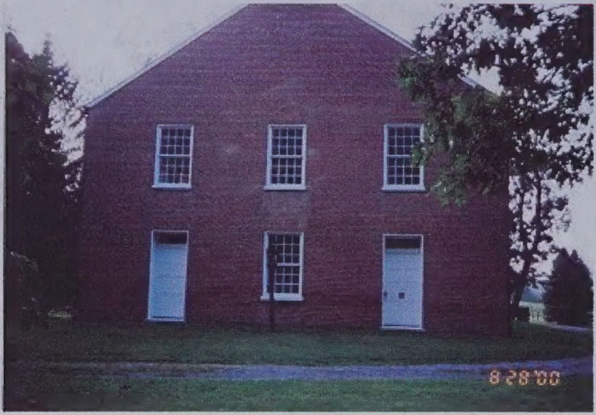
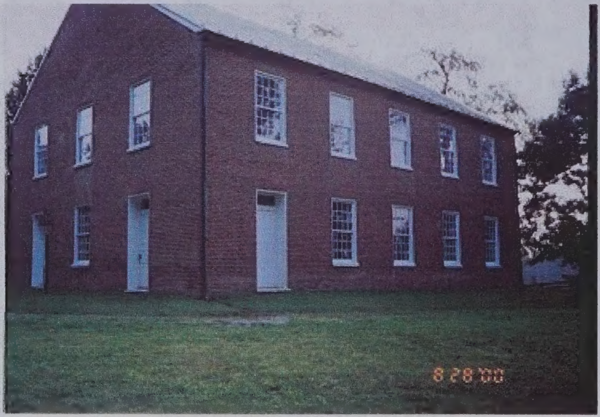
The Meetinghouse Building



View of the church building from entrance to the sanctuary.
Bethel has two main sanctuary entrance doors which go back to the time when men worshipped on the left side facing the pulpit and the women on the right. The two entrances lead into short halls which both end at doors leading into the sanctuary. The hall on the right side of the building has a closet to the left and the hall on the left side of the building has on it's left a stairwell leading to the gallery and one of the gallery doors beyond the stairwell. These are discussed more in the next photo.



View of the church building from the right corner.
In addition to the two main sanctuary entrance doors, Bethel also has two doors on each side of the building which are followed by stairwells that lead up to the gallery where the servants worshipped. The gallery door pictured here does not connect with the sanctuary. The one on the other side does connect with the santuary as mentioned in the previous photo. This was done so that the men can enter the gallery and interact with the servants if needed.

On with the history of Bethel

Bethel Baptist Church grew as a church during the early part of the 1800s and had a pretty active membership. It's location helped make that possible. It was situated on the Great Wagon Road which passed through Clarke (formerly Frederick) County on to Stephens City (aka Newtown). The present building was started in 1828 and dedicated in 1830. Bethel's membership started to decline somewhat when the Millwood Pike was established and the centre of commerce in the region shifted towards Winchester. The Civil War and some other things helped contribute to further decline in membership as well until they closed their doors in 1930.

This left Bethel's future in jeopardy. The building was also in serious disrepair and the grounds were overgrown with vegetation.

In 1941 Beverly Brownley McKay organized The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated as a non profit organisation set up to restore the old Bethel building to it's original form and repair any damages to the structure and adjoining cemetery that time had brought on and to provide continual care and upkeep of the building and grounds.

Tragically, Mr. McKay died in 1965 from an auto accident and didn't get to witness physically the fruits of his labours. I believe he would be proud of what has been accomplished so far.

Today, Bethel enjoys a large gathering at it's annual events and has seen much of the work started by Mr. McKay finished. Even so, there is still much that needs to be done.

Most recently the interior has gotten a new paint job which was done to restore the inside to the original colours which were discovered by a team of specialists who went around testing the walls and found the hidden paint colours under the old green painted walls.

The next major step will be the repainting of the pews to match the walls. Also, much of the old wooden fence surrounding the grounds was removed. It is believed that originally there wasn't a fence.

It will be interesting to see what develops in the future as the efforts to restore the Bethel church building to it's original form continue. Let us hope that Beverly Brownley McKay is smiling on us from above as we continue the work that he began back in 1941.

The adjoining cemetery contains many graves of descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr., William Kerfoot & William Davis most of whom were originally buried there. A few graves were relocated from other cemeteries.

How to get to the Bethel meeting house and grounds

On U.S. 50 between the Shenandoah River and the U.S. 340 interchange at Waterloo turn onto State Route 622 (Red Gate Rd.). Follow 622 (Red Gate Rd.) for about a mile or so and turn left onto State Route 624 (Swift Shoals Rd.). Drive about a half mile or so and turn right onto Bethel Ln. Bethel Church is located on the top of the hill. The road encircles the building.

The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated

This is a brief history of The Bethel Memorial, Incorporated (also called The Bethel Memorial Association) which is a non-profit organisation devoted towards the restoration and continual care and promotion of historic Bethel Baptist Church.

Old Bethel Baptist Church, Clarke County, VA

Play

Bethel Baptist Church which is located South of Millwood, Clarke County, VA on Rt. 625 was organised in 1808. Among the families who worshipped here were many of the descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr., William Davis & William Kerfoot.

From the booklet 'The Bethel Register' we find mentioned the first entry of the Bethel Minute Book which reads, 'July 16, 1808. - William Davis, James Sowers, Elizabeth (Kerfoot) Sowers (ed. note: wife of James) and John Graves, having recieved letters of dismission from Buck Marsh Church, Do Covenant and Agree to unite together in a Church called Bethel.'

It is believed that Friends (Quakers) occupied the site that Bethel now stands on and built a log meeting house that the congregation used prior to building the brick meeting house we see today. For a list of some Friends meetings go to this page: Quaker Meetings in the Lower Shenandoah Valley and elsewhere.

Some information about the Sowers, Kerfoot & Davis families

Throughout Bethel's history many descendants of Jacob Sowers, William Davis & William Kerfoot played promenant roles in it's affairs.

Many descendants of these three individuals intermarried frequently with each other so much so that many people could claim descent from all three families. In many cases several times over.

The descendants of Jacob Sowers, William Davis & William Kerfoot also intermarried frequently with the descendants of Robert Mackay Sr. during the latter half of the nineteenth century and into the twentieth century. Because of this many of the people who attend our McKay reunions also have Sowers, Davis & Kerfoot ancestry, including myself (unknown if I have any Kerfoot ancestry) which is why Bethel has a strong historical connection to the Robert Mackay Clan.

Dee Ann Buck, who is a descendant of the Sowers and Kerfoot families, published a comprehensive genealogy of the descendants of Jacob Sowers Sr. and sold copies to members of the family during the 1991 McKay reunion. I don't believe there are any copies left. You can contact her at the above e-mail address linked to her name for information on books she has available and the cost for purchasing them.

I am interested in updating these family genealogies and have been gathering info. in regards to that. If you have further info. on these families that you can send me please send it to mike@robertmackayclan.com. I can tell you exactly the kind of genealogy info. I'm looking for.

held at Fairfax Meeting house; on 29th of 9th month 1759 it was reported tht Monoquesy Meeting House had been rebuilt; on 29th of 11th month 1760 Monoquesy Friends refused to meet in the new meeting house; on 30th of 1st month 1762 Monoquesy Preparative Meeting was laid down although meetings for Worship were continued until 28th of 4th month 1764 when Monoquesy Meeting was abandoned; on 30th of 8th month 1766 it was reported that Monoquesy Meeting house and burying ground was "laid waste"; on 27th of 9th month 1766 Monoquesy Friends set up a new meeting for themselves in violation of discipline, which caused much concern for a long time, but the meeting was again allowed to be held 31st of 10th month 1772; on the 26th of 8th month 1775 Monoquesy Meeting was consolidated with Pipe Creek Monthly Meeting. A new meeting at Monoquesy was granted 22nd of 3rd month 1783 and the meeting house was furnished with a youth's gallery.

LEESBURG: A meeting was established near Leesburg, Loudon County, Virginia, by Fairfax Monthly Meeting 24th of 12th month 1785 according to Henry Hull's account of his travels through Virginia 1799, he attended the Leesburg Meeting which was held in the court house of Leesburg, Loudon County, Virginia. (Webmaster's note: No separate page is planned for Leesburg Meeting.)

WARRINGTON-FAIRFAX QUARTERLY MEETING: Established 1776 held its first quarterly meeting at Warrington Meeting house, York County, Pennsylvania 18th of 3rd month 1776; thereafter meetings were held alternately between Warrington and Fairfax each quarter, until 1786, when Fairfax Quarterly Meeting was set up. On 19th of 3rd month 1787 the last meeting of Warrington and Fairfax Quarterly Meeting was held. In 1789 Warrington and Fairfax Quarterly Meetings were transferred from Philadelphia Yearly Meeting to Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

Baltimore Yearly Meeting (1865): "In the year 1855, and in the early part of 1856, a number of families of Friends, members of Hopewell, Fairfax and Goose Creek Monthly Meetings and consequently Fairfax Quarterly Meeting of Friends in the state of Virginia, removed and formed a settlement which they called Prairie Grove in Wayne Township, Henry County, Iowa"...They found in themselves a great desire to hold meetings in their community, and wrote, as a group, to the monthly meetings in Virginia to which they belonged, asking for the privilege of organizing a meeting among themselves and asked that this meeting be attached to the Fairfax Quarterly Meeting and Baltimore Yearly Meeting..." The feature (of this request) which arrested the attention was that these Iowa Friends would continue to be members of Baltimore Yearly Meeting of Friends which was not the one nearest to their settlement"... The Yearly Meeting Committee found precedents in certain acts of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, noting especially that meetings had been organized in far distant places (notably Charleston, S. C.), so it was decided that Baltimore Yearly Meeting could approve of the Prairie Grove Friends' request, since the nearest yearly meeting was the Indiana Yearly Meeting whose limits did not reach as far west as Prairie Grove, Iowa. (Note that this Baltimore Yearly Meeting was the branch of Friends generally known as Hicksites). So, Prairie Grove was organized into a preparative meeting at once, and a short time later into a monthly meeting; a meeting house was built costing $1300.00, half of which was paid by Baltimore Yearly Meeting. A body of these Prairie Grove Friends lived about 40 miles northward, mostly composed of younger families, so in 1860 a new preparative meeting was organized there and called Wapsanonoc Meeting and located on the border between Muscatine and Cedar Counties, Iowa, near a village called West Liberty; a meeting house was built and in 1863 this new meeting was established as a monthly meeting and soon thereafter a new quarterly meeting was established composed of Prairie Grove and Wapsanonoc Monthly Meetings. The quarterly meeting held its sessions alternately between the two meeting houses. A committee went out for the opening from Fairfax and reported a satisfactory and encouraging visit. Another meeting had been organized in 1869 near Marshalltown, Iowa, called Marietta Meeting which was joined to Prairie Grove Monthly Meeting and Wapsanonoc Monthly Meeting, and to the new quarterly meeting; all were still attached to Baltimore Yearly Meeting. In 1873 a new yearly meeting was established, called Illinois Yearly Meeting and held at Clear Creek Meeting, located at McNabb, Putnam County, Illinois, composed of Prairie Grove, Wapsanonoc, Marietta and Clear Creek Meetings. This separated them all from Baltimore Yearly Meeting. The members of all of these meetings had migrated to Iowa about the same time, mostly from Virginia, and from Fairfax, Hopewell Goose Creek and Alexandria Monthly Meetings.

It is to be observed that when, in 1827/28 a separation in the Society of Friends occurred, Fairfax Monthly Meeting joined in a body with the Hicksite Branch, as did Hopewell, Goose Creek and Alexandria Monthly Meetings, only a few members leaving and organizing new meetings known as Orthodox Friends of Hopewell and Goose Creek. It is interesting to note that while almost all Friends of northern Virginia espoused the ideas of Elias Hicks, those Friends living in Lower Virginia remained what they always had been, just the Society of Friends. No Hicksite meetings were set up south of Petersburg, Virginia, and there was, apparently, no agitation on the subject in Lower Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

As the town of Waterford, Virginia, grew, Fairfax Meeting became known as Waterford Meeting; the meeting flourished for many years, but began to decline in the 1880's, until in 1929 the membership had grown so small that Fairfax (Waterford) Monthly Meeting was laid down and the remaining members were attached to Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, which still flourishes (1946).

It is also interesting to note that when, in 1793, George Washington laid out the plan for the District of Columbia, and established the town known as Washington, D. C., he located this almost in the exact center of a huge and flourishing Quaker Community, which had meeting houses bounding it on all sides and which had been in existence for many years; and that in 1802 a meeting house was built on the exact center of the newly established city of Washington, then only a small village of some hundreds of inhabitants. This meeting was set up by Indian Spring Monthly Meeting (which was located about 20 miles from the heart of Washington) in Maryland; West River Monthly Meeting (established before 1672) was only a few miles away in Prince George's County, Maryland, and its verge covered George Town, which is now within the limits of the District of Columbia. Indian Spring, just outside of the present limits of the District of Columbia, is considered a part of Washington; Hopewell Meeting, Goose Creek, Fairfax Meeting and Alexandria Meeting hover closely around Washington, D. C. All anti-date Washington, D. C. by more than 60 years, excepting Alexandria, which antidates it by more than ten years, and which finally moved into the city and took over the Washington Friends Meeting on I Street, by 1817. However, George Washington was never a member of the Society of Friends. Dolly Madison, wife of President Madison, and who was doubtless the most colorful woman who has ever occupied the White House, was a birthright Quaker and was born in North Carolina; a number of our Presidents were of Quaker lineage; but Herbert C. Hoover seems to have been the only President who was an avowed member of the Society of Friends.

the year 1726, they applied to New Garden Monthly Meeting for liberty to hold a meeting for Worship on First Days, which was granted, and held at the house of Josiah Ballinger and others until the year 1736, when a piece of ground was purchased and a meeting house built, which is called Cold Spring Meeting House, where meetings are still kept". (This Cold Spring Meeting House became Monoquesy Meeting House)

"About the year 1733, Amos Janney from Bucks County, and soon after divers other Friends settled about 40 miles lower in Virginia than Opeckon, who obtained leave to hold a meeting for Worship on First Days, which was held at the said Amos Janney's and other Friends Houses till the year 1741, when a piece of land was purchased, and a meeting house built thereon, called Fairfax, where meetings since are held twice a week.

Fairfax Meeting house was located on the east side of the Blue Ridge Mountains south of the Potomac River, and opposite Monocacy Meeting house, which was north of the said river, in Maryland. Hopewell Meeting house was on the west side of the Blue Ridge Mountains, some forty or fifty miles from Fairfax Meeting. A town was later built at the site of Fairfax Meeting and called Waterford. Fairfax Meeting was in Fairfax County, Virginia until 1757 when Fairfax County was divided leaving Fairfax Meeting in Loudoun County, Virginia, the new county set off from Fairfax County.

When Fairfax Monthly Meeting was established and set off from Hopewell Monthly Meeting in 1744, a line was established between the two monthly meetings which was roughly on top of the Blue Ridge Mountain Range; thus, all Friends living east of the Blue Ridge Range were automatically transferred to Fairfax Monthly Meeting. Since this transfer was without certificates of removal, we have no way of knowing exactly who all of the Friends were as no list of these Friends was made at the opening of Fairfax Monthly Meeting. Friends who were then members of Monoquesy Preparatory Meeting and of Fairfax Preparatory Meeting simply met together on the 26th of 4th month 1745 and proceeded to organize Fairfax Monthly Meeting. At this opening meeting, representatives from each of the two preparative meetings, "being called, they appeared". Temporary overseers of the new monthly meeting were appointed to serve "until further notice"; Samuel Harris and Jacob Janney were appointed overseers for the men's meeting of Fairfax Preparatory Meeting, and Mary Janney and Elizabeth Norton were appointed overseers for the women's meeting; Jane Hague was appointed clerk for the women's meeting; Henry Maynor and John Wright were appointed overseers for Monoquesy Particular Meeting; Francis Hague and John Hough were also early overseers. Amos Janney was appointed elder in 5th month 1745, for Fairfax Preparative Meeting and also as clerk of Fairfax Monthly Meeting, being the first clerk appointed for the men's meeting; Jacob Janney was later appointed clerk. The first marriage in Fairfax Monthly Meeting was that of Henry Brown and Esther Harris, who announced intentions of marriage at the first meeting held. Other marriages accomplished at Fairfax Monthly Meeting during 1745 were: Richard Williams and Prudence Beals; William Kirk and Mary Brown; Herman Cox and Jane John; Oliver Matthews and Hannah John; Richard Kemp and Susannah Piggot; many marriages were accomplished 1746 to 1750, etc; there were also a great many marriages "out of meeting", some between members and others married to non-members, for which act all parties who were members were promptly disowned, but the majority of those disowned made satisfactory "acknowledgments which were accepted" and the parties reinstated in membership.

Goose Creek Meeting for Worship was allowed by Fairfax Monthly Meeting, and set up on the 30th of 8th month 1745. This meeting was located near the South Fork of Goose Creek where the town of Lincoln, Virginia, is now located. This meeting was allowed to set up a preparatory meeting of its own in 1757. It was established as a monthly meeting and set off from Fairfax Monthly Meeting in 1785 and is still flourishing now, in 1946.

A meeting for Worship was allowed as an indulged meeting in 1768 and was called South Fork Meeting, the meetings being at first held in the house of Isaac Votaw. This meeting was located about 6 or 7 miles south west of Lincoln, Virginia (the site of Goose Creek Monthly Meeting). It was on or near the South Fork of Beaverdam Creek. It was reported, by Yardley Taylor in 1853 as "still active". The old burial ground near the village of Unison marks the site of the meeting house. When Goose Creek Meeting was established as a monthly meeting in 1785 South Fork Meeting was assigned to it. The members of South Fork Meeting were pretty "worldly" and caused great "concern" to both Fairfax and Goose Creek Monthly Meeting. Many of the young men of South Fork Meeting "drank to excess", had many fights, gambled, indulged in "horse racing", and were lax morally; many were disowned.

By 1783 a great many members of Fairfax Monthly Meeting had located homes in Alexandria, Virginia; they applied for and obtained leave to hold meetings for Worship and were allowed this privilege 23rd of 8th month 1783 and the first meetings were held at the house of John Butcher; Joseph Janney, John Hirst, John Hough and Solomon Dixon were appointed to "set" with Friends there; a meeting house was built at Alexandria in 1786; a year later, a preparatory meeting was allowed and Alexandria Friends were allowed to hold regular afternoon meetings on First Day; in 1802 Alexandria Monthly Meeting was established and its members set off from Fairfax Monthly Meeting. (Webmaster's note: A separate page will be set up with Hinshaw's information on Alexandria Meeting. They are still in operation today but appear to be in a different location than reported here. Also, they do not appear to have their own website at this time.)

PIPE CREEK Meeting, Maryland: An indulged meeting was allowed by Fairfax Monthly Meeting at Pipe Creek, Frederick County (now Carroll County) Maryland in 1756; in 1759 Pipe Creek was allowed a preparative meeting of its own; in 1767 Pipe Creek Monthly Meeting was established and its members were set off from Fairfax Monthly Meeting, at which time all members of Fairfax who lived within the verge of Pipe Creek Preparative Meeting were transferred to Pipe Creek Monthly Meeting, as usual, without certificates of removal. Pipe Creek Meeting was located about 40 miles west of Baltimore, Maryland and a half a mile from Union Bridge Station.

GAP MEETING (originally called Potts Meeting): In 1759 Fairfax Monthly Meeting allowed an indulged meeting to be held at the house of Jonas Potts, located near Key's Gap (later called Vestal's Gap) which formed a passage way through the Blue Ridge Range leading into the verge of Hopewell Monthly Meeting; this meeting was better known as "The Gap" Meeting. The Gap Meeting was discontinued 26th of 6 month 1765 but was again indulged 28th of 11th month 1772 but did not last long; Gap Meeting was re-established 24th of 9th month 1788. At this time, by agreement between Fairfax Monthly Meeting and the newly organized Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, it was found that some members of Gap Meeting lived on one side of this line and some on the other side. In 1812 the Gap Meeting house was improved and used for a school house, and the meeting was laid down.

MONOQUESY: On the 28th of 4th month 1759 Monoquesy Meeting house burnt down. All sessions of Fairfax Monthly Meeting were thereafter

Fairfax (Waterford) Monthly Meeting

Located on the eastern side of Waterford, Loudoun Co. Va. on Old Waterford Road. It is now a private residence. The adjoining graveyard is still intact and contains the graves of many who once worshipped there including Isaac Steer (who married Phoebe Hollingsworth).

After the laying down of Fairfax Meeting, the members of the meeting had their memberships transferred to Goose Creek Monthly Meeting.

Below are some excerpts from "Hopewell Friends History" and William Wade Hinshaw's "Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy" about Fairfax Meeting.

Hopewell Friends History

p. 70; Meetings Within The Verge Of Hopewell

In 1734 or soon thereafter Friends in Fairfax, then in Prince William County, Va., set up a meeting for worship. In 1741, as shown by Janney and others, they built a meeting house at Waterford where the Fairfax meeting was held for many years. The name Fairfax no doubt was taken from the name of the new county of Fairfax, which was carved out of Prince William about the time that the meeting house at Waterford was built. From 1735 until 1744 Fairfax was a part of Hopewell Monthly Meeting; then Fairfax was made a monthly meeting, including Monocacy.

p. 214-215; Places Of Meetings

FAIRFAX MEETING was in Waterford, in what is now (since 1757) Loudoun Co., Va. The first meeting house was built in 1741. Fairfax Monthly Meeting was established in 1744. See Janney's History of the Friends, Vol. III, page 249. It would seem that the Friends held meetings in Fairfax as early as 1735 or 1736. The region was then in Prince William County.

Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy

p. 463-466; Volume VI (Fairfax Monthly Meeting)

Fairfax Monthly Meeting of Friends was established in 1744, and was set off from Hopewell Monthly Meeting Frederick County, Virginia. The first meeting of Fairfax Monthly Meeting was held at Fairfax Meeting house on the 26th of 4th month 1745; it was agreed that the monthly meeting should be held in alternate months at Fairfax Meeting house and at Monoquesy Meeting house (the latter in Maryland). Fairfax Preparatory Meeting and Monoquesy Preparative Meeting had previously belonged to Hopewell Monthly Meeting, but were now assigned to the new Fairfax Monthly Meeting which accounts for the fact that the earlier records of these two preparatory meetings were kept in the books of Hopewell Monthly Meeting after the latter's organization in 1734. The records of Fairfax Preparatory Meeting prior to 1734 were kept in the books of Nottingham Monthly Meeting, Cecil County, Maryland, which was set off from New Garden Monthly Meeting, Chester County, Pennsylvania in 1730. However, many Friends who migrated into Virginia from Pennsylvania and New Jersey left their certificates at New Garden Monthly Meeting before the organization of Hopewell Monthly Meeting (1734) after which their certificates were directed to Hopewell Monthly Meeting, regardless of where in Northern Virginia they took up their new abodes. Monoquesy Meeting for Worship was established in the Monoquesy Valley, Maryland, just north of the Potomac River in 1726, their first meetings being held in the homes of the several members, but principally in the home of Josiah Ballenger, who had come to the Monoquesy Valley, with his brother, Henry Ballenger, from Salem, New Jersey in 1725. James Wright had also settled in this valley about the same time. Monoquesy Meeting was set up by New Garden Monthly Meeting, with approval of Chester Quarterly Meeting, Pennsylvania. The earliest records of Monoquesy Meeting were kept by New Garden Monthly Meeting until 1730, after which they were kept by Nottingham Monthly Meeting until 1734 when Monoquesy Meeting was assigned to the newly established Hopewell Monthly Meeting. Therefore, to trace the members of Fairfax Monthly Meeting back to their origins, it is necessary to examine the records of Hopewell Monthly Meeting, Nottingham Monthly Meeting and New Garden Monthly Meeting, but, unfortunately, the first books of minutes and marriages of Hopewell Monthly Meeting were burned in a fire at the house of the custodian in 1759; only the first book of Births and Deaths was saved from that fire.

In 1934 the Hopewell Historical Association made an exhaustive search for "leads" to the minutes and marriage records of Hopewell Monthly Meeting, gathering much data from the minutes and records of other meetings, especially in certificates of removal, connecting the early Hopewell members with various meetings, and thus compiled a large historical background for these early members. They published their findings in a valuable book entitled "Hopewell Friends History" 1734-1934, printed by the Shenandoah Publishing House, Inc., Strasburg, Virginia. In this book, they carried the marriage records down only to 1830, although the certificates of removal were brought down to 1890. However, we have brought all Hopewell Minutes, records and certificates of removal down to 1940 for this volume of our Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy.

About 1752 Philadelphia Yearly Meeting prepared accounts of the founding of many of its constituent meetings, which were edited by Samuel Smith, of New Jersey, and which were included in his History of Pennsylvania, for the Pennsylvania Archives. The Register of Pennsylvania, edited 1831 by Samuel Hazard, Vol. III, p. 134, contains the following information: (quoted from Hopewell Friends History, p. 54)

"About the year 1725, Henry Ballinger and Josiah Ballinger, from near Salem, in West Jersey, and soon after them James Wright, William Beals, and others from Nottingham, settled in the upper parts of Prince George's County, Maryland, near a large creek called Monoquesy (Monocacy). About

Back Creek Meeting

Gainesboro Cemetery, formerly known as Back Creek Cemetery is located in the village of Gainesboro in Frederick County, Va. It was at one time the adjoining burying ground for Back Creek Preparatory Meeting. The original meeting was laid down at the turn of the twentieth century and the meeting house torn down. A plaque stands on the spot the meetinghouse was located. Quite a few descendants of Isaac Steer and Hattill Varman are buried there. Some of whom attended meetings at Back Creek Meeting House. The cemetery is now a community cemetery and still has people buried there.

A stone monument stands where the Meeting house once stood which reads:

600. Just what preparative meetings Hopewell included at that time may be uncertain. The preceding year, 1783, Hopewell raised a quota of £20 to forward to the quarterly meeting, and the committee apportioned the sum as follows: To Hopewell 12 pounds and 10 shillings; to Middle Creek 5 pounds and no shillings; and to Back Creek 2 pounds and 10 shillings; Virginia currency. If the 600 members of 1784 were all found at Hopewell, Middle Creek, and Back Creek, it is easily conceivable that the membership at Bullskin, Crooked Run, Smith Creek, Mt. Pleasant, Center, and elsewhere raised the total to 1000 or more.

CROOKED RUN Monthly Meeting was located near the village of Nineveh, now in Warren Co., Va., on the main road between Winchester and Front Royal; about 13 miles from the former and 7 from the latter place. A meeting house was built at Crooked Run prior to 1759. A monthly meeting was settled there in 1781-82. The Crooked Run Meeting was laid down in 1810--so few Friends attending. In 1812 selling the house was considered, but it was still held in 1828, though in bad condition. The site is now occupied by the Nineveh Presbyterian Church.

Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy

Crooked Run Meeting was located near the village of Nineveh about 13 miles south of Winchester. A meeting for worship was established in 1758 or earlier. A meeting house was built and a preparative meeting established in 1760.

In 1781 Hopewell Monthly Meeting was divided - a new monthly meeting being set up under the name of Crooked Run Monthly Meeting, which was ordered to meet alternately at Crooked Run and Centre. The first session of the new monthly meeting was held 5 month 29, 1782.

Crooked Run Monthly Meeting was laid down 5 month 18, 1807 and the members joined to Hopewell Monthly Meeting as Crooked Run Preparative Meeting. The preparative meeting was laid down 10 month 5, 1810.

Inferior meetings mentioned in the records as being embraced in Crooked Run Monthly Meeting include Crooked Run, Centre, Smith's Creek, Stafford, Southland, Mt. Pleasant and Culpeper.

Crooked Run Monthly Meeting (Now Nineveh Presbyterian Church)

Crooked Run Cemetery is located just off of US 522 near Cedarville in Warren County, Va. Originally the burying ground for the Crooked Run Meeting House which was attended by quite a few of Robert Mackay Sr.'s descendants this cemetery contains the graves of many of those who once worshipped there. The original meeting house is long gone. Later, a group of Presbyterians which included some of Robert Mackay's descendants built the present day Nineveh Presbyterian Church which occupies the location formerly occupied by the Crooked Run Meeting House. Some of Jacob Sowers Sr.'s descendants are also buried there.

Below are some historical sketches of the meeting from "Hopewell Friends History" and William Wade Hinshaw's "Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy".

Hopewell Friends History

p. 74-76; Meetings Within The Verge Of Hopewell

The Friends' meeting at Crooked Run, a locality now in Warren County, Va., dated from 1758 or earlier. At Hopewell Monthly Meeting on the 4th day of the 8th month, 1760, was entered the following minute:

> The friends liveing on Crooked Run haveing been for Several years past Indulgd by this monthly Meeting with Liberty of holding a meeting for Worship twice a week which hath been kept up to good Satisfaction and they Lately having built a new Meeting house and Seeming to Increase both in number and Strength they now desire This Meeting to make application to the Quarterly Meeting that their Meeting afforesaid be Established as a meeting for Worship Twice a week viz on first day and fourth day and they likewise request Liberty to hold a preparitive Meeting on the week day afforesaid. They Living about Twenty miels distance from this meeting all which we after deliberate Consideration Submit to the Quarterly Meeting for approbation.

William Reckitt made record of visiting Moses McKoy at or near Crooked Run in 1757, and of holding a meeting there. This might be regarded as an indication that the "Several years past" 1760 reached back to 1757 or earlier. In a report made at Hopewell in 1822 concerning titles to meeting-house properties it was stated that the 99-year lease for the meetinghouse lot at Crooked Run was three-fourths gone. This would fix beginnings there in or about 1748. It appears, however, that the calculation of 1822 was not accurately made, since the lease in question has been found on record in Winchester. It was made by Thomas Branson of Orange County, N.C., to John Painter of Frederick County, Va., and dated 6th month 1st, 1758, to run 99 years. It conveyed 4 acres of land on the southeast side of Crooked Run, "fora Friends' Meeting house & burying ground, for that use, and no other."

It is probable that there was an indulged meeting at Crooked Run much earlier than 1758.

Doubtless the request in 1760 for a preparative meeting at Crooked Run was granted. In the Hopewell record of the 3d day of 6th month, 1771, Crooked Run preparative is recognized in connection with a difficulty that Smith Creek Friends were having to agree upon a place for meeting. In 1772 Smith Creek Friends were directed to report to Crooked Run preparative meeting. In the spring of 1776 Hopewell approved a request of Crooked Run to hold their preparative meeting on 7th day constantly, preceding the monthly meeting at Hopewell, and their select meeting on 3d day after the monthly meeting, at the 10th hour of the day.

In 1781 a monthly meeting was established at Crooked Run, as appears from the following minutes at Hopewell:

> The subject of a division in the monthly meeting coming under consideration which after a weighty deliberation thereon, Richard Ridgway, Sen., James Steer, William Pickering, Josiah Jackson, Abel Walker, Lewis Walker, James Mendinghall, & Anthony Lee are appointed to unite with Women Friends in a solid conference, with Centre and Mount Pleasant Friends, in order to have them united with Crooked Run friends, in a Division of the Monthly meeting as aforesaid and make report of their service, to next monthly meeting. 5th of 11th mo., 1781.
> The Committee appointed to unite with Women Friends, with respect to the Division of the monthly meetings mostly met at Centre, with Centre and Mount Pleasant Friends, which after a solid conference with them on the subject, there appeared to be a pretty general concurrance in sentiment to unite with Crooked Run Friends in a Division of the monthly meeting to be held alternately at Crooked Run & Centre, with which this meeting concurs, and requests the clerk to forward the same to the Quarterly meeting. 29th of 11th mo., 1781.

Crooked Run preparative meeting had requested in the summer of 1780 that a monthly meeting be settled there.

At the time of this division of the meetings it is probable that the number of Friends living in the Shenandoah Valley totaled 1000 or more. Two or three years after the division the members of Hopewell Monthly Meeting appear to have numbered 600. This estimate is made upon the following data: On the 5th of 4th month, 1784, a Hopewell minute shows that "our proportion to the yearly meeting stock" was 6 pounds and 15 shillings, calculated on 22 shillings and 6 pence "to the hundred." Thus it would appear that the Hopewell membership was here. Besides the lower floor, there is a large and commodious youth's gallery. A sliding partition in the center of the house provides for separate meetings of the men and women, and allows the whole house to be thrown open into a single room when desired, and for general First Day Meetings. The building was completed early in 1819, at a total cost of about $4000.00, which at that time was a large sum. There were other costs than those of the builder's contract, which were met as they came up. In fact, the minutes of Goose Creek Monthly Meeting show clearly that this meeting has never at any time allowed itself to fall into debt, and that every bill has been promptly met when due. Also, members were strictly required to pay their just personal debts, failure to do meant disownment, excepting under most extenuating circumstances.

School House: In 1815 a school house was built on the meeting house lot after which a teacher was hired regularly and the school was kept in session during the greater part of each year. It should also be stated that the meeting directed that all colored persons employed in the homes of members must be given a "useful school learning".

Horses: The meeting built a large stable to house the horses of members attending the meetings, also it was ordered in 1832 that two saddle houses be built, frame, 8 by 12 with shingle roofs.

Graveyard: A large graveyard or burial ground was set out and a stone wall built around it. It is one of the most beautiful burial grounds in Virginia and has been carefully tended since the beginning. In 1808 it was agreed that burials of non-members would be permitted, but "the privilege could only be granted on condition of their (those making application) conforming on those occasions to our plain way".

Joint Meetings: Separate men's and women's meetings were kept up until 1889 when it was decided to hold joint meetings between the two branches. Goose Creek Preparative Meeting had been laid down in 1881, "since there is no longer any use for it".

Marriages to non-members: In 1876 it was agreed: "That when persons not members of the Society of Friends wishes to marry a member, he or she may make application to men Friends or women Friends for such marriage; if allowed, the marriage to be solemnized in the usual manner, but this does not include receiving of said person into membership".

Frederick County, Virginia) was established about 1732 on the banks of the Opeckan Creek (near Winchester, Virginia) and in 1733 Fairfax Meeting was established about 40 miles below the Opeckan by Amos Janney and others from Bucks County, Pennsylvania. The meetings were held at first at Amos Janney's house. Providence Meeting was established by Richard Beeson soon after on a branch of the Opeckan called Tuscarora, the meetings being held at the house of Richard Beeson for some time, until a log meeting house was built. This meeting was also called Beeson's Meeting. Thus, these four meetings were established in this region; all of them were established under charter by Chester Quarterly Meeting, Pennsylvania, and were at first attached to East Nottingham Monthly Meeting, Cecil County, Maryland, where they left their certificates of removal on coming into the Shenandoah Valley. By 1734 so many Quaker families had moved into the Valley that it was deemed best to establish a monthly meeting amongst them, and Hopewell Monthly Meeting was organized in 1735, and given control over the four meetings which had been established, viz: Monocacy, Hopewell, Fairfax and Providence. This made Hopewell Monthly Meeting the overseer of all Friends living in this vast territory; and as they multiplied rapidly in numbers through a steady influx from Pennsylvania and Maryland, the Quarterly Meeting decided to divide the territory controlled by Hopewell into two monthly meetings, and so Fairfax Monthly Meeting was organized in 1744/45 and took control of about one half of this region of Quaker families. Monocacy and Fairfax Meetings were assigned to Fairfax Monthly Meeting and Hopewell and Providence Meetings were assigned to Hopewell Monthly Meeting. But Fairfax Monthly Meeting territory was, like that of Hopewell, still very large, its membership growing "by leaps and bounds".

In 1745 Friends (members of Fairfax) who had settled near the Middle Branch of Goose Creek requested of Fairfax Monthly Meeting liberty to hold a meeting amongst themselves during the winter season, the meeting to be held at the house of Sarah Walker, which was granted. In 1746 these Friends were granted liberty by Fairfax Monthly Meeting to hold a First Day meeting regularly at the house of Jacob Janney, Junior, with which the meetings held at Sarah Walker's were to cease until further orders. In 10th month 1749 these Friends were granted liberty to have a meeting "settled" upon them to be held at the house of Isaac Nichols on the fourth first day in the third month. As news of the great fertility of the lands on the Opeckan and Goose Creeks spread, there was a great new influx of Friends from Pennsylvania and Maryland, and an indulged meeting was authorized at South Fork and another at The Gap. In 1774 a Preparative Meeting was established at Goose Creek and an "established" meeting at South Fork. And still the membership grew so rapidly that in 1785 it was decided to divide Fairfax Monthly Meeting into two monthly meetings: Fairfax and Goose Creek Monthly Meetings. Thus, Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, Loudon County, Virginia came into existence. At this same time, South Fork Meeting was granted a preparative meeting and was attachd to Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, making two preparative meetings belonging to the new Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, viz: Goose Creek and South Fork Preparative Meetings.

An indulged meeting was allowed at South Fork located about 7 miles southwest of Goose Creek Meeting, Loudon Co., Va. about 1745. They built a meeting house on land purchased and paid for by members, and the meeting was well attended. The meeting house was 25 feet by 25 feet, on a lot of 10 acres, including the burial ground. A preparatory meeting was established in 12th month 1785 and this meeting opened satisfactorily, as reported at Goose Creek Monthly Meeting 30th of the 1st month 1786, but was discontinued by the quarterly meeting in 2nd month 1826, though the meeting for worship was kept up for some years thereafter. South Fork Meeting was a source of much concern to Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, almost every month complaints were laid against several of its members for more or less serious infractions of the rules of discipline, the complaints ranging from drinking, quarreling and fighting to marrying contrary to discipline and other grave accusations. In 1836 the meeting was reported as "very weak and low and that no regular meetings have been held there for some time"; so the meeting was laid down with the approval of Fairfax Quarterly Meeting 11th of 2nd month 1836.

In 12th month 1787 an indulged meeting was granted to Friends living at or near the Gap of the Short Hill by a joint action of Fairfax and Goose Creek Monthly Meetings, to be held during the winter season at the house of John Hollingsworth; since a part of the Friends living along this border line were members of Fairfax and a part were members of Goose Creek, this meeting was at first controlled jointly between the two monthly meetings. But later, matters became somewhat confused, and the meeting at the Gap was placed under permanent control of Fairfax Monthly Meeting by the quarterly meeting. Soon after the Gap Meeting was allowed, land was purchased and a log meeting house was built.

Goose Creek Meeting Houses: When in 1749 a meeting for worship was permanently established at Goose Creek, their meetings were at first held at the house of Isaac Nickols, but later a log meeting house was built on land donated by Isaac Nickols. In 1792 the meeting house was enlarged. Also money was subscribed to help purchase a lot to accomodate the yearly meeting at Baltimore. In 1795 Isaac Nickols executed a Deed to the ten acres of land which he had donated for use of the meeting, which was duly recorded in the names of sundry trustees. In 1817 the need for a house suitable for the accomodation of the "poor" became evident, after consideration, it was decided to build a new meeting house and arrange the old log meeting for this purpose. So, a little later, when it was available, the old meeting house was partitioned into apartments, one of which was to be occupied by the family of the caretaker, and the rest of the rooms were used to accomodate the poor. In this connection it should be stated that Goose Creek Meeting has, from its beginning, taken good care of all of its poor, even, in some cases to the paying of hospitalization in a Philadelphia Hospital, thus keeping up the tradition of the Society of Friends that each and every meeting must take care of its own poor, and that no poor member should ever be sent to a public alms house.

In the 2nd month 1817, then, the Committee reported a proposal to build the new meeting house of the size 65 feet long and 40 feet wide, and to be two stories high. A committee was appointed to make a proper contract with a responsible workman to construct the building and to raise the money to pay for it. They contracted with Daniel Cockrill to build it and furnish all materials and labor completely for the sum of $3500.00, but after the building had been completed, it was found that the builder was "out" of a considerable amount of money, and the committee instructed to raise the balance needed to completely reimburse him and to properly furnish the meeting house, which was done.

The building was of brick with a heavy stone foundation 24 inches thick. The new meeting house was indeed an imposing and durable edifice, built to stand for centuries. The complete plans of its architecture make interesting reading, but they are too lengthy to be offered

Goose Creek Monthly Meeting

Below is some history of Goose Creek Monthly Meeting from "Hopewell Friends History" and William Wade Hinshaw's "Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy".

Hopewell Friends History

p. 69-70; Meetings Within The Verge Of Hopewell

The following paragraphs are quoted from Janney's History of the Religious Society of Friends, Vol. III, pages 248, 249:

> About the year 1732, Alexander Ross and company obtained from the Governor and Council at Williamsburg, in Virginia, a grant for one hundred thousand acres of land in that colony, situated near the Opequan Creek, a tributary of the Potomac. A settlement was soon after begun there by Alexander Ross, Josiah Ballenger, James Wright, Evan Thomas, and other Friends from Pennsylvania and Elk River in Maryland. Under authority of Chester Quarterly Meeting, they established in 1744 [1735] a Monthly Meeting called Hopewell, which thus became a branch of Philadelphia Yearly Meeting.
> In the year 1733, Amos Janney from Bucks County, Pennsylvania, removed to Virginia, and settled about ten miles south of the Potomac, near the place where the town of Waterford has since been built. In a Memorial concerning his wife, Mary Janney, he is mentioned as a valuable Friend and true helper Zion-ward; and she is described as a devoted Christian, whose meekness, gentleness, and kindness rendered her company truly agreeable and instructive.
>
> When they came to Virginia, the neighborhood where they settled was almost uninhabited; but other Friends coming soon after, and settling near them, a meeting for worship was held at their house. A meeting-house was built for its accommodation in 1741, and called Fairfax; it being then included in the county of that name, but subsequently the county was divided, and the northern section where Friends were settled was called Loudoun [1757]. Fairfax Monthly Meeting was established in 1744.
> Jacob Janney removed from Bucks County, Pennsylvania, about the year 1745, and settled eight miles south of Fairfax Meeting House. He and his wife, Hannah Janney, were exemplary in their lives, and steadfast in support of their Christian testimonies. A meeting was settled near them called Goose Creek, which at first was subordinate to Fairfax Monthly Meeting, but afterwards becoming very large, it was established as a monthly meeting.

Fairfax meeting was at Waterford, Goose Creek is at Lincoln, both now in Loudoun County, Va. At this date (1935) Fairfax Meeting, at Waterford, is closed; and the few Friends remaining at Waterford are members of Goose Creek Meeting, at Lincoln.

p. 215; Places of Meetings

GOOSE CREEK Monthly Meeting is held at Lincoln, Loudoun Co., Va. This meeting was visited by William Reckitt in 1757. At Lincoln are now several Friends' meeting houses; one of stone, built 1765, now used as a dwelling; one of brick, erected in 1817; and another dating from 1880, or later. Lincoln was the home in later years of Samuel M. Janney, the poet and historian.

Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy

p. 609-614; Volume VI (Goose Creek Monthly Meeting)

In order to present a clear picture of the beginnings of Goose Creek Monthly Meeting, Loudon County, Virginia, and to avoid confusion with another Goose Creek Monthly Meeting located in Bedford County, Virginia, which was short-lived, it seems appropriate to give a short historical sketch of the settlement by Friends of the Shenandoah Valley in the northern part of what was then the Colony of Virginia; for, until settled by a colony of Friends beginning about 1720, this part of Virginia was almost entirely a wilderness and uninhabited by white people. The Shenandoah Valley proper is 110 miles long and 25 miles wide and lies between the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Alleghenies, and is watered by the Shenandoah River. It contains some of the finest and most fertile lands in Virginia. By 1730, Alexander Ross and Morgan Bryan of Chester County, Pa. (who had doubtless made survey visits into the Shenandoah Valley previously) had formed a company to bring some 70 Quaker families from Pennsylvania to settle in this lovely region. They then applied to the Governor of Virginia for a grant of 100,000 acres of land (later augmented by 20,000 additional acres) for the purpose of settlement in the valley. Although they were not actually granted this land until 1732-1735, they had already begun settling these families in the Valley. Each of the 70 families was to have a patent to 1000 acres by their agreement with the governor. Henry and Josiah Ballinger of Salem, West Jersey, and James Wright, William Beals and others from Nottingham, Pennsylvania, had settled in 1725 in Monoquesy Valley, Prince George's County, Maryland, just across the Potomac River from Virginia, and had received liberty to establish a meeting amongst themselves to be held at the house of Josiah Ballinger and others. By 1726 this meeting to be called Monocacy Meeting. Many of these families later joined the families who had migrated to the Shenandoah Valley. Although Quakers had established themselves on the eastern shores of Maryland as early as 1656, Monocacy Meeting was the first to be established in Maryland near the Virginia border. Hopewell Meeting (now in Virginia, for 100,000 acres of land near a large creek called Opeckan in the said colony, which about that time was settled by the said Alexander Ross, Josiah Ballenger, James Wright, Evan Thomas, and diverse other Friends from Pennsylvania and Elk River, in Maryland, who soon after obtained leave from the quarterly meeting of Chester, held at Concord, to hold a meeting for worship, soon after which land was purchased and a meetinghouse built, called Hopewell, where meetings are still held twice a week.

About the year 1733, Amos Janney from Bucks County, and soon after diverse other Friends settled about forty miles lower in Virginia than Opeckan, who obtained leave to hold a meeting for worship on first days, which was held at the said Amos Janney's and other Friends houses till the year 1741, when a piece of land was purchased, and a meetinghouse built thereon, called Fairfax, where meetings are since held twice a week.

About the year 1736, Friends in these back settlements applied to Chester quarterly meeting for liberty to hold a monthly meeting, which was granted, and was held twice at Hopewell, and once at Cold Spring, alias Monoquesy, and so continued till the year 1744, when the number of Friends being such increased, they applied to the said quarterly meeting to have the monthly meeting divided, which was granted, so that since the year 1744, Hopewell and Providence make one monthly meeting, which is held by turns at Hopewell and Cold Spring, and the meeting at Fairfax makes another.

Hopewell Meeting House

Established in 1734
North of Winchester, Frederick Co., VA

HOPEWELL was the first Quaker meeting established in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. It was originally known as Opeckan and was set off from the Concord Quarterly Meeting of Pennsylvania in 1734. The actual date of first settlement is thought to be around 1730. The meeting house is located about 6 miles north of Winchester, Frederick Co., Virginia.

A land grant of 100,000 acres was purchased on the Opeckan River. Many of the earliest settlers moved into the area from the Valley of the Monocacy in Maryland.

Robert Mackay Clan Links and Information

Our earliest known Mackay ancestor, Robert Mackay Sr., was a Quaker pioneer who lived in Freehold, Monmouth Co. New Jersey and later moved to the Frederick/Warren Co. Virginia area. Much of his family went there as well. A house which was built by his son Robert Mackay Jr. is still standing in the village of Cedarville, Va. A sign has been erected along Rt. 522 South telling about the house.

We have a family group or organisation commonly called the Robert Mackay (or McKay) Clan which came together back in 1945 for a family reunion. Since then, reunions have been held every year, previously on different dates but later centred on or around the last Sunday in June in order to make it easier to remember the reunion dates in the future. These events are generally well attended by many people, some who travel many miles to attend and meet and socialise with all of the other cousins who are attending. We have tables set up for display of various items such as genealogy data, photographs and other memorabilia.

This reunion later evolved to include members of the Sowers & Kerfoot families and as such is subtitled 'McKay-Sowers-Kerfoot' reunion.

The Robert Mackay Clan also supports another family gathering called the Collett-McKay Picnic which has been held annually since the end of the Civil War in Clinton County, Ohio.

Both events are covered in greater detail in the links below.

Robert Mackay Clan Genealogy information

One of Robert Mackay Sr.'s descendants, Dee Ann Buck published a comprehensive genealogy on the family of Robert Mackay Sr. She also published a few more genealogies on other families which have intermarried with Robert Mackay Sr.'s family. One of which is on Jacob Sowers Sr.'s family which is covered in a separate section.

These genealogies were sold to different members of the family back in 1990 and 1991 and copies of some of them, including the ones on Robert Mackay & Jacob Sowers, were donated to the archives of the Handley Library in Winchester, Va.

Please contact her at the e-mail address linked to her name to see which books she has available and the costs for purchasing them. Among the items for sale is a transcript copy of The Fairfax Land Suit done by the late Mr. Hunter Branson McKay.

I have been working on gathering information on the family of Robert Mackay Sr. and hope to be able to continue to further update this family genealogy and as such am always looking for more information.

McKay Family Photos

xxxxxThis completes the most interesting facts I could find on the McKays of Warren County, Virginia during the years of 1861 to 1865.

xxxxxI imagine that the majority of the older members of this Clan are familiar with most of the incidents I have reminded you of today. Perhaps I have been able to relate to the younger members of the family some of the history made by the McKays during the South's most trying period.

xxxxxI have enjoyed doing this research, and have made several visits with members of the family and took a personal tour of McKay lands to familiarize myself a little more with my subject besides referring to diaries of the War kept by persons here in Warren County, and to the files of Miss Laura Virginia Hale.

McKays. Book C, page 405 of Wills recorded in the Circuit Court of Warren County denotes that on September 16, 1861, the date of the will of Joshua (Antrim) McKay whose wife Ester Ann (Haycock) and his children named Nancy Antrim, Joshua Antrim and Francis H. (but more generally known as "Frank", HBM), that Jesse H. McKay and Joseph McKay were named as Executors. At that time a Joseph Casper McKay was in the Confederate Army, however I imagine he was the same one named in the will. (I think the executor named was more likely the elder Joseph McKay, son of John, who was 63 at that time, rather than the younger Joseph Casper McKay, then in the Army. HBM). One provision of his will provided for Washington Wells, a "Free Colored Man", to have the use of a house and 20 acres of land during his life, providing he paid the estate $12.00 annually. He was also asked to give all help and advise possible to his wife Esther (Ann Haycock) in operating her farms.

xxxxxOn December 26, 1862, Robert S(hinn) McKay died. James Edwin McKay, then a Confederate soldier, and R. S. McKay (Author's note: I do not have a full transcript of the will of Robert S. McKay and so cannot be positive, but I think that possibly Mrs. Wood intended to write J. C. McKay instead of R. S. McKay as one of the two executors. HBM) were named as executors of his estate. His personal property was appraised at $16,708.00 A gold watch and chain valued at $100.00, and half of a set of Queensware, valued at $21.00 were taken by his heirs at time of appraisment.

xxxxxThe returned report of his sale showed a total of $ 15,505.50. Two tracts of real estate (farm land), located in Frederick County, sold by his executors to James A. Downing; the first tract of 172 acres and the second tract containing 75 acres, brought $50.00 per acre, totaling $9,000. I wonder if the executors accepted Confederate money in cash on the day of sale as the record does not show how payment was made. The sale of this property was recorded on January 18, 1864 (two years after the death of Robert S. McKay) and the recording fee was $.30. The deceased was the son of Moses and Abigail (Shinn) McKay.

xxxxxIn September, 1862, the McKays witnessed the return of wounded Confederates and active Confederate troops from the Battle of Sharpsburg, this battle being considered by many historians as the turning point of the war. The Confederacy really suffered its first great losses in this battle.

xxxxxIn November of 1862, General Jackson's Army camped at Ninevah and at the Confluence (now known as Riverton). But the remainder of the winter was quiet so far as troop movements were concerned.

xxxxxEarly in March, 1863, the Union Army was again on the move, either to or from the direction of Winchester, all passing through Cedarville and Ninevah. The Confederate Army was also using the same marching path. On June 12, 1863, the entire day was used up by General Ewell's Command and A. P. Hill's Division on their march to Winchester. This movement eventually ended in the Battle of Gettysburg, and immediately after this battle the armies were seen back in the Valley. For a short time after some peace was enjoyed from the continual presence of the enemy.

xxxxxBut on the other hand, the people were experiencing destitution. Stores had to close because of their entire stock being taken by the enemy and with no means of restocking with new merchandise. Money was fast becoming worthless, if even available at all. Prices had skyrocketed. The people continued to lose their entire crops to the invading enemy. The Yankees had begun to burn barns and homes. Thomas B. McKay was the first to have a barn destroyed by arson. He was then away from home, being in Mosby's command.

xxxxxAnother short period of rest from invasion was experienced for a few months, but in October, 1864, the Yankees were on the road again, plundering and looting as they traveled. They again occupied the area from Cedarville to Guard Hill or rather I should say to the Shenandoah River. All horses and edible live stock was taken. Entire crops were taken, either as food for the troops or for the horses. The last was the corn crop of 1864. A diary kept through the war years relates the following: "The last to was the season's corn crop. Out goes the bread for families in winter. The wheat crop has been taken early in the season."

xxxxxThe last great troop movement the McKays had to witness of either the Yankees or the Confederates was from late November through December of 1864 when both armies were moving on toward Richmond. These armies moved at different times through Ninevah and Cedarville, and camped on Guard Hill and at the Richards' place on the north side of the River. On the other side the camp ground extended from "Rose Hill" to Crizers. It was estimated that on December 19, 1864, that 8,000 Yankees passed through Ninevah and Front Royal. They were consumating plans to take Richmond. The Confederates were hoping to prevent this. Thus all were moving to the end of the conflict and the eventual surrender.

xxxxxThe people of Warren County evidently were too absorbed in the acts of war to take time for the recording of marriages, births or deaths in the County Court as I did not find these records for that period.

xxxxxThe only McKay births I can report for the war years was that of two infants and these came from other sources, that of Robert Edwin McKay, son of James Edwin McKay, who was born in Harrisonburg June 28, 1862 while his father was at Ft. Defiance, and Francis Wesley McKay, born at "Fair View" March 1, 1863 to Thomas Buck McKay and his wife Anne Elizabeth ("Betty") Lehew.

xxxxxI located the deaths through the wills that are recorded in the Warren County Court. The first marriage record I found after the Surrender was that of John McKay, 25 years of age, son of John W. and Mary McKay, to Lucelia Robinson, then 23 years old of Fauquier County, Va., and the daughter of Samuel and Tracey Robinson, on September 22, 1865, the minister being Thaddeus Herndon.

because of a geographical situation and their closeness to Front Royal which was a cross roads used by both the Confederate Army and the Union Army. Since Virginia was the main battlefield, troops were continually on the move, going either to or from the Valley--going toward Washington, to Manassas and the northern area of Virginia or on the move toward Richmond and other battlefields in that direction. Therefore, the roads through Manassas and Chester Gaps, the Luray and Winchester Turnpikes, and all roads connecting with these were in constant use, even in going to Harpers Ferry, Sharpsburg (Antietam) and Gettysburg the McKay homes were passed.

xxxxxIn the Spring of 1861, when it was reported that 40,000 Union troops were in Washington City ready to invade Virginia, the McKays saw Confederate troops marching past their homes on the way to defend the Southland, and the spirit of patriotism was kindled in the hearts of the young McKay men, and from then on the enlistments were numerous.

xxxxxAlexandria was the first city in Virginia, and really the first Southern City to evacuate when it was learned that Union troops were entering the City. One of these families was that of David Funsten and Susan Everard Meade his wife with her servants left their home they loved so much in Alexandria and came to the home of her brother in Clarke County, for the duration of the war.

xxxxxJames Edwin McKay, of "Orchard Farm", left his wife and child (John Kenney McKay) to serve in the famous 12th Virginia Cavalry. She left her home, took her child and went to her parents' home in Harrisonburg where she remained until she moved to a property owned by her family near Fort Defiance, Va. She was living there when her second child whom she named Robert Edwin McKay was born in 1862.

xxxxxAlexandria having been taken over by the Union Army in May of 1861, troop movements of both armies continued and resulted in the Battle of First Manassas in July 1861. Thomas Buck McKay was there with the Warren Rifles. Anne Elizabeth Lehew, his wife, was home at "Fairview" with her four small children: William Buck, Charles Edward, Sallie Branson and Jonathan M. McKay, all ranging from three to seven years of age. Needless to say she was experiencing great anxiety, but little did she then know what hardships the next four years held in store for her.

xxxxxOn May 23, 1862 when the Battle of Front Royal took place, the battle just did not exactly end in Front Royal. The battle continued through the next day and ended at Ninevah on the lands of Thomas Buck and Joshua Antrim McKay. "Fair View", the home of Thomas Buck McKay was occupied as a hospital for the wounded of both sides. These McKays not only furnished battlefields, but a strip of land at "Fair View" adjoining "Antrim Farm" was used by the Yankees to bury their slain men. The bodies of these Yankee soldiers remained there until years later when they were moved by the United States Government when the National Cemetery was established in Winchester, Va.

xxxxxA dozen or more Yankee soldiers, captured by General Jackson's men, were left in the yard at "Fair View" in the custody of one Confederate guard until they were picked up by a detail and taken to prison. However this did not materialize because several Yankee soldiers had crouched in the wheat field opposite "Fair View" during the battle. After the Confederate Army had moved on, their bravery returned to them, they emerged from the wheat field, shot the Confederate guard and released their comrades in blue.

xxxxxAt nearby "Antrim Farm" a Confederate soldier serving in the First Regiment, Maryland Infantry captured a Battle Flag from the First Maryland Regiment, Union Army. He gave this flag to Nancy Antrim McKay and asked her to save it for him, saying that if he survived the war, he would return for it. Nancy hid the flag under the house for the remainder of the war. The soldier never returned, and years later she presented the flag to the Turner Ashby Camp, UCV, in Winchester, Va.

xxxxxBy the end of 1862, the McKays knew what living on a battlefield and in an invaded country was like. They were experiencing all the hardships an invaded land and its people suffer. The Yankees exercised the privilege of taking any fruits, vegetables and crops, either harvested or in the ripening stage, and especially grain crops which they could use for horse feed. They also took any desirable horse they could find, or any cattle that would make good beef. Soldiers in small groups camping in the area would drop in and demand that meals be prepared for them. They were also beginning to take personal items from the houses. At "Erin" Mr. Jesse H. McKay cut a section of flooring in his downstairs bedroom 34" by 38" in size and stored valuable and cherished possessions and lots of food. He covered this with a room size carpet and placed his bed over it. Since the house did not have a basement, the storage place was not suspected by the enemy.

xxxxxTroops were continuously on the move over the Winchester Turnpike. Signal posts were established at or on Guard Hill which proved to be a vantage point to watch movements from Manassas and Chester Gaps and the Luray Turnpike as well as activities in Front Royal. Federal pickets surrounded Front Royal when activity was at its height in this area and the McKays like the other people were prevented from entering the town. They were cut off from all stores, communications of any kind, and every man was continuously urged to take the Oath of Allegiance to the United States. Men were arrested for no reason at all, and among those from the Cedarville-Ninevah section was Mr. Jesse H. McKay of "Erin" who was abused as was Mr. Jacobs who lived nearby and other men in his company at that time because he would not take the Oath.

xxxxxIn June, 1862, it was estimated that 100,000 Union troops were camping between Ninevah and what is now known as Crizer Road in Front Royal. They were on their way to Richmond. This movement continued on through July. On the 18th the Confederates attacked a Union train at Cedarville and captured a great quantity of valuable war supplies. Can you visualize how the landscape looked when 100,000 soldiers with their horses and necessary equipment and army supplies were occupying the territory?

xxxxxDuring 1861 and 1862 records substantiate the fact that other losses besides those connected with the war were suffered by the

The McKays of Warren County, Virginia, 1861-1865

"THE MCKAYS OF WARREN COUNTY, VIRGINIA, 1861-1865",
Address given by Mrs. Dewey R. Wood
at the Mimslyn Hotel, Luray, Va., June 27, 1971

xxxxxIn 1861 at the beginning of the War Between the States the McKay Family, descendants of Robert McKay, Jr. of Warren County, (Va.) owned and occupied the greater portion of land between the mouth of Crooked Run and the village of Ninevah. It can be said truthfully that the majority of the families living in this area which extended from Guard Hill to Double Toll Gate were relatives of the McKays through marriages of McKay daughters, beginning with those of Robert McKay, Jr., on through the years up to 1861.

xxxxxIn addition to the original Robert McKay, Jr., home at Cedarville, the following homes were owned and occupied by McKays: "The Willow Bend Farm", occupied by the Joseph McKay family; "Orchard Farm" (later the John M. Bierer, Sr. place and formerly the home of Andrew & Robert S. McKay), occupied by the James Edwin McKay family; "Antrim Farm", occupied by the Joshua Antrim McKay family; "Fair View", then occupied by the Thomas Buck McKay family, and later by the Funstens but then occupied by the Jesse H. McKay family; and "The Wrens Nest", the home of Joseph Francis McKay.

Charles Lewis McKay, a Sgt. in Co. E, 12th Virginia Cavalry who died in Ft. McHenry, Prison, Baltimore, Md., on April 17, 1865 (8 days after the surrender and was buried in Loudoun Park National Cemetery, Baltimore, Md. /Is he still there, or was he moved?--I am wondering if Cousin Antrim Almond McKay, who lives near Baltimore could investigate this/).
Jacob Francis McKay, also served in Co. E, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.
James Edwin McKay, Sgt., served as Quarter Master in Co. E., 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.
John Walter McKay, Lieutenant, Co. I, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.
Joseph Casper McKay, Co. I, 12th Regiment, Virginia Cavalry.
Jesse Clay McKay, Captain, 7th Brigade, First Virginia Cavalry.
Thomas Buck McKay, Co. B. 17th Regiment, Virginia Infantry (Warren Rifles) until a date in 1862, possibly after the experience his family was subjected to following the Battle of Front Royal when he obtained a substitute in his place. He returned home and remained there until Col. John Singleton Mosby formed his command when Thomas Buck McKay became a member of Co. B, 43rd Battalion, Virginia Cavalry and served for the duration of the war.
Alfred Almond McKay, a Corporal in Co. E, 7th Regiment of Virginia Cavalry enlisted March 25, 1862 in Woodstock, Va., at the age of 21, served the remainder of the war and was paroled in Winchester, Va. on June 8, 1865.

xxxxxThere were numerous cousins in the Confederate Army. Among these were two brothers, Captain Samuel D. Buck, a member of the "Boomerangs" of Co. H., 13th Regiment, Virginia Infantry, and William A. (Sandy) Buck, Co. H., 13th Regiment, Virginia Infantry, sons of Eliza McKay Buck of Buckton. Sandy Buck was cited for bravery at the Battle of Greenland Gap, Virginia, now West Virginia. General Early said of Captain Samuel Buck, "Buck is the bravest man I ever saw".

xxxxxAnother descendant of the McKays serving with distinction in both the Military and the Confederate States Government was David Funsten, son of Margaret McKay and Oliver Funsten, born at "Erin", May 16, 1821 (The Funsten-Meade Geneal. gives his birthdate as Oct. 14, 1819). He served first as a Colonel of the 11th Regiment, Virginia Infantry until severely wounded at the Battle of Seven Pines. Later he served as a representative from Virginia to the Confederate States Congress for the duration of the Confederate Government.

xxxxxHistorians have not recorded too much history about Warren County during the War Between the States. The main events have been very colorful, and about three in number. First, the Battle of Front Royal that extended into McKay territory, where "Brother Fought Brother", during May of 1862; second, the Mosby and Custer incident down the streets of Front Royal, in September 1864; and third, the activities of Belle Boyd, the famous Confederate Spy who claimed Front Royal as her residence during the majority of the war years, and where several of her exploits took place.

xxxxxOne would think that due to the Valley Campaign, the Cedar Creek and other battles in the main stream of the Shenandoah Valley, the many times Winchester was in the hands of the Yankees on one side, and the famous Battles of 1st and 2nd Manassas, the Wilderness and Penisula Campaigns, and the continuous attempts to capture Richmond, plus the Battles of Antietam and Gettysburg in the Northern direction--that the McKays probably lived in the area as remote from actual invasion as was experienced in certain sections of Western Virginia. One would not have thought that the McKays would have experienced anxieties of an invaded land other than worry about the safety of their boys away from home. But this was far from being the case.

xxxxxInstead of living in a quiet atmosphere the circumstances were exactly opposite, and a great part of the suffering they endured was xxxxxThis paper was prepared by John W. Rust, of Fairfax, Virginia, at the request of the Committee appointed by the Present Chief of the McKay Clan, H. Randolph Barbee, to be read at the annual meeting of the Clan on August 11, 1957, at Skyline, Virginia. The compiler of these records deeply regrets that it has been impossible for him to extend this paper to the various Virginia branches of the McKay family, and he hopes that anyone interested in a different line of the family will order from Mrs. Beatrice McKay Doughtie one of her fine books that extends all lines of the Virginia McKays from Robert McKay, Sr., to a recent period. The information contained in this book is unbelievable and indicates many years of intensive study, and any one interested in the McKay history will find a full and complete line of all branches of the McKay family contained in this excellent book.

xxxxxRobert McKay, Jr., was the oldest son of Robert McKay, Sr., as shown by the Court Records June 7, 1797. He resided on a tract of 828 acres, lying on both sides of Crooked Run, which was granted to him by the Crown on October 3, 1734. The home of Robert McKay, Jr., is still standing today in the hamlet of Cedarville, Warren County, Virginia, about three miles north of Front Royal on the Winchester

xxxxxIt is further stated that they were unable to settle 100 families on their land in two years and the Governor and Council in a subsequent order extended the time to 1737, when it was found that sufficient settlers were in actual residence to comply with the original order.

xxxxxThis grant did not require that the 100,000 acres was to be surveyed in a block, and the said Robert McKay and Joist Hite and their associates could choose any land that they desired in this section. They did choose the most desirable portions of this land, mostly on the rivers and streams, and it was known as "strip grants," and it was objected to seriously by Lord Fairfax in his suits with the McKays and Hites, but Fairfax was overruled by the Courts, and the grantees were entitled to hold the land they had settled upon. It was the courage and adventurous spirit of these early Valley pioneers that blazed the path for progress and civilization and made this section what it is today.

xxxxxThe old Quaker graveyard at Nineveh was a lease for 99 years from Thomas Branson of Orange County, N.C., to John Painter of Frederick County, Virginia, and dated June 1, 1758, to run 99 years. It conveyed 4 acres of land on the southeast side of Crooked Run "for a Friends Meeting house & Burying ground, for that use, and no other." Hopewell, page 74. This lease is recorded in Winchester, Virginia.

McKay, 2 Colonial Terrace, Belmont, Massachusetts, and other sources. This article should have been written by Hunter B. McKay, the McKay Historian, as he has a vast supply of records and information and has furnished me with a large amount of the data included herein. The McKays owe him a debt of gratitude for his wonderful work in compiling the McKay History.

THE McKAYS OF VIRGINIA

xxxxxFrom the best information obtainable, Robert McKay, Sr., the emigrant, was in Pennsylvania in 1726, with his wife, Margaret, and a family of children. See page 150 "The McKays and Allied Families," by Mrs. C. E. Doughtie, Jr. (Beatrice MacKey Doughtie) 3449 Peachtree Road, N.E., C-2, Atlanta 5, Georgia. (Price $10.00)

(Webmaster's note: It hasn't been determined whether Robert Sr. was the immigrant or not. Also, Beatrice Mackey Doughtie is deceased and I'm not sure if the book is still available. We've learned much, much more about our family history since that book was published. MLM)

xxxxxSamuel Kercheval's History of the Valley of Virginia, under Title "First Settlement of the Valley," states that Joist Hite, with his family, and his sons in law, George Bowman, Jacob Chrisman and Paul Froman, with their families, and Robert McKay, Robert Green, William Duff, Peter Stevens and others, amounting in the whole to sixteen families, removed from Pennsylvania, cutting their road from York and crossing the Potomac River about two miles above Harper's Ferry, to Winchester, Virginia. This road was known as the "Road to Opeckon" and was the first wagon road from Pennsylvania to Opequon and followed in a large measure a well marked Indian trail known as the Consetoga Path. Hopewells Friends, page 113. Kercheval states that Hite settled on the Opequon, about five miles south of Winchester. Peter Stevens settled at Stephensburg and Robert McKay settled on Crooked Run about nine miles southeast of Stephensburg, which would be at Cedarville, Virginia.

xxxxxIt would however, appear from accurate records that Kercheval was mistaken in stating that Robert McKay, Sr., settled at Cedarville, Virginia, now in Warren County, about four miles north of Front Royal, Virginia. Hopewell Friends History of Frederick County, Virginia, page 186, states that Robert McKay, Sr., lived on or near the South Fork of the Shenandoah River, several miles above Riverton. This placed him in Augusta County after 1744, then the line between Frederick and Augusta Counties was surveyed, and his will, dated October 7, 1746, was probated in Augusta County on September 19, 1752. His oldest son, Robert McKay, Jr., lived on a tract of 828 acres of land on both sides of Crooked Run in what is now Warren County, which he held by a Crown patent bearing date of October 3, 1734. He was closely associated with Friends of Hopewell and Crooked Run meetings, and meetings were held at his house, and the Journal of John Fothergill records that on September 9, 1736, John "Fothergill went from Alexander Rosse's meeting to the following day near 'Shenando' River held at Robert McKay's the younger, pretty open and comfortable". Hopewell Friends, Page 187.

xxxxxPage 151 of "The McKays and Allied Families, it is quoted as follows:

> "On the petition of Robt. Introduction to The McKays of Virginia

(Webmaster's note: Since this document was first distributed many years ago during one of our family reunions a lot of new information has been uncovered in regards to our family history. I have endeavored to make notations through the text commenting on any part of the document where I feel a correction is needed so that the reader doesn't make the mistake that what he/she is reading is current and up to date. The most reliable genealogical record on the early family of Robert Mackay Sr. that I'm aware of so far is the most recent book on the family published by Dee Ann Buck. You can purchase a copy by contacting her by e-mail: deeranddoe@hotmail.com. In this book many mistakes made by earlier historians have been examined and corrected. Even so, we are constantly learning new facts concerning our family history which would of course lead to new revisions of what we previously knew in regards to our history. MLM)

August 11, 1957
McKAY CLAN REUNION.

Introduction to

By John W. Rust, Fairfax, Virginia

xxxxxThe Clan McKay occupied the extreme northern part of Scotland, just south of the Orkney Islands, known as "Strathnavern", and were the highest of the highlanders.

(Webmaster's note: We know the name is correctly spelled as "Mackay" but this document is being reproduced "as is" with the name being spelled as "McKay" as it was in the document when John W. Rust first distributed it. MLM)

xxxxxThe information as to the McKays of Scotland is obtained principally from "History of Scotland, Its Highlands, Regiments and Clans," written by James Browne, L.L.D., published in eight volumes by Francis A. Niccolls and Company, of Edinburgh, London and Boston in 1909. I would recommend to anyone interested in Scotch history to obtain a set of these books, if possible, as they contain all of the clans, their war cries, badges, castles, coats of arms and plaids in color, and a complete history of each clan, giving the family names and location of the various clans.

(Webmaster's note: A better history of Clan Mackay can be found in Ian Grimble's three volume set on the history of Clan Mackay which is discribed elsewhere in this website. MLM)

xxxxxThe first mention of the Clan McKay is in the year 1395, and it was then a strong and powerful organization, occupying a large portion of northern Scotland, and its Chief was Y-McKay of Farr, who had two sons, Donald McKay and Nicholas McKay. In the year 1395 a feud began between the McKays and the Earl of Sutherland, who lived just south of the McKay Clan, in which many lives were lost and great depredations were committed on both sides. The Earl of Sutherland proposed a meeting of the parties at Dingwall in the presence of the Lord of The Isles, some of the neighboring Gentry, and friends of the two families, and a discussion took place between the Earl and McKay, in which high and reproachful words were exchanged, which so incensed the Earl that he killed McKay and his son, and with difficulty effected his escape from the followers of the McKays, and fled to his home. The matter was in some degree reconciled between Robert, the successor of Nicolas, and Angus McKay, the oldest son of Donald McKay. Familiar names of the early McKays of Scotland were Neill McKay, John McKay, Dubh McKay, Y-Roy McKay, Black Angus McKay and Rob Roy McKay.

xxxxxHistory relates many feuds and wars between the Scottish McKays and their highland neighbors. They were typical highlanders and ready to fight upon the slightest opportunity and often provided the opportunity themselves.

xxxxxThe early McKays who settled in Warren County, Virginia, were Quakers and were always of a peaceful and happy nature, and it is rather hard to understand how warlike and fierce their Scottish ancestors must have been as shown by history.

1. Kerfoot item it deals with monies given to the heirs of Elizabeth (Chipley) Kerfoot the widow of Samuel Kerfoot. Not our direct line.

2. children of the late Francis Stribling

3. Oliver Funsten who married Margaret McKay, their children given.

Reel 194:

1. another file dealing with Oliver Funsten's children, John Kerfoot was guardian to some of his children.

2. Strother item. A John Strother had married Elizabeth Clopton (1823 time period). She was the daughter of George & his widow Patsey dividing monies among their children. Other children given: Louisa, Frederick & Fleet S. Clopton.

3. another item for the same group of Kerfoot.

4. The children of James Mitchell (son of our Carey Mitchell) his children named and the slaves given to each.

Reel 195:

1. Robert S. McKay involved in monies from the estate of the late Robert Painter's estate. His eight children named. A map of the area included in this file. Said to adjoin the lands of said R.S. McKay, Grubbs & Devoes.

2. Another Kerfoot items the same group. Elizabeth Kerfoot had debts to be settled by Wm. S. Kerfoot.

Reel 196:

1. Muma item the heirs of Jacob Muma dec'd. His children named.

Reel 197:

1. Hackney item the will of James Hackney included with the file, dated 1824. Had sons: Robert B., James M. and daughter Harriet married to Daniel Curl.

2. There was a Brown file, not sure if you could be interested.

3. Ridgeway file, David Ridgeway (McKay connection) married Martha Beeson, their children named. The couple listed on page 126-127 in my McKay book.

4. Hollingworth item, Abigail Hollingsworth being sued by Lewis Hollingsworth. A copy of the will of Isaac Parkins included in the file.

5. Jolliffe file, not sure if interested in them.

These legal files can contain a lot of useful information (wills, statements, accounts etc....) and other might just have included just a few notes, like bonds posted.

In any case, worth the time looking at them. Takes about hour & half to view each reel. I have six more of them to order through Fairfax Public Library.

Robert Mackay Sr. Record

Robert Mackay Sr., b.ca.1680; d.1752; m. Ann Brown, See Robert's Last Will & Testament. The birth year given for Robert is only a guess since we have no records at this time which give us a clue as to when he was born. Also, there have been different genealogy records both on-line and off-line submitted by people that give Robert's parents as being Hugh Mackay & Jane Dunbar. At this time there is no evidence supporting these claims nor has there been any evidence so far giving us a clue as to Robert's true parentage & origins. It is assumed our family's origin comes from Scotland because of the surname "Mackay" but nothing substantive in that direction. Similarly there has been mentioned that Ann Brown's parents were James Brown & Honour Clayton. This too remains unproven. We know of Ann Brown's existence because she is mentioned in a minute from Nottingham Friends Meeting dated 11/1/1730 concerning the upcoming marriage of their daughter Margaret to Joshua Job which reads "1.11.1730 Margaret McKay, daughter of Robert & Ann Brown of Milford Hd. Cecil Co. MD & Joshua Job son of Andrew & Elizabeth". There is considerable biography written in Dee Ann Buck's Book "A Tabulated Genealogy of the Family of Robert and Ann (Brown) Mackay Sr." (Vol. 1, 1997 edition) about Robert's early life and the evidence gathered so far. This book will be used as the primary source for compiling these partial records.

Some of the problems we have regarding the mystery of Robert Mackay Sr.'s origins can be summed up by both Dee Ann (Shipp) Buck & Hunter Branson McKay. Dee Ann writes:

> "Who were Robert Mackay Sr.'s parents? Where was he born? Was Robert Mackay Sr. the emigrate? Why can't we seem to find civil and church records dealing with this man's life before we find him as a member of Nottingham Quaker Meeting House? The only hint about his life before living in PA, came from a land deed filed in PA, which stated that he came from Freehold, NJ. Why can't more information about his life in Freehold, NJ be found? Where did he come from before Freehold, NJ? These questions Hunter Branson McKay, spent most of his adult life trying to answer. I have spent about sixteen years, carrying on this task. To successfully find the answers to the above questions, we must have solid and legitimate original documents."
> "In all the pages that make up the Fairfax Land Suit, his partners made references to their place of birth, but not our Robert Mackay. There has never been a hint, inkling, suspicion, clue or by insinuation the names of his parents, his siblings or cousins in any original document. The only known near relations were his children and his three wives."

When our family group started holding our annual gatherings what we should call ourselves became a question of concern for Hunter Branson McKay. He wrote:

> "I appreciate that it has been the practice to speak of the reunion since it was founded some 20 years ago by Cousin Mamie, as the McKay Clan Reunion, as this has a pleasing connotation and suggestive reference to the Highlands of Scotland, but it would be much more accurate to refer to it as the Robert McKay Family Reunion or Association. You see there are hundreds of McKay families in this country, and about 10 or 12 of them hold reunions, and hence the designation of Robert McKay rathern than simply the McKay family. As to calling it a "Clan" I have yet to find any authentic evidence of any connection whatsoever with the Scottish Clan of Mackay, other than the name. The earliest records of Robert McKay the elder and his family made when he and they were alive, give no indication of a Scottish origin. Genealogically speaking, it seems to me, that among the various unrelated McKay families in this country alone, to say nothing of Canada and other British possessions, that the notation of the Robert McKay Family of Virginia is sufficiently illustrious to require attempting to borrow from no other source."

Our family organization has unofficially been called "The McKay Family Association" and "The Robert McKay Clan". Recently when I assumed the presidency of our annual reunion for the first time I changed the spelling of the name to "Robert Mackay Clan" to be more in line with the way Robert Sr. spelled his name. We have been known predominantly as "The Robert Mackay Clan" (or Robert McKay Clan) and I believe that in order not to be confused with an official Clan Society such as "Clan Mackay Society, USA" that we spell it as "The Robert Mackay Clan" since it is no different than if we were to speak of the "Samuel Jones Clan". "Clan" or "chlann" as it originally is spelled in Gaelic simply means children and is used rather loosely in the language when speaking of one's general family. In official terms denoting a Scottish Clan the word is placed before the name instead of afterwards as we do with our family group's name.

Recently a copy of a hand-written account about Robert Mackay Sr. came into my possession from Katherine (Hackney) Luby which is believed to have come from Frances who is a granddaughter of Sarah McKay Smith who did some considerable research on the family during her lifetime. The information, if proven, would lend support to the theory that Robert Mackay Sr. was a convert to Quakerism. The wife mentioned in the account below would probably have been Ann Brown based on what we have on the marriage certificates of Robert's children.

> "Robert McKay (-1752) came from Freehold, N.J. It appears that he joined Friends when he married a Quaker woman in New Jersey, whose name is unknown. The McKays moved to the Nottingham Lots on the Pa./Md. boundary line where they were early members of Nottingham Meeting."

The litigation arising from this jurisdictional conflict extended intermittently through the Virginia courts until around 1830's. However, unfortunate this extended legal conflict may have been economically, it was very fortunate from a historical and genealogical point of view, as it preserved many records that otherwise would never have been recorded and preserved. My great-uncle Hunter Branson McKay transcribed this document, which the reader can view on microfilm through the Latter Day Saints Library System, or the reader can purchase a copy from me.

(Webmaster's note: I do not believe Dee Ann Buck has any copies of Hunter B. McKay's transcribed Fairfax Land Suit left for sale.)

Milford. Where the other Bottoms, referred to in the Will, were located, I (HBM) do not at the present time know.

2. The Passage Creek Tract: Located in the Fort, along the Creek, from a point about a mile above the "Passage" to about opposite present Seven Fountains, or later Burners Springs.

3. On The North River Shenandoah: Three tracts: two of which Hunter B. McKay have located
    a. The Narrow Passage Tract: From a few miles south of the Narrow Passages to a point north of Woodstock, and apparently near to or adjoining the Denton Tract.
    b. The Denton Tract: from the northern end of the Narrow Passage Tract to a point about opposite present Fishers Hill.
    c. Another tract of about 900 acres on the North River, located somewhere near Strasburg.

4. Smith Creek Land: Hunter B. McKay was not sure the location of this tract. According to author Henry Gannett's book A Gazetteer of Virginia and West Virginia, Smith Creek is listed as "creek, a small left-hand tributary to Shenandoah River in Shenandoah County."

5. Linville Creek Land: Some 7009 acres; 1200 of which seem to have belonged to the McKays. This land has been quite thoroughly studied in some of the later Lincoln histories, one particularly by Dr. Wayland.

6. The North Mountain Tract: Lay westward of Winchester, was part of the 100,000 acres, but was not in controversy in the Fairfax Land Suit.

7. Paul Froman: 500 acres, son-in-law of Joist Hite, lived on or near Cedar Creek, Frederick Co. VA. The tract lay above McKay's old place and on the North side of the River, and as I (HBM) understand the record was then in Frederick County, as Shenandoah had not then been formed, and the dividing line between Augusta and Frederick had been moved farther up the river from its location when Robert McKay made his will in 1746. This tract appears to have been divided between Daniel Stover, Wm. Overall & Abraham Keller.

8. Joshua Job: Devises of Robert McKay Sr. husband of Margaret McKay.

9. George Hollingsworth: Devises of Robert McKay Sr. husband of Hannah McKay: not on the land in 1770.

10. Abraham Hollingsworth: Son of George & Hannah, and then in possession of the land.

11. Jeremiah Odell: Then husband of Leah McKay, daughter of Robert McKay Sr. and widow of Wm. Tyler. During the time period of the French & Indian War his name appears among a group associated with Powells Fort.

12. George Robinson: Husband of Mary McKay, daughter of Robert Sr.

13. Zachariah McKay: Son & devisee of Robert Sr.

14. Isaac McKay: "Heir at law to Moses", son of Robert Sr. From this we can assume that Moses was deceased; that Isaac was the elder son, and that Jeremiah, who has been established as a son of Moses by another record, was a younger brother. The land adjoined that of Jeremiah and in the same neighborhood as that of Abraham McKay, in 1800.

15. Henry Nelson: Samuel Odell--Isaac Job--Robert McKay Jr. (Justice of Shen Co. 1772)

16. Orphans of John Bumgardner: part of 300 acres: Jacob Burner & Joseph Stickler guardian: John Bumgardner--Jeremiah Odell--Elisha Job--heir of Abraham Job.

17. David & Isaac Job: David had moved to TN in 1779 part of 300 acres--Elisha Job, heir of Abraham Job--John Kennedy.

18. Peter Miller: appears in Census of 1785 in Woodstock area: Land extended "from Brush Bottom Ford down the river to School House Hollow to the back line and the Wagon Road." Zachariah McKay--Robert McKay Sr."

In 1749 the conflict between Lord Fairfax involving the boundaries of his proprietary of the Northern Neck of Virginia, and the quarry of whether his lordship of the Colony of Virginia had the legal right to the lands settled by Mackay, Hite and company started in the courts. Hite and Mackay contending that their land was not included in his proprietary and therefore subject to grants by the crown through the Virginia Colonial Government. But Fairfax was overruled by the Courts, and the grantees were entitled to hold the land they had settled upon. In 1771 there was a final decree of the celebrated Hite and Fairfax land suit. McKay was given 54,000 acres of the 100,000 & Hite 64,000. Among the various tracts of land held by Robert McKay Sr. and his partners was one of 7009 acres on Linville Creek, in what is now Rockingham County, VA, which they secured in 1739. In June 1746 1200 acres of this land was transferred to Robert McKay Sr. This tract of land after his death descended to his sons, Robert, Zachariah, Moses and James, and it remained in their possession until 1768, when they sold 300 acres of it to Tunis Vanpelt and 600 acres to John Lincoln.

Land Records of Robert Mackay Sr. in PA & VA

"The Earliest record pertaining to Robert Mackay, that I have in my possession is a land deed. This civil record states that he came from Freehold Township, Monmouth Co. NJ. On the 18th of July 1723, Stephen Hollingsworth of Cecil Co. MD, sold to Robert Maccay of Freehold Twp., Monmouth Co., East New Jersey, a tract of land (150 acres) which was part of the "Mount Pleasant" grant which he (Hollingsworth) had obtained from Lord Baltimore, in 1715, for the sum of thirty pounds silver money. Stephen Hollingsworth accepted the payment of money from the above Robert Maccay, and the following were witnesses of the record: Jonathan Cures, John Segar and John Smith. The importance of this land deed is the fact that Robert Mackay of VA, was associated with Stephen Hollingsworth, as recorded in the Quaker records, and furthermore he (Stephen) was a cousin of George Hollingsworth who married Hannah, daughter of Robert Mackay Sr. The Mount Pleasant tract was also known as Milford Hundred where Robert McKay is known to have lived (according to the marriage record of his daughter Margaret Mackay). On 15th of February 1725, Robert Maccay, Stephen Hollingsworth and Robert Holy bought 423 acres of "Hopewell" from Mathias Van Bibber. Robert McKay sold his first tract of land 150a to a James Maccoy on 7 Mar 1731. On May 5, 1732, the same man also bought an adjoining 100 acres of the "Hopewell" tract from Hollingsworth, Maccay (McKay) and Holy. We have been unable to find any connection between these two McKay men. I have copies of these records thanks to researcher Ann Copley.

Joist Hite, Robert Green, William Duff and Peter Stephens were Robert Mackay partners, and we have no information how they met. On October 21, 1731 letter patents were granted by the colonial governor and council of Virginia to the above men for 100,000 acres in Shenandoah Valley between Winchester and Front Royal on the condition they settle thereon 100 families in four years.

I am guessing that Robert McKay was born in 1680, so in 1731 he would be around 51 years old. I would also guess that his children: Mary (McKay) Robinson was about 26 years and her husband George Robinson left with her father; Robert McKay Jr. would be around 23 years old and would marry Patience Job in 1735; Margaret (McKay) Jobe about 20 years, wife to Joshua Job accompanied her father into VA; Zachariah McKay around 17 years of age; Hannah McKay was about 16 years and would marry George Hollingsworth in 1734 being the first marriage in the Hopewell Meeting; Leah McKay would have been about 15 years of age; Elizabeth would have been about 12 years of age; and Moses the youngest at 11 years of age. Robert's first two wives are dead, it would be his third wife Margaret who shared the hardships of the trip into Virginia. He could have also been a grandfather at the time of this historical adventure.

They cut their way with great difficulty with pioneer wagons through the forest from York, PA and crossing the "Cohnongoronion" or called the Potomac River about two miles above Harper's Ferry into Winchester, VA. This road was known as the "road to Opeckon" and was the first wagon road from Pennsylvania to Opeckon and followed in a large measure a well marked Indian trail known as the Conestoga Path. Hite settled on the Opeckon, about five miles south of Winchester. Peter Stephens settled at Stephensburg and Robert Mackay lived on or near the South Fork of the Shenandoah River, several miles above Riverton. This placed him in Augusta County after 1744, when the line between Frederick and Augusta Counties were surveyed and his will dated 7 October 1746 was probated in Augusta County on 19 August 1752. It was Robert McKay JUNIOR who settled on Crooked Run about nine miles southeast of Stephensburg which would be now in Cedarville, Warren Co. VA.

By 1736 Hite and Mackay had only 54 families on this grant. The terms of this order required McKay and Hite to settle 100 families on their land in two years, which it appeared they were unable to do, as the Governor and Council in a subsequent order extended the period. In 1737 when their settlers were enumerated by Col. Morgan, representing the Governor, and Peter Wolfe, representing McKay and Hite, it was found that sufficient settlers were actually in residence to comply with the terms of the original order.

The grant did not require that the 100,000 acres was to be surveyed in a block, but consisted of several and widely separated tracts, most of which were along the South and North branches of the Shenandoah and above the Fork at Riverton, as well as on Linville and Smith Creeks farther south, and on the North Mountain westward of Winchester. And the said Robert McKay and Joist Hite and their associates could choose any land that they desired in this section. They did choose the most desirable portions of this land mostly on the rivers and streams, and it was known as "strip grants" and it was objected to seriously by Lord Fairfax in his suit with the McKays and Hite.

From the notes of Hunter Branson McKay:

> "LOCATION OF COMPANY TRACTS WITHIN THE 100,000 ACRES GRANT:
> 1. On The South River Shenandoah
>   a. The Old Home Place--At McCoys Ford (310 acres in the Suit Record, but described as 110 more or less in Robert McKay's will), and here he lived until he moved to the Hay Bottom, later inherited by his son Moses.
>   b. The South River Tract--7000 acres as surveyed by Col. James Wood about 1735, but which was found to contain 11,520 acres when resurveyed by Thomas Marshall in 1770. This long and narrow tract started at or about the end of the 310--acre old home place and extended up the River, more or less on both sides depending upon where the bottoms were, for about 16 miles or to a point about opposite Big Spring Church in present Page County. The intensive study that I (HBM) am making at the present time of this particular tract, indicates, at the present stage of the study, that the Hay Bottom land, referred to in the Will and which was devised to Moses and later owned by the latter's descendants (Jeremiah and Isaac & others), and upon which Robert built his new house, as described in detail in the Suit Record, that this Hay Bottom is now as Burners Bottom, located opposite present Overall, former [Home] [Partial Genealogy Records]

Robert Mackay Sr. Record

Robert Mackay Sr., b.ca.1680; d.1752; m. Ann Brown, See Robert's Last Will & Testament. The birth year given for Robert is only a guess since we have no records at this time which give us a clue as to when he was born. Also, there have been different genealogy records both on-line and off-line submitted by people that give Robert's parents as being Hugh Mackay & Jane Dunbar. At this time there is no evidence supporting these claims nor has there been any evidence so far giving us a clue as to Robert's true parentage & origins. It is assumed our family's origin comes from Scotland because of the surname "Mackay" but nothing substantive in that direction. Similarly there has been mentioned that Ann Brown's parents were James Brown & Honour Clayton. This too remains unproven. We know of Ann Brown's existence because she is mentioned in a minute from Nottingham Friends Meeting dated 11/1/1730 concerning the upcoming marriage of their daughter Margaret to Joshua Job which reads "1.11.1730 Margaret McKay, daughter of Robert & Ann Brown of Milford Hd. Cecil Co. MD & Joshua Job son of Andrew & Elizabeth". There is considerable biography written in Dee Ann Buck's Book "A Tabulated Genealogy of the Family of Robert and Ann (Brown) Mackay Sr." (Vol. 1, 1997 edition) about Robert's early life and the evidence gathered so far. This book will be used as the primary source for compiling these partial records.

Some of the problems we have regarding the mystery of Robert Mackay Sr.'s origins can be summed up by both Dee Ann (Shipp) Buck & Hunter Branson McKay. Dee Ann writes:

> "Who were Robert Mackay Sr.'s parents? Where was he born? Was Robert Mackay Sr. the emigrate? Why can't we seem to find civil and church records dealing with this man's life before we find him as a member of Nottingham Quaker Meeting House? The only hint about his life before living in PA, came from a land deed filed in PA, which stated that he came from Freehold, NJ. Why can't more information about his life in Freehold, NJ be found? Where did he come from before Freehold, NJ? These questions Hunter Branson McKay, spent most of his adult life trying to answer. I have spent about sixteen years, carrying on this task. To successfully find the answers to the above questions, we must have solid and legitimate original documents."

> "In all the pages that make up the Fairfax Land Suit, his partners made references to their place of birth, but not our Robert Mackay. There has never been a hint, inkling, suspicion, clue or by insinuation the names of his parents, his siblings or cousins in any original document. The only known near relations were his children and his three wives."

When our family group started holding our annual gatherings what we should call ourselves became a question of concern for Hunter Branson McKay. He wrote:

> "I appreciate that it has been the practice to speak of the reunion since it was founded some 20 years ago by Cousin Mamie, as the McKay Clan Reunion, as this has a pleasing connotation and suggestive reference to the Highlands of Scotland, but it would be much more accurate to refer to it as the Robert McKay Family Reunion or Association. You see there are hundreds of McKay families in this country, and about 10 or 12 of them hold reunions, and hence the designation of Robert McKay rathern than simply the McKay family. As to calling it a "Clan" I have yet to find any authentic evidence of any connection whatsoever with the Scottish Clan of Mackay, other than the name. The earliest records of Robert McKay the elder and his family made when he and they were alive, give no indication of a Scottish origin. Genealogically speaking, it seems to me, that among the various unrelated McKay families in this country alone, to say nothing of Canada and other British possessions, that the notation of the Robert McKay Family of Virginia is sufficiently illustrious to require attempting to borrow from no other source."

Our family organization has unofficially been called "The McKay Family Association" and "The Robert McKay Clan". Recently when I assumed the presidency of our annual reunion for the first time I changed the spelling of the name to "Robert Mackay Clan" to be more in line with the way Robert Sr. spelled his name. We have been known predominantly as "The Robert Mackay Clan" (or Robert McKay Clan) and I believe that in order not to be confused with an official Clan Society such as "Clan Mackay Society, USA" that we spell it as "The Robert Mackay Clan" since it is no different than if we were to speak of the "Samuel Jones Clan". "Clan" or "chlann" as it originally is spelled in Gaelic simply means children and is used rather loosely in the language when speaking of one's general family. In official terms denoting a Scottish Clan the word is placed before the name instead of afterwards as we do with our family group's name.

Recently a copy of a hand-written account about Robert Mackay Sr. came into my possession from Katherine (Hackney) Luby which is believed to have come from Frances who is a granddaughter of Sarah McKay Smith who did some considerable research on the family during her lifetime. The information, if proven, would lend support to the theory that Robert Mackay Sr. was a convert to Quakerism. The wife mentioned in the account below would probably have been Ann Brown based on what we have on the marriage certificates of Robert's children.

> "Robert McKay (-1752) came from Freehold, N.J. It appears that he joined Friends when he married a Quaker woman in New Jersey, whose name is unknown. The McKays moved to the Nottingham Lots on the Pa./Md. boundary line where they were early members of Nottingham Meeting."
